MORE LOCALS.

The Red Cloud Band has been engaged by the Norton, Kansas Fair Association to play there during their fair which will be held August 27, 28, 29 and 30. Norton has displayed good judgment in engaging our band as it is an attraction wherever it goes and never fails to take along a good bunch of admirers wherever it goes.

The Horse and Cattle Exhibits for the coming Nebraska State Fair, Sept. 2 to 6, give promise for a show of record breaking proportions. Already Superintendent R. M. Wolcott of Palmer reports the reservation of horse stalls greatly in excess of those made a year ago at this time, and Supt. E. R. Danielson of Osceola says that cattle stalls are reserved daily.

State League Ball Game Here at Odd Fellow Picnic

S. R. Florence, E. H. Newhouse, Ed Hanson and Harry Gilham of the Odd Fellow lodge were in Superior Wednesday and made arrangements with the Superior Base Ball Association to have the Superior-Hastings state league ball game of August 21st, transferred to this city. This will be one of the attractions of the Odd Fellow picnic and will be free to everybody.

Nebraska Puts Omaha to the Front in Grain

That Nebraska has made good in her wheat crop this year is shown by the fact that Omaha has forged to third place among the markets of the United States in wheat receipts.

According to reports from Washington, which have been received by the Bureau of Publicity, Omaha was third in wheat, second in corn, fifth in oats, and third in general receipts for the month of May. Total receipts in Omaha from Nebraska shippers for the month, were 4,212,200 bushels.

The receipts are the loudest sort of a boast for Nebraska. The state is coming into her own as an agricultural state and is getting the recognition she deserves.

Democratic Convention

At the state convention held at Grand Island last Tuesday, all previous differences were settled among the democrats by electing William H. Thompson of Grand Island, state chairman to succeed John C. Byrnes.

The actions of W. J. Bryan at the Baltimore national convention were indorsed and the Bryan platform in general was accepted.

A more detailed account of the proceedings of the convention will be given in our next issue, including the platform and general resolutions.

Chautauqua Concluded

It is not shame, but reverence that forbids. When lust is elevated into love, and love blossoms into life, father and mother come within the sovereignty of new laws, whose dominion concerns the safe, the tender, the wise culture of the most helpless promise of life in the kingdom of life. The babe is rendered holy to their affections, and nature and religion conspire to bow before the mystery of its birth with sacramental devotion. We are not prepared to say that this is an unnatural, and irrational attitude of the newly made parents to their offspring.

In the evening Miss Wilmer rendered with wonderfully discriminative power The Sign of The Cross, a well ceived tragedy of the Neronian persecution. In this rendition she very successfully impersonated several different characters, men, women and a child, and with a passion so intense that she made the story lifelike to the audience.

At the close of her performance, the audience arose and unanimously requested the return of herself and the Sadlers next year. It seems that Miss Wilmer and the Sadlers live together and travel in company.

Mr. Glen Walker and the Red Cloud Orchestra furnished the music for the platform Sunday afternoon, and each of the participants acquitted himself with great credit.

There are some suggestions which the Chief desires to make, but will reserve for a future issue.

BE SURE TO COME

AMONG YOUR PAPERS
there's none that may suddenly become more important than your fire insurance policy. Fire is no respecter of either time or persons and it may be your turn next to suffer from it.

IF YOU'RE NOT INSURED better have us attend to the matter at once. The fact that you have escaped fire so far doesn't for an instant mean you will always be so fortunate.
