WHAT was at first a comedy has fair to become a tragedy. Elan, the Virginia editor, who was wounded in a duel last week, is said to be in a critical condition.

The trunk lines have agreed to operate with the Pacific lines in California business until the end of the year on condition that the latter maintain rates.

The cable announces that the Count de Chambord is dying. The count is the head of the families of Orleans and Bourbon and the royalist pretender to the throne of France.

A NEW MECHANICS SCHOOL. The new Manual Training School of Chicago will probably be opened next November. The building will cost about $100,000, all of which has been raised through the efforts of the Commercial Club of that city.

TOWN TALK.

July 1st has come and gone but Tom Hall still sits in his morose covered chair in the Omaha postoffice and says: "Here we are yet and what are you going to do about it?" This is rough on Contant but rougher on Senator Manderson, who begins to feel that his generosity in not having him summarily bounced last March was wasted.

Talking about General Van Wyck, I met the eccentric and excitable but energetic and honest old war horse the other evening and asked him about the Nebraska mail route. "Pooh, pooh-um-la, yes, yes," said the senator, "I should think so. Don't you know, another star route job scotched. That's all, see? No more necessity for three mail routes to the Hills than there is for six post offices in Omaha. Called attention to the scheme last Congress. The plan was to get two more routes for two more railroads. One from Chamberlain, Dakota, to Deadwood, for the benefit of the Milwaukee & St. Paul and this one from Nebraska for the benefit of the Sioux City & Pacific road.

There are a few printers in Omaha who are dying to be editors and free lunch fiends at once. That is the true wrongness of the present strike which is fomented and started by a few hot headed young men who have effectually alienated all public sympathy by the manner in which they went about the matter. When men are earning good wages at a steady job and governed largely by themselves through a union which is cheerfully recognized by their employers, a forced strike is the worst kind of folly.

This is the time when straws show which way the drinks go. A Novel Rat-Catcher. Hon. John B. Garnier, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., had quite an curiosity in his garden. It is a pet turtle of the hard shell kind. Its peculiarity consists in its ability to locate rats. Ever since the late flood these rodent pests, being driven from Oldtown by the water, have been an almost intolerable nuisance to the inhabitants of Newtown, which is fortunately located on high ground.

I was once insane and I often muse over my experience. There are, of course, many kinds of insanity. Some mental disorders take place so gradually that even the closest companions of the victim are at a loss to remember when the trouble began. It must have been this way in my case. One evening, after an oppressive warm day, a day when I experienced more fatigue from the heat than ever before or since, I sat on my porch fanning myself.

The resolution in the last Congressional appropriation said a government clerk "has forced a reduction in the force and salaries of the quartermaster and commissary departments. In the commissary clerk a ten per cent cut was made in clerical salaries. General Dandy found it more difficult to fix matters as his force was much larger and scattered over a wider field. One clerk was left out in the headquarters and another resigned at the corral. The rest of the reduction was made in teamsters &c. outside of Omaha. "I do not think the location of our club house has been definitely settled yet," said a member of the club to the writer the other day. "Several lots have been talked of and members have been invited to express their preferences. One lot considered is the northwest corner of 12th and Douglas street for which $15,000 is asked; another, the southeast corner at $13,500. There is a lot on the west of 11th, between Farnam and Douglas that is also mentioned at $10,000 while a location which is favorably considered is the 60x66 feet on the north west corner of 12th and Harnay for which the owner wants $14,000. The last offer is the 88x132 feet on the south west corner of 14th and Harnay street which is held at $20,000. One thing is certain, the club will build in the business centre. Our plan is to erect a three or four story building with the ground floor left for stores and the club rooms above. We will have a good restaurant, dining room, parlors, billiard and card rooms and all the conveniences of a modern club house. At present we have eighty stockholders but members without ownership in stock will be subsequently admitted."

What has become of Caldwell in the new National Bank, asked one of our business men yesterday. I see that Charles Hamilton is president. Milt Barlow cashier but the name of S. C. is not to be seen. "What's up?" The change of the private banking house of Caldwell Hamilton & Co. to a national bank leaves room for a good private bank with heavy capital. You see private banks can speculate much better and are under fewer restrictions than the national banks which can lend to any one party more than one tenth of their capital stock or for a longer period than ninety days. The new Loan & Trust Company in which Mr. Touzalin, Henry W. Yates and Judge Savage are interested will fill a long felt want as I understand their capital furnished by eastern parties is practically unlimited. Their money will be furnished them at 4 or 5 per cent and they will loan on approved farm securities at eight per cent. There is a big opening for such an institution."

radish kingdom. Looking around, I saw the old man following me. From the field I went to the village. I approached my friend, and told him how I intended to become rich. He seemed grieved, and I saw at once that he was contemplating the same enterprise. It seemed mean that he should take advantage of me, and I told him so. He tried to explain, but he made me so mad that I would have struck him if my father-in-law had not come up and separated us. I tried to calm myself, but could not. Those who had been my friends, proved to be my enemies, and I was determined to be avenged, but before I could execute my will I was seized by several men. My father-in-law did not make any attempt to rescue me, and I hated him. I was taken to jail. My wife came to see me, but she did not try to have me released. I demanded a trial, but no lawyer would defend me. Then I realized that the entire community was against me. I became so mad that my anger seemed to hang over me like a dark cloud. It pressed me to the floor and held me there. Men came after a long time and took me away. I thought, to the penitentiary. One day a cat came into my cell, and I tried to bite it. She made the hairy, but killed her. I don't know how long I remained here, but one morning the sun rose and shone in at me through the window. It seemed to be the first time that I had seen the great luminary for months. A mist cleared from before my eyes. My brain began to work, and suddenly I realized that I had been insane. I called the keeper, and when he saw me, he exclaimed "Thank God" and grasped my hand. I was not long in putting on another suit of clothes and turning my face toward home. A physician said that I was cured, and every-body seemed bright and happy at my recovery. I boarded a train with a gentleman, and went home. My wife faintly when she saw me and learned that I had recovered my mind. I asked for my little children, and two big boys and a young girl came forward and greeted me. I had been in the asylum twelve years.
