

A Newspaper That Gives The News Fifty-two Weeks Each Year For $1.50.

VOLUME XXXX.

RED CLOUD, NEBRASKA, JUNE 27, 1912.

NUMBER 26

THE New Banking Law is now in force and the payment of every dollar of deposits in this institution is guaranteed by the Bank Guaranty Fund of the State of Nebraska.

INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS.

Webster County Bank

RED CLOUD, NEB.

CAPITAL $25,000

Upland I. O. O. F. Entertains

Tuesday this editor had the pleasure of attending the big celebration at Upland. The occasion was the opening of a city park combined with a festival conducted by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. We were very much impressed with the enterprise and progressiveness of this prairie city. It has every appearance of thrift, its people are good natured, energetic and past masters in the art of entertaining. There were fully three thousand people in attendance and so far as we could see everyone of that number felt perfectly at home. Good feeling prevailed all the time.

The park which was formally opened and given to the public covers a large block of ground, is centrally located and is plentifully studded with thrifty trees. Great care has been expended in raising of these trees and any community in Nebraska might well feel proud in having such a luxury.

Every speaker advertised appeared on the platform and they were all accorded the closest attention. Promptly at ten o'clock the large crowd gathered at the pavilion in the park and W. C. Dorsey publically donated the grounds to the public in a carefully prepared address. This address was a real scholarly composition and well merited the generous applause which was accorded it. E. J. Overing Jr. of this city then delivered a thirty minute address on Odd Fellowship which was well received.

Hon. A. C. Shallenberger, candidate for the United States senate, was introduced and given an enthusiastic welcome: The people listened eagerly to what the Ex-Governor had to say and by their frequent applause showed that they appreciated him and were with him heartily. As we all know Mr. Shallenberger is a polished finished orator and this address was fully up to standard. He captured his audience from the start and held it through his entire discourse.

The noon hour was given over to dinner after which a large automobile parade went through the streets bringing up again at the speakers stand. Hon. S. R. Barton delivered a short talk in which he stated that he would give way to the heavy weights that were to follow him. Governor Aldrich was then introduced and gave an address partly punctuated with his pleasant experiences at the Chicago convention. One could not help but feel that the Governor was a little undecided which way to jump but he quite skillfully avoided definite statements as to his position in the present political situation. He was given respectful attention and was frequently applauded.

Hon. J. H. Moorehead, candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket, was the next speaker and in a few well chosen words he expressed his pleasure in being permitted to meet for the first time a western audience. He stated that he had always fought for what was right and equitable and that the people of his home district had always sent him to the legislature without instruction or strings of any kind. Mr. Moorehead made a very favorable impression on the audience and they realized that he is a man large enough and safe enough to be entrusted with the highest office in the state.

Hon. R. D. Sutherland was the last speaker on the program and he certainly was a prime favorite. Everybody was with him all the time. He made hit after hit and was frequently interrupted with applause. The Honorable gentleman was at his best and the crowd would have gladly listened had he chosen to extend his address. Few speakers have the ability to impress an audience as Roderick Sutherland. Perfectly at home on the platform, easy in manners, possessing a pleasant voice, he captivates his hearers. Prolonged applause followed his address.

One of the most pleasant features of the program was the singing of the double quartet which sang many beautiful selections. Even the semi-large cities of the land do not produce as good music as this Upland choir and we congratulate that place on their good fortune. The other Odd Fellows that went from this city were A. R. Saladen, Wilbur Hamilton and W. L. Weesner all of whom report that they had a most enjoyable time. The celebration was a complete success in every particular and the Upland people have done the handsome thing.

The Boy Scouts and My Boy

A True Story for Mothers, by a Mother

(Continued from last week)

Shortly after that the Boy sent thirty precious cents to Scout headquarters for a Scout Manual. It was with him day and night. I am moderately certain he slept with it under his pillow. I sent for one myself, taking care the Boy should not know I had done so, and I read it with a critical eye.

