Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin returned to their home at Riverton Sunday after attending the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Etherton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Thomas who were called here by the death of her sister, Mrs. Etherton returned to their home at Sutton the first of the week.

Mrs. W. F. Cole and children are expected home today from an extended visit with relatives at different points in Michigan. While we have never heard Rev. Cole complain, yet if memory serves us correctly, we can recall the fact that he was a bit under the weather the first few weeks his wife was gone, and we wondered then if it was not due to the fact of trying to relish his own cooking. Now, while we do not wish to make any unjust accusations, yet judging by the smile the Rev. has been wearing since it has become an easy matter to reckon the number of meals till her return, we are most certain that he did not completely master the art "of stirring the gravy."

John Pegg returned to his home at Oklahoma, City Oklahoma after attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Etherton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parkes had for their guests the first of the week Mrs. Wm. Copley of Blue Hill and Charley Copley of Chadron.

Deputy County Treasurer C. D. Robinson has received word of the death of his nephew at Portland, Oregon, on Monday. The young man was killed by a train.

A treat for our readers that we have arranged for is a series of twelve illustrated articles on

The Panama Canal and the Isthmus in History and Romance

By Edward W. Pickard

Mr. Pickard is that type of globe-trotting author who seeks the quaint and curious places and people as subjects for his clever descriptive articles. In his present series of twelve articles which we have arranged to print, he has touched not only the actual work of building the canal, and the people who have accomplished it, but has gone into what the newspaper worker knows as the side lines, and which as a rule are of as much interest as the main story. This is particularly true in this case. After our readers have completed the last of Mr. Pickard's articles they will have a better understanding of the Panama Canal, and conditions within and surrounding the canal zone. The first article of the series will be printed in our issue of July 10, 1913.

On the inside pages of today's Chief will be found the first installment of a series of twelve illustrated articles by that well known writer, Edward W. Pickard, on "The Panama Canal and the Isthmus in History and Romance." Mr. Pickard handles his subject in a masterful way, and the articles, you will find, are well worth your careful consideration.

COWLES

Ed Keon has a sister visiting him for a short time.

Chas. C. Bennett shipped a car of hogs to St. Joe Monday.

Miss Margaret God was visiting in Red Cloud a part of this week.

Guy Scott spent Monday night in Franklin. He must have some attraction up there.

Prof. Gregory left for York, Nebr., Tuesday morning and expects to be gone a short time.

Mr. Bennett, cashier of the Bladen Bank of Bladen, was in the village for a short time Wednesday.

A. T. Vance of Hastings came in town by the auto route Monday evening. He expects to be here a short time.

Emery Waller and Freddie Fuller motored to Red Cloud Monday evening to hear the band concert and to see some other attractions.

William Imhof unloaded an International Oil Burner Tractor last week which he expects to use for threshing purposes. He also unloaded a new Avery separator which has a very large capacity for taking care the grain. This is certainly one of the best threshing rigs in the country.

The following item appeared in a morning paper: "The body of a sailor was found in the river this morning cut to pieces and sewed up in a sack. The circumstances seem to preclude any suspicion of suicide."—London Telegraph.

Cynical.

"The measure of a man," in the modern girl's opinion, is merely a matter of the breadth of his shoulders, the length of his nose, and the embossment of his pocketbook.—The Tatler.

Price-Per-Thousand On Building Lumber

is not infrequently used by manufacturers of substitutes to confuse prospective home builders, but to the man who knows quality, the characteristics of the different favored building woods and their proper application, this bugbear causes little apprehension. We've helped many builders right here at home beat the building game to a frazzle and can help you too if you'll bring your plans in or tell us just what you contemplate doing. Selling lumber is only a part of our business—the personal service we render our customers being of equal importance—but we're willing to donate this service for the sake of the community and the indorsement of our customers. Before making your final decision on your new house come in and get at first hand the real facts about this lumber business and just what "price-per-thousand" means to you.

"There's No Place Like Home"
Saunders Bros.
Red Cloud, Nebraska

Didn't Seem to Suit Him. Bobbie, aged four, had always played with older boys and consequently had picked up much slang. Recently his mother had punished him by giving him a spanking. A little later, still weeping, he came to his mother and said: "Mother, don't you love me at all any more?" "Why, yes, Bobby, why?" "Well, I don't think that 'stunt' you pulled off just now looks much like it."

In Advocacy of Kindness. "Deal gently with the old, for they have come a long way; and be kind to the young, for they have a long journey before them."—Selected.
