Institute Draws Large Crowd

The Annual Farmers' Institute was held in Cowles Monday and Tuesday of this week. The attendance was quite large and very gratifying to the managers. In many respects this was the best institute ever held in Cowles and the farmers and business men are well pleased with this year's exhibition and program. The value of an institution of this character cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Experiences are exchanged, new methods learned, and every farmer and stock raiser is stimulated to do better the coming year. If one man is induced to raise one bushel of corn more to the acre, raise a better colt, or increase his efficiency in any manner these institutes are well worth the time and care it takes to make them possible.

The good people of Cowles are to be congratulated on the excellent manner in which this institute was conducted. Not a word of condemnation was heard and everyone was delighted with the success of this year's effort.

The display of agricultural products was very large and also very fine. There were twenty different sets of ear corn in the exhibit and every ear was of good quality. The wheat and oats exhibit was good and the potatoe display was one of the best ever shown in this section of the state. Then there was garden truck of every description which delighted the eye and convinced all on lookers that we have a great state.

The Ladies' department was filled with the handiwork of the house wife. All the work was an amazing array of needle work, fancy stitches, tatting and many others.

The school exhibit was exceptionally good. The work in the plaster relief maps showed great pains and accuracy. The details were well carried out and the evidence of exceptional ability was displayed through out the entire exhibit. Our country schools are rapidly forging to the front and their work is simply astonishing.

The poultry exhibit was not as good as might have been expected. This department seems to have been neglected but there was plenty of evidence to convince on that the coming of another year the chickens will have an equal show with the other departments. Practically all the birds were under weight but the exhibitors will know better what to select another year.

The Lectures given by the state workers were all well attended and highly appreciated. The speakers were practical people. They have not only studied the theory of farming but they have also had actual experience on the farm. Mr. Leonard is sixty years old and has been a careful observant farmer all his life. What he had to say carried much weight because he knew what he was talking about.

Mr. Odell had a very busy time as soon as he struck town, Mr. Keeney taking him in hand and steering him to the corn exhibits where he judged the corn samples. He reported that we should test our seed corn.

On Tuesday evening at the M. E. church the first thing on the program consisted of a few selections by our band, followed by Miss Sabin whose talk surely pleased the people, and was instructive. She was followed by Mr. Leonard who went back 50 years and worked up to our present time. Next came Mr. Odell who is a very interesting talker, and while he did not announce his subject the large crowd all remained and listened and it proved to be very, very good.

All the old officers were re-elected,

- President, H. G. Keeney.
- Vice President, Boyd Vance.
- Secretary, C. E. Putnam.
- Treasurer, E. T. Foe.
- 1st Vice President, E. B. Thompson.
- 2nd " " J. B. Frantz.
- 3rd " " A. J. Grant.
- 4th " " Chas. Boren.
- 5th " " J. T. Lacey.

Two Boys With Two Guns

Last Saturday, Russell Jones age 14 years, in company with Stanser Amack a son of George Amack, and about the same age, started out on a hunting exhibition, armed with a rifle and shot gun respectfully. On returning they stood the guns up against the gate, when in some manner a jar caused the guns to fall and in so doing the shot gun exploded. The charge passed through an inch board in the gate and struck just above the ankle of Russell's leg. At once physicians were called and dressed the wound and on Sunday the boy was brought into town and taken to the home of George Amack, where he is at this time. The wound, while a serious one, is not thought to be of such a nature as to permanently cripple him.

The Amack boy escaped with no more serious injury than the loss of a portion of his pantaloons, which were ignited by the explosion, but which, fortunately for the young lad, was extinguished before the flames had made much headway.

Harry Gilham Sails On Matrimonial Sea

On Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride's parents Miss Edith Ranney and Mr. Harry Gilham were united in marriage by Rev. W. F. Cole of the Baptist church. Only the immediate members of each family were present. This event came as a glad surprise to their many friends here. The bride is a daughter of Judge A. D. Ranney of the county court. She has been teaching in the Red Cloud public schools for a few years and has won many friends in this city. She was the heart's delight of the little tots in the kindergarten. She won her way into the dominion of their affections by her kindness of heart and grace of manner. Harry, as he is known by every one in the city, has been reared here bears a most excellent reputation and is one of our best young men. For a number of years he has been assisting Paul Storey in his clothing establishment but since the happy event recorded above the young couple will engage in farming. Immediately after the marriage ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gilham repaired to the residence of the groom's uncle, Henry, which they will make their future home. The sensible manner in which these young folks were married leads the Chief to believe that their married life will glide along sensibly and that they will receive all the gladness and happiness of a sensible home. We extend hearty congratulations and wish them many, many years of enjoyment and contentedness.
