

THE DAILY BEE.

OMAHA.

Tuesday Morning, September 11.

Indications for To-day. WASHINGTON, September 10.—For the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys warm, fair weather, east to south winds, lower barometer.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Indians who recently went north on a visit to their friends at the Winnebago agency, are returning in squads. The bulk of them passed through on Sunday. A large number of sharpshooters have come in from the various army posts out west, to participate in the coming rifle shoot.

The bar at the U. P. depot has been moved into its new quarters which are very convenient, neat and attractive. A colored quartette from the dining room of the Paxton sang very sweetly in the office of that hotel last night.

Mr. N. F. Murray is in charge of the Holt county, Missouri, exhibit of fruit at the fair. The Y. M. C. A. are issuing a daily bulletin during the fair.

A game of baseball was played Sunday between the first nine of the "Sherman Avenue" and the "19-year-old Torments" from South Omaha. The latter were defeated by a score of 24 to 15.

Sixteenth street will be open to traffic this morning. Both Sixteenth and Eighteenth are to be thoroughly sprinkled during fair week.

We made a slight mistake in speaking of Morse's new shoe store Saturday. The firm is not A. D. Morse & Co., but simply A. D. Morse.

The South Omaha school will occur Wednesday evening in Cromwell's hall. The committee are: arrangements, D. F. Foley, G. M. O'Donovan, Daniel O'Keefe, floor, E. F. Moriarty, A. Fahy, John Moore, P. H. McKenna; reception, John Ruhl, A. D. Foley, Dr. McKenna.

GRUNBAUM'S GLORY.

Can any one bring us a case of kidney or liver complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters will prove. Bright's disease, diabetes, weak back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50c a bottle by C. F. Goodman.

The Palatial Dry Goods House on Farnam Street Thronged With Ladies. Bowls of Perfumed Water and Singing Birds Amidst Rare Tropical Plants.

Saturday evening the windows of Grunbaum's store were for the first time revealed to public view and under the full glare of the electric light, their splendor arrested the steps of every passer by. Dry goods were piled in them to the roof, not carelessly, but with the most artistic grace.

Monday morning the store itself was thrown open to the public and was thronged all day with crowds of fashionable ladies, who expressed their approval with the highest compliments upon the variety and quality of the goods displayed and the general

Details of Yesterday's Doings in Full.

Programme of the Races, Etc., for To-day.

Mr. relay was in reality the opening day of the state fair and the bright, cool, fall weather was most encouraging to the managers as well as to visitors and exhibitors, who at an early hour began thronging in the direction of the driving park.

The trains over the Omaha and St. Paul road were not to begin running until this morning, so that all sorts of vehicles were crowded and many went out on foot.

On arrival at the grounds everything was found in bustle and confusion. Chas. in fact reigned almost supreme. It being the first day, and as of course no formal opening was intended, many were late getting in their exhibits, and arranging them for inspection.

People had already begun to pour in; some sight seeing, others intent on turning the little penny and gathering their pecuniary hay when the sun of prosperity shone on them.

Here and there in the tour about the grounds were met some splendid horses, mentioned briefly yesterday. Here is one for instance, with impatient tossing head, a long black mane and ferocious pointed ears, and eyes flashing with animation and vitality.

What a magnificent horse is before us! He is a full bred imported Norman stallion of magnificent proportions; this is the stock from which to breed your horses. Look at his neck and breast, what burden could embarrass or weary him? See those massive joints and neat hoofs; what a foothold he takes, and yet the strain is not likely to trouble those muscular sinews which swell into prominence even in inaction.

But we have seen the horse and must pass on to the machinery department, which has also been greatly added to since our last report. Here several new booths, pavilions and tents have been hastily constructed or begun to move into place.

As the fair yesterday contained a general description of the general and leading features of the fair it is chiefly necessary to-day to speak of the departments which have heretofore been neglected.

The north-east corner wing of Floral hall is devoted to the exhibitions of our florists, and among these the center table is devoted to the display of Mr. James Y. Craig, the landscape gardener and florist, who has beautiful specimens of plants and flowers, ferns, palms and everything known to his profession.

Himebaugh and Taylor exhibit a well arranged lot of scales and edge tools. The long table in the hall is decorated at one end by a rare variety of extracts, taking powders, etc., handsomely arranged in pyramidal form, and all from the establishment of H. C. Taylor. On the other end of the same table is the corner of a tray of crackers from Jos. Garneau's cracker factory, on Twelfth and Jackson streets, which is a marvelous exhibition of a baker's art.

THE CHICAGO INTER-OCC'AN has an office near by, and Harrie & Fisher are among the first to complete their display, which is of dried and salt meats. The familiar sight of the salted ham is the ornamental appearance of this display.

THE COUNTY EXHIBITS are slow in getting ready for business, but will be very complete finally. The Hall, Sea and Lock Co. have the stand across from Craig's stand of geraniums.

THE POULTRY HOUSE is filling up and draws many visitors. It is an excellent showing of Plymouth Rock chickens; red and white Pyle game bantams, black breasted, and red game fowls, all the Asiatics, Hundereds, Pouter, and other varieties, and also a few Australian geese, old world creatures. There are now over fifty coops and many are still expected.

IN GENERAL inspection of the cattle stalls, it is seen that the short horns and Jerseys predominate, and the display as a whole is pronounced the best ever seen in this region. The herd of 21 Friesland cattle, reported directly from the little island north of Holland, by Claudius Jones and son, of Seward, is a great novelty.

