THE BEE PUBLISHING CO., PROP. E. ROSEWATER, Editor.

TALKING about records, will the Republican publish its own.

HENDRICKS is stamping it in Iowa and the Haweyes will have an opportunity of seeing as well as hearing of the Great Fraud.

THE Electric Light company seem to need several new dynamo to push their contract with the city through the council.

TO-DAY and to-morrow will be the great fair days and thousands of Nebraskans will visit Omaha for purposes of instruction and entertainment.

HORACE GREELEY'S farm at Chappaquus, New York, has been sold at auction for $10,000. His daughter, Gabrielle, became the purchaser at that sum, the neighbors refusing to bid against her.

NEBRASKA weather is willing to do a great deal to accommodate the eastern markets, but it gently refuses to play into the hands of Chicago speculators by furnishing a frost which will impair the value of its magnificent crop of standing corn.

Who are the "able lawyers in Omaha in the republican ranks." They can be counted on the fingers of a single hand and every one of the five can be duplicated by an able one from among the democrats.

THE reformer monte sharp of the Blair Pilot reads THE BEE a farewell out of Republican society, which is as uncalled for as it is silly.

ACCORDING to the St. Louis Republican Gen. Grant has been talking and if the reported conversation is true, talking very foolishly.

WHILE ignoramus and malicious meddlers are criticizing the value of the Waring system of sewerage in Omaha the great cities of the world are preparing to adopt it as a sanitary necessity.

SOME of the Nebraska delegation profess to feel insulted over the summary bouncing of Vandervoort, for official misconduct, and claim that they should have been consulted before the removal.

THE TRADE SITUATION.

If reports from various sections of the country are to be believed, we have reached the beginning of the end of the business depression which for six months past has almost assumed the proportions of a minor panic.

Since the opening of the month, signs of improvement have rapidly increased. The bank clearings indicate a greater volume of business.

The large increase over early summer estimates in the wheat harvest has been followed by assurances of a good foreign demand for our exportable supplies.

The decrease in business failures which is weekly growing more marked is another healthy and hopeful sign.

NEBRASKA weather is willing to do a great deal to accommodate the eastern markets, but it gently refuses to play into the hands of Chicago speculators by furnishing a frost which will impair the value of its magnificent crop of standing corn.

PARTISAN PARTY NEEDS.

The labored discussion between the Herald and Republican as to what constitutes the difference between the two political parties would be painful if it were not ridiculous.

Neither of the present political parties fairly represents the most enlightened public sentiment or are subject to the best political influences of the times.

The consequence is that thousands of voters who have stood within the party ranks when it meant something to be a democrat or a republican and when platforms contained clearly defined issues, are standing aloof and forming the large army of independents which made itself felt as a great political force in last fall's election.

Party lines are growing looser every year, and this tendency is the natural result of the dishonesty of party platforms and the feeling that old issues that have long since been settled and old prejudices that ought long ago to have spent their force, do not and cannot influence the voters who desire to think for themselves.

The Utah commission are still cheerful and in the ring with another proposition for submission to congress at its next session. The leading point in the proposition is the retention of the commission in office at the same old salary of $5,000 a year with nothing to do.

FULLER DETAILS

Of Vandervoort's Outrageous Official Conduct,

Which Lead to His Removal.

St. Louis, September 11.—The Republican has the following from Washington: The following dispatch was sent by the associated press from Hastings, Neb., yesterday: "At a meeting of 20,000 ex-United States soldiers and sailors yesterday resolutions were passed condemning the action of Postmaster General Gresham in removing Gen. Paul Vandervoort from the railway postal service on account of his connection with the Grand Army of the Republic, and calling upon President Arthur to reinstate him with honor."

The chief clerks of the railway mail service are required to make daily reports to their division superintendent, and it is not quite every part of the United States and the territories. His official duties at Omaha have received from him very little attention. The matter has been left almost entirely to his clerk.

REPORTED HIMSELF AT OMAHA doing office work, when it was known that he was at Soda Springs. He also reported a portion of the time while at Soda Springs that he was arranging the services on the Oregon Short Line, and at the same time he telegraphed to Omaha for his clerk to come and do the work.

A GOODLY LAND.

A Business Man Tells of the Country on the Cedar County Line. Sioux City Journal. A well known business man of this city, whose modesty forbids the mention of his name, returned yesterday from a trip along the line of railroad being built into Cedar county.

"You like the country then?" "It is without exception the best country I ever saw. You can't get no idea of it here smooth, but it's a beautiful land. I think the Floyd and Big Sioux valleys good. So they are, but nothing like the Logan and Bow. The valleys in Cedar county are so much wider than the Floyd or Sioux, for one thing.

"Well, you would suppose from the excellence of the country that land would be high, but it isn't as high as in this country, and a great deal lower than back in LeMars or Storm Lake. You see Cedar county and the south part of Dixon were rather out of the way until this road began to build in, and the new settlers that came into Northwestern Nebraska followed the lines of railroad.

"Then it is a new country?" "There you are off. The settlers have some of them been there twenty years along the valleys, and are well fixed—good farms and buildings, with plenty of stock. But it is a big country and there is an immense amount of land held by speculators that can be bought."

"The Cedar county railroad made its own towns, I hear?" "Yes; Peavey Bros. of Sioux City, are the agents, and in such a country as there is along the line these towns are sure to arrive. I was at the two first town sites on the line in Cedar county in Dixon and has a beautiful site, overlooking miles of the Logan valley. This town has just been platted. Coleridge is at the head of the Logan, where the new road starts to go over the divide into the Bow valley. The site is on good high ground, the country around fairly settled, and everything needed to make a town grow. Some of the foundations for buildings were in at Coleridge before the town was platted, and now there are eight buildings up."

"Then lots at these towns are going up in price?" "No, they are not. The railroad company plans to get business for the road, not to make money from the sale of lots. What the company wants is for folks to go in and possess the land, and every facility is offered. Lots are sold by the company. As investments or for business I can recommend these lots in the new towns on the Cedar county line. I bought some of them myself, but you needn't say anything about it."

"And the reporter promised he wouldn't, and also promised to go over with the business man sometime and see the country and write it up."

Evaporated vs. Canned Fruit.

Letter to Sacramento Bee. There has been considerable complaint this year among the fruit raisers of California on account of the low prices their fruit—and notably apricots—have brought at the canneries, and the fear has been expressed that the industry will soon be ruined.

Capitalists who wonder that the working man should have anything against them would do well to remember that working men are not all fools. For several generations before the present the English have had the proverb that "corporations have no souls." The conduct of business by competitive bidding necessarily leads to buying the labor used in procuring the goods at the lowest possible rate.
