Mr. Moreton Frewen Takes a Hand is the Syndicate.

From Mr. C R. Schaller we learn that Hon. Moreton Frewen, the English capitalist who has such large cattle interests in the Powder River country, was in counting for these principles and their massion like that of Christianity, while it Omaha yesterday to look into the big packing house scheme and inspect the stock yards and grounds, as he intends to take a very active part in the beef packing establishment.

Mr. Schaller took him out to the local ity where this big boom has struck and is located for good, and before he came away Mr. Frewen pledged himself to the undertaking with a very large sum of interests, two of the largest in the west, and representing seven million dollars capital invested on the plains. The sum total of their stock makes a very big pile of money. These two men can bring in others and so consolidate the western cattle interests as to create a virtual monopoly in the packing business for this city, which is just what this city wants

The state democratic convention metat 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Academy of Music, in pursuance to the call, for the purpose of nominating a suand Tenth and that repulsive pool of stagnant preme judge and three regents of the university.

CALLED TO ORDER.

The convention was called to order by J. Sterling Morton, chairman of the state central committee, and upon motion Judge Kinney, of Nebraska City, was chosen temporary chairman, and Mr. Whedon, of Lincoln, temporary secre-

He called attention to the refully appreciated by the intelligent body of delegates before him-namely, that of placing in nomination a supreme judge, sidered as particularly important, holding, as that officer does, a po-sition in the court of last resort, a court from which no appeal could be made, whose decisions were final and binding. The executive office has been said to be the highest, but it is inferior to the judicial, as while the executive must see the law executed and may exercise the veto and pardoning power, the court can incarcerate citizens, take their property and their lives. He in-ferred from the large number of delegates from all parts of the state that they were prepared to put in nomination such a man that will secure to the people

The speaker went on at length dilating upon the necessity of changing the gov-ernment from hands of the republican party to the democracy. He discussed the tariff question and the

The chairman suggested that while the committee was out it might be a good thing to name the candidates for regents of the university. A motion to appoint a committee of three to present names to the convention for its approval was rejected as contrary to democratic principles in that it put the prerogative of the people in the hands of few. The motion was laid on the table without a dissenting voice.

NOMINATING A JUDGE. A motion to proceed with the nomination of candidates for the office of supreme judge was carried.

Mr. Chapman, of Colfax, named Judge Savage, of Omaha, and on motion Judge

Savage was.

CHOSEN BY ACCLAMATION

Loud calls were made for the nominee but as he was not in the room the chair, on motion, appointed as a committee to wait upon him and notify him that the convention wanted to see him, Messrs. North, Vifquain and C. R. Redick. REDICK'S FEARS.

Redick declined ground that he walked poorly and was afraid to go, for fear the judge would be elected before he got there to notify him that he was nominated.

Hon, James Creighton was then ap pointed in his stead, and while the committee was absent, J. Sterling Morton. chairman of the committee on platform, made a report as follows: A RINGING PLATFORM.

The democracy of Nebraska assembled at Omaha on the 29th of August, 1883, unanimade a long and eloquent address full of argument and witty illustrations. He said the last campaign demonstrated the toughness of fibre of which the democracy must be made to live in Nebraska. It was their duty now to call sinners to repentence. They stood upon the same platform they did last year, one great proposition of which was that the government has no right to impose taxes except to bring money into the federal treasury for giving to its citizens that which is OUARANTEED BY THE CONSTITUTION, namely: life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and that all tariff taxatien should be utterly abolished.

Mr. Morton proceeded to discuss the tariff question and illustrate the position of the democracy as that of the farmer who desires to get most crops out of his lands with the least effort, while THE REPUBLICAN PARTY seems to want to get all that they do mously declare:

First—The government of the United States has no constitutional or other right to impose taxes upon the people, except with the intent and result of getting money into the public treasury with which to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States. All tariff taxes in called protective, laid with far different intent and result ought to be utterly abolished.

