P. train for the west yesterday left about two hours behind time, on account of the late C., B. & Q. passenger train. Tenth street, one of the most important thoroughfares of the city, is not being sprinkled. It should be by all means. There is a horrible stench prevailing on Tenth street near the creek. It is caused by stagnant water and decaying carcasses. It should be looked after. The water works company are pumping water into the supply mains with a view to cleaning them out perfectly. There's a young O'Donoghue down at his house—a honning baby boy—and the only thing to detract from his pleasure is that the child was too young to take part in the land league picnic. Cooper, of this city, are in Laraine, where they have gone to await the arrival of an English expert who will examine some mining property owned by these gentlemen at Cummins City, with a view to investing. BRUTAL ATTACK.

Alfred Armanan, of This City, the Victim of an Assault, Which Will Lay Him Up for Some Time to Come. Sunday afternoon quite a number of Germans, principally farmers, were gathered at Zimmerman's boarding house, at Pappilion, and among others was Alfred Armanan, of this city, agent of the Western horse and cattle insurance company. While Mr. Armanan was quietly talking with some of his countrymen, a crowd of railroad laborers employed in the preliminary work on the Missouri Pacific line in Sarpy county entered the room. One of those, an Irishman, named John O'Leary, who was considerably intoxicated, came up to Mr. Armanan and inquired of him whether he could get insurance for him. Armanan answered "yes, certainly," and handed him a blank to fill out. O'Leary took the blank, and tearing it to pieces, threw the fragments on the table. Mr. Armanan said, "I can do nothing with that now." Upon this, O'Leary, with out any further ceremony, it is said, picked up a chair and struck Armanan a heavy blow upon the head, felling him to the floor, and cutting a gash three inches long on the top of his skull. In falling Mr. Armanan severely bruised his face. He was assisted to his feet, though bleeding very profusely. A doctor was summoned at once and the scalp was sewn up. Great excitement followed the assault, and a general fight between the Germans and Irish seemed imminent. A warrant was at once sworn out before Judge Gow, and O'Leary was arrested and jailed, to answer to the charge of murderous assault. He was admitted to bail to-day in the sum of $600, and bound over to appear at the September term of court. O'Leary to-day denies all recollection of the matter, claiming that he was so thoroughly intoxicated that he did not know what he was doing. He pleaded very hard with Mr. Armanan to withdraw his charge, but as the offense is a state case, this could not be done, and O'Leary will have to stand trial. Mr. Armanan returned to the city at noon yesterday, and looks as if he had been run through a thrashing machine. He is a very powerful man and his magnificent physique has doubtless saved his life. A frightful gash upon his head bears evidence to his rough treatment, and if O'Leary does forget the occurrence, Mr. Armanan is likely to remember it for some time to come. Unfortunate Youth. A young man arrived in this city yesterday in a deranged condition from Iowa. He was accompanied by a friend who was taking care of him. The young fellow was about eighteen years old and quite fine looking. He had been working on a farm some distance from Council Bluffs and received a sunstroke, which seems to have permanently affected his brain. He applied to Commissioner Drexel for assistance and was given a ticket to his home, about eight miles from Lincoln, to which place he left yesterday morning. Dangerously Ill. Dr. Gilbert C. Monell went to Detroit about two weeks ago to be treated for an abscess in his side. Since he reached there it appears he has been growing worse and seems unable to find relief. A short time ago his grandson, G. M. Hitchcock, was telegraphed for, and now word has been received by his son, John J. Monell, to proceed there as his father's condition is precarious. Michigan Soldiers in Nebraska. All men now residing in the state of Nebraska who served in a Michigan regiment during late war, and who have not been enrolled in the Nebraska association of Michigan ex-soldiers and sailors, are requested to send their names to the undersigned, who will transmit to them circulars, &c. State papers please copy. WATSON B. SMITH, Sec'y Neb. Association. Mrs. Peabody's Death. Mrs. E. E. Peabody, sister of the late Senator Hitchcock, died Sunday at the residence of