Mr. Bruner was running against his will for police judge several years ago.

Twenty-six states now have Democratic governors.

It is very cruel on Councilman Anderson that the official organ, so called, insists that he shall remain at his old stand in the U. P. shops.

The biggest prize in the political drawing to come off on the 6th of November is the Registership of the city of New York, worth from $75,000 to $100,000 a year.

All the little whippersnappers in the State from Hilton's paper at Blair down to Dawes' twinkling Star at Dorchester are copying the Republican's fraudulent record of Judge Savage.

Mr. Frank Hatton, of the postoffice department, and Mr. Charles Smith, of the Philadelphia Press, are busy calling each other liars.

We have heard of pirates who decoyed their victims to death by hoisting a false flag.

Judge Gaslin is supporting Bixler, because he has a grudge against Calkins, who is a better Republican than Bixler.

Are not the Republicans ashamed of helping Democrats into office?

In the present condition of the streets of Omaha everybody must see that we want more paving.

Does any body in Omaha know where the Registrars are and when they are to sit?

There are renewed rumors of the finding of Charley Ross.

Judge Gaslin accepted a nomination from the Democrats and Anti-Monopolists.

General A. H. Conner, of Kearney, and the Hon. A. H. Church, of North Platte, are announced to speak at Plum Creek next Thursday for Bixler and the railroad ticket in the Tenth Judicial district.

The item having reached Captain Stickle he writes indignantly to denounce the assertion as "a base fabrication of concentrated lies."

The New York Times, in commenting on Paul Vandervoort's assertion that he was offered a collectorship of customs and a special agency by General Gresham, refuses to believe the story.

Dakota is clamoring for the honors of Statehood, and has been holding an election of delegates to a constitutional convention preliminary to its application for admission.

Montana is following the example of Dakota in clamoring for the honors of Statehood.

INFAMOUS.

The conduct of the Omaha Republican in the present campaign is simply infamous. It has slandered, vilified and lampooned Judge Savage and stooped to such low means to achieve the defeat that every decent Republican must blush with shame.

It has called a soldier who fought gallantly for the preservation of the Union and the liberation of the slave, a traitor, and it has invaded the sanctity of his private life by alluding in a vulgar way to infirmities which were the result of four years' hard service in suppressing the rebellion.

It has called a man who has never uttered in connection with the fraudulent letting of the capitol contract, and when Judge Lake, through its own columns, indignantly reproved that sheet, and stated that it was doing Judge Savage an injustice, it still keeps the lie flaunting in the breeze, repeats the slander from day to day, and circulates it broadcast by having it reprinted.

constitution which taxes all property at its cash value. The prospect is that the constitution will be adopted, but by so small a majority as to cast a wet damper over the whole movement.

Every Republican and every old soldier should not fail to read the Memorial Address delivered last May by Colonel James W. Savage, which we print in this number.

To-day, where are the railroad politicians of this State to be found? In the Republican party? Obviously not.

This will be refreshing news to the Thurtons, the Marquettes, the Howes, and the Colbys, the Geres and the Yosts. How long has it been since these eminent railroad politicians have left the grand old party?

GENERAL HAMMER—General Tack-Hammer, of Kearney, is promised Maxwell's place on the bench for his support of Reese this year.

AFTER picking a Democratic candidate, Sheriff Miller feels pretty confident.

WEST OF THE MISSOURI. The opening of the railroad bridge at Blair, Neb., last Saturday, was an event of great importance to Northern Nebraska.

It is a foregone conclusion that the Northwestern will run directly to this city, over the St. Paul track, on a plan similar to the Burlington and Kansas City roads.

counties, is illustrated by the number of new towns which have sprung into existence at eligible points during the past few years.

The National Commissioner of Railroads, in his annual report, urges the construction of a railroad in the Yellowstone Park.

A correspondent writes from Rawlins, Wyoming, that surveyors are now in that town taking preliminary steps for the construction of a railroad to the mineral points two miles northeast of Rawlins.

The broom corn crop is proving profitable. Diphtheria is gathering victims in at Lincoln.

Plattsmouth is developing a big business in brick. An artisan well for fire purposes is proposed at Columbus.

Harlington, four weeks old, has fifty houses completed, or nearly so. A scheme is threatened with a coal famine should winter start in early.

The division fight in Gage county is second only to the unanimous opposition to Colby. The German Methodists of Sutton are building a church on the co-operative plan.

E. A. Walls & Co., Oakland, are about to close up their banking business at that place. At Beatrice, President Smith, of the First National bank, is building a $20,000 residence.

Mr. Drum, of Cass County, carries one arm in a sling, the result of an effort to slay a man.

guards fired from the windows of the court house, and caused the mob to disperse. A young man named Gish, of Fillmore county, was accidentally killed last week while out hunting.

Two boys aged about sixteen years, named Ephraim Lewis and Budd Cowger, living seven miles south of Ulysses, in Sevier county, went out chicken shooting on Sunday morning.

Major Nickerson's authority for any statement is perhaps not regarded as "igit edged," but he does say something in his open letter to Adjutant General Drum, of the war department, that the latter can hardly afford to pass by in silence.