Second—That "protection," so called, decrives no part of its impulse or maintenance from reasoning or common sense, but is wholly a scheme of a few selfish men for their own aggraudizement at the expense of the masses of the people, and, like the late river and harbor bills; in star route fraudulent contracts; in the payment, of alleged secret service detectives; in the multiplication of salaries and perquisites for an unnumbered and almost unnumberable swarm of office-holders; and in other visible corruptions of that part of the people's money which does not reach the national treasury, deserves the immediate and emphatic condemnation of the people. mously declare: First—The government of the United State ople. Fourth—The state of Nebraska, in common with other states of the union, has and exer-cises the right of regulating the sale of intoxi-cating drinks in in the interest of good or-der within the state, but the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of such drinks with-the manufacture and sale of such drinks within the state is contrary to the fundamental rights of the individual, and to the fundamental rights of the individual, and to the fundamental rights of the individual, and to the fundamental rights of the joicial and moral conduct, and if enacted will be neutralized by the constitution of the United States which permits the introduction to every state of foreign liquors imported from abroad, and controls every every form of inter-state commerce.

Fifth—Corporate capital, whether in the form of banks, manufacturing establishments or railroads, must keep its hands off the reserved rights of the people. The democrats of Nebraska denounce all railroads within the state which elect or attempt to elect, which indusence or attempt to indusence delegates to political conventions, members of the legislature and senators or members of congress.
Corporate capital, as such, must not be permitted thus to encroach upon popular rights.
We assert the right of the legislature to control the railroads; we deny the right of the rel the railroads; We deny the right of the railroads to control the legislature. Sixth—We demand the enactment of a law which shall under severe penalties, forbid the issuance of passes, or free transportation of any kind whatsoever by any railroad in Ne-braska to any person holding either an elec-tive or appointive office, or any official posi-tion under the constitution or laws of this

Seventh-That the policy of the administra Seventh—That the policy of the administration of the would federal treasury, is most unwise and censurable. To this is justly chargeable a large share of the depression that has for months overshadowed all business interests. The surplus over the current expenses of the government should be paid out in redemption of its interest-bearing debt.

Eighth—That we as democrats commend fair and State Treasures P. D. Sturdevant because he said he had just been notified by the committee of his selection by the convention for the high position of supreme judge. He thanked them for the honor thus did not want or was not flattered by. Twice before had he been nominated to a judicial office by democratic conventions and twice had been elected. The his effort to do what was for right and he would endeavor to do as well if state, he said, was not in the habit of electing their candidates for judge or any other office, but he believed the time had come when political creed would not be a test of qualification for judicial office. He desired this nomination not only for the election, but to prove the statement just made that paries would rise above politics. He then accepted the nomination, and again thanking the convention, retired.

Flattering Prospects for a Successful Fair Next Month.

Largely to Make a Grand Agricultural Show.

At the recent meeting of the board of nanagers of the state board of agricul ture, a visit was made to the state fair grounds to see what condition they were in, and to settle a few minor details as to arrangements which had not yet been perfected. THE BEE, a few days ago, gave a lengthy statement of the present situation, and predicted that the coming fair would be the biggest success of any yet given.

The coard, on its visit found th grounds being cleaned and cleared up and they will all be in good order before the end of this week. Arrangements have been made for putting the track in perfect order and keeping the grounds thor ough'y sprinkled during the fair. The ish exhibit will be under the supervision of the state board of fish commissioners who are providing aquariums after their own plans which will be much more efficient and attractive than those of last year, and it is expected will make a big

Some trouble was had last year in re gard to the water supply, a three-fourth inch pipe running into the ground not working satisfactorily at first. It was found, however, that by arranging to supply different parts of the grounds with water at odd hours of the day a plenti tul supply was had for all purposes.
On Tuesday Superintendent Goodrich of the water works company, made a test of the pipes and found everything satis-factory and there will be an ample supply this year for all purposes.

All the cattle stalls have been assigned and some thirty open horse stalls. They still have a few horse stalls and some pens in the sheep and hog classes left, but the indications are that they wil

The B. & M. building has been tendered to the managers to be used as they may see fit, and this will probably be devoted to county exhibits, so that there will be more space for these than there vas last year.