The firm have had other exhibitors in the world, as well as good beef cattle. They are pure black with a few white spots. The bull, "Nicholas," is but three years old, and weighs 1800 pounds.

S. H. Atwood, of Plattsmouth, shows a fine herd of Herefords, eight head in all, and T. W. Harvey, of Seward, has a head of black polled Angus, much ahead of the state cattle.

John Borland, of Stanton county, has 18 head of Guernsey, said to rival the Jerseys for milk and butter.

THE HOG PEN is filled up slowly, but the exhibits are very unusual in merit. There are Jersey Reds, and Berkshire, and a lot of thorough bred Yorkshires, owned by John Borland (mentioned above), Ira M. Dawson, of Bennett, and some splendid specimens of Poland Chinas, and a few good Chester Whites are to be seen.

A neat little dining hall is run on the east side of the race track, by Stroud Brothers of Florence, where the best of treatment is given along with a good square meal.

THE GAMBLERS in the patriotic manner of the dining hall in Floral hall, run by Mrs. Stephens. This hall will hold 200 at one time and is admirably arranged both as to convenience and comfort.

A general live stock headquarters is a new feature of the fair. It is a building which has been arranged through the board of managers by the officers of the Nebraska fine stock breeders and bull growers association, jointly.

An informal meeting of the "Nebraska Fine Stock and Breeders Association," will be held at ten a. m., this Tuesday morning, and a meeting of the wool growers and sheep breeders on Wednesday at ten a. m., for consultation and the discussion of such topics as the interest of the wool growers and sheep breeders in the officers of the Nebraska Breeders Association, viz:

Wool growers and sheep breeders.—Peter Janusz, president, Crete, W. H. Barstow, treasurer, Crete; W. C. B. Allen, secretary, Omaha.

The following entries have been made: Grand D. M. Taylor, Billy, Mammoth Belle, Jockey, Bill Paxton, Sneak and Little Tom.

Red Buck, Lizzie B. Brown, Eagle, Intrinic, Resumption, Limber Jim.

At 6 o'clock for parents and over 500 entries, in cattle, sheep and hogs, had been made, and over 300 in horses.

was "Lena, the Madcap," by the Katie Putnam company, and the audience basked what a rush there will be during the week, for the house was packed full.

Katie Putnam, of course, took the part of Lena, a dashing, careless girl, innocent yet mischievous, and inclined to be a Tom boy. This character she carried out completely and with much grace and ease.

OMAHA SAVINGS BANK.

A reporter of THE BEE, recognizing that Omaha is becoming one of the money centers of the west, deemed it well yesterday to feel of one of the monetary pulses of the city.

Mr. Wilbur—Yes, sir, most decidedly. The deposits of the banks of this town approximate at this time $7,000,000, and the business is increasing with great rapidity, showing that the people of Omaha are rapidly accumulating fortunes.

"Your bank has been in operation for about one year, has it not?" "We opened for business September 4, 1882, and the business of the year has far exceeded our most sanguine expectations."

"What classes appear to make the most use of your institution?" "We number now nearly 3,000 depositors of all nationalities, all ages and both sexes. Since we opened business there has been a steady increase in the number of those anxious to avail themselves of a safe place where they can deposit their earnings and receive 6 per cent interest."

"Over half a million of dollars." "In what manner is interest paid to depositors?" "Every six months the interest on every depositor's account is computed, and credited to his account. By this process the interest is compounded, to the benefit of the depositor. If a depositor's account is closed, by the withdrawal of his money, the interest due is computed and paid to him."

"What amount of interest have you paid depositors during the past year?" "We have paid to them $7,881,333, and there is to-day credited to their accounts, interest earned since July 1, 1883, $5,000,000."

"Must money be left with you for any definite time to obtain interest?" "No. Under our present system every dollar deposited draws interest for every day. The usual rule of savings banks is to pay interest upon money only when it is left for at least one month. On January 1st, 1884, this bank will probably adopt such a rule."

"When can money be drawn out of your bank?" "At any time the depositor pleases during business hours, which are daily from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., and from 6 to 8 o'clock on the Saturday evening."

"What is the nature of your corporation, and what are the steps taken for the security of those who deposit with you?" "The Omaha savings bank is incorporated under the general laws of the state. Its capital stock is $50,000, but the liability upon the stockholders is $300,000. The funds of the bank, under the laws of its creation, can only be invested in real estate and other ample securities.

No money is loaned to any man upon his personal credit, and in every instance where loans are made, permanent and durable security, to the amount usually of three dollars for every dollar of loan is taken. The motto of this bank is, "No risk, and full security."

"The real estate loans of the bank are to-day $307,000.00, and I have no question but that the real estate security for these loans is worth $1,600,000."

"We confine ourselves to the legal rates. This bank will under no circumstances charge usurious interest. Our rates are at from 8 to 10 per cent per annum. Interest usually payable semi-annually."

"Is there much demand for money at this time?" "Yes. The large amount of building in Omaha, and elsewhere, causes great demand for money, and I feel that one of the indirect benefits of our institution has been the fact that we have been able to supply, with perfect security to ourselves, considerable part of the money that has gone into permanent buildings in Omaha during 1883."

When in Fremont, Neb., call at the New York hotel, where you will find better accommodations than in any hotel west of Omaha. House entirely new and very handsomely furnished.

The patrons of S. P. Morse & Co., will be gratified to learn that this enterprising firm are now opening by far the largest stock of dry goods that Omaha ladies have ever had the privilege of examining.
