GARFIELD

Guy Barnes cut his alfalfa last Saturday.

Roy Kent took a load of hogs to market Tuesday.

Frank Amack cut his alfalfa the first of the week.

T. W. White and family called on Mrs. Ida Kent Wednesday.

Ad Potter resigned his position at Tom Hawkins' last Friday.

Ed Amack was out on wind mill row Tuesday with a piano.

Will Smith and wife were pleasant callers at Smith Bros.' Sunday on wind mill row.

Murriel and Ethel Fisher are staying in town this week and taking in the sights.

A week ago the people in Garfield were kicking for rain and now since it has rained most every day and night for a week they are kicking because it is too wet. Even the Lord Almighty can't please the people in Garfield.

Prosperity has struck Garfield for George Smith brought out a new wagon Monday.

In spite of the rain a good many from this neighborhood attended the Chautauqua in Red Cloud Sunday.

The road boss, Will Fisher, is filling in the cement bridge on the bottom road and blowing the hills up with dynamite and widening the road.

GUIDE ROCK.

Ruth Doudna was on the sick list the first of the week.

The W. C. T. U. had a picnic at Mrs. E. W. O'Neil's Wednesday.

Guide Rock has had a regular visitation of agents the last few days.

Mr. Parsons of Wilsonville has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Harvey Milner. Her little sister is also her guest.

Little Pearl Smith is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Idella Watt, this week.

Lew Smith and family were Sunday guests at the home of their uncle, Hastings Milner.

Mrs. E. L. Barch went to Lincoln this week to visit her son, Lawrence Barch, and family.

Mrs. Cooper and daughter Winifred have been at Burr Oak visiting at the home of Chester Cooper.

Mrs. Thorton and her sister, Mrs. L. G. Smith, have been spending a week or two with relatives at Blair.

Miss Verna Payne, from the state line, spent Sunday with her grandparents, J. S. Gleason and wife.

George Hunt was over from Burr Oak the first of the week. He and Fred Watt went to Red Cloud Monday afternoon.

The "lemon social" given by the Epworth League was well attended. They gave a program and served refreshments.

Misses Belle and Verna Kellum of St. Francis, Kas., are guests of their grandmother, Mrs. H. Hoover, and their aunt, Mrs. Eli Fowler.

Misses Merl and Pearl Smith arrived home Saturday evening from a two weeks visit with their grandfather, Mr. Conyer, at Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

Red Cloud Chautauqua Pleases Large Crowds

The fifth annual chautauqua promises to be a grand success. Notwithstanding the rains the crowd at the initial performance was much larger than former years. This year we had the pleasure of selecting our own talent and this feature seems to be much appreciated. The Ferguson jubilee singers are the best aggregation of like character yet to appear on a Red Cloud platform in that they are all trained singers and each individual has rare talent. They showed that they can sing difficult music, classic selections, with the same ease as they sing the catchy folk-lore songs of the southland. Each member is a star and their united voices pleased the most critical. We heard many say that the management should secure them for the next season.

Mr. Griffin, of Tahan, delivered the first lecture to a very appreciative audience. He related his experiences from the time he was captured by the Indians, how he was loved and cared for by his foster parents, what the Indians did when at home and on the war path, their methods of living and a great deal of inside concrete testimony which he obtained while still under the impression that he was a full blood Indian. The speaker severely censured the treatment given the Indian by the white man and gained the sympathy of his hearers by relating facts and incidents which were personally known to him. His delivery was easy and pleasant and most agreeable.

In his formal lecture Monday afternoon Tahan in his "Tragedy of the Red Man" graphically pictured the history of the Indian and presented characteristics of this fast departing race which the white man with his boasted civilization would do well to emulate. To many the statement that the Indian was living thousands of years before Abraham left his native land for a new home came as a surprise and yet scholars of the world are sure that such was the case. Interesting was his description of Indian life, instructing that part of the lecture which described the morality, honesty and integrity of the Indian. Withal the lecture was a severe arraignment of the treatment accorded the Indian by the United States government and the charges made were all the more humiliating because they were true. From the Indian standpoint there are four things to be remembered by every young brave. They are, first, there is nothing so heavy as the pressure of a white man's foot; second, nothing so strong as a white man's hand; third, nothing so crooked as a white man's tongue and, fourth, nothing so black as a white man's heart. The audience gave a most attentive ear to all that was said and the frequent applause demonstrated that they were with him with all their sympathy.

Monday evening the Ferguson jubilee singers gave the prelude and Mrs. Lulu Tyler Gates, impersonator and entertainer, charmed her hearers by reading "Folly at the Circus." Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Gates more than delighted her audience by her rapid change in character impersonation, her fluent delivery, her well modulated voice. One of the big features of this year's chautauqua is the moving pictures after every evening session. Monday night the entire Passion play was given and this represented three thousand feet of film.

Tuesday evening the prelude was given by the Citizens' Concert Band and Betz's orchestra. We have purposely refrained from saying anything about these organizations because we wished to give the boys special notice. Tuesday evening's was a home talent program and it was one of the best given so far during the chautauqua. Our band is playing high class music and it pleases the people fully as well as any of the foreign troupes. We heard many expressions of surprise from people who were a bit late. They came hurriedly in so as to lose none of the beautiful music, and could hardly believe their eyes when they saw that home folks were delivering the goods. Our band and orchestra are the pride of the city and certainly deserve enthusiastic support.

The lecture of the evening was delivered by Rev. E. N. Tompkins, pastor of the Methodist church, and was given the closest attention. The speaker described his trip through the Yellowstone National park and graphically described the scenes he found there. He accompanied his lecture with the finest of pictures, which were thrown upon the screen in front of the audience. Mr. Tompkins possesses an unusually fine voice for outdoor speaking. He could be easily heard all over the big tent and every word was delivered distinctly and accurately articulated. The entire audience enjoyed the trip through the park and were sorry when they were compelled to return home.

Wednesday afternoon after another musical treat the Chicago Ladies orchestra gave a program of an hour and a half filled with musical melodies of many descriptions. There are eight or nine in the company and all stars in their places. From snare drum to the bass viol each displayed to good advantage her ability to bring out the music of the instrument. They also carried a reader with them and she gave several selections which were very pleasing.

In the evening the Chicago Ladies Orchestra gave the prelude and Burgdurger, the funny man, treated the large audience to one continued round of fun and frolic for over an hour. Here was something that the children could enjoy and it was a pleasure to see how they entered into the fun.
