One Thousand Will Sing For Sunday School Workers
 Omaha, Neb., April 30—A magnificent chorus of one thousand voices in concert will feature the entertainment which will be provided for the State Sunday school convention when it holds its annual meeting in Omaha on June 18, 19 and 20. The chorus of one thousand, to be composed of female voices selected from the Sunday schools of Douglas County, will give a concert on Monday night, June 17, preceding the three days convention of the State Association.
 The chorus will be under the direction of John S. Helgren, who has had considerable success as a director of large choruses. The concert will be given in the auditorium, which will provide ample accommodations for the large gathering. Officers of the State Association anticipate an attendance of 1,500 at the annual meeting.
 Preliminary plans for the convention are being made by the Bureau of Publicity of the Omaha Commercial Club which is working in conjunction with the state officers. All meetings will be held in the First M. E. church, which will easily seat fifteen hundred.
 Rehearsals have already been started for the big concert. Singers are rehearsing in three squads, one in the northern part of the city, another in the southern and yet another in the central. After the preliminary practices, the grand rehearsals will be held in the Y. M. C. A., auditorium.
 This concert is the largest ever attempted but is characteristic of Omaha enterprise and spirit, which believes there is nothing too good for visitors from the state of Nebraska.
 Preliminary advices from the state indicate the coming meeting will be one of the most representative ever held. The various county organizations are lining up for the annual convention in a way that bespeaks success.

Potato Considered European.
 It is a curious thing in connection with the renewed interest regarding South America potato cultivation that along the east coast of South America the tuber is considered a European vegetable, and is cultivated only by those gaining their experience from the old world.
