MANDERSON IS DEAD

FORMER NEBRASKA SENATOR EXPIRES ON SHIPBOARD.

IN EUROPE ON HEALTH TRIP

Declining for Two Years and Feeble When Visited by Nebraska Friends—Died as Home Journey Commenced.

New York.—News has been received at the offices of the White Star line of the death of former United States Senator Charles Frederick Manderson of Omaha, Neb., on board the steamer Cedric, which sailed from Liverpool Thursday.

General Manderson has been in ill health for two years. His trip abroad was made with a view to his recuperation. He was a passenger on the steamer Olympic, which was rammed by an English warship just after sailing from Liverpool and the shock is believed to have hastened death.

Delay in securing passage on another vessel had a depressing effect on the general's nervous system and private telegrams received here state that his condition was serious when the Cedric sailed.

Senator Manderson was president pro tempore of the senate during part of his service in the upper house of congress.

Death of Dr. J. T. Hay.

Lincoln, Neb.—Dr. John Titus Hay, superintendent of the asylum for the insane, died Thursday morning after an illness which became grave only three days ago. Death was due to heart disease. Dr. Hay had been suffering from the disease for several years, but was able to perform his duties. It was not until last Monday that he felt so poorly that he took to his bed. Wednesday his condition became worse and the physicians became alarmed. At that time he had a sinking spell. He passed away at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Auto-Bus Goes into the River.

Paris.—An auto-omnibus, occupied by about twenty persons, was crossing the Bridge Archeveche over the Seine near the Cathedral of Notre Dame when suddenly it left the roadway and crashed through the parapet, falling into the water. The auto-omnibus was a closed vehicle with the passengers inside. The bodies of five persons who had been drowned were recovered and twelve persons alive but unconscious were taken from the water.

Court Will Establish Identity.

St. Louis.—Whether the man of mystery now in Niles, Mich., claiming to be George A. Kimmel, missing bank cashier, is the real Kimmel or an impostor, may be legally decided in St. Louis within the next few months. The testimony will be made in the trial of the suit of George C. Rankin, receiver of the First National bank of Niles, against the New York Life Insurance company to compel it to pay a $5,000 policy on Kimmel's life.

Yeggmen at Wabash, Neb.

Wabash, Neb.—Highwaymen made three attempts to enter the vault in the Farmers' State bank here. Officials of the bank are unable to tell whether or not the yeggmen succeeded in obtaining any loot from the safe until an expert arrives and opens the door of the vault, the combination lock of which was blown off by the robbers.

Ahliene, Texas.—The second annual meeting of the central west Texas dry farming congress opened here Wednesday with several hundred men interested in raising grain and vegetables with little rainfall present. The session will last two days, during which time a number of agricultural experts and practical farmers will explain to the convention that dry farming methods can accomplish under seemingly adverse conditions.

Filing Rights for Land Opening.

Dallas, S. D.—Announcement has just been made by Judge James A. Witten that there will be 8,000 names drawn in the process of establishing filing rights for the Rosebud and Pine Ridge land opening, for which registration will commence on October 2.

Five Victims of Kerosene Can.

Mitchell, Iowa.—Mrs. Virgil Vander and four of her children were burned to death when a can of kerosene used to start a fire in the kitchen stove exploded.

Qualifies as Aerial Mail Carrier.

New York.—Frank H. Hitchcock postmaster general of the United States, has qualified as an aerial mail carrier. He took a seat beside Captain Paul Beck of the United States army in the latter's aeroplane at the Nassau Boulevard aerodrome, carrying seventy-eight pounds of mail matter. Without the slightest mishap the two made a seven minute flight to Mineola, where upon signal the postmaster general dropped the mail pack to one of Uncle Sam's carriers. Mr. Hitchcock was enthusiastic over the trial.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANKOWSKI, 2908 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unfortunate Man.

A tourist in the mountains of Tennessee once had dinner with a quarrelsome old mountaineer who yarned about hard times for 15 minutes at a stretch. "Why, man," said the tourist, "you ought to be able to make lots of money shipping green corn to the northern market. 'Yes, I orter," was the sullen reply. "You have the land, I suppose, and can get the seed." "Yes, I guess so." "Then why don't you go into the speculation?" "No use, stranger," sadly replied the cracker; "the old woman is too lazy to do the plowin' and plantin'."

When a woman calls for her husband to "come here a minute," he knows she has a two hours' job for him.