Col. Wilbur on Harney street. Mrs. Peabody had been ill about ten days. The lady was seventy-four years old, and had lived for the past ten years in the family of Col. Wilbur. The funeral took place at 3 p. m. yesterday. Interment was had in Prospect Hill cemetery. The Water Inspector of the District Government, Mr. D. P. Barton, residing at the Washington House, Washington, D. C., was so crippled with rheumatism, so he says, that he could scarcely walk; the pains would sometimes attack him on the street, compelling him to stop still until they had left. He tried St. Jacobs Oil and was soon perfectly cured and able to walk as long and as far as any man. Forty years' trial proves "BLACK DRAUGHT" the best liver medicine in the world. C. F. GOODMAN'S. BLUE GRASS SEED Just received at Evans' seed store. aug22-2t THROUGH TRAIN TO ST. PAUL. On and after July 11th, 1881, the Omaha City & Pacific train will leave the U. P. transfer at 7:15 p. m., running through to St. Paul, via Sioux City route. Parties wishing both stands during State Fair, address E. P. Davis, Omaha, Neb. jy28-sep12

New Business Buildings.

Housel's new building on Farnham street is roofed. Workmen are putting on the roof of Koster & Clark's new building, on Fourteenth street, between Douglas and Dodge. Masons are now on the second story of Millard's block, on Harney street. The foundations of Lytle's and Creighton's block, on Farnham street are nearly completed. The foundations of the Millard hotel are nearly finished. Burn's building will be ready for occupancy early next month. A portion of Her's block will soon be finished and ready for occupancy. The concrete footings of the Grand Central are being laid. The workmen are on the fourth story of Boyd's opera house. The lathers and plasterers are at work on Strang's block. The machinery for the hydraulic passenger elevator has arrived and soon will be put in. This elevator will be the first ever used in Omaha for carrying passengers. The building will be finished some time next month.

He expects to reach Shanghai in about twenty-six days. The population of that city, he says, is not far from 700,000. "The Revere House, Council Bluffs is the best second-class hotel in the west." aug17-1m Pretty Good. Juno Bacon, Laporte, Ind., writes: "Your 'Spirits Blossom' is all you cracked it up to be. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents. DIED. COREY—Yesterday, Hesperia, eight-year-old daughter of C. S. Corey. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

News Notes From Over the River. Events of Interest to People Generally. THE BLUFFS IN BRIEF. The residence of W. W. Wallace will add more to the improvement of Council Bluffs, on account of its being on the bluffs, than a half dozen houses built on the low lands. The next term of the high school will be held in the new Bloomer building, on Willow avenue. The board has decided that the old building is too high for high school. What will be done with it? Perhaps Hon. James F. Wilson will suggest some use it can be put to. We ought to have some kind of an institution of learning here higher than a high school, and this would be a splendid location. Hon. James F. Wilson seems to be in great demand this year of 1881. He spoke at Logan the other day; is to be here at the dedication of the new Bloomer school building the 26th inst., and is booked for Hamburg September 21. L. F. Murphy, bookkeeper at Officer & Pusey's bank, delivers the address of welcome at the dedication of the new Bloomer school building. E. E. Aylesworth also speaks. The Milwaukee & St. Paul road are making Iowa soil fly in the vicinity of Mr. Parks' mill, at Parkville. The engineer says he thinks the first train will whistle down brakes at their depot in Council Bluffs about January 1, 1881. Sudge W. C. James has not left the city yet. He says that his partner, Aylesworth, has seen so much during his eastern trip it will do for the firm. There is more pleasure now for him in remaining in Council Bluffs and watching buildings go up. The law allows the killing of prairie chickens for a season. Sportsmen should not be too hard on the birds. At the rate they are being slaughtered the children will not even know what a prairie chicken resembles. The general assembly should enact a law prohibiting killing these birds a together for ten years. An accident occurred yesterday near the Union Pacific bridge. A young man was a very fine milk cow, owner unknown. The cow was found mired about a half a mile below the east end of the bridge. She was completely unable to move, and her hindquarters were badly eaten