THREE ROMANCES.

The Queer Matrin.onial Experience of Millionaire Scars.

There were three romances in the life of the late J oshua Sears, the millionaire grocer of Boston. The first when he was poor young man. He started a flirtation with a wealthy beauty on a railroad train, called on her afterward, and finally found that his suit was in vain, because he was poor and she was rich The sec ond was when he was past middle age and very rich. He became engaged to a dashing young widow. One of her friends asked her: "What are you going to be married to that old fellow for?" "For his money, of course," said she. Sears heard of this. "For my money, ch?" he cried; "not by a blessed sight." He went to his lawyers and was told that she would have a good case in a breach of promise suit. He didn't want a lawsuit, so he handed a confidential friend $10,-000 and told him to go and see the widow and "fix things up," which was done, she accepting the bribe and giving him his freedom. The third was when he was a lady who would just suit. "Well, then,
