

Apology.
"You called me a dog, sir."
"Oh, no! Some dogs are very fine creatures. I called you a cur."

FILES CURED IN 4 TO 14 DAYS
Your druggist will refund money if PAIN-EXPELLER fails to cure any case of Rheumatism, Headache or Migraine within 14 days. 50c.

Has To.
"Do you really believe in this home rule business?"
"Of course I do. Ain't I married?"

Its Style.
"The child actress in that piece has a part which fits her like a glove."
"Yes, so to speak, a kid glove."

FREE BOX OF BISCUITS.
Every reader of this paper can secure absolutely free a box of assorted biscuits by simply cutting out the coupon from their ad appearing in another part of this paper and mailing it to Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co., Omaha, Neb. The firm is thoroughly reliable. Take advantage of this liberal offer and write them today.

Not Unlikely.
"Well, my boy," said the visitor to Bobby, "I suppose some day you expect to step into your father's shoes?"
"Oh, I suppose so," said Bobby, gloomily. "I been wearin' out everythin' else he wears since mother learned how to cut 'em down for me."
—Harper's Weekly.

Beginning Soon to Worry.
Mrs. Jones—My sister is worried to death over her son, Reginald. She wants him to enter the ministry, his father wants him to go into business, while Reginald himself has got his mind set on being an actor, and says nothing shall keep him from it.
Mrs. Brown—Hum. How old is he?
Mrs. Jones—He's getting on for seven.—Stray Stories.

Hint Direct.
A dirty-looking stranger entered a hotel.
"Where's the bar?" he asked of Pat, who was standing at the door.
"What kind of a bar?" asked the latter.
"Why, a liquor bar, of course. What do you suppose I mean?"
"Well," drawled Pat, with a twinkle, "I didn't know but what you might mean a bar of soap."

Awful Blow.
said Slithers, "Mickey was my dearest friend, and I shall never cease to mourn his death. It was a terrible blow from which I shall never recover."
"Why—I thought you married his widow?" said Jimpson.
"Why—er—ahem!—why, yes, I did; but—"

Here Slithers subsided into a deep and uncomfortable silence.—Harper's Weekly.

AMERICAN IDEA.

The American—What's your father's business?
The Englishman—My-aw-fathaw-has-aw-no business.
The American—Then what's his craft.

GOOD NATURED AGAIN

Good Humor Returns With Change to Proper Food.

"For many years I was a constant sufferer from indigestion and nervousness, amounting almost to prostration," writes a Montana man.

"My blood was impoverished, the vision was blurred and weak, with moving spots before my eyes. This was a steady daily condition. I grew ill-tempered, and eventually got so nervous I could not keep my books posted, nor handle accounts satisfactorily. I can't describe my sufferings.

"Nothing I ate agreed with me, till one day I happened to notice Grape-Nuts in a grocery store, and bought a package out of curiosity to know what it was.

"I liked the food from the very first, eating it with cream, and now I buy it by the case and use it daily. I soon found that Grape-Nuts food was supplying brain and nerve force as nothing in the drug line ever had done or could do.

"It wasn't long before I was restored to health, comfort and happiness.

"Through the use of Grape-Nuts food my digestion has been restored, my nerves are steady once more, my eyesight is good again, my mental faculties are clear and acute, and I have become so good-natured that my friends are truly astonished at the change. I feel younger and better than I have for 20 years. No amount of money would induce me to surrender what I have gained through the use of Grape-Nuts food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a Reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest. Adv.

SUNDAY BALL BILL

HEAR ARGUMENTS IN WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BILL.

THE NEBRASKA LAWMAKERS

Brief Mention of the Work Being Done by Nebraska Solons in the Houses of Legislature.

The Sunday baseball bill as it came from the senate was recommended for passage in the house after two hours or more of debate and after it had been considerably amended. As it goes to the third reading the measure is more drastic in its protective features than it would have been two years ago had the request of Governor Aldrich for an amendment not been turned down by the house and the senate. The bill had received more than two-thirds support in the senate. It was not a popular favorite with the house. It would not have been pushed through the house so soon as it was had not the chairman refused to consider further amendments, half a dozen of which were on the clerk's desk, and put the motion to approve it as amended.

