MINOR MENTION.

See Joseph Reiter's fall goods.

Cheap Railroad Tickets at Bushnell's. The council will try to meet again

There is talk of having the fair grounds lighted by electricity.

There was a picnic of young folks in Palmer's grove yesterday.

Chamberlain Bros. are to build a harness factory on Fourth street.

Governor Hendricks is to speak i Council Bluffs on September 11th. The Plackert case is to come up before Justice Abbott on its sixteeuth continuance to-day.

There are now ten houses in Council Bluffs selling whisky at wholesale. Pretty strong for a prohibition state.

Frank S. Pusey, P. J. McMahon, Geo. C. Brown and Bert Evans, are now off for Sioux county to slaughter chickens. The school buildings needing the im provement are to be furnished with new seats and desks before the fall term opens. A young man named J. S. Peak, of Beatrice, Neb., was yesterday fined for getting too full while visiting the Bluffs.

Albert Maxwell, of Oakland, who was recently sent to the insane asylum, is now out, and is quite sick at his father's, at Chariton, Iowa.

Another complaint has been lodged against Mrs. Brown, for keeping a house of ill fame. Also against the owner of the property for renting it.

Officers Brooks and Cusick were at Harlan yesterday, called as witnesses be-fore the grand jury in a horse stealing case, they having captured the prisoner A man named Sullivan was arrested by were promptly let go.

While Mr. Mandel and his son were calcimining the ceiling of the Presby terian church yesterday the scaffold fell, giving them both a tumble of about fourteen feet, and yet no bones were broken. Two pews, however, were smashed.

Mrs. Baswitz and her daughter crossed to this side from Omaha yesterday and began peddling, but were soon arrested for not naving a license. They made quite a hysterical scene in court, and were allowed to return home by paying the costs.

The iron work on the new city jail is now being pushed along. There are three cells on the first floor, about six by eight at the court house in Council Bluffs, feet each, and one steel cell four by Thursday, September 13, at 10 o'clock a. eight feet. On the upper floor there are m., for the purpose of placing in nominaby sixteen feet, and one ten by sixteen tion candidates for the following offices.

Each township will be ennot so much on account of the board bill titled to the following representation: he skipped, as on account of a series of slick till-tappings, for which he is to be called to account. The officer left with his prisoner on last evening's train.

The colored folks are bending their energies to get enough means to build a church on the lot they recently pur-chased on Sixth street below the broom factory. A. Miller is the pastor and Frank Praylor is the pastor. The work of soliciting funds for the church building is being pushed forward zeal-building is being pushed forward zeal-ously, and it should be encouraged by county, and it should be part. prompt and generous giving on the part of those approached.

Another exciting feature has been added to the attractions offered at the 10, at 7 p. m. By order of John W. Baird, wonderful horsewoman, and Mrs. De Vere have been engaged for chariot races, hurdle riding, etc. In her line Mrs. Burke is not excelled in the whole land, and Mrs. De Vere is also a wonder-ful woman. They have some fine thor-oughbred horses, and the display of unique equestrianism will prove thrilling indeed.

Everything possible is being done to ensure the success and enjoyability of the excursion over the Sioux City route to Spirit Lake, August 17. The tickets are $8 for the round trip, the tickets good for ten days. A chair car is to be added to the transfer of the second secon to the train for the accommodation and comfort of ladies. A number of gentle-men and ladies have already expressed their intention of going on this trip, and many from Omaha will go. The chance to enjoy such delightful recreation at such cheap rates should be improved by

The Circuit Court.

In the circuit court yesterday the case of Schlect vs. Guittar was presented and submitted, also the case of Guittar vs. Johannson, and the case of Whittaker vs.

The jury is expected to be called to So far there has been little done beyond divorce cases, motions and miner matters of little public interest. TEARING THE TIES.

Four Pictures of Domestic Unbappi ness Shown up in the Court.

A number of the divorce cases have al ready been disposed of in the circuit court in a manner satisfactory at least to the plaintiffs,

Alice Stream, who was married to Walter Stream in October, 1860, was released from the matrimonial bonds. She charged her Walter with some very serious matters. He had abused her, and pulled a revolver on her. He had, moreover, failed to provide for her as a husband should, and had finally deserted her altogether. She also claimed that he had become so lewd in his habits that he had physically become unfit for association with any pure wife. The knot couldn't stand the strain of all the facts and it was broken. Sarah Hickman vs. William Hickman was another of the divorce cases, it being wought here from Avoca. The parties had been married about twelve years but the husband deserted her seven years ago. She was given her freedom.

Jennie Palmer sought also to be re-leased from William E. Palmer. They were married in Logan in 1881 and she claimed that he had not only failed to provide for her but that he had become The ladies of the degree of Rebeka, I. so enamored with one Anna Lockwood that he had left his wife for her. William A. Pierce sought release from his wife. They were married in Law rence, Kansas, in 1865, and she had since deserted him, which entitled him in the court's mind to a release from further matrimonial obligations.

How He Fooled a Mysterious Watcher in Front of the Court House.

A few days ago a gentleman and lady both strangers in the city, and hailing from the interior of the state, applied at the clerk's office here for leave to wed. A license was granted them and the gentleman asked the deputy clerk if he could direct him to some minister where they could get the ceremony performed at once, they seeming to be in great haste. That official, with usual urbanity, started along the hall with them, intending on reaching the front door of the Pacific. court house to point ont to them the desired directions. As they approached the front door, the lady sprang back in apparent fright, and hurriedly asked the guide if there was not some rear door, by which she could get out. She was told that there was, and so she started for it hurriedly, followed by the would-be Two white boys and one colored, aged bridegroom. She explained in as

The newly license couple hurstable Chatterback for fighting on the ried out the rear door of the court house street. It appeared by witnesses that they were scuffling for fun, and they lots to the next street, and then off for a minister, while the mysterious watching in front waited in vain. Just what relation he bore to her has not leaked out, but whatever it be, it is too late for him now to enter any protest, for before the setting sun the woman who had tried matrimony once, and who was bent on a second experiment, had been duly wedded and was on the train with her new husband whirling on towards their home.

Being of Romantic Bent She Word Trousers and Worked as a Woodchopper.

About six or seven weeks ago the steamship from San Francisco brought a number of hands from the railway works at Yale. Among the number were two who seemed to be much attached to each other. The elder was a man of about sixty, quite plain in appearance, but evi dently a well educated gentlemen. The young one appeared to be about sixeeen years of age, with a remarkably winning face, wearing a large hat, drawn well over his eyes, small hands and natty little feet With the party these two left this city for Yale, and immediately commenc ed work on the road, the supposed boy doing his share of sawing and chopping with the rest, and gaining many friends by his gentle and unobtrusive manners. After about ten or twelve days the elder of the two friends became sick and he had to be removed to the hospital, where he was followed and nursed by his de voted little companion. The medical attendant soon discovered, however, that the supposed youth was a young lady and the wife of the sick man She was immediately sent to the house of a lady residing at Yale, where, after discarding her masculine attire and assuming more befitting garments, she disclosed the fact that with her husband she had eloped from San Francisco, where her father and step-mother resided. They had objected to her choice, and wanted her to accept the lup, our popular restauranter, who took homestead and timber claims in Dakota lover persuaded her to leave home, and ast year, is making arrangements to after being married they took the steamer rough men with whom the young lady John Rishton, who left here several worked knew no bounds when they learned that their quiet little companion was a girl, and that she had endured the eastern Nebraska if they want to be in civilization.
