MINOR MENTION.

Additional local on seventh page. Charlie Moore's little child is still quiet ill. Dust on Main street is too fly altogether. More sprinkling needed.

The sun has been on a strike for two or three days, and seems to have the best of it. Burglars, sneak-thieves and tramps are hanging about the city. Look out for them.

Rev. W. R. Henderson, of St. Louis, preached at the Presbyterian church yesterday. Notwithstanding the extreme heat the health of the city seems pretty good, except among children.

Justice Schurz tied the knot that made Albert Stewart and Miss Rebecca Clapper, of Little Sioux, happy.

Charles Karnst, P. Hopkins and Dan Cunningham, were among the drunks registered yesterday at the Hotel de Field.

Charles Nicholson, while working for the water works got more sun than water and wilted; a narrow escape from sunstroke.

The city council has adjourned until its regular meeting in August, so the gambling question will probably stay quiet until then.

A merry crowd of gentlemen and ladies held a basket picnic in Palmer's grove yesterday, and they all seemed to enjoy themselves hugely.

Rev. Mr. Thickett, who with his wife, is visiting friends here, yesterday occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church of which he was formerly pastor.

An excursion party of business men from Central Iowa are expected to arrive here this morning over the C. B. & Q., and take a trip out on the Union Pacific.

A contractor and builder, pretty well known in this city, is reported as having suddenly disappeared, leaving some of his employees and creditors gnashing their teeth.

The case against Horace Everett for maintaining a nuisance in the shape of an outhouse in the rear of one of his blocks, has been continued until next Saturday.

Steps are now being taken to secure new locations for the powder house, a representative of the company being here from the east and in consultation with city officials.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus is being prepared in the Clausner murder case, it being the desire to either get him released on account of lack of evidence, or released on bail.

One of Jake Rogers' bus teams, by a sudden and short turn, collided with a lamp post opposite the Ogden, snapping off the post and bringing Uncle Sam's letter box into the dust.

Jake Rogers has, by the notices given the matter in the press, again secured possession of the milch cow which he lost, while bringing in spring water on the cars from Ferguson's.

and she was going to him, but the husband knows of no such telegram and takes no stock in the statement.

Contributions continue to come in for the worthy institution, the home of the friendless. A. J. Mandel has given some fine pictures, all framed. Hays & Gleason have sent in a quantity of flour. Thomas & Cohen placed a $10 pump in the cistern, and others have sent in groceries, provisions, etc.

S. P. Casady has sold to Stroch Bros., of Sterling, Ill., a half block, east of the Washah depot, upon which site they propose to erect at once a largesash and door factory. They are experienced men, being largely engaged in like manufacturing in Sterling, and the enterprise will be one which Council Bluffs folks will gladly welcome.

Gen. B. M. Prentiss, who entered the service from Quincy, Ill., and who made so gallant a record as to make his name familiar to many in every state of the Union, was in the city Saturday, and was warmly welcomed by his brother veterans. In the evening he attended the meeting of the Lincoln Post G. A. R.

A. P. Tenney, the Broadway jeweler, recently fined for indecent conduct toward a little girl, found upon his store front Saturday morning a doll with a rope around its neck, hanging to the door, with a placard "Beware of the vigilance committee." It was probably the work of some indignant fellows, but who have no idea of carrying the warning into execution.

Peter Bock, a rag picker, was arrested Saturday for the larceny of a coat belonging to one of the men employed in paving the alley between Main and Bancroft streets. The man while at work laid off his coat and Bock walked off with it, thinking, he says, that it was nothing but a castaway garment, and of no use. The coat was not a very valuable one, but in the pocket was a time book, which it was very necessary for the owner to have. Hence the coat and the taker were run down. Bock is to appear to-day for trial.

OF FOR DENVER. The much talked of starting for Denver took place yesterday, a goodly number of Abe Lincoln Post, G. A. R., being of the party, together with other citizens and ladies. There were several delegations from other places in this vicinity who joined the patriotic company here and all started off in high glee. Among those who went were: John Lindt, E. S. Abbott, R. P. Seal, W. McFadden, Eugene Casey, Wm. Roper, Henry Gemheimer, Thos. Guiter, T. J. Cady, John Fox and wife, H. Hollingsworth, J. E. Metcalf and wife, Jno. E. Hill, W. R. Wall, Max Kreidler, S. D. Street, Mm. Rue, Theo. Lund, R. T. Bryant, B. S. Torwilliger and wife, S. P. Hamon, H. A. Ballas, A. J. Turnbull, F. F. Ryley, W. H. Kelsey, A. C. Graham, A. A. Burroughs and wife, Dr. Elias Lester, W. P. Wightman and wife, A. H. Livingston, A. H. Wing, Fred. Herman, A. W. Pinney, A. H. Burkin, J. M. Thomas, C. W. Wright, A. L. Kulle, Chas. Straub, S. V. West, E. I. Woolney, John Dunn, R. L. Hammond, H. C. Barnes, George E. Cold, and others.

