

THE DAILY BEE.

OMAHA. Tuesday Morning, September 11.

Indications for To-day. WASHINGTON, September 10.—For the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys warm, fair weather, east to south winds, lower barometer.

LOCAL BREVITIERS.

The Indians who recently went north on a visit to their friends at the Winnebago agency, are returning in squads. The bulk of them passed through on Sunday. A large number of sharpshooters have come in from the various army posts out west, to participate in the coming rifle shoot.

The bar at the U. P. depot has been moved into its new quarters which are very convenient, neat and attractive. A colored quartette from the dining room of the Paxton sang very sweetly in the office of that host last night.

Mr. N. F. Murray is in charge of the Holt county, Missouri, exhibit of fruit at the fair. The Y. M. C. A. are issuing a daily bulletin during the fair.

A game of base ball was played Sunday between the first nine of the "Sherman Avenue" and the "19-year-old Tormentors" from South Omaha. The latter were defeated, by a score of 24 to 15.

Sixteenth street will be open to traffic this morning. Both Sixteenth and Eighteenth are to be thoroughly sprinkled during fair week. We made a slight mistake in speaking of Morse's new store Saturday. The firm is not A. D. Morse & Co., but simply A. D. Morse.

The South Omaha school hall occurs Wednesday evening in Crown hall. The committees are: arrangements, P. D. Foley, G. M. O'Donovan, Daniel O'Keefe; door, E. F. Moriarty, A. Fahy, John Moore, P. H. McKenna; reception, John Rush, A. D. Foley, Dr. McKenna.

Remember Paul Nindel, 1116 Farnam street. An Answer Wanted. Can any one bring a case of kidney or liver complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters will prove. Bright's disease, diabetes, weak back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50c a bottle by C. F. Goodman.

GRUNEBAUM'S GLORY.

The Palatial Dry Goods House on Farnam Street Thronged With Ladies. Bowls of Perfumed Water and Singing Birds Amidst Rare Tropical Plants.

Saturday evening the windows of Grunebaum's store were for the first time revealed to public view and under the full glare of the electric light, their splendor arrested the steps of every passer by. Dry goods were piled in them to the roof, not carelessly, but with the most artistic grace. The right hand window was a shimmering mass of colored silks, soft hued satins and rich plushes, which contrasted widely with the sombre dressing of the left window, showing a series of steps made of upright bolts of BLACK GOODS AND VELVETS, of which this firm expects to make a specialty. Everyone was informed by the beautiful sign which hung in front, to whom the store belonged, an altogether glorious sign, shaped like a shield and bearing diagonally on a field of hammered gilt the name of the firm in raised black letters.

Monday morning the store itself was thrown open to the public and was thronged all day with crowds of fashionable ladies, who expressed their approval with the highest compliments upon the variety and quality of the goods displayed and the general arrangements.

Just at the door stood a little opening, who presented each person who entered with a boutonniere, and his basket of flowers seemed never to empty, notwithstanding that hundreds of the little bouquets were disposed of hourly. At the end of each long counter, stood a monster plant from Erling's, and down the center of the store, here and there, on the tapestry carpet was placed a plant or flowering shrub alternating with a graceful statue, and just at the center was a vase of eau de cologne, as customers passed along a boy took their handkerchiefs and sprinkled them with the perfume from a fern leaf. Above were cages of birds, canaries and mocking birds, and two electric lights.

A novel feature in Grunebaum Brothers' store, is the plainly painted signs which direct attention to the different departments. Presiding over the silk department we found Mr. L. Swartz, formerly with Good & Taylor, New York. Mr. C. D. Snyder, late of A. Crickbank & Co., has charge of the black goods, and was displaying them to a large number of his old acquaintances. Mr. G. W. Lucas, formerly of R. V. Hillas, Chicago, was seen in the dress goods division; Mr. P. F. Anderson had the domestic goods; he is late of L. B. Williams & Son, Mr. William Barrie, late of J. Edward Bird & Co., Baltimore, has been placed in charge of the linens; Miss Mollie Holland has the trimmings, and the WRAP DEPARTMENT is attended to by Miss Henrietta Ruane. There is an extensive display of cloaks and wraps in the latest styles; the department is carpeted and there are luxurious chairs for lady visitors. The firm of Grunebaum Brothers comes to us from Baltimore, and the three managers are all gifted with the spirit of enterprise. Mr. Charles Grunebaum, who arranged the windows, wore a costly souveer in Baltimore for window-dressing. The pleasure of assistants personally request the pleasure of a visit from their friends.