There were places in it that seemed to me a good deal claptrap, a kind of playing at make-believe; something here and there which, to my way of thinking, is forced or cheap and useless; something which lacks sense and sincerity. Maybe this is merely a woman's native misunderstanding and misapprehension of a man's world, but I am telling you frankly the impression the whole thing made on me. I did not like the "dramatics" of it. I found, about that time, quite a little in the magazines, too, about the organization, and I remember reading with a good deal of disgust how the Scoutmaster sometimes pretended to be badly hurt and pretends to faint, so that, thus fooling the boys, he may better give them a genuine (!) lesson in first aid to the injured. I read that one leader pretended to be lost in some big stretch of woods, so that the boys would get the genuine lost-in-the-woods scare, such as the wilderness pioneers had; and there were other such accounts.

All of this, as well as many other minor details of the Scout movement, I disapproved of, do still disapprove of thoroughly. I thought them then, and I still think them, cheap and unworthy; but in that Manual, as I read it, there were pages, too, that glowed with the light from a boy's own world. Also, there was the page of Scout laws, reading which, something in me got to its feet and saluted as a cadet salutes a superior officer.

On page 10 of the Scout Manual there is to be found the following:

- THE TWELVE POINTS OF THE SCOUT LAW
1. A Scout is trustworthy
 2. A Scout is loyal
 3. A Scout is helpful
 4. A Scout is friendly
 5. A Scout is courteous
 6. A Scout is kind
 7. A Scout is obedient
 8. A Scout is cheerful
 9. A Scout is thrifty
 10. A Scout is brave
 11. A Scout is clean
 12. A Scout is reverent

I had hoped my boy would be all these things, and had so admonished him. But these are Scout Laws, mind you, not advice and admonitions, not hopes backed by maternal pleadings and fears, but laws, self-imposed when the Scout takes his oath; for in taking the oath he promises to obey these laws. That settled it. If the Scout movement stood for these things, and inspired and exacted them, I was with it, heart and soul.

I have not told you that the "gang" had by this time joined. Well, of course they had. They were Scouts now. I believe they joined the organization very soon after the Boy received the Manual.

It took some little time for them to Challenge Accepted.

We, and seven others, hereby accept the challenge as issued in the Argus and Commercial Advertiser last week to meet the nine professionals in mortal combat on the base ball field. In accepting said challenge we wish it distinctly understood that we will have an "all progressive" team and that no steam roller methods will be permitted. We suggest that all blue-haired people be admitted free, all others at half price.

FLAVE J. GRICE.

get things going. The right Scoutmaster was not easy to choose. The boys found it hard to agree. Finally their choice rested on a young fellow who was working his way through law school. He had some Indian blood in him, and the boys thrust on him the honor and, it may be added, the labor of being their Scoutmaster. From then on the Scouts met twice a week. From the start the whole thing was a great success. The Boy, for one, benefited immensely by the association. It would take me too long to tell you how much. I only tell you humbly that some of the faults to him which I had worked with for years, such as selfishness, shiftlessness, occasional cowardice, and sometimes irreverence, began to disappear, and without fret or friction. A good Scout has none of these faults: they are against the Scout law. He was trying to be a good Scout; that was all.

Have you a boy of your own? If you have, I think you cannot do better than to look into the Scout movement. He is sure to hear of it, and, if he is anywhere near twelve, or thirteen, or fourteen, he is pretty sure to want to join it. I beg you, too, not to put anything in his way; and then, further, I beg you to keep your hands off. Your part is to listen when he talks to you about it; to approve; to have a good supper waiting for him when he comes back from his Scout tramps, and to continue to say your prayers at night for him.