McFadden's drum corps furnished music, and the scene at departure was a very lively one, all seeming in the best of spirits, and sanguine of having a merry trip and an enjoyable time at the reunion.

HEAT ADDED TO HEAT.

A Short But Destructive Fire Just Off of Broadway. Saturday afternoon fire was discovered in the workshop of E. Stockert & Co., in the rear of their upholstery establishment, No. 308 Broadway. The flames spread rapidly and with intense heat, and soon were lapping up the adjoining frame building, occupied by John Epeneter as a cornice factory, and right in the rear of Epeneter's hardware store. A barn belonging to Morgan, Keller & Co. was also caught, and these three buildings were soon destroyed. The new part of S. S. Keller's furniture establishment also caught fire, but was extinguished before serious damage was done. The frame house, next to Epeneter's factory, and owned by E. Howe, and occupied by John Madden, was also badly scorched, and the contents had to be removed in haste.

It seemed for a time as if the flames would spread still further, and possibly burn the stores standing between the wooden buildings and Broadway, but when the fire department got to work they speedily stayed the progress of the fire, and soon quenched it. There was a little delay in getting streams of water on the fire, the Rescue steamer having to go around by Sixth street bridge in order to get across the creek, and the bluff City steamer being a little late, too, its driver, John Madden, having to attend first to the removal of the family from the house, which was in such delicate health as to make home duty for the moment more imperative than public duty. The origin of the fire is unknown. There was no one in Stockert's shop at the time, and had not been since noon, as far as known, and no fires had been left.

Mr. Stockert's loss will reach about $300. W. W. Lewis had his household stock in the same building, and his loss will be fully as much or more.

Mr. Epeneter suffered a much heavier loss, reaching probably $3,500, with very little insurance. He had in his building a large amount of unfinished work and stock, patterns, machinery and tools, and thirty or forty axes. He was at Mission Valley at the time looking after one of his numerous contracts. The loss to him was not only heavy, but it will cause him much trouble and delay, as he has a large number of orders on hand, some partially filled.

The others concerned will only be losers or a few hundred dollars each and well insured.

ANOTHER SUICIDE.

The Body of an Old Soldier Found Hanging to a Tree.

He Must Have Been Dead a Week or More.

Yesterday morning the body of a man was found hanging to a tree in a dense thicket on Mrs. Lewis' farm about seven miles from this city. Charles Christianson made the discovery while hunting for a stray calf. The body was already badly decomposed, and presented a horrible sight. Coroner Paul, of this city, and undertaker Cornell were at once sent for and on their arrival the official investigation of the affair commenced. The man had apparently committed suicide. He had procured for the purpose a skein of yarn, and to avoid tying any knots, had cut off the end of a limb and the foliage, and then slipped the skein over this, while the other end he put around his neck. When found he was in an almost standing position, his feet on the ground, but his knees bent a little, enough to throw his weight on the yarn and choke him. There was found upon his person $37 in money and some papers. It was soon learned that he had been in this neighborhood since about the first of July, when he came to F. A. Boos' place and wanted to get boarded. He paid for one week's board in advance and then stayed a little over that time, doing chores, digging potatoes, etc. He acted rather strangely and talked queer at times. He said he had been out to Ogden, but after remaining there a few days, concluded he did not like the country and so came back. He said he wanted to get in some quiet location. He disappeared as suddenly and strangely as he came, leaving his valise at the house. On examination of his effects showed a discharge paper, by which it appears that his name was George W. House, and that he enlisted in Company I, Sixth Maine infantry, May 13, 1861, and was discharged August 15, 1864, and then reenlisted in Gen. Hancock's corp. He was then a man about 45 years of age.

The jury, consisting of R. C. Menoroy, A. L. Allstrand and G. M. Washbee, returned a verdict that "he came to his death by hanging himself by the neck, from the effects of an unsound mind." The body was brought to this city yesterday afternoon and at once buried, it being impossible to keep it longer.

What's the use having dyspepsia? Why belch and say you've got heartburn, every time you eat? Be sensible, take Brown's Iron Bitters and get well.

Trouble with Tramps.

A party of fifteen rough tramps were looting about the vicinity of the K. C. roundhouse Saturday, and so intimidated those who live in that vicinity, and so grossly insulted passers-by that the police were sent for. Chief Field and officers Brooks and Leonard went down with an express wagon, and had a lively fight with the fellows. Several shots were fired by Brooks and the officers had to use their clubs and come-alongs. They succeeded in capturing three of the worst ones, and the others scattered, one reaching a hold jumped on a passing train. Two of the three fellows brought in were bleeding pretty freely from scalp wounds. Later in the day the other officers made another raid, and brought in five more, and they were all lodged in jail to await a hearing this morning. This tramp nuisance will not be stopped very readily so long as brakemen on other tramps let them ride in box cars for a quarter or a half of a dollar, and thus enable them to get into this railway center. If railway companies would bounce all such tramps, together with all conductors allowing confidence men to work their trains, there would be less of such work going on.
