Stocks—Brokers are in excellent spirits over the strength shown by the leading stocks, which have been violently assailed during the last few days. The early advance of the Erie to $12½ of Western Union to 74½ of Northern Pacific to 44½ and of Oregon & Trans-Continental to 66½ is regarded as an indication either that the public is beginning to buy freely or that the heavy holders of stocks are determined to sustain the market. A report was circulated to the effect that Jay Gould, Henry F. Smith and Vanderbilt's sons had formed an alliance for the purpose of sending up stocks. The stock market on the whole today presented a more natural and healthful appearance. The advance at the opening was caused largely by covering of shorts. After this abated and the usual reaction from such immediate demands had been experienced, the market became comparatively dull, and from this was revived by buying orders, not only of local, but from various parts of the country and from Europe, latter chiefly from Amsterdam and Frankfort. When the Western Union was selling at the lowest point, brokers credited with Gould orders bought shares liberally, and the price recovered rapidly to 74. The advance in this stock was a signal for general buying movement in other active shares, and the whole list sold up to the highest point of the day. In the final transaction the demand for stocks for borrowing purposes continued active and to-day as high as 1½ at 6½ was paid for New Jersey Central and 1½ at 4½ for New York Central. Commission houses report good demand for dividend-paying stocks for investment accounts. The net result of the day's business was an advance of 2½ per cent.
