THREE TO ONE.

The Odds Against a Colored Woman in a Row.

About half-past two o'clock yesterday morning, John Egan, Chas. Tracey and Fred Hughes were prowling about the streets, when one of them proposed to "go on a tear." The proposition met with favor. They accordingly started forth. The first place they visited was a house located on the corner of Twelfth and Dodge streets, in which lived a colored woman of variegated reputation, known in police circles as "Kansas City Liz." The woman was alone in the house, and when her visitors demanded admittance she secreted herself behind the door. The woman finally told them to "go way." They responded by kicking in the door, when her courage arose and she seized a chair and belabored them promiscuously about the head. Until one of the men struck her with his fist, in the face, knocking her down and breaking several of her teeth. She then ran into the street screaming murder. Officers McGuire and Vanouse were passing on the opposite side of the street, when they heard the cry, and running across arrested the three men before they could escape. The result of their trial in the police court, was that Egan was fined five dollars and costs, which he paid and was released. Hughes was fined six dollars and costs, in default of which, he was sent to the county jail, while Tracy was discharged simply because nothing could be proved against him except that he was "in the crowd." However his appearance was against him and the testimony likewise, "developing that he visited the same place the night before when the woman broke a water pitcher over his head because he wouldn't leave.

At the close of the trial the woman informed all present that since the affair she had purchased a "desolator," and if a man she didn't want come 'round her house he'd git daylight blown outen him."

CROSS SUITS

Growing Out of a Misunderstanding and Fight.

A rather complicated case of assault and battery was on trial in the police court yesterday, occupying nearly the entire day. The evening before, a man named James Vickery approached another man named Wm. A. Newton, who was sitting in a chair in front of Haffer's drug store, on Sixteenth street, and accused him of insulting a little girl whom Vickery had had in his charge. Newton resented the imputation and stoutly denied the truth of the charge, and after some words demanded that the girl be brought before him that he might see if she would recognize him as the guilty party. To this Vickery consented and started for his home, which is near by. He did not return and after a while Newton walked down to Vickery's house where he found Vickery and his wife standing on the walk. He asked for the girl, when Vickery swore at him and told him to clear out. A few words followed, and Vickery struck at Newton twice, Newton warding off the blows each time. Vickery then threw a brick at Newton, when the latter struck him a powerful blow, and knocked him so that in falling his head struck the corner of a coal box and cut him severely. In the morning Vickery had Newton arrested for assault and battery. The trial commenced at 9 o'clock in the morning and, with the exception of a few hours' intermission that the court might attend to other cases, lasted until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. A. N. Ferguson appeared for the plaintiff and Gen. O'Brien for the defendant. After hearing the testimony the judge dismissed the case and discharged Newton. Later in the evening a warrant was issued for the arrest of Vickery for disturbing the peace. It will be served this morning.

H. C. Jarrett in Omaha.

The express from the west yesterday afternoon carried through Omaha H. C. Jarrett, of New York, who was just returning from a visit to the leading places of interest in California. Mr. Jarrett, it will be remembered, was the general manager of the firm of Jarrett & Palmer, which ran the famous excursion train from New York to San Francisco five years ago, making the trip in three days seven hours and fifty minutes.

Mr. Jarrett is proprietor of the "Fun on the Bristol" combination, which played in Omaha last May, while on their way to San Francisco. He informed The Bee reporter that he had made an eminent success in California, and when the time of the contract expired, at their request, he ran them up into Oregon and then into British Columbia, where they made a greater hit even than in California. Miss Agnes Halleck, "the girl in blue" has left the company and has joined Melville's opera company, which is now on the way back east. She expects to be with them next season. Mr. Jarrett's latest scheme is the renting of Haverly's theatre in New York, for four weeks, commencing with the opening of the next season during which time he will put upon the stage a new play lately written by George F. Rowe, which will be presented by a strong company most entirely from Europe. Later in the season he will bring the company through Omaha to the Pacific Coast. Mr. Jarrett, since the death of Mr. Palmer, has entirely withdrawn from the excursion business, save that he is the owner of the boat "Plymouth Rock," which daily carries thousands of people between New York and Long Branch.

