A PARTY OF VANDALS.

They Explode a Keg of Powder in the Public Street.

A Passing Youngster Seriously Burned.

Tuesday some boys inserted a fuse into a keg of powder at the corner of Fourteenth and Cuming streets and, lighting it, a terrific explosion followed. A boy named Fred Zweifel happened to be passing the spot at the moment and received almost the full shock of the explosion. He was thrown violently to the ground and stunned by the concussion. His entire suit of clothing was so charred that it dropped from his body in little pieces. The boy was badly burned about the face, hands and legs. He was taken to his home on Sixteenth and Cuming streets where he received medical attention. The boy's injuries were found to be of a serious nature, and during the night he endured a great deal of pain. He is now confined to his bed, and the prospects are that he will not leave it completely cured for some time to come. About two weeks ago the powder house on the sand banks was broken open and it is supposed that the exploded keg was one of those then taken. As to who the young vandals are who caused the explosion it is not positively known, at least, no arrests have yet been made. The affair created a good deal of excitement in the vicinity of the explosion, and caused a very loud racket which disturbed the whole neighborhood. Zweifel was resting somewhat easier yesterday but his wounds are still causing him a great deal of suffering.

NEW STREET CAR LINE.

Which Will Embrace South Omaha in its Circuit. A new scheme for a comprehensive street railway that will embrace the southern portion of the city will, it is said, soon be submitted to the people to vote upon. The scheme is in the hands of capitalists who are now completing all necessary preliminary details. It is now thought work can be commenced in early spring. Beginning at the Union Pacific depot the line will be run as far north on Tenth as Howard, west on Howard to Thirtieth, reaching the St. Paul & Omaha depot over Fourteenth street, and from there proceeding west on Cuming street to the reservoir. Taking this point as another terminus another line will be run south over Capitol hill to Hanscom park. There will also be a line run along Farnham street to connect on Capitol hill with the north and south road. South Omaha will be embraced in the circuit, by a line that will run south from the Union Pacific depot along Tenth street to the city limits, returning north along on Thirtieth street to connect with the north bound cars at Howard street.

Foot Crushed.

Yesterday several of the employees of the Samuel Rees' printing company, located on Thirtieth street, between Douglas and Farnham streets, were loading a small printing press into a wagon, when some of them lost their hold of it and it fell to the ground, striking the foot of one of the party, a young man by the name of Fred Graves, crushing it badly. It was necessary to administer chloroform while he was receiving medical attention. The young man was sent home in a carriage.

The Open Air Concert.

Yesterday evening Professor Steinhauer's Orchestra gave their first open air concert in front of the high school. About one hundred persons assembled to hear it. It was quite a success, but, owing to the fact that the orchestra had to play at the fair on the same evening the programme was much abridged.

Getting Hotter.

The maximum height reached by the thermometer at the signal service office Tuesday was 92 degrees in the shade. It was generally thought that it was somewhat cooler yesterday, but the thermometer at the same place indicated 95 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Plans Arrived.

The county commissioner yesterday received from the Detroit architect the plans for the new court house. They have not been opened yet but will be probably to-morrow when the full board is present.

WE ARE STILL RUNNING ON THE MARKED DOWN CUT Button Shoes for this hot weather; buy a pair now for there is no bargain in Omaha like it.

YOUNG IRELAND.

It is They Who Head the Present Movement Beyond the Sea.

An Intelligent Expression of Opinion on the Subject.

A very intelligent young Irishman named Michael Dohane has been staying at the Crichton House for the past day or two. He is a resident of Dunmanway, county of Cork, Ireland, and came to this country on a visit to friends, most of whom live in Sacramento, Cal. A reporter for THE BEE had the pleasure of a very pleasant talk with Mr. Dohane on the Irish question. Mr. Dohane says the present movement in Ireland is one managed almost exclusively by the younger men. Since the introduction of the public school system there, unexcelled opportunities to acquire an education have been afforded the rising generation. They have universally taken advantage of it. He says it is all a mistake to imagine that ignorance now prevails in Ireland, and more especially so among the younger men. While the young men are leading the movement the old ones are entering into it with a will and no fear is felt for the ultimate result. The leaders generally offer the encouragement that the people themselves are better able to hold out than the landlords. Mr. Dohane explained this by saying that the contributions received from Irish sympathizers in America and various portions of the world amounted to about $25,000 a week. As soon as a man is evicted his name is at once sent to headquarters where it is placed upon the list. Every week he receives a stated allowance through the league agent who has charge of his parish. Besides this there is always some sympathizer in the neighborhood who owns land and he generally allows the evicted tenant to erect a house upon it. Plenty of stone is afforded by the surrounding country and with ready help at hand the evicted family are soon better housed and better fed than they ever before were in their lives. The idea now is not to immigrate and as those not able to earn a living are provided with one there is no necessity to do so. No one is in the least discouraged at the outlook and all seem to think success assured. The only fear entertained is in the way of riots, but all such proceedings are disapproved by the leaders, who now have the people well in hand. Mr. Dohane was quite enthusiastic over the outlook, and says that if the leaders are all arrested from Parnell and Archbishop Crooke down, it will make no difference in the ultimate result. The Griffith valuation of land, made half a century since by a government agent, is taken as the standard by the leaguers. If these terms are not accepted by the landlords, none others are offered. Mr. Dohane left to-day for Sacramento, and after a visit there he will again return to his home in Ireland.

