Red Cloud And No Foundation The Burlington.

As has been previously published in the columns of the Chief, the Burlington Company has purchased Maurer's Springs. Shortly after the failure of the City having the bond proposition to extend our notoriously inefficient water system to Maurer's Springs, the Burlington people first secured an option, and then quickly title to those Springs. It is very probable that the production agitation last spring caused the Burlington people to investigate and awaken to the commercial value of such a natural water head and magnificent water supply as Maurer's Springs afford.

Two agents of the Burlington appeared before the City Council at their meeting last Wednesday evening, and asked for an ordinance franchising a pipe line for the purpose of conveying the water from Maurer's Springs, thru the corporate limits of the City to the depot. The spokesman for the Company stated that the operation of the Patuxent Canal would soon cause the Burlington to make numerous and serious changes especially in its freight traffic, and that the Western freight would be diverted along the Republican Valley line to Kansas City or St. Joe where it will connect with the water traffic of the Missouri.

Maurer's Springs offer to the Burlington Railroad not only by far the best water, but the easiest and cheapest system to be had between Denver and Kansas City. After the pipe-line is once installed the Burlington's reservoir would be supplied by a torrent of the purest water to be had by gravity fall and without further expense. While the new local water system is being so seriously contemplated by the Burlington people, and their freight system is to be so revolutionized as to make this their main line in Nebraska, and Red Cloud is about to lose not only so great a water customer and consumer, but also lose forever all possibility of so valuable a public asset as the uninterrupted flow of pure, cool, crystal, spring water through its mains, there yet remains possible opportunity for much good to come from such heavy losses. While the Burlington is negotiating for its water franchise through the City, the City can negotiate with the Burlington to extend a 'Y' or spur up town and re-establish their passenger depot, freight and express houses and offices in the neighborhood of the old creamery. Perhaps the Railroad yards could remain much as they are now, and it would be no great hardship upon the Company to thus accommodate a patron so valuable as Red Cloud.

If a deal with the Burlington people to extend spurs and remove their depots and offices up-town cannot be consummated now the future will offer still less encouragement. At this time Red Cloud promises to become a Railroad center of importance, because of the new private water system which the Burlington propose to install, in which case all property values will materially enhance, and the cost to the Company for such changes proportionately increase. In any event the Burlington people could be persuaded to see and supply these serious needs of Red Cloud at this time far easier than ten or fifteen years hence. Now is the time for Red Cloud to awaken not only to her deplorable losses to her water system and patrons, and also the good advertising influence of a public 'arterial system' of pure, crystal spring water, but to her possible opportunity if not necessity of negotiating these changes with the Burlington people in the interests of our public welfare.

No Foundation In Rumor.

Rumors have been circulated in the streets that owing to the lack of funds our schools would be compelled to remain closed several months this year. How such rumors got started we are at a loss to understand. We have investigated this matter and find that there is plenty of money on hand in the school fund and a money order to build to cover on the work to the end of the term and have many left. The impression made by the rumors was that we could not maintain our school any longer and that the end of the money would be on the end of the term. Just to show how absurd this statement is we will state that the estimate of expenses for the school for the year 1911-12 is $100,000.00. The amount on hand at the end of the term of 1910-11 was $100,000.00. The amount on hand at the end of the term of 1911-12 is $100,000.00.
