GOLDSMITH MAID'S HEELS.

The Ancient Favorite Still Kicks as of Old.

New York Star.

About half past 7 o'clock last night a frisky mare trotted into the ring at the Madison Square Garden.

"A three-year-old," said a fussy gentleman, fumbling his catalogue. "A twenty-six-year-old," said a bystander. "She will be twenty-seven next spring."

"What is her name?" "She looked like a colt. She shied at a sulky. She jumped ten feet to one side at the sight of a jockey's red cap. It was the famous old mare that ten years ago was trotting on the way to turf glory with Lady Thorne and Lucy on all the tracks in the country. Great rounds of applause saluted her. Old turfmen grow reminiscient of her great feats."

"I'll bet my shoe she could not make a mile in ten minutes now," said a jockey.

As they were leading her back to the stall she shied her heels at a saucy little Shetland pony, but missed him, as he was not much bigger than a Spitz dog.

"She takes a hazardous interest in Small 'Opes and a haldine, and haldine Early. He said and I'll not trotters are a set here," said the jockey. "I'll think to myself, think I'll, last night, has he was a sleepin' in the next stall to her, that she was expressin' herself as how the record had lowered and lowered, since she let the course 'H' I expect, said she, talkin' to herself, 'has the time of the principal 'orses will be given 'after I'm dead.' I'll think of it a second, something like that. First best of you mile, with weight: Comet, 0:15 of a second; Lightning, 0:14 of a second; Blue Pencil, 0:13 of a second. Comet cast 'er shoe. Lightning was not in condition 'an Blue Pencil 'ad been doctored with red pepper."

"If the mare didn't say that I 'ope it may be shot. 'H' I expect she'll live to see the record lowered to two minutes on 'an easy track."

The Garden yesterday was crowded. Every seat in it was filled. An octuple row of spectators stood around the ring. The scene was gorgeous. It was like a circus. Tantalus spun around the ring like the English coach dogs in Barnum's show.

There were six entries for the best and smallest stallion Shetland pony over four years old. The first prize was awarded to Midget, owned by S. Mannheim, of No. 107 Franklin street. The judge had to look around a good while, and even stumbled over the pony several times before he found him.

For the prize of $100 for the best Shetland pony mare with a colt tagging after her, there were two entries. The prize was given to Roxie, who was about as big as a rat and was followed by a colt about the size of a mouse. She is a very pretty dappled Shetland. The owner is Mrs. William Watson, of Westchester.

Twenty-eight ponies competed for the $100 prize for the best pony not more than fourteen hands one inch high. Gaslie Spout, entered by C. Wyllie, Betta, of the Union Club was much admired, as were also Billy the Goat, which was about as big as a kid, and Cherry Blossom, which was not much larger than ripe English cherry. Racket, which was about as big as a cricket, and is owned by Prescott Lawrence, of Groton, Mass., got the prize.

Three fine stallion hunters were shown in class 11. "What do you hunt?" asked a small boy who was looking wistfully at them, "Bears?" "Bend-or, a bay Kentucky horse, owned by A. J. Cassatt, of Harvard College, P. O., Penn., received first prize.

Let Us Tell You. Let us tell you that a person who is bilious or constipated is not a well person, and further, that nearly every one is subject to these irregularities. Let us tell you also that our dock blood pills are one of the finest diuretics and aperients ever devised.

Man's Cowardice in a Dentist's Chair. "No," said the dentist to a reporter of The New London Day. "I never tell woman anything but the truth. If I tell a man an operation may be painful he is apt to find some excuse for delaying it, or even dodging it altogether. But a woman would deliberately walk to the chair if she thought her head were to be yanked off. Give me a woman for cool pluck every time."

"But children?" "It is both wrong and foolish to deceive a child about such things. If he is told he is not to be hurt, and then is hurt, he will never take your word again, and will hate you, and will resort to any means to keep you away from him hereafter. I say tell a child the operation will hurt a little but that I will be careful. I can usually play on a child's pride, and make him very brave. If he is handled properly he will train his back for the most painful operation, and usually when he is dismissed from the chair he is surprised and glad that he has been so merciful. You know the extent of pain, or, indeed, of everything, is apt to be measured by comparison with one's expectation of what is to be done."

"You have to deceive men, do you?" "Yes, generally. They are consummate swindlers. Yesterday I made one of my friends pull his own tooth."

"How?" "He wished me to look at his teeth and tell him what they required, and was very careful to instruct me to do nothing more than look at them. I found one that could not be saved, and should be extracted at once. I knew he would not let me take it out, so I slipped around for a pin in my pocket when he was not looking at, and went on fumbling about his face, occasionally putting a finger into his eye, until he concluded it was safer to keep his peepers closed. By quick and precise work I laid hold on the tooth with the forceps before he knew what was up, and as soon as he felt the pain he grabbed my hand and pushed it away so frantically as to throw forceps, tooth, and all through the window in front of him."

The People Astonished. Many people are astonished when they discover the wide circulation of Thomson's Electric Belt. There is no drug house in the country that does not have this remedy upon its shelves. The public have found it is a good thing and stick to it.