CLYDE BERNARD
Of Table Rock, Secretary of Senate, Nebraska Legislature.

As the bill escapes from the milling given by the house it forbids Sunday baseball in any part of the state unless the people of a county, city or village vote by a majority of those voting thereon that it shall be allowed. As it came from the senate the bill provided that Sunday baseball should be legal unless county, city or village authorities take special exception thereto.

Employers' Liability.
The senate and house judiciary committee listened to arguments by Herman Aye and C. J. Smyth of Omaha against most of the pending workmen's compensation laws, and especially against the majority report of the commission which was named by the governor to make a full investigation and to report its findings. Both of these attorneys dwelt on the right of the laboring man to elect whether he is willing to come under the provisions of the compensation law, if one is passed, or to go to law, as he can now do. Mr. Smyth makes a specialty of personal injury cases, but it is said Mr. Aye does not specialize in this line. He said in beginning a speech that lasted an hour or more that he was a freak, in that he appeared before the legislature merely as a citizen, representing no one but himself.

Keckley Stood Pat.
Keckley's bill for a 20 per cent reduction of intrastate railroad rates on corn, wheat, oats, apples, potatoes and building materials was sent to the general file by the house railroad committee. For three hours prior to the committee's action the railroads had their inning. A half dozen representatives were put on the stand to refute comparative tables of Iowa and Nebraska rates and earnings presented by Mr. Keckley a week ago. Keckley stood pat on his former statement.

A bill by Smith of Seward, S. F. 202, to reduce the time for the publication of constitutional amendments to newspapers from three months to one month, was reported out by the committee on constitutional amendments and placed on the general file with an amendment that still further limits the time of publication to two weeks, but provides for publication in two newspapers in each county. The bill is a constitutional amendment. The present constitution provides for three months' publication weekly in one newspaper in each county.

Applies to Flour Only.
With its teeth drawn by an amendment making it applicable only to flour, Representative Yates' bill, requiring the name of the manufacturer and the place of manufacture placed upon all package foods, was recommended for passage by the committee on retail commerce. The bill as originally drawn would have included all sorts of canned and package foodstuffs. Jobbers who sell their own brands, and who do not always use the same stuff in making up a well-known brand, protested vigorously.

IN THE WILDS of HONDURAS

Tegucigalpa, Capital of Honduras

ARAMIUS T. HAEBERLE of St. Louis, who as American consul to Honduras traveled about the mountainous country accompanied by his wife, sleeping under the stars and under forest trees, to attend to the duties of his office, has been promoted through the merit system to the office of American consul to Siberia. Instead of sitting in his office to attend to routine duties, he set about to acquaint the natives with American ideas, and in doing this he aided them to seek better means of living, better methods of cultivating their farms, and in many ways helped to improve their condition. Mrs. Haeblerle visited the natives, made them feel that the consul's home was always open to them and many took advantage of the hospitality, some after a journey of 200 miles. In this manner the consul and his wife became acquainted with the natives.

Mr. Haeblerle's efforts were recognized by the government of Honduras, and progressive articles which he wrote were circulated by the government.

Camped at Roadside.
Mrs. Haeblerle was Miss Ida Wieneke of California, Mo. She accompanied her husband on many arduous trips.

Sometimes the couple would accept the hospitality of the people along the roads, and swing their hammocks in front of their houses, and sometimes they would camp along the road. Speaking of his trips, Mr. Haeblerle said: "A saddle mule is needed to make the journeys into the interior, as there are no railroads. In addition to the saddle mule, a traveler must have a pack mule and a 'moxo' or guide. The guide does not ride, and the traveler does not have to worry about the guide becoming tired. The only concern is to obtain a mule which will keep up with the guide.

"The riding is rough, being along mountainous trails and near precipices. The usual day's journey is 37 miles.

"The journey to the north coast is a trip of six days, and to the south coast requires two and one-half days. Some of the fancy mules travel 20 leagues a day.

