

Prejudice Is a Serious Menace

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from Mr. Harry Hackenburg, Elliott, Iowa, and Mrs. E. Goring, Dix, Nebraska, but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-gripping, non-violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 201 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

PRAYER OF NEHEMIAH

Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 26, 1911
Specially Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT—Nehemiah 1. MEMORY VERSE—3. GOLDEN TEXT—"The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."—Jas. 5:16.

TIME—Thirteen years after the Return of the Exiles under Ezra (our last lesson). Nehemiah's prayer, B. C. 445, November, December. He went to Jerusalem the next spring, B. C. 444.

PLACE—Shushan, or Susa, one of the three capitals of the Persian Empire at the time of this lesson. It is now called Sus, in southwest Persia. The ancient city has been excavated, and various inscriptions and remains of buildings have been brought to light.

RULERS—Artaxerxes, called Longimanus (or long-handed), began to reign B. C. 465; reigned till Dec. 17, 423. Athens came under Pericles (445). Military tribunes in Rome (445).

JEWISH LEADERS—Nehemiah, who became Governor of Judea. Ezra the scribe had returned to Babylon. Malachi, the last prophet of the Old Testament, must have been living at this time.

Ezra's home was in Babylon, Nehemiah's in Shushan, 250 miles further east, with fewer persons of his own nationality, and farther away from news of what was going on in Jerusalem. It is this separation of homes that explains why there was so little working together of these two men, till both had been at Jerusalem.

Nehemiah was walking one day outside the walls of Shushan, so Josephus tells us, when "some strangers, making for the city, travel-worn as if by a long journey, were overheard by him discoursing in his own language, the Hebrew. Nothing touches the heart in a strange land more than one's mother tongue. He went up to them, therefore, and introducing himself, found they were from Judah, and one was his own brother, Hanani."

Naturally Nehemiah asked them about the state of things in Judea. He learned that Ezra's reforms in relation to marriages with the heathen, made the surrounding nations very bitter. The leaders on both sides were many of them allied by marriage, and for the Jews to repudiate their foreign wives, as if claiming to be so much better than their neighbors, must have infuriated them. It struck the divorced women as a cruel and insulting outrage. Driven back to their paternal homes with their burning wrongs, these poor women must have aroused the utmost indignation among their people. Thus the reformer had stirred up a hornet's nest.

Nehemiah was a true patriot. He was a deeply religious man, a man of prayer and consecration, God-fearing, true to his convictions. He showed remarkable wisdom and shrewdness. If any fault is recorded of Nehemiah, it is one which he himself reveals, a fault that for a long time prevented Alexander Whyte from loving him—"and, worst of all, I thought him a man who was always well pleased with himself."

Max Muller, in his autobiography, says that the story of a man, which leaves out his faults, is like a picture deficient in shadows, and fails to bring out the bright points of his character. "We want to know his faults—that is probably the most interesting part of him," certainly often very helpful.

Charles Reade calls him: "Faithful courtier, yet true patriot; child of luxury, yet patient of hardship; inventive builder, impromptu general, astute politician, high-spirited gentleman, inspired orator, resolute reformer; born leader of men yet humble before God."

The first thing, the absolutely necessary thing, for Nehemiah was to find divine help, wisdom, guidance, for himself, and the source of power over the king's mind. For this he prayed to the only being who could answer his prayer, and he kept on praying for four months, while the double answer was being prepared—in himself that he, by deep thought, and new light and divine wisdom, might be fitted to receive the answer, and in the king that he might be inclined to do his part toward the answer.

That for which Nehemiah prayed was like the first petitions in the Lord's prayer, "Thy kingdom come." For his prayer was not merely for a few people and the city that were in danger, but for the kingdom of God on earth. The condition of things at Jerusalem was a dishonor to Jehovah and to his religion.

His prayer had been so far answered that he knew what he had to do, and that the time had come for doing it. His prayer now at the end of four months, was for guidance and help and success in this crisis.

The answer came through and in the man who prayed. So Jesus bade his disciples to pray for more laborers to gather in the spiritual harvest. The answer came through their own work in that harvest field. It came also in their being better laborers, wiser, more earnest, more self-denying, more skillful. In all sincere prayer one must be willing to do his part toward the answer.

The answer was coming during all this time of delay. The answers are often long preparing. As one prays for fruit, and the answer is begun by the planting of seed, followed by the nurture of sun and rain. But the fruit must grow and ripen before it can be eaten. Thus printing could not prevail till good, cheap paper was discovered, and each invention, as steam, telephone, telegraph, depended on our having other things to make them useful. The battle must be fought before the victory can come, and the victory would be of small value without the battle.

1,000 PIANOS TO BE SOLD FOR CASH

PIANO MANUFACTURERS FORCED DOWN TO COST OF MANUFACTURE AND EVEN LESS.

EVERY PIANO TO BE SOLD DURING NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER.

The Bennett Co. of Omaha Joins "Syndicate" Which Buys and Sells Entire Overproduction of Seven-Ten Makers.

The largest single purchase of pianos ever made or contracted for west of the Mississippi, has just been brought about by Mr. W. M. Robinson, General Manager of the Piano Dept. of The Bennett Co. of 16th & Harney Sts., Omaha, Neb.

Piano manufacturers throughout the east are feeling the inroads made by player pianos, automobiles, etc., and have concluded that "first loss is best loss," and have therefore sold their entire overproduction to a syndicate of huge distributors, The Bennett Co. of Omaha being one of the largest of all concerned.

