was that a prominent surgeon had predicted that this morning would show ageneral outbreaking of pyaemia. One prominent physician, who had developed some opposition to the doctors earlier in the case, says to-night that the attending doctors are in his practice where such inflamma-tion resulted when the circumstantes of the case have not allowed the pa-tient to take nourishment through the tient to take nourishment through the mouth. He explained it by saving that the parotid gland, secreting, as it does, much of the saliva, must necessarily inflame if the secretion with success. F. H. HAMLETON,
D. W. BLISS, becomes too great, as saliva has no dethe vicinity of its secretion. It does not seem natural to believe that the continued abstinence of the president from taking food may have resulted in a sufficient detention of saliva to have provoked inflammation. This theory is further encouraged by the fact that now, since the resumption has taken a little more nourishment of natural nourishment has been since noon and still retains it. The better established, inflammation has inflammation of the paroled gland already greatly subsided at 10 p. m., and was causing comparatively slight annoyance.

There were a few callers at the White House to-night. Among those were Gen. Sherman, Justice Harlan and Judge Reynolds. The cabinet were all there at one time or another during the evening. This nourishment was all retained without the slightest nausea. evening, as Dr. Hamilton desires to In conclusion the telephone stated well as could be expected and was, in fact, getting on admirably. At 7 p. m. Dr. Reyburn said that he was improving.

"How about the inflammation?" "It now causes less pain than earlier in the day."

"What will be the end of it?" "We hope to scatter it, but it may supperate. In either event it need not cause any alarm. Of course it is a source of worry to the president, but the pain will not be severe after the first hour. It pains him less now. Mr. Boynton thinks the inflammation something more of septomania, not that it is an indication of blood poisoning brought about by long prostra-tion, and which asserts itself now on account of the extreme debility of the patient."