THE WRONG GRAVE.

Some time ago a man named Henry Forstfield, an ornamental sign painter by trade, died at the Green Tree hotel on Tenth street. Who his friends were or where they lived he never mentioned to anybody. He left behind him about $20 in money, and this Mrs. Thum, proprietress of the Green Tree hotel, gave to Coroner Jacobs with instructions that Forstfield be buried decently and if any more money was required she would pay it. The body was interred in the Douglas county cemetery. Some time ago Mrs. Thum thought she would go to the cemetery to fix up the grave and decorate it suitably with flowers. The sexton at the graveyard pointed out a mound to her which he said was the grave of Forstfield, and this Mrs. Thum soon succeeded in greatly beautifying. She had scarcely finished her work when she was approached by a colored woman, who asked what she had been doing. Mrs. Thum replied that she had been fixing up the grave of a friend. "That's no friend of yours," said the colored woman, "that's the grave of my sister." Mrs. Thum was greatly taken aback by this statement and at once ceased her work in order to make an investigation. Inquiry proved that the colored woman's story was correct. The sexton had made a mistake in giving the number of the grave. The proper number of the Forstfield grave has now been secured, a headstone erected over it and other arrangements made to handsomely decorate it.

AN OFFICIAL BACK-DOWN.

The Kitchens Decide Not to Build the New Hotel.

But Will Turn the Property Over to Others.

The Kitchen Bros. yesterday sent a letter to Mr. Herman Kountze, who represents the former owners of the Grand Central hotel property, in which they state that they have about concluded not to build a new hotel at the corner of Fourteenth and Farnham streets. They further say that they are prepared to turn over the property for a reasonable consideration and give a clear title to the ground to such parties as may conclude to build upon it. A strong effort is now being made to interest capitalists in the building of a magnificent hotel structure upon the site of the old Grand Central, now that the Kitchen project has fallen through. For some time past persons interested in the new hotel scheme have been in communication with a prominent eastern hotel proprietor who expresses a wish to co-operate with the citizens of Omaha in accomplishing this desired object. This gentleman is one of the most prominent and successful hotel men in the country and should be entered into the scheme success is assured. It is talked about quietly that a well known gentleman of the city has indicated his willingness to give $25,000 toward the new project, provided the hotel is named as he desires. Others have expressed their intention of contributing liberally. The entire matter will be brought to a head within a few weeks, and those best posted in the matter predict the erection within a year of the finest hotel between Chicago and Denver, on the old Grand Central site.

THE LEAGUERS.

They Held Their Regular Meeting Last Evening.

A goodly number of gentlemen and a few ladies gathered last evening in Clark's hall, and held the regular weekly meeting of the Land League. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Regan. Mr. John Rush, chairman of the committee on laws, presented a set, which, after being read, was unanimously adopted. Mr. M. Lee, chairman of the committee to consider the organization of a ladies' land league, reported favorably upon the project, referring to the ladies present in glowing terms. Several new members joined the league. Mr. M. McDonald stated that he had extended an invitation to Prof. Hardigan, of Plattsmouth, to deliver an address before the society at a future date. Mr. John Rush was called for and addressed the society with fervor. Mr. Donovan moved that a branch of the land league be formed in North Omaha. It was decided that notice be given from all the altars in the Catholic churches of the city that a meeting for that purpose would be held in Father Quinn's old church in North Omaha, on Sunday next at 3 o'clock p. m. Gen. O'Brien spoke in favor of organizing war leaguers. Messrs. M. Donovan, John Rush and Charles Handley were appointed a committee to wait upon Senators Saunders and Van Wyck to ascertain the names of Irish applicants for office. A committee to solicit the attention of ladies upon the meeting of the league was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Len. O'Brien, Mrs. M. Donovan and Mrs. M. Lee. John Rush was elected editor of the League. The meeting adjourned to a week hence.

The Catholic Fair.

Seeger Hall presented a gay scene last evening on the occasion of the opening of the Catholic Cathedral fair. Besides the usual decorations there were four handsomely-arranged booths, containing valuable and showing articles. The attendance of handsome young ladies was large and apparently a source of eminent satisfaction to the gentlemen present. Steinhauser's full orchestra discoursed sweet music during the evening. The fair and festival will be open as usual this evening.