BUCKEN'S AFRICA SAIVE. The greatest medical wonder of the world. Warranted to speedily cure Burns, Cuts, Ulcers, Boils, Rheum, Fever Sores, Cancer, Piles, Chills, Corns, Tetter, Chapped hands, and all skin eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance, or money refunded. 25 cents per box.

THE COMING CONTEST.

For Supremacy in the Field, Turf and Farm.

The Gathering of Grain Growers and Stock Raisers, Who are Joining Forces to Make the Fair a Success.

Details of Yesterday's Doings in Full.

Programme of the Races, Etc., for To-day. Mr. May was in reality the opening day of the late fair and the bright, cool, fall weather was most encouraging to the managers as well as to visitors and exhibitors, who at an early hour began thronging in the direction of the driving park.

The trains over the Omaha and St. Paul road were not to begin running until this morning, so that all sorts of vehicles were crowded and many went out on foot. On arrival at the grounds everything was found in bustle and confusion. Chas. in fact reigned almost supreme. It being the first day, and as of course no formal opening was intended, many were late getting in their exhibits, and arranging them for inspection.

People had already begun to pour in; some sight seeing, others intent on turning the nimble penny and gathering their pecuniary haul while the sun of prosperity shone on them. People dotted the lawns everywhere, and teams traversed the grounds in all directions. The stock sheds were filled with loving cattle, the monarchs of their breeds—open pens held fat and grunting Berkshire, with skins sold and shining as satin, Poland Chinas as round as apples, and woolly vacant-eyed shagwags of all kinds, from a Cotswold ram to the South-down lamb.

Here and there in the tour about the grounds were some splendid horses, mentioned briefly yesterday. Here is one for instance, with impatient tossing head, a long black mane and ferocious pointed ears, and eyes which would intimidate the bravest, surely here is the war horse of Job's description. "His neck is clothed with thunder, his glory is as the morning stars, he paweth as the eagle, and goeth on to meet the armed men. He neigheth at fear; he swalloweth the ground with rage; he saith among the trumpets, ha, and he smelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains and the shouting." What a magnificent horse is before us. He is a full bred imported Norman stallion of magnificent proportions, this is a fine stock from which to breed work horses. Look at his neck and breast—what burden could embarrass or weary him? See those massive legs, those powerful muscles, what a foothold he takes, and yet the strain is not likely to trouble those muscles and sinews which swell into prominence even in inaction.

But we have seen the horses and must pass on to the machinery department, which has also been greatly added to since our last report. Here several new boots, and several new machines, which were constructed or begun, the moving breeze played with the sails of the score or more progeny of Don Quixote's enemies and sends the wheels whirling in mid air, and the machinery of Jarrett and Palmer turn. The engine of Power Hall was not yet started, but the ring of the hammer and the labor of skillful machinists gave evidence of the determined effort to have all in readiness by to-day.

The secretary and his assistants were hustled until late at night receiving and recording the names of the exhibitors, times to 6 p. m., and the president was not less busily employed in issuing passes to exhibitors and others entitled to them. Badges of red, white and other colors were soon fluttering from the laps of the owners of officers, representatives of the press and others; the guards were on their best behavior, the gates were open, and the exhibition was on its feet, the rapid transformation of chaos to order.

As THE BEE yesterday contained a general description of the general and leading features of the fair it is chiefly necessary to-day to speak of the departments which have heretofore been neglected. THE FISH EXHIBIT. Fish Commissioner Kennedy was busy all day getting things ready for the reception of the exhibitors from the Iowa exhibitors, who will arrive to-day in charge of Supt. O'Brien of the hatcheries. There are two large tanks, three commencing aquaria, and a complete apparatus for carrying off the waste water. Among the varieties of fish to be exhibited are the black bass, speckled trout, rainbow trout, German carp and gold fish.

FLORAL HALL. was rapidly filled up yesterday, and last night gave promise of exceeding in attractiveness of former years. The exhibitors here is the firm of Hiram Sibley & Co., the famous seedsmen, who have a large exhibit of garden seeds, dried grasses and green house cuttings.

