Farm Loans—I have a limited amount of private money to place in first mortgage farm securities, short or long time, at lowest rates with optional payments. Write or phone. DANIEL GARBER, Riverton, Nebraska.

Embarrassments often occur to farmers in making application for a loan on account of long delay, and uncertainty, when it is necessary for a local agent to send the application to some insurance company or to some loan company in the East for approval.

The Farmers Trust Co., of Beatrice, Nebr., (formerly Smith Bros.) acts immediately on all applications. See the ad of The Farmers Trust Co., in this issue, and write direct if you are considering a loan.

An exchange says: "A man can't sell his house and lot without his wife's consent, but he must pay her bills whatever they are. If he deserts her she can jug him; if she deserts him he has to take his medicine. If he jilts her she can mule him for breach of promise; if she jilts him he gets the laugh. If he dies she gets the property; if she dies he gets the funeral bill. If he whips her he gets the whipping post. If she hits him with a skillet the world concludes he deserves it. And still the women want their rights."

There is a gang of would be Kansas toughs, to whom a word of warning may not be amiss. They are developing a disregard of law and decency that this city will not endure. If they can not visit this city without indulging their rough house tactics, the people of the city will protect themselves, and give the gentlemen a dose of their own medicine. The next time they come to the city they should be arrested before they have had the opportunity to fill up with booze. Because they have so far escaped they are beginning to look with contempt on the good nature of the marshal. They can be assured that the marshal will be in earnest the next time. Farther than that, they may as well know that there are plenty of others who will cheerfully come to the marshal's help and teach them that the law is mightier than any gang.

Last Sunday about fifty near friends and relatives with well filled dinner baskets gathered at 12 o'clock at Mr. Raney Zackery's as a surprise on Mrs. Zackery to remind her that she had passed the thirtieth mile post of her life. After some nice presents had been presented there was a large table set in the shade of the trees and loaded down with a dinner not often seen. Then every one was seated and enjoyed an hour of life to be long remembered. With a short time spent in a social visit and good wishes they all departed feeling well repaid and wishing for another birthday dinner soon.

Rally Day will be observed Sunday Sept. 25th by the Congregational Sunday School and church. There will be a special program at the Sunday school hour consisting of songs and recitations by the children and short addresses by adults. Each child will receive a Souvenir Badge. All members of the church, and congregation are specially urged to attend the Sunday school hour and all the children and young people of the Sunday school are urged to attend the morning service. At the church service the pastor will preach a sermon specially prepared for the children and young people. Subject "Being a Christian." At the evening service there will be a special address to parents and young people on the subject, "The Making or Wrecking of the Home." Good music at all services and all cordially invited.

GARFIELD

How the gentle breezes blow.

Frank King was filling his silo on Monday and Tuesday.

Muriel and Ethel Fisher and grand-ma Alles were callers at Mrs. Jack Barnes Sunday.

George Smith got him a new buggy and the girls better look out now for he seems to be getting childish.

Leonard Railsback was out to No. 10 on wind mill row Monday night.

Quite a number from the south side of the river attended the Cox sale on Tuesday.

Guy Barnes and wife visited with relatives at Guide Rock Saturday and Sunday.

Cattle and Silos

Nebraska is in a position today to raise five head of cattle where one was raised in the days of the free ranges, and at the same time increase the fertility of the soil instead of exhausting it. With silos on every farm, a herd of cattle can be kept. But a small part of the land must be devoted to pasture for five tons of alfalfa will grow where half a ton of wild grass grew and it will have double the feeding value per ton. The manure returned to the soil will make it richer every year.

Concrete will be a very great factor in this evolution. The farmers in some sections have built their silos with concrete. They are best, in the long run the cheapest, and preserve the silage in the most perfect manner. In some sections they have also built their houses of concrete, walls, floors and roofs, as well as their barns, corn cribs, hog sheds and feeding floors. It is said that in Nebraska there are in existence hundreds of thousands of tons of material for making concrete and that it can be made here as cheaply as in any part of the world.

With alfalfa as a basis, and it has made good crops even this year in the dry sections, concrete silos, on the contents of which cattle would grow fat all winter long, the state could send to market five times as many cattle as ever were sent in the halcyon days so much talked about when the government furnished ranges free—Omaha World Herald.

A. H. Carpenter left the first of the week for Kansas points to look after his real estate holdings.

Robert Potter of Oklahoma is in the city this week visiting his parents, John G. Potter and wife.

This week at the horse shoe pitching contest at St. Joe up to Wednesday morning Fred Bright and Geo. Amack of this city were ahead securing 54 and 50 points each.

Fritz Moede, who went out to Fort Morgan, Colo., some few weeks ago, was taken ill the first of the week and was brought from that place to his home in Blue Hill.

Y. M. C. A.

The executive board of the Y. M. C. A. met Wednesday evening in the Association's reading room for their regular monthly meeting with president L. H. Blackledge in the chair.

Among other questions considered was the question of changing the rules of membership tickets to be good for one year from date. Under the rules as they stood previous to this meeting the ticket expired on the first of January regardless of the date it was taken out. This was rather a handicap to the late comer. A new rule was adopted making the tickets good for one year after the date of issue.

With the opening of school and the coming of cool weather many new members are coming in and a new life is being instilled into the rooms.

The High School boys have begun foot ball practice and they surely enjoy a good bath after the practice or after some work on the gymnasium floor, and to be frank the bath room has not suffered for want of use all through the summer.

The High School girls began preparations for basket ball practice Wednesday evening their first chance to be on the floor since school began. Several of last years players will be in the game again this year, but new ones are needed in some positions. Come girls and get in the game.

The cool weather also brings many to the reading room, when the latest and best papers and periodicals are to be found, among them being Lincoln and Chicago papers (as well as the local) World's Work, Current Literature; Cosmopolitan; McClure's; Everybody's; Woman's Home Companion; Youth's Companion and many other good magazines. Besides the papers and magazines the library contains many good books, which now may be taken from the rooms and kept for a week at a time after getting a library card. For further information in regard to the library apply at the rooms after 4 o'clock P. M.

Ed. Garber, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of this city, departed Sunday night for Omaha, where he attended a meeting of the various secretaries of the Commercial Clubs of the state.
