Al Warren, a brother of Geo. J. Warren, of this city, died in Beatrice on Friday, after a long illness. He was well known in this city, where he spent several weeks last spring. Al had spent the golden days of his life in the printing trade, and besides being an all 'round man from a mechanical view point, was a writer of considerable note. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Warren attended the funeral which was held in Beatrice the last of the week.
"Babe" McKimney, representative of Swift & Company, with headquarters at this place, was on Sunday taken by another representative of this concern, who came out here from the east for that purpose, to a sanitarium at St. Joseph, where he will receive treatment for a complication of kidney and liver trouble from which he has been a great sufferer for some time past. "Babe" McKimney is a big man, both mentally and physically, and one who numbers his friends by all who know him, and it will be good news, indeed, to learn he is fast getting back to normal.

Roy Oatman's dog was poisoned the first of the week. This is the second time an effort has been made to do away with this dog, and should the party or parties become known who are responsible, it will no doubt go hard with them. Red Cloud is by far too fair a city as to hold in her midst a person who has reached such a level.
A short note written at Calloway, Nebr., and received by this office from Prof. Betz, who is now on the road with The American Concert Four, tells that they have met with the kindest of treatment and a packed house in each town where they have stopped since leaving Red Cloud. We are glad to hear it, Professor, for several reasons, chief among them being the fact that the show is well worth the money.

A. J. O'Brien, who purchased the Wm. Dumas Cigar Factory some few weeks ago, has placed on the market two new brands of cigars under the non de plume of the "Comet" and "Commonwealth". The cigars are good-ones, we know, because Mr. O'Brien favored us with a sufficient quantity to give them a fair trial, and when your thoughts again go back to a cool, sweet smoke, secure one of these two brands and we are confident you will be satisfied.
Fred E. Goble, a former resident of this place, and at one time a prominent lumber dealer, died at Ft. Cobb, Oklahoma, on Sunday evening, after a long illness. The remains were brought to this city and laid to rest beside his wife who died here several years ago. Mr. Goble was about 70 years of age, and was a man of genial disposition and honest ways, and leaves a large circle of friends in this community to mourn his loss. Funeral services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon from the V. B. Fulton residence.

Give us a chance on your fall purchases.
We have the right goods, at the right prices and will give you the right kind of treatment.

Right now our stocks in all lines of Fall Goods are very complete, and you will find a much better assortment to select from now than you will later in the season.