by wolves. The cow was alive yesterday. The animal was white and red, with flowing horns. Any one missing a cow of this description will learn of her fate by calling on J. H. Marr, who lives about a quarter of a mile east of the river, near Marr's lake. That saddest justice court that travels around over Pottawattamie county a week or so prior to elections and goes by the name of John W. Baird has committed so many sins lately, politically that the Lord has converted him into a small revised edition of Job. James Hopkins, of Missouri Valley, came down yesterday in company with Ed March and Frank Dodson to take a look at the leading driving park in the country. Three young men from Omaha created quite a disturbance yesterday near the Wabash depot. It seems they had purchased a water melon for twelve cents, and some of them weighed considerably more than the other two it was agreed that he ought to pay a third more than they as his share. This so mixed them up that the three became excited and a general fracas was the result. There were no arrests made. N. J. Burke, of Omaha, was in the city yesterday, a guest at the Ogden. THE BEE is certainly not doing Council Bluffs any harm. A gentleman who has been living in Omaha, and has been a constant reader of THE BEE, says he wants to live in a wide-awake city, so he came over last week and purchased a residence up in Glendale. There was a large demand for new potatoes yesterday. First hands were paying as high as $1.40 per bushel. Sweet potatoes are cheaper, about 3/4 cents per pound. Eggs still keep at 10 cents, and butter remains at 15 cents. Tomatoes are 50 cents; grapes, 4 cents; wood, $5 to $6; hay, $6; corn, 55 cents. The farmers say the corn is not as good as it appears. On examination, it is found that only about two-thirds of most of the ears are filled out. Of course they will derive just as much money from what they have, as the price will be higher. The case of the state of Iowa vs. Robert Johnson was called up in E. J. Abbott's court yesterday. Johnson pleaded guilty to the charge of cheating and defrauding the proprietor of Lower's hotel out of some fine-cut meal and potatoes. The court sent him up for fifteen days to board and to pay for the meal and potatoes the same amount with Perry Reel at the county's expense. The case of the state of Iowa vs. Charles Graves, pending for some time before Justice Abbott, was brought on for hearing before his honor yesterday afternoon. The case grew out of a disturbance at a German picnic out in Lewis township. On that occasion Graves, having no doubt imbibed too freely of something a little more nourishing than ice water, it is claimed assaulted Adam Miller, who was attending the picnic. Miller was pretty well pounded up and swears that Graves did it with his little fist. Graves denied this and says if Miller got bruised it was done by some one else. The testimony developed the fact that who ever did the striking was mean enough to wear false knuckles. The court reserved its decision until to-day. W. S. Rice, captain of Council Bluffs independent battery, has received orders from Sherman to make preparations to fire 200 rounds during the grand reunion, which takes place there commencing August 29 and ending August 31. Capt. Rice has ordered Lieut. E. J. Abbott to see that this request is fully complied with and have everything in readiness. The sidewalk in front of the new Brown block, on Main street, was left in a very dangerous condition last Saturday. There was nothing put up there to prevent an accident by a person falling off the sidewalk into the cellar. The new comet designated "C" has been plainly visible since last Saturday evening a little west of north. Rev. J. G. Lemen don't give his congregation any time to discuss matters with the evil one. He keeps right on through the heated term. Last Sabbath he preached both morning and evening. In the evening his discourse was especially interesting. Subject: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him might not perish but have everlasting life." A team consisting of two horses attached to a single buggy ran away on Main street yesterday. They were finally checked with but slight damage to the vehicle. J. W. Kern, of North Bend, Nebraska, was in the city yesterday on business. Since the Slocumb law went into effect across the river, our "liquid shops" are well patronized on Sundays by citizens of that place. Miss Emma Laporte and her sister, Miss S. Laporte, were at the Pacific yesterday. An emigrant family passed through Council Bluffs yesterday. There were eight children, all