PLANTS AND TREES. The north-east corner wing of Floral hall is devoted to the exhibitors of our florists, and among these the center table is devoted to the display of Mr. James V. Craig, the landscape gardener and florist, who has a beautiful assortment of plants and flowers, ferns, palms and everything known to his profession. Mr. Craig has, among other things, the finest collection of cacti and succulents in this country, and a general collection of tropical plants in the best of shape. A separate stand, occupied entirely by a large collection of geraniums in pots, and in the most attractive objects in floral hall.

W. J. Hesser, of Plattsmouth, notwithstanding his great damage from a recent hail storm, is presenting a fine collection of apples, including almost everything. His collection of palm and ferns are splendid. Mrs. Adella McPherson, of Mill station, Washington county, makes up the florists, the best display for an amateur they have ever seen. Her exhibit includes principally out door flowers and dried flowers and grasses, and is quite an attractive feature. Her display is a lettered background and by numerous lovely hanging baskets and other ornaments.

Mr. John Evans has the best showing of apples thoroughly ripened and ready for use ever made and they are most artistically arranged. The center piece is a huge horse shoe with Masonic emblems in the center. THE FRUIT. In the opposite wing there is some fine fruit. Hiram Craig, of Ft. Calhoun, who has one orchard of five acres bearing and twenty acres in all of fruit trees, has a beautiful lot of apples and peaches, and E. E. Fuller, of the same place, has one hundred plates of fine apples and thirty plates of grapes.

Isaac Wilde, of Cass county, one mile west of Plattsmouth, has one hundred plates of apples, and a capacity to carry 400 pounds. It was built by Mr. Meadiner, of the Novelty Carriage works. The running gear is of hickory and steel and the best of machinery. Geo. Bennett, the blacksmith, sends a splendid array of horse shoes, framed in glass and gold.

W. E. Gratton shows some fine leather baggy top, and the largest tanned hide in Nebraska, containing 80 square feet on its surface. The opening performance at Boyd's Himbrough and Taylor exhibit a well arranged lot of hats and edge tools. The long table in the center of the hall is decorated at one end by a rare variety of extracts, baking powders, etc., h armoniously arranged, and at the other end, and all from the establishment of H. G. Clark & Co. On the other end of the same table is the collection of a variety of crackers from Jos. Farman's cracker factory, on F 14th and Jackson streets, which is a marvelous exhibition of a baker's art.

THE CHICAGO INTER-OCEAN has an office near by, and Har die & Fisher are among the first to exhibit their display, which is dried and canned as needed. The familiar eagle and coat of arms add to the ornamental appearance of this display. THE COUNTY EXHIBITS are slow in getting ready for business, but will be very complete finally. The Hall, Safe and Lock Co. have the stand across from Craig's stand of geraniums.

POULTRY. The poultry house is filling up and draws many visitors. There is an excellent showing of Plymouth Rock chickens; red and white Pyle game bantams, black breasted, and red game fowls, all the Asiatic, Hunsdons, Pouter, white Leghorns, black and red Brahma, and a pair of Brazilian geese, old looking creatures. There are now over fifty coops and many are still expected.

CATTLE. In a general inspection of the cattle stalls, it is seen that the short horns and Jerseys predominate, and the display as a whole is pronounced the best ever seen in this region. The herd of 21 Friesian cows, which were imported from the little island north of Holland, by Claudius Jones and son, of Seward, is a great novelty. The firm have had others on their farm, and they are all well milked in the world, as well as good beef cattle. They are pure black with a few white spots. The bull, "Sheban," is but three years old, and weighs 1820 lbs. S. H. Atwood, of Plattsmouth, shows a fine herd of Herefords, eight head in all, and T. W. Harvey, of Syracuse, eighteen head of black Folved Angus, much ahead of the state cattle.

John Borland, of Stanton county, has 18 head of Guernseys, said to rival the Jerseys for milk and butter. THE HOG PEN filled up slowly, but the exhibits are very unusual in merit. There are Jersey Reds and Berkshires, and a lot of thorough bred Yorks, owned by John Taylor, mentioned above, and a few of the best of Poland Chinas, and some splendid specimens of Poland Chinas, and a few good Chester Whites are to be seen.

DINING PRIVILEGES. A neat little dining hall is run on the east side of the grounds, and is admirably fitted up with a good square meal. It is sure to satisfy all the patrons; and is run by gentlemen. THE GARFIELD is the patriotic name of the big dining hall near Floral hall, run by Mrs. Stephens. This hall will seat 250 persons and is admirably fitted up with a good square meal. It is sure to satisfy all the patrons; and is run by gentlemen.