"Most of the houses are modest, and with few accommodations, but great hospitality is shown, and the natives give freely of their food, which consists principally of coffee, eggs, rice, beans, and the native corn cakes.

"Eggs, by the way, cost about 20 cents a dozen in the capital, but they are fresh, as there are no cold storage plants in that country.

"The name of the capital, Tegucigalpa, interpreted, means 'The Hills of Silver,' and the name is properly applied, as the hills and mountains are rich in mineral wealth, silver and gold.

"The old Spanish mine of Santa Lucia, near the capital, is still worked in a small way. In the seventeenth century more than $1,000,000 was sent to the king of Spain as one-fifth of one mine's output for the year. The king sent a wooden image of Christ to the city, as a token of his appreciation, and this wooden image occupies a place in the church at the present time.

"In the southern part of Honduras was the largest Spanish gold mine in Central America, located at Clavirico. Nuggets have been taken out so large and the virgin gold was so coarse that King Philip called them 'My Royal Tamarinds,' tamarinds being a tropical fruit.

"As American consul I always received the co-operation of the Honduras authorities, which made it possible to obtain interesting data on the country. I always received great attention from those in authority, having early demonstrated that I sought to aid them wherever and whenever possible.

Used Old-Style Plow.
"I was not trying to teach them anything, simply showing how they could benefit by making use of modern appliances.

"When I first went there the old Spanish plow, made of a wooden beam, on the end of which was a piece of iron, with which the ground was only scraped to a shallow depth, was in general use.

"I told them of the modern plow, which would greatly benefit crops, and I wrote articles setting forth the advantages of modern machinery for the

STREETS OF SPAIN'S CAPITAL

Writer Asserts the Only Music He Heard in Madrid Was Rendered by Blind Minstrels.

Madrid—In a strange country all the details of life are interesting, says William Dean Howells, in the North American Review, and we noticed with peculiar interest that Spain was a country where the prescriptions were written in the vulgar tongue instead of the little Latin in which prescriptions are addressed to the apothecaries of other lands. We were disposed to praise the faculty if not the art for this, but our doctor forbade. He said it was because the Spanish apothecaries were so unlearned that they could not read even so little Latin as the shortest prescription contained. Still, I could not think the custom a bad one, though founded on ignorance, and I do not see why it should not have made for the greatest safety of those who took the medicine if those who put it up followed a formula in their native tongue.

Puerto Del Sol, Madrid.

There was almost as little acted as spoken drama in the streets. I have given my impression of the songlessness of Spain in Madrid as elsewhere, but if there was no street singing there was often street playing by pathetic bands of blind minstrels with guitars and mandolins. The blind abound everywhere in Spain in that profession of street beggary which I always encouraged, believing, as I do, that comfort in this unbalanced world cannot be too constantly reminded of misery. As the hunchbacks are in Italy, or the wooden peg-legged in England, so the blind are in Spain, for number.

The Spanish street is rarely the theatrical spectacle that the Italian street nearly always is. Now and then there was a bit in Madrid which one would be sorry to have missed; such was the funeral of a civil magistrate, otherwise unknown to me, which I saw pass my cafe window, a most architectural black hearse, with a black roof, drawn by eight black horses, sable-plumed. The hearse was open at the sides, with coffin fully showing, and a gold-laced chapeau bras lying on it. Behind came 20 or 25 gentlemen on foot in the modern ineffectiveness of frock coats and top hats, and after them eight or ten closed carriages. The procession passed without the least notice from the crowd, which I saw at other times stirred to a flutter of emulation in its small boys by companies of infantry marching to the music of sharply blown bugles. The men were handsomer than Italian soldiers, but not so handsome as the English, and in figure they were not quite the deplorable pygmies one sees in France. Their bugles, with the rhythmical note which the tram cars sound, and the guitars and mandolins of the blind minstrels, made the only street music I remember in Madrid.

YALE DEAN BARS THE PUBLIC

Juniors, Disappointed at Failure to Join Societies, Will Be Spared Humiliation Before Relatives.