told, and each one born in a different state. The case of Steele vs. Graves was decided in Judge Abbott's court. Graves proved an alibi. A young man named Pool came into court and stated that he could keep quiet no longer and see another man suffer in his stead. He was the individual that did the pounding. L. Bethers had sworn positively that he saw Graves do the striking and then step back and slip a pair of knuckles off his fingers. A man named Miller, after the case had closed, accused Bethers of being a little off in his testimony. A. S. Bonham & Co. shipped a large quantity of fresh picked apples yesterday. C. E. Stone says that wherever he has been the corn crop is looking nicely—on the outside, anyway. Geo. Williams, the happy darkey, who has a Mexican wounding, and gave the police force such a chase got sober enough yesterday morning to understand what the court had in store for him and received his dose of $6.85, including costs, which he settled by an order on John T. Baldwin without even turning pale. The case of the two colored men who did the fighting for the crowd in the rear of the Pacific was called in Burke's court yesterday. Miles Gray walked up like a "colored man," pleaded guilty and laid down $8.85, which included costs. His antagonist got off with a very light fine. Five or six drunks were also disposed of. And then a little "alley" girl named Jennie Clark. She got a little "high" Sunday, and driving one of Paul Bouquet's rigs, she wanted to be way ahead of anything else on the road; so she let him loose and he went up Broadway as if he had been shot from a cannon. When one of the wheels struck another team Jennie really thought that the whole rig started that way. By the time she settled the damages she had come to the conclusion before she started out next Sunday she would decant not to be such a high flyer. There should be some action taken by the city council to prevent the depositing of rubbish of all kinds in the vicinity of the newly graded street leading to the trotting park. Any person driving in that direction during the present heated term can regale his nose with about fifty varieties of odors, any one of which would be sufficient to cause the abdominal cavity to perform all kinds of gymnastics. This matter for the credit and wealth of the city should be attended to at once. T. J. Evans went out on the Wabash & St. Louis road yesterday on important business. Adam Forepaugh should add to his collection of stereoscopic views "George Parks hunting a coon," with Justice Baird peeping from behind the stile. Mrs. W. A. Mynster is lying quite sick at her home at Mynster Park. W. C. Unthaak has not yet made his appearance on the streets, but we understand that he is beyond danger. Gentlemen of the city council: The good Lord gave each one of you a soul; don't be afraid to acknowledge it before him, even if the mayor is present. Few citizens have an idea that the "Big Muddy," as we term the Missouri, affords one of the finest beach drives to be found anywhere, for a miles south of the P. bridge. The beach is sandy and as level as a mill sole. Although few people from Council Bluffs are seen there quite a number from Omaha visit it nearly every day. On the north end of the beach is a lake known as Marr's lake, which affords splendid bathing accommodations. The bottom is hard and sandy. One can wade out for some distance. The water is of just the right temperature. This lake is fed by numerous springs. The young men and some of the women come d over from Omaha quite frequently to get a good bath and get the dust out of their ears. Mr. Marr says that next season he shall erect bath houses and keep bathing suits for rent. There came very near being quite a serious accident out at Big Lake last evening. We are informed that a couple of "greenhorns" who thought they knew more than "Skipper" Mack, took a boat and instead of getting him to go with them started alone. They had not gone far before a gust of wind took the sail and gave the boat a quick turn. Instead of letting the sail go, they kept it taut to the windward. This veered the boat and she skipped considerable water and came very near giving the occupants a wet berth. Mrs. Hoover, wife of H. H. Hoover, and daughter of Mrs. Noble, died yesterday morning at 2 o'clock. She will be buried at 10 o'clock this morning from her residence on North Main streets. THE COMMISSIONERS. At the last meeting of the county commissioners directed the county clerk to advertise until 27th inst. for proposals to furnish all hard and soft coal required by the county for the coming year.
