BE ON THE SAFE SIDE

It is true that you are not likely to lose your savings if deposited in any good bank—but you are ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN NOT to lose them when you deposit where you have the additional protection of the State Guaranty Law. Such protection is offered you here.

It is surely "good business" to deposit where you get absolutely guaranteed protection, in preference to placing money in a bank that guarantees nothing.

The State Guaranty Law is behind every dollar deposited in this bank, and when you open an account here, you are ON THE SAFE SIDE.

WEBSTER COUNTY BANK
RED CLOUD, NEBRASKA

To the Voters of Webster County

The undersigned County Commissioners of Webster County, Nebraska, realizing that the tax payers of the county desire that no greater sum shall be spent to build the court house than is voted for that purpose, hereby agree not to spend a dollar above the amount voted to build and furnish the new court house.

We also agree to let each township in the County, at a meeting of its citizens, select a man to act with us in letting the contract for the court house; and agree not to let the contract for the building of the court house without the approval of a majority of the men so selected by the several townships.

ONCE AGAIN

Once more we feel impelled to suggest to the friends of fraternal insurance that they ought to get wide awake before election day. Remember that a state auditor is the head of the insurance department in Nebraska. Remember that if a state auditor is tied up with the old-line companies he will naturally swat the fraternal every time he gets a chance and he will have many chances. Remember that Henry Richmond, the democratic nominee for state auditor, is free from the influence of the old-liners. Remember the name, you who believe in fraternal insurance. Richmond is the name—Henry Richmond. Look for that name on the election ballot, and then make a mark in the square opposite that name. It is time to fight the arrogant head officers of the fraternal insurance societies. The most intelligent way of fighting them will be to elect a state auditor whom they cannot control. Richmond is the man we want fit state auditor and if we shall fail to elect him, then it will be just as well for the insurgent fraternal in Nebraska to lie down and quit fighting. Come on, boys! Let's do a little fighting to protect our own fraternal policies.—Columbus Telegram.

Shallenberger in Red Cloud

Addressing a large audience of voters in the opera house here Wednesday night, ex-Governor A. C. Shallenberger strengthened his reputation as a clear, concise and forceful speaker, and unquestionably did much good for his own candidacy for the United States Senate and the democratic candidates generally.

Mr. Shallenberger outlined his attitude on the foremost questions of today and clearly explained his ideas as to the remedies needed for some of the existing inequalities in our national affairs. He impressed his hearers with his great energy, and that he is intensely in earnest was evident to all. He had no panacea for all our national ills, but advocated the use of good, common honesty and no more subterfuge. His summing up of the record of his opponent, G. W. Norris, was fair, plain-spoken, but courteous. His address frequently brought forth the hearty applause of his hearers.

Proceeding Mr. Shallenberger on the speakers' stand, Platform Kelly and Merton L. Corey addressed the voters. The former is the democratic candidate for secretary of state, deriving his name "Platform" from his insistence upon following the platform pledges of his party while in the state legislature. Mr. Corey is the county attorney of Clay county, and while not an active candidate this year, he is making some strong addresses upon the big national issues. Mr. Corey shortened his remarks, through courtesy to Mr. Shallenberger. He briefly outlined the positions of all three parties, and graphically described the inconsistencies of the Chicago convention contestants.

L. H. Blackledge acted as chairman of the meeting, and the Red Cloud band furnished the music for the occasion.

What Nebraska Farmers Are Doing

When the magazine writers go hunting for a story about big things in agriculture, they have the habit of going to Kansas; for the reason that Kansas has been unusually progressive in advertising her resources; and Kansas has done great things with her 1,734,463 people on the farms and her 25,040,550 acres under cultivation. But in 1910, Nebraska with less than two-thirds of the population and about half of the cultivated acreage beat the Sunflower state to a frazzle, for instance: Kansas produced an average per capita value of agricultural products of $167.32; Nebraska an average of $277.75.

Did you get that? Read it again. Kansas produced from her farms wealth to the amount of $11.28 per cultivated acre; Nebraska farmers turned out $25.47 per cultivated acre.

And that's different. Remember it, Kansas produced from her total agricultural and live stock business $316.00 per capita. Fine!

Nebraska produced from her total live stock and agricultural business $451.00 per capita.

And that's different again. Don't forget it.

To make it plain, Nebraska, with just about half as many folks on her farms, beat Kansas $3,242,347 in the total of wealth production; a matter of $135.00 per capita.

The U. S. census says that the average wealth of the farmers of Kansas was $1,175 per capita in 1910; Nebraska farmers had $2,360 per capita. That's $5,926 more of wealth for every family of five on the farms of Nebraska than for similar families of Kansas. There's a reason for these things. Nebraska is a good state to live in. Paste it in your hat!

Widow's Pension.