New Haven, Conn.—"Tap day," a picturesque annual event at Yale, when juniors are "tapped" for membership in the four senior secret societies, will be robbed this year of much of its publicity, according to an order just issued by Dean Jones.

By this order the public will be excluded from the campus, and the mothers, sisters and sweethearts of the expectant juniors will not be allowed in any of the college buildings, as formerly.

The order is the outcome of a recent movement to take away from "tap day" its spectacular features, in which the disappointment of the men not elected has been a painful incident. There have been notable examples of star athletes and others prominent in undergraduate life who have invited their parents and friends to be present and then have failed of election.

Skeleton Buried 100 Years Is Found.

Kearney, N. J.—The skeleton of a man six feet seven inches tall was unearthed here only 18 inches below the surface in the yard of a farmer. A horseshoe found near the body indicates that it was buried more than 100 years ago.

MORE ATLANTIC LINERS REQUIRED

CONGESTION ON EXISTING STEAMSHIPS ON ACCOUNT OF CANADIAN IMMIGRATION.

It is reported that eight new Trans Atlantic liners are under construction for the exclusive use of the Canadian Trade. These are being built by the White Star, Canadian Pacific and Cunard Companies.

The liners to be built for the White Star are to be of the same type as the Laurentic and Majestic, and will replace the Canada and Teutonic. The Cunard Line's new steamer, Ascania, has already completed successfully her maiden voyage from England to Montreal, and her sister ship will be launched early next year.

It is predicted that the Canadian Northern will not be slow in following the example of the other big concerns, as it is a matter of common belief that Canada, more than any other in the world, will be the country of the future, and the best field for investment by shipping interests.

An official of one of the companies already building steamers for this trade told the American yesterday that the ideal steamer for this service is the two-cabin boat, having accommodation for second-class and steerage passengers only.

"We do not expect that the $5,000 cabin de luxe class will travel very extensively," he said, "but the business that is to be obtained there will be immensely lucrative, and for the next ten years the eyes of the shipping world will be riveted on Canada. The Panama Canal, undoubtedly will receive a lot of attention, but the business in that route will be nothing compared with the Canadian trade for the immediate future. Panama will develop and become bigger in the years to come, but at the present we are most concerned with the tremendous tide of immigration that is being diverted from the United States to the Dominion.

"The farm land of the vast North West is the attraction, and while this flood of immigration is at its height, the Canadian Government exercises a strict censorship over the class of immigrants admitted. In this way they are drawing their future citizens from the Northern countries and have shown an unwelcome face to the people of Southern Europe."—Advertisement.

Not in Sight.
Hokus—"Do you think we shall ever have universal peace?" Pokus—"Not so long as women continue to play bridge for stakes."

LADIES CAN WEAR SHOES
One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease. The Antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes. It makes tight or new shoes feel easy. Gives rest and comfort. Refuse substitutes. For FREE trial package, address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y. Adv.

If some men were compelled to pay as they go they would never get started.

Usually when a girl meets a man she likes on the street by accident it isn't an accident at all.

"What's the Use" waiting for Nature, alone, to bring back your appetite, to make the liver active and the bowels regular? Some assistance is needed and

HOSTETTER'S
Stomach Bitters

is really "it." For 60 years it has helped in cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Colds, Grippe and Malaria.

We Urge a Trial Today

AVOID SUBSTITUTES

Constipation Vanishes Forever
Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purity vegetable—act surely but gently on the liver. Stop after dinner distress—cure indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes. SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature

Open Wood

FOR PROFITABLE INVESTMENTS IN WESTERN CANADA
Farm Lands, deal with the owners. We have choice blocks of from two to ten thousand acres of the best in Saskatchewan and Alberta, or we can sell you from 100 acres up of improved or unimproved lands, we either own or control, and all lands will bear closest inspection. Write for particulars to White Land Co., Battleford, Sask.

PISO'S REMEDY
Best Cough Syrup. Throat Guard. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.
FOR COUGHS AND COLDS