DAN GARBER & COMPANY, CHIEF Office.
Every person who appreciates a good musical, lecture or entertainment and wants to help make the Chautauqua a permanent institution in Red Cloud must render personal assistance. How? Buy a season ticket for yourself and family.
Si Jamison, of San Diego, California a first class band man and a sign painter by profession, arrived in Red Cloud Monday and will make this his future headquarters. Mr. Jamison is an old friend of Prof. Betz, who was the cause of Mr. Jamison locating here. The trombone section of the band is now complete and Tuesday evenings concert was one of the best ever heard of in the city.
The people of the Baptist church gave the newly wedded Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. McKimney a real old fashioned surprise Saturday evening. Fully forty members were present bringing with them plenty of ice cream and cake. A very enjoyable evening was spent and at the proper time Rev. Cole presented the new couple with a set of solid silver tea spoons. The presentation speech was both pleasing and pithy.

In as much as we will not celebrate the Fourth in this city we suggest that the various stores be closed at eight o'clock in the morning. This arrangement will give plenty of time for the people to do their trading for the day and will permit those who desire to celebrate in other places to make all trains. The other towns in the county were kind enough to give us full swing last year and we should return the compliment.
A very pretty and appropriate exercise was given in the Baptist church Sunday morning in honor of Children's Day. The decorations were simple but pleasing and entire program was well rendered. There were songs and recitations, class drills and exercises and all were delightful. The children entered into the program with zest and enthusiasm and seemed to fully appreciate their responsibility. The church was filled to overflowing and the audience certainly appreciated all efforts of the children.
Mr. Farmer, one of your great problems may be to entuse your boy or girl to give honest, earnest assistance in farm work during the summer months. Why not hold out as an inducement a trip to the State Fair at Lincoln, Sept. 2-6, where the best exhibits and greatest attractions are gathered together? Just think, in addition to the best horse races, will be seen aeroplane flights, the entire Cheyenne Frontier Days show, Liberator's great band and Grand Opera Concert company, night attractions, fireworks, and a number of other events in addition to the very best exhibits of stock, products of the soil, improved machinery, etc. Is it not worth trying?

Carter-Reigle
One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday noon, June 20th., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ephram Carter living four miles northeast of Inavale when their daughter Ada Fios was joined in holy matrimony to Mr. Grover Reigle. Elder J. Edwin Jarboe of the Brethren church officiated.
The bride is a christian young lady of highest type and is most highly esteemed by her host of well wishing friends. The groom is the son of Mr. J. S. Reigle and he needs no introduction to our readers as he is one of our best and most successful young men. The bride was dressed beautiful in pure white silk. The bride's maid Miss Laura Reigle sister of the groom was also dressed in pure white. Mr. Omar Carter brother of the bride acted as best man.
After the simple but very impressive ceremony and the usual congratulations the bridal party all wearing carnations and carrying beautiful bouquets of carnations and roses entered the dining room and with forty-five guests sat down to a bountiful feast which only mothers like Mrs. Carter know how to prepare. The rooms and tables were most beautiful decorated throughout.
Mr. and Mrs. Reigle were the recipients of many very useful as well as beautiful presents. They will be at home at once on the farm of Mrs. J. S. Reigle's which the groom has lately furnished and prepared for his bride. Everyone present spoke very highly of the grand way in which Mr. and Mrs. Carter entertained them and all went away wishing the newly married people joy and prosperity upon the sea of life.