Mr. Robinson, acting for The Bennett Co., has purchased as Bennett's share of the "Syndicate Buy," 1,000 new pianos, and with a shrewd business ability fostered by years of experience Mr. Robinson has purchased these low enough to enable The Bennett Co. to resell them at prices that will cause a furor.

Brand new, full sized, absolutely perfect pianos of excellent make will be offered at as low as $124, but, owing to the exceedingly close margin, these must be sold for cash. (The regular lines carried by The Bennett Co., however, will be sold on very easy payments just as heretofore.)

Bennett's own stock of "used" instruments will go for a proverbial "song" of a price, first-class upright pianos being offered at $88 and used organs as low as $15.

Those addressing a request to The Bennett Co., 16th & Harney Sts., Omaha, Neb., will receive circulars naming and pricing all of the pianos, etc., to be sold at cost and less for cash.

PHYSICIAN ADVISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Four years ago I had places break out on my wrist and on my shin which would itch and burn by spells, and scratching them would not seem to give any relief. When the trouble first began, my wrist and shin itched like poison. I would scratch those places until they would bleed before I could get any relief. Afterwards the places would scale over, and the flesh underneath would look red and feverish. Sometimes it would begin to itch until it would wake me from my sleep, and I would have to go through the scratching ordeal again."

Our physician pronounced it "dry eczema." I used an ointment which the doctor gave me, but it did no good. Then he advised me to try the Cuticura Remedies. As this trouble has been in our family for years, and is considered hereditary, I felt anxious to try to head it off. I got the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, and they seemed to be just what I needed.

"The disease was making great headway on my system until I got the Cuticura Remedies which have cleared my skin of the great pest. From the time the eczema healed four years ago, until now, I have never felt any of its pest, and I am thankful to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment which certainly cured me. I always use the Cuticura Soap for toilet, and I hope other sufferers from skin diseases will use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Irven Hutchison, Three Rivers, Mich., Mar. 16, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 17 K, Boston.

MISSILE OF SIXTIES

James Projectile Used During Civil War.

An Old-Time Artillery Missile Made of Cast Iron, and of Most Peculiar and Interesting Construction.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Of the many styles of artillery projectiles made and used during the War for the Union those constructed on General James' place were among the most interesting and useful. This invention, however, was not one of those springing directly out of the sudden and intense study given by Americans to military matters, the system having been devised and subjected to severe tests several years before the opening of the Civil War.

Shot and shell on this principle were elongated and, of course, were intended for rifled cannon only. The James missile was of cast iron, cylindrical-conoidal, the whole forward portion—the point—being solid, if a shot, and hollowed and provided with a percussion fuse, if a bombshell. In the base of the projectile there is a central orifice extending into the cylinder and from this orifice (as seen in the illustration) ten almost rectangular openings diverge (like the mortises for spokes in a wheel-hub) through the body to the exterior. In recesses on the outside of the projectile is the "packing," an envelope of strong canvas, sheet-iron and lead, suitably arranged for the peculiar work assigned for it. On the outside is the canvas, which is well-saturated with a tallow lubricant. In making, the heavy tin envelope is secured in its place by an iron collar, and the space between the tin and the body of the cylinder is filled with molten lead, which, adhering to the tin and to the iron, forms a compact mass around the projectile.

When the gun is fired the powder gases are forced into a base of the projectile, and through the ten openings against the packing, and this, expanded into the rifling of the gun, imparts to the shot or shell the required rotation in flight. The "packing" selected by this inventor was carefully thought out; and, as the lead, melted into its place, had an exceedingly tenacious grip, and as the force of the powder charge could expand the "packing" no farther than the grooves of the gun, there were no complaints as to the packing being blown off in fragments before the missile had completed its journey. The average weight of the James solid shot for a 42-pounder is 8 1/4 pounds, or if a shell, 6 1/4 pounds, of which, in either case, 6 1/4 pounds is the weight of the "packing."

AN INTELLIGENT ELEPHANT

Incident Which Helps to Solve the Much Discussed Problem, "Do Animals Think?"

London.—Recently an Indian elephant has covered considerable territory toward the solution of the much discussed problem, "Do animals think?" Ordered to drag a tree, which proved too heavy, urged and excited to continue her efforts, the chain by which the beast was fastened finally broke and she made a dash for the jungle.

It was supposed she would mix with the wild elephants and be seen no more, but in an hour back she came bringing with her two other elephants, and by their united strength the tree was easily moved. After the job was finished the two strange animals disappeared, but the one faithfully remained to go forward with her higher education.

Wasps Enjoy Church Service.

Germanstown, N. Y.—Because he allowed a swarm of wasps to build a nest in the church, Sherman Likely, sexton of the Dutch Reformed church, is in danger of losing his position. The wasps nearly broke up the services, and now a committee is investigating. The swarm made its home in the church during two weeks the church was closed, and when the wasps were started Sunday the wasps descended upon the worshippers.

A Powder That's Different

The first difference you'll see when you shoot Robin Hood Ammunition is the scarcely noticeable recoil. That means that all the force of the powder is used to propel the shot or bullet. The powder combustion is progressive—produces velocity all along the barrel.

The kick you notice in other ammunition is caused by a big sudden explosion that works both forward and backward and leaves no reserve force to follow the load from breach to muzzle.
