Sims and Eva Summitt, of Macedonia. New seats are being put into some of the school buildings... The injunction preventing the burning of soft coal in the Bloomer school building being dissolved... John Lett and S. P. Geyger, of York, Neb., were in the city yesterday, on route for Cedar Rapids...

WAR DUDES ARE COMING.

UNCLE SAM'S COURT.

The Jurors Empaneled and the Mill Ready to Grind. The United States Court opened in this city yesterday, Judge O. P. Shires, of Dubuque, presiding, in the absence of Judge Love, who is sick, but who expected to be well enough to attend by the last of the week. The following were empaneled as the Grand Jury, and duly charged by the Judge: W. L. Goodwill, Prescott; A. J. Brock, Morgan; A. Kendall, Clarinda; C. Nichols, Essex; E. H. Odell, Council Bluffs; Edson Herrick, Exira; Geo. W. Cooper, Oakland; J. H. Lewis, Harlan; L. P. Hilton, Corning; Wm. Lewis, Council Bluffs; Wm. Lyndon, Lenox; R. M. White, Oakland; W. C. De Laakmoth, Pacific City; W. W. Eller, Wota; W. S. Morey, Clearfield; Geo. C. Fleming, Farquhar; Thomas P. Treynor, S. M. Barstow, W. L. Biggs, C. E. Stone and C. W. England, of Council Bluffs. The following were empaneled as the petit jury: Thomas Sheets, Wheeler's Grove; Sturgis Williams, Percival; Perry Reel, Crescent City; Henry Bowen, Sidney; Robert Officer, Council Bluffs; S. Grant, West Side; C. H. Luce, Logan; L. D. Riley, Kellerton; Isaac Smith, Hiverton; W. K. Peckham, Tingley; John Hunter, Exira; James Veitch, Creston; Bland Reshton, Neola; Henry Paschel, Council Bluffs; James Lush, Logan; Ephraim Brandriff, Modall; J. B. Swain, Harlan; M. Jenkins, Atlantic; William Simpson, Shelby; T. A. French, Kirkman; M. H. Porter, Marine; William Orr, Council Bluffs; Jerome Turner, Taylor's station; S. L. Lorah, Sora; James Rainbow, Macedonia; I. McAllister, Red Oak; John H. Davis, Mt. Etna; J. D. Smith, Red Oak; J. S. Butts, Conway; Joshua H. Gregg, Council Bluffs; J. W. Spencer, Delphos; David Harwell, Council Bluffs; William Artz, Carroll; James H. Arnold, Avoca. The caller was called, and several motions heard and disposed, and the adjournment was taken until this morning.

PERSONALS.

Jude H. M. Hubbard, of Cedar Rapids, stopped at the Ogden over night. Dr. O. W. Archball yesterday visited his old home in Glenwood, and is now off with family for his post at Fort Lincoln, Neb. Col. Root still lies quite ill in his room at the Ogden. Miss Sadie Hartley and Miss Edith Wheeler, of Deussen, were in the city yesterday on a shopping tour. Congressman Hepburn was in the city yesterday on business in the United States court. Thomas Wright, of Des Moines, was in attendance at the United States court yesterday. Judge Stockton, of Sydney, was in the city yesterday, attending court and making headquarters at the Pacific.

W. H. Hinckley, of New York, left the Ogden for Omaha last evening. Mr. Hinckley spent the day here in ably introducing to our wholesale merchants the firm of James F. White & Co., of New York, who stand at the head as importers of Scotch and Irish linens. The house is fortunate in securing so gentlemanly and efficient representative.

CITY COUNCIL.

A meeting of the city council was held last night. A resolution was adopted ordering a brick sidewalk laid on both sides of Main street from Sixth avenue to Sixteenth avenue. The committee on streets and alleys were instructed to notify the waterworks company to put the streets in the same condition as they were before the laying of the water pipes. The contractor for filling Broadway to a grade was ordered to proceed forthwith to complete the work. Mr. Carpenter, of Galesburg, Ill., presented a proposal for drawing plans for the improvement of Fairmont Park. The proposition was referred to a committee who are to report next week, to which time the council adjourned.

DRAWING OUT DETAILS.

The Coroner's Inquest Reveals a Little More About the Tragedy.

The Testimony Presented and the Verdict Reached.

Dr. Cross Will Not be Brought Before the Bar for Several Days.

Much excitement still prevails in the community concerning the killing of Dr. McKune by Dr. Cross. There is much diversity of opinion as to the amount of blame attached to each of the participants in the tragedy. That Dr. Cross and Dr. McKune had some altercation, growing out of the old feeling arising three years ago by Dr. Cross causing Dr. McKune to be charged with committing an abortion, is conceded generally, but as to who started it, and as to the part each bore in it before the fatal shot was fired there is a great difference of opinion, and many theories as to details have been advanced.

The coroner's inquest was held yesterday morning, and the evidence taken today was in substance as follows:

S. JOHNSON was the first witness. He was coming up on the eastern side of the park, going north, and when within fifty or sixty feet of the corner heard the report of the revolver. A woman in the park cried out, "There's a man has shot himself." He hastened to the place where Dr. McKune laid and recognized him. He gasped twice after the witness reached him. Dr. Cross asked if he was dead. He was told he was. Dr. Cross then said, "I shot him. He and I had a scuffle," at the same time throwing up his hand he said, "I shot myself, too, and also showed where Dr. McKune had struck him in the face. He asked where his hat was, and the witness found two hats, one on the walk, the other in the gutter."