COMMISSIONER FORD.

He Has a Few Words to Say About Streets.

Mr. Ford, the street commissioner, is very anxious to have some one point out to him where he has been doing any work for private individuals as charged in a flippant editorial paragraph in The Herald yesterday. Mr. Ford claims to have some knowledge of the town and a rather accurate idea of where the business thoroughfares are located. People who know anything practically about street repairs will give him credit for this knowledge. In the first ward Mr. Ford says he has confined most of his work up to the present to the vicinity of Tenth street which is a much used thoroughfare, as all will acknowledge. All the work necessary in the Third ward will be finished inside of eight days. In the Fourth ward Harney, Farnham, Douglas and Dodge streets have been placed in proper condition. Work in the Fifth ward has been confined chiefly to the removal of dangerous obstructions and the filling of cess-pools. All the territory south of Cuming street, and as far west as the high school in the Sixth ward, has been repaired. Mr. Ford says he has been doing everything in his power to place the streets in proper condition, and in this assertion most sensible people will bear him out.

A Happy Marriage.

Mr. John Dwyer, the Sixteenth street druggist, and Miss Mary White, were united in marriage at the church of Holy Family, on Tuesday morning. A nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Shaffer, S. J., assisted by Rev. John Quinn. The couple were attended to the altar by the bride's brother and sister, Mr. Charles White and Miss Agnes White. After the ceremony the newly married couple and their friends proceeded to their residence on Seventeenth street, near Webster, where they sat down to a very handsomely served wedding breakfast. Among the many useful presents given to the young couple were noticed a cake basket from J. A. Whelan; butter dish, Mr. and Mrs. Luke McDermott; silver water pitcher, gold lined, and goblets, Kennard Bros.; bouquet holder, Miss Brady; pickle castor, Miss Ida Truckey; butter dish, the Misses Annie and Minnie Nichols; napkin rings, John White; castor, Charles White; bouquet holder, Miss W. McDermott; silver water pitcher, Ald. M. A. McNamara and wife; set of silver teapots, Mrs. Miller; butter knife, sugar spoon and tongs, W. W. Scheumann; berry spoon, Mrs. Busky; bronze ornaments and mat, Mrs. George Simmons; cut glass bouquet holders and flowers, Miss J. Ray; lamp mat, Mrs. R. L. Ross; bronze clock, J. H. Sullivan; two chromes, Miss Agnes White, and many others not having the cards of the donors. The happy couple received the well wishes of a host of friends in their new voyage of life.

Notice.

There will be a special meeting of the Brick Layers Union on Tuesday evening next, and not on Thursday as announced in the meeting. All members are requested to be present as business of importance will be transacted. WM. TERPHE, President.

Matrimonial.

M. H. Redfield, of this city, editor of the Western Newspaper Union, was united in marriage yesterday morning with Miss Smith at the residence of the bride's parents, at Waterloo, Nob. Mr. Redfield brought his bride to her future home in Omaha yesterday afternoon.

CITY COUNCIL.

SOME IMPORTANT MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION.

The city council met Thursday evening in special session to consider the report of the committee on grading Pierce and Bluff streets. All the parties who reside along these streets were present. J. M. Phillips appeared and protested against a greater elevation of his premises, claiming that because he built on a hill he should not be made to suffer by having the grade in front of his house established still lower. D. C. Bloomer spoke in favor of cutting Mr. Phillips' grade down still further to prevent filling up in front of Mr. Zulerman's premises, which would injure the latter gentleman's property very materially. Mr. Zulerman handled the English language in his own behalf. After quite a heated debate in which Mr. Phillips, Mr. Bloomer, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Fullerman, Mr. Wright, Mr. F. F. Ford and Alderman Keller took part, a motion was carried to proceed to establishing the grade on Pierce street. Alderman Dawson, Keller, Cavine and Fonda voted in the affirmative, and Churchill and Spetman in the negative. Mr. Churchill then moved that the grading of Bluffs street also be proceeded with. This motion was carried. Dawson, Keller, Churchill, Spetman and Cavine voted affirmatively, leaving Fonda alone with a negative vote. Alderman Fonda moved that the question be laid over until the next meeting, saying that he believed that the parties interested in grading the streets referred to in the motion could get together and arrange the grade satisfactorily to all and so save time, trouble and expense. This motion was carried unanimously.