The recent act of April 19th, 1908 gives to all soldiers' widows a pension $12 per month. Fred Maurer, the attorney, has all necessary blanks.

Cost of Levy To Taxpayer

There seems to be a little misunderstanding in regard to what the court house tax levy would amount to for each taxpayer. The proposed plan calls for a five mill levy for three years. Now if you have property valued at one thousand dollars you would be assessed two hundred dollars (one fifth) and five mills levied on your property would mean that you pay one dollar per year for three years for the new courthouse. If you have twenty-five hundred dollars worth of property your extra taxes would amount to two dollars and sixty cents. If you are worth ten thousand dollars it would cost you ten dollars. The average farm in this county is worth twelve thousand dollars and the court house levy on that farm would be just twelve dollars.

Now the question is just here; under present conditions our records, our titles to real estate, our mortgages, etc., are all subject to destruction any time. The little amount of taxes which we would pay for three years is only insurance money. At the end of three years we would have a paid up policy and no more insurance to pay.

We believe that seventy-five thousand dollars will build a courthouse that will be a credit to the county. We are in favor of settling this question at this time and forever preclude the possibility of some future board taking upon themselves to spend three hundred thousand dollars for this purpose. The proposed building is ample for our purposes. It is in keeping with our prosperity.

GEORGE OR HALL

The trouble over the county treasurer's office out in Custer county reinforces the argument that it is high time for some clean sweeping in the state house. For that trouble involved W. A. George, state treasurer, and candidate for re-election, who was formerly county treasurer in Custer county.

The county board, having had a thorough examination made by an expert, has instructed the county attorney to bring suit to recover $3,091.63 of interest money which should have been turned in to the county, and was not, during Mr. George's incumbency of the county treasurer's office. Mr. George's democratic predecessor in county treasurer's office collected all the legal rate of interest on county funds and paid it over to the county, and $1,523.55 in addition. His democratic successor also turned in to the county more than the full legal rate of interest, and three times as much in two years as Mr. George did in four years. Mr. George, sandwiched in between them, paid in less than the legal rate on county funds, and so legal steps have to be taken to protect the county's rights.

Mr. George, for aught we know, may have done the best he could. But he did not do nearly so well as the law requires, nor nearly so well as the treasurers who preceded and succeeded him. If he made so poor a showing as county treasurer, there is at least ground for an intelligent suspicion that he is not doing all that could be done, and should be done, as state treasurer.

Mr. George's democratic opponent for the office of state treasurer, Mr. Hall, is a conservative, careful and successful banker. He is one of the Nebraska bankers who worked hard, from the beginning, for a bank guarantee law. There is no flaw or blot in his record. If elected, he can be depended on to give the state a business rather than a political administration of the office. Under the circumstances the well informed voter should not hesitate long between these two candidates.—World Herald.

Vice-President Succumbs

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 30—Vice President Sherman died at 9:30 p. m.

"Sunny Jim", as he has been known politically and to friends for years, was stricken with heart trouble while on a vacation this summer, and while it was thought he was improving, he was known to be dangerously ill.

James S. Sherman was again on the republican ticket as the vice-presidential nominee.

FORMER NEIGHBORS OF MOREHEAD ARE FOR HIM

Ex-Richardson County Men, All Republicans, Tour Thurston County With Him.

Gubernatorial Candidate and Congressman Stephens Got Warm Welcome.

Pender, Neb., Oct. 25th.—Senator Morehead and Congressman Stephens met with flattering receptions as they passed through the western and southwestern towns of Thurston county today. They left Emerson for Thurston by automobile, where the entire town turned out and gave them welcomes. They were met here by six automobiles from Rosalie and Pender. In one of the Rosalie machines were Link Freil, Hubert Cobney and Charles Buehler, old Richardson county neighbors of Senator Morehead. These gentlemen are all old republicans, and took the senator into the car so that it can truly be said that Mr. Morehead's Thurston county trip was conducted by his old republican friends.

He delivered an eloquent plea at Pender to the large crowd which greeted him for Nebraska to do her part to ratify Wilson's election and promised that if the democrats were given charge of Nebraska the state's affairs would be managed on a business basis with the governor always at the helm, watching the state's every interest.

Congressman Stephens closed the meeting by making an appeal to all the progressives to vote for Woodrow Wilson, the only progressive candidate that could possibly have a congress to help him carry out the progressive cause.

Seven automobiles accompanied the party to Bancroft, where a good meeting was held. Again they passed into Thurston county to Rosalie and were greeted with a large and enthusiastic crowd. Many old republican neighbors of Mr. Morehead in Richardson county now living here, one of them Thomas Barada, entertained him at dinner. The old neighbors, irrespective of party, are for Mr. Morehead and have their coats off and are doing good work.—World Herald.