A general live stock headquarters is a new feature of the state fair this year, which has been arranged through the board of managers by the officers of the Nebraska Live Stock and Bull Growers Association, jointly. This tent is located at the right of the main entrance and visitors and members of the press will find it well worth a visit. All live stock breeders and exhibitors are invited to call and register their names. The Nebraska breeders association heartily invite all breeders in the west to call at the fair. An informal meeting of the "Nebraska Fine Stock and Breeders Association," will be held at 10 a. m. this Tuesday morning, and a meeting of the wool growers and sheep breeders on Wednesday at ten a. m. for consultation and the making of resolutions. A meeting of the common interest during fair week may be held on Wednesday at 10 a. m.

Following are the officers of the Nebraska Breeders Association:—Wool growers and sheep breeders.—Peter J. Anderson, Fairbury, Neb.; W. H. Barstow, treasurer, Crete; W. C. B. Allen, secretary, Omaha. Stock breeders.—C. H. Walker, president, Lincoln; Theron Nye, Fremont; J. F. Woods, Schuyler; Geo. W. F. Duggan, Fremont; Dawson, Bennett, W. H. Barstow, Crete; vice presidents, W. C. B. Allen, Omaha, secretary.

The press generally will be "welcome and will find tables provided for their accommodation. THE TRAINS begin running regularly this morning, leaving the Tenth street crossing at each hour from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. The run to Plattsmouth takes twenty minutes and a half, in each direction, returning at 9:50, 10:50, etc., except at 6 p. m., when the last train leaves the siding. The fare is a quarter for round trip.

THE STREET CARS are doing a good business, and under the able management of Superintendent Smith are giving good satisfaction to the public. A BOLD ROBBERY. During the afternoon the first robbery perpetrated on the grounds, occurred at the Snyder, agent for the Singer sewing machine, his vest, a valuable gold watch and $30 in money. It was carried off while he was working on their platform. The robbery was discovered, and the right one was not discovered.

First horse, $150; second horse, $75; third horse, $25. TROTTING HORSES. The following entries have been made: Grace D. Mosher, Saturn, Billy, Mambrino Belle, Jockey, Bill Paxton, Sneak and Little Tom.

RUNNING HORSES. Red Buck, Lizzie B. Brown Eagle, Intrinsic, Resumption, Lumber Jim. THE CROWD. to-day is expected to be a large one and the fair will boom the week.

ENTRIES. At 6 o'clock last evening over 500 entries each, in cattle, sheep and hogs, had been made, and over 300 in horses. A GOOD THING. The "Check Room" for parcels and baggage at the south side of the main entrance to the fair grounds is a new feature which the managers have added to the grounds. As a place of safety and reliability is required, the check room will prove a decided convenience.

GUARDING THE CITY. A special meeting of the city council was held last evening for the purpose of authorizing the Mayor to appoint twelve special policemen to patrol the city with the regulars during fair week. The Chicago Comely company, the appointments made and continued and the meeting adjourned.

AT THE ACADAMY. The Academy of Music, well filled last night by a highly appreciative audience, made up partly from the Omaha public and partly by strangers in the city. The theater has been thoroughly renovated and it looks like a veritable little palace of amusement. Kathleen Mavourneen is too well known to warrant any extended criticism as to its merits. The company, the Chicago Comely company, is a good one, and presented the play in a strikingly strong manner. The part of Kathleen was taken by Susie Chase Neff, who is one of the principal actresses of the company. She played in a very pleasing way and the pathetic parts, of which there are many, were all rendered with spirit and true pathos. The other characters were well acted, and there appears to be no sticks or lay figures in the company. The scenery is all new and elaborate, and will compare favorably with that of any theater in the city.

KATHIE PUTNAM. The opening performance at Boyd's was "Lena, the Madcap," by the Kathie Putnam company, and the audience basked what a rush there will be during the week, for the house was packed full.

Kathie Putnam, of course, took the part of Lena, a dashing, careless girl, innocent yet mischievous, and inclined to be a Tom boy. This character she carried out completely and with much grace and ease. Her impersonation and voice showed that she had somewhere acquired a thorough elocutionary training. Her support was above the average and her duet with Gilmour as Cloudy Morninging was a very beautiful thing. The whole piece is replete with rapid changes from the sublime to the ridiculous. To-night she plays "Little Nell" and the "Marchioness" in the Old Curiosity Shop.

Asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, and all throat and lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial bottles free at C. F. Goodman's drug store. Large size $1.00.

