monds, and His Wealth.

The recent death of Charles H. Stratton, better known as General Tom Thumb, has awakened, for a time at least, a certain general interest in dwarfs of all descriptions. From the time of the Pygmiei, that fabulous nation of lilliputians found in the extreme parts of India, or, as others declare, in Ethiopia, little people have been objects of curiosity, and many have figured conspicuously in the world of the real, as have others in the realms of fiction. In the olden time lwarfs were employed for the amusement of the great, and the custom, according to some authorities, is of high antiquity in the east, were the art of retarding human growth was successfully practiced. The Greeks had knowledge of this pro-cess as early as 324 a.c., it being imparted by them to the Romans about 50 A.D. Dominitian exhibited gladitorial contests, it is said, between dwarfs and beautiful women in 81, and at that day the wives of the Roman dignitaries employed dwarfs as domestic servants. In Europe the same fancy for these diminutive people was entereained, having reached its height in France during the reigns of Francis I. and Henry II .that is, between the years 1515 and 1559. The last dwarf of any distinction kept about the throne of a potentate was the famous Bebe, of King Stanislaus, of Poland. Bebe, who died in 1764, was thirty-three inches (French measurement) in everything is taken into consideration, was our own Tom Thumb. Charles Heywood Stratton was born in Bridgeport, Conn., January 4, 1838. His parents were people of ordinary stature and not overly burdened with the good things of this world. Tom, however, was a precocious youth, and as early as 1842 P. T. Barnum, the great showman, engaged him for public exhibition at the seemingy ridiculous salary of $3 per week. His first appearance as General Tom Thumb was on Thanksgiving Day, December 8, 1842. From that time on his popularity so increased that Barnum was glad to reengage him at an advanced salary of $1 per day, Shortly afterwards the great showman, wishing to test the curiosity of the Europeans, crossed the Atlantic with his juvenile prodigy, and before many days all London was crowding to Prin-ess theater to see General Thumb's matinees. His public debut having been made, a series of private receptions were him by the queen, the general received two royal commands, and from that time was no one, from the of Wellington down, whom the little fellow did not have the honor of being introduced. From England he passed over to the Continent, and France, Belgium and Germany were visited with the same success as had attended his journey through Great Britain. In 1857, ten years later, he again went to England, in company with the child actress, Gordelia Howard. Again was he admired, and petted and made the recipient of extravagant presents. On his return to this country he met, for the first time, Miss Lavinia Warren, a pretty little dwarf some four years younger than himself, and an attachment sprang up between them which ripened into love, and on February 10, 1863, the twain were married. The wedding, a most brilliant one, took place at Grace Church, New York,

It has been re-October and November, will, in the av erage, give from 4,500 to 6,000 pounds of milk annually. This milk is worth, to sell at a factory, or to manufacture into butter or cheese, $1.30 per 100 pounds, or $58.50 as the average cow. In other words dairy farming with one cow to eight acres on 160 acres produces $1160; modern dairy farming with one cow to four acres produces $2660, an increase of $1,500; by an outlay for feed and help, a net profit of $640, a sum sufficient to raise the price of land from $50 to $100 on acre. A fundamental condition of successful farming is large crops of corn, not less than two acres of fodder and four acres of field corn for every ten cows, or a total of twenty-four acres for forty cows. All the manure of the farm should be evenly placed on these twentty-four acres during the winter, and the land plowed previous to the 10th of May, and thoroughly harrowed, the corn planted immediately thereafter with a horse drill, the rows three and one-half feet apart, and the kernels from seven to nine inches apart, and cultivated well before the corn comes up with a fine-tooth harrow. Frequently thereafter cultivate until the 10to of July, at which time, if until the honority done it will the work has been honestly done, it will be free from weeds with never a hoe in the field, and it is almost certain to produce fifty bushels per acre of shelled corn and thirty tons of fodder. It takes less labor to raise twenty-four acres of corn, as described above, than to raise half that mount planted in hills and the cultivation deferred until you can see the rows.

SAVED FROM A HORRIBLE DEATH. Up to May last I had spent at least five hundred dollars for treatment by many of the best medical men, without any benefit. I suffered excruciatingly, and all my best friends advised me that the icy hand of death was fast approaching. I caught at S. S. like a drowning man at a straw. After taking two bottles I could feel a change for the better. The sores began to discharge freely and the Rheumatism to abate. to discharge freely and the Rheumatism to abate. When I had taken six bottles every sore had healed and my skin began to assume a natural appearance. I persisted until I had taken twelve bottles, large size, and THERE IS NOT A SYMPTOM OF THE DISEASE REMAINING, and I feel as well as lever did. I have gained twenty-one pounds in flesh, and my friends wonder at my improve! condition. I have recommended it many, and in every instance with complete success. I believe that S. S. S has saved me from a horrible death.