At this juncture City Attorney Holmes stepped forward and read his anxiously looked for legal opinion in regard to the rights of the city to compel street railway companies to live up to their charter. Mr. Holmes claiming that the railway companies are under the control of the city authorities to the extent that their charter can be amended at any time when the public demand it. That the city has the unqualified right to control all street railways in every particular; the amount of fare they shall collect for a ride over their "iron," and shall have the right to demand that the railway be so operated as not to obstruct the streets in any manner. That if cars are left standing on the streets they may become a public nuisance. In a word, the city has no power to grant any rights to corporations that will interfere with the rights of the public.

The opinion was anti-monopoly, and contained some good sound sense. The opinion was placed on file, and a committee of five appointed to confer with the city attorney on the drafting of an ordinance regulating the future operations of the street cars. A resolution suspending work on the streets in only a limited degree until cooler weather sets in, was passed. A resolution to the effect that not over ninety per cent. of the tax levied be expended this year for improvements, was likewise passed.

Some citizens seem to think that all needed repairs on the streets should be made right away, if it takes the whole amount of the present levy and the council were obliged to make another to finish the job. There is no economy in letting the public streets remain out of repair. Taxpayers demand that all streets be kept in thorough repair and are willing to foot the bills even if they don't get the tournament here again in the next ten years.

Alderman S. S. Keller presented an ordinance to the effect that the grade of Pierce street shall be established as follows: Commencing at a point 600 feet northerly from Willow street, 98 feet above the plane of reference, and at Pierce and Bluff street 77 feet above the plane of reference, and at the intersection of Pierce street, and Glenn avenue 70 feet above the plane of reference. This motion was carried, and after transacting some other business of little moment, the council adjourned.

THE BLOWN IN BRIEF.

Eben P. Newell left last night for Chicago.

S. S. Keller's new building, to be erected on the south side of middle Broadway, will be about forty-two feet front and two stories in height. Mr. Keller will also construct a large one-story warehouse in the rear.

There was trouble in front of the bakery on lower Broadway yesterday afternoon. No arrests were made.

P. C. De Vol has purchased lots one, two and three in Bayless' addition, and will, as soon as he can dispose of his present homestead, erect a new one on a more elaborate scale.

Mrs. Maria Mynter, of Mynter's Park, is recovering rapidly, her friends will be pleased to learn.

The Mayor says that so far as heard from Council Bluffs was the only city in the United States that tolled bells out of sympathy for President Garfield.

Two attorneys came very near being fined for contempt, before Judge Abbott, yesterday.

M. P. Brewer is making extensive additions to his residence on First Avenue. When his family return from their visit east they will hardly recognize the old home.

Spencer Smith, business manager of the Nonpariel, left for the west yesterday on a business and pleasure trip.

A little daughter of Constable Rosenrath recently found a well-filled purse near Welch's grocery store in the west part of the city. She carried it to her father, who immediately took steps to ascertain the owner. He succeeded and delivered the purse in the same condition it was when missed.

The mercury made the best time on record here Wednesday. It stood 108 degrees in the shade at Dickey's store, on lower Broadway.

All the city fathers had their coats off ready for almost anything last Wednesday evening.

Quite a cool wave struck this city yesterday afternoon.