K. A. BOIT, a boy, was next sworn. He was up starting at 105 Pearl street, and was just starting for the store. He heard the shot, and starting for the place saw the body of a man on the sidewalk. He recognized him as Dr. McKune. The doctor opened his eyes, groaned and then his eyes set. He saw Dr. Cross standing west of him, and he asked where his hat was. He said, "He assaulted me, see," and pointed to his face, which was skinned and bloody. He asked for his hat and a man handed it to him, and he turned away.

B. M. SAIGENT, who is in the employ of J. M. Phillips, testified: "My wife and I were returning from tea, and passed Dr. Cross on the corner by D. Woodbury's office. He seemed to be turning up Pearl street, then hesitated and turned as though to come back. We passed by him and went to our room, then heard the shot. I went down stairs and into the street, and noticed the body lying there. Dr. Cross stood there with the blood running from his hand. His hat was off and there was blood on his nose, and his coat was pulled around as though they had had a tussle. I says, 'Doctor, for God's sake, what has happened to you?' He answered, 'I accidently struck me down, and I had to shoot him to save myself.' He showed me his hand, and the blood ran from it into my hand. I ran to the store and told Mr. Harle, and also Capt. Hight. When I returned there was quite a crowd about."

When I first met Dr. Cross I did not see anything of Dr. McKune. Dr. Cross stood by the lamp post for us to pass as we went to supper. I thought he was going to cross the street toward Shurgart's building, but did not look back to see if he did. It was not over three or four minutes after passing Dr. Cross before I heard the shot.

CALMER LYONS testified that he had just come through the park and was crossing First avenue at Dr. Woodbury's office. Saw two men standing there and when I got to the corner heard the report of a pistol, and looking around saw a man fall. I ran down there and the man who had shot him had walked west a few steps. As I got there he came back and stood looking at the fallen man. I asked him what was the matter and he said he had shot him. I said him what for and he said he was coming along and he assaulted him. He said he knocked him down and then jumped on his back and was choking him. He said he had to shoot him in self-defense and held up his hand and said: "I shot myself through here." He said, "You stay and watch him and if anybody comes you'll find me in my office. I must have something done to the wound." He asked for his hat and began looking for it and I found it for him, and he then started for his office. Several others then came up, among them Dr. Cook, who unbuttoned Dr. McKune's collar, and then remarked, "He's shot through the heart." I was the first person there after the shooting. I was only about a rod from them at the time of the shooting, just about the length of Dr. Woodbury's office, but heard no words. They were not walking, but simply standing, when I saw them, but there was nothing particularly attracting my attention until the shot. Heard no rattle and saw none. Both men were on their feet all the time I saw them, until Dr. McKune fell. When he fell, he was close to Dr. Cross; in fact, at the latter's feet. I don't know whether they had a scuffle before I saw them or not. No one else was there when I saw them and heard the shot. When I saw them they were standing on the edge of the sidewalk, facing each other. Dr. McKune was on the west side of Cross, facing towards Pearl street. Dr. McKune gasped twice after I got there. In two or three minutes there were several who came up. It is possible they might have had a scuffle before I saw them. I did not notice them until I was coming out of the corner of the park.

DR. MACRAE was sworn. "I was asked to examine the body of Dr. McKune, which was then lying in his own house. There is an abrasion on the lower lip, evidently caused by a blow. On stripping him found a bullet wound in the center of the breast bone, between the attachment of the fourth ribs. The bullet track pointed towards the right, backward through the right lung, probably cutting the pulmonary artery, glanced off the shoulder blade, and lodged underneath the skin immediately at the lower angle of the right shoulder blade. That wound was sufficient to cause instant death. The loss received on the lip must have been from a hand one, but a blow from the fist might have done it."

DR. MCKUNE'S COAT was shown in evidence. It was evidently buttoned at the time, the ball passing through both lapels. Dr. C. H. Pinney next testified: "On hearing of the affair, I immediately went to the place and found Dr. McKune lying partly on the sidewalk, with his limbs off into the street. Life was extinct. I sent for stretchers and we carried him to his home. An examination was made with Dr. Macrae and revealed substantially the conditions as stated by Dr. Macrae. We extracted the ball, and found it to be about a No. 38 ball. The abrasion of the lip was evidently caused by some injury recently inflicted."

DR. A. J. COOK testified that he was called by some one at his office saying that Dr. McKune had been shot. As I left the office I heard the clock strike half past six o'clock. I ran all the way to where Dr. McKune lay on the sidewalk. I found the body yet warm but no pulse, and unbuttoning the vest and placing my hand over the heart I felt a slight sensation or gurgling but for an instant. There were ten or fifteen people there when I got there. Went with the body to Dr. McKune's house and assisted others in examining the wound and body. Found the ball under the right shoulder blade, and Dr. Macrae cut it out. I was the first physician on the ground.