OMAHA SAVINGS BANK. A Successful Experiment. A reporter of THE BEE, recognizing that Omaha is becoming one of the money centers of the west, deemed it well yesterday to feel of one of the monetary pulses of the city. Thereupon he called upon Mr. John E. Wilbur, cashier of Omaha Savings bank, and found that busy gentleman able to give him a few minutes of time.

Reporter.—"Mr. Wilbur, are the banks of Omaha showing, by any increase of business, that they are participants in the general prosperity of Omaha?" Mr. Wilbur.—"Yes, sir, most decidedly. The deposits of the banks of this town approximate at this time $7,000,000, and the business is increasing with great rapidity, showing that the people of Omaha are rapidly accumulating fortunes."

"Your bank has been in operation for about one year, has it not?" "We opened for business September 4, 1882, and the business of the year has far exceeded our most sanguine expectations."

"What classes appear to make the most use of your institution?" "We number now nearly 3,000 depositors of all nationalities, all ages and both sexes. Since we opened business there has been a steady increase in the number of those anxious to avail themselves of a safe place where they can deposit their earnings and receive 5 per cent interest."

"What is the amount of the deposits of your bank?" "Over half a million of dollars."

"In what manner is interest paid to depositors?" "Every six months the interest on every depositor's account is computed, and credited to his account. By this process the interest is compounded, with the benefit of the depositor. If a depositor's account is closed, by the withdrawal of his money, the interest due is computed and paid to him."

"What amount of interest have you paid depositors during the past year?" "We have paid to them $7,881,333, and there is to-day credited to their accounts, interest earned since July 1, 1883, $5,308. In other words, we have paid to depositors as interest $13,189,333."

"Must money be left with you for any definite time to obtain interest?" "No, under our present system every dollar deposited draws interest for every day. The usual rule of savings banks is to pay interest upon money only when it is left for at least one month. On January 1st, 1884, this bank will probably adopt such a rule."

"When can money be drawn out of your bank?" "At any time the depositor pleases during business hours, which are daily from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., and from 6 to 8 o'clock on Saturday evenings."

"Is any notice to the bank required to draw money?" "No; we pay money on demand, except that under our rules we have the same right that is enacted by every well organized savings bank, that we can demand upon deposited draw interest for every day. This rule is for the benefit of the depositors rather than the bank, and is usually applied during times of financial panic. The language of our by-laws in this respect is, 'This rule usually enforced only in time of financial excitement, or of runs upon banking institutions, is necessary for the protection of depositors and stockholders as funds of savings banks are required to be loaned upon real estate and similar securities, and time to get in the same is necessary on occasions of money crises.'"

"What is the nature of your corporation, and what are the steps taken for the security of those who deposit with you?" "The Omaha savings bank is incorporated under the general laws of the state. Its capital stock is $50,000, but the liability upon the stockholders is $300,000. The funds of the bank, under the laws of its creation, can only be invested in real estate and other simple securities. No money is loaned to any man upon his personal credit, and in every instance where loans are made, permanent and durable security, to the amount usually of three dollars for every dollar of loan is taken. The motto of this bank is, "No risk, and full security." The stockholders of the bank are all well known men, and I do not think it exaggerated to say that their aggregate wealth would be over $3,000,000."

"What amount of money has been loaned by the bank upon real estate security?" "The real estate loans of the bank are to-day $307,000.00, and I have no question but that the real estate securing these loans is worth $1,500,000."

"What rates of interest do you charge for loans?" "We confine ourselves to the legal rates. This bank will under no circumstances charge usurious interest. Our rates are at from 8 to 10 per cent per annum. Interest usually payable semi-annually."

"Is there much demand for money at this time?" "Yes. The large amount of building in Omaha, and the consequent great demand for money, and I feel that one of the indirect benefits of our institution has been the fact that we have been able to supply, with perfect security to ourselves, considerable part of the money that has gone into permanent buildings in Omaha during 1883."

When in Fremont, Neb., call at the New York hotel, where you will find better accommodations than in any hotel west of Omaha. House entirely new and very handsomely furnished. 9mlw

The patrons of S. P. Morse & Co., will be gratified to learn that this enterprising firm are now opening by far the largest stock of dry goods that our Omaha ladies have ever had the privilege of examining. All the cashmere, silk, velvet and novelties shown by Morse & Co. of their own importation are of the same high standard of excellence in quality and exclusiveness of style as those shown in past seasons.