Judge Burke's court was crowded yesterday with people of all shades and colors. It was almost impossible to tell what the charges were, they were so mixed up. Some were for disturbing the peace, and others for using violent and abusive language in Doc Felker's saloon on upper Broadway. Six beaux and belles had stepped into the saloon mentioned and imbibing quite freely got merry, especially one big fellow who remarked there was not police force enough to arrest him. Officer Brooks was informed of the threat made, and repaired in company with Officers Clough, McCusick and Sterling to the saloon. The whole outfit, including the big buck, surrendered without making any resistance. They were taken in charge and walked off to the city jail, where they will await the action of the court. Some of the parties gave their names as follows: Boston Yorkman, who claimed to hail from New York, Molley Murry and Jennie Leech.

Constable Edgerton, of Omaha, came over the river yesterday on business.

Ed. Brooks was before the police court yesterday for discharging firearms within the city limits.

The case of the State of Iowa vs. S. A. Menary, R. A. Menary and others for obstructing the highway, came up in Judge Abbott's court yesterday, and was continued for hearing.

Constable Menary, of Crescent City, was on the streets yesterday.

Taylor Woolsey had Officer Rosenrath arrest a young man yesterday who, he claimed, was trying to get away with some of his dinner. He was taken before Judge Abbott and drew his pocket-book for the amount.

John Leinder left for the east yesterday.

I. J. Louis, Chicago, called at this office yesterday.

R. E. Montgomery is in the city.

D. M. Richards and Chas. S. Gross, of Chicago, A. Mc. Host and H. T. Olmstead, of St. Louis, and about twenty-five others are at the Pacific.

E. B. Chapman, of St. Louis, Jos. Rouken, of Wisconsin, R. E. Montgomery, of Texas, and fifty others are at the Ogden.

There was "Fun on the Bristol" at the city capitol Wednesday evening, and no lemonade spilled either. J. M. Phillips can make a good speech when he takes his coat off.

New Law Firm. Hon. Geo. W. Doane, the well known attorney, has associated with him in partnership Mr. A. C. Campbell, who located permanently in Omaha some time ago. Mr. Campbell is a Pennsylvanian, and was admitted to the bar of that state in 1876. He was a resident of the anthracite coal regions during the famous Mollie Maguire troubles and defended a number of men of that organization, carrying their cases through the supreme court, and subsequently to the board of pardons. After the excitement attendant upon these trials had died out Mr. Campbell decided to come west, and visiting Omaha was so impressed by its advantages that he determined to remain here. The new law firm will be known as Doane & Campbell.

Real Estate Transfers. The following transfers were recorded at the county clerk's office yesterday, as reported for this paper by John L. McCague, real estate agent and conveyancer: W. J. NEARLY FATAL.

A Smelting Works Employee Overcome by the Heat.

Hans Schultz, an employe in the smelting works in this city, received a sunstroke Wednesday afternoon, which nearly proved fatal. The particulars of the case are as follows: In the morning he went to work in his usual place at the furnace, and as he complained of the heat the foreman changed him from the furnace to a cooler part of the shop, where he worked until six o'clock. He started for home complaining of great suffering from the heat. He walked along the railroad track as far as Ninth street, when he suddenly fell unconscious to the ground. A crowd of men gathered about him, but did nothing until a physician was sent for and arrived, when he was taken in a hack to his home on Fourteenth and Pacific streets. Arriving at his home he was laid in the shade in the yard and his head and entire body continually bathed in cold water from a well in order to reduce the temperature of the body. Mustard plasters were put upon the bottom of his feet, a mixture of water and brandy was injected into his system and a towel saturated with chloroform was kept upon his bowels. He began to recover but in a couple of hours the temperature of the body arose again when the same remedies were applied only more frequently and vigorously. At this time the man went into convulsions in which condition he remained for about six hours. At 7 o'clock yesterday he became rational and swallowed some stimulants. Later he ate a little broth and at present is rapidly recovering from the shock which so nearly proved fatal.

A Gospel Truth.

He that is surety for a stranger, shall smart for it. But he that trusteth in Spring Blossom for curing liver, kidney, and complaints of a like tendency, shall never be disappointed. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents. jyl7ood1w