(To be Continued)

Rebekah District No. 28 Meets

Last Thursday afternoon the Rebekahs of this district met in annual session in this city with President Sister Jane Thomas of Superior in the chair. The other officers were Anna-abel Johnson of Superior, secretary, Sister Woodward of Guide Rock, treasurer, Sister Florence Ross, outside guard. These officers were all present and in their places at the appointed time. An address of welcome was given by E. J. Overing, Jr., to which Sister Carrie Waite of Superior, responded. Sister Hull delivered an excellent reading which was so much appreciated that the members requested that it be repeated at the next session.

Sister Melita Taylor of Blair, who is a past state president was presented and she conducted a school of instruction. This was highly appreciated by the entire lodge. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Sister Mary Peterson, Red Cloud. Vice President, Sister Woodward, Guide Rock. Warden, Sister Hull, Ruskin. Secretary, Sister Frank Smith, Red Cloud.

In the evening Faith Rebekah Lodge No. 19 met in regular form with Sister Almira Slaby, Noble Grand, in the chair. Five candidates were present and they were initiated in the order. The work was put on by the degree staff from Guide Rock and was unusually well done. During a recess Sister Hull repeated her reading which she gave at the previous session. Marie Ross rendered a difficult selection on the piano which was much appreciated. Mildred Fulton and Hazel Saladen sang a very appropriate and

If A Watch Of Ours Goes Wrong

We make it right for you or we make it right with you. Which means that you cannot be a loser.

No we don't take any great chances by offering to do that. Because our watches are watch certainties.

They have Reputation behind them and they aren't likely to start now to disappoint.

But if one should, we agree to be the loser.

What better watch assurance could you have than this?

Newhouse Bros.,

E. H. Newhouse, Prop. C. B. & Q. Watch Inspectors

idence of all who dealt with him. The funeral services were conducted from the M. E. church Thursday afternoon, Rev. Hummel officiating.

Webster County Sells $9.15 Cattle

Hugh Hunter of Webster county, Nebraska, had on the market today two loads of 8-year old fat cattle of his own raising, from Shorthorn cows and Hereford bulls, good enough to sell for $9.15, average weight 1,400 pounds. These cattle were fed alfalfa hay and corn for 6-months and made a good gain. They were the highest priced cattle ever shipped out of Webster county, Nebraska. — Kansas City Drover's Telegram, June 20.

Order To Show Cause.

State of Nebraska, } In The County Court
Webster County. }
At a county court held at the County Court room in and for said county June 25th 1912.

In the matter of the estate of Amelia Richards, Deceased.
On reading and filing the petition of Amos L. Richards, filed on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1912, praying for the examination and allowance of her final account of the same date, a decree of assignment of the lands belonging to said estate to the persons entitled to the same, an order distributing the residue of personal estate and there upon an order discharging her from further burden and service in her said office as administratrix.

ORDERED, That Saturday, the 13th day of July, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock a. m., is assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a County Court to be held in and for said county and show cause why prayer of petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter, by publishing a copy of this order in the Red Cloud Chief, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three consecutive weeks prior to said day of hearing.
[SEAL] A. D. RANSNEY,
County Judge.

Don't Buy a Wooden Silo! CONCRETE IS BETTER

BUT, If you must have a wooden Silo and will give us your order so we can get it in our next car, we will make the following prices for a full length stave Silo, made and sold under the Harder Patent. Don't delay as prices are liable to rise at any minute. Call at our yard and examine one of these silos.

10x24 $144.00	14x24 173.00
10x30 169.50	14x30 235.00
12x24 162.00	16x30 261.00
12x30 208.00	16x36 331.00

Prices includes complete silo comprising staves, doors and door frames, hoops and lugs, ladder, anchors and roof

Red Cloud, Nebraska Platt & Frees

White is the Thing

This Spring and Summer will be a great White Season in all lines. We have a full line of White Canvas and White Buck Shoes and Oxfords for Ladies, Misses and Children

Come and make your selections now while our stock is complete in styles and sizes.

Bailey & Bailey
Newhouse Bldg.