

The Weather. For the upper Mississippi valley, fair weather, variable winds, followed by falling barometer, slight fall followed by rising temperature.

Anti-Monopoly Convention. A delegate convention of the Anti-Monopolists of Douglas county will be held on Saturday, November 3, 1883, at 1:30 p. m., at the City Hall, Omaha, to nominate a county ticket.

Local Brevities. Save money. Send to E. Fearon, wholesale cigar and tobacco dealer, for price list.

The judges and clerks of election for the city now receive six dollars a day. This makes an appointment worth having and to be appreciated by the Mayor's appointees.

A number of Indians, belonging to the "Wild West" show, went on yesterday's train to roam once more in the genuine wild west.

Dr. Carver, with seven car loads of horses and buffalo and a party of 38, Indians and all, left for the south yesterday via the Washburn and O. & M. roads.

The funeral of the late Mr. John G. Jacobs took place on Sunday at 2 o'clock, from the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. Soliday. It was conducted under Masonic auspices.

Cody and Carver have divided their business. Cody will make a theatrical tour of the east during the winter, commencing on December 3, and Carver will organize a "Wild West" troupe of his own and travel with it down south during the winter, starting from Omaha in a day or so.

A children's fair will be held at the First Congregational church, corner 19th and Chicago streets, this evening. Admission to old and young 10 cents.

Dora Bernard, a woman of the town, who was taken up to jail Tuesday was discovered to be ill, and the city physician being called he said that she was about to be confined, and must be immediately sent to her home. She was taken there. No later news.

Mrs. Ooster, facetiously styled the "Canary Bird," possibly because she looks as unlike a canary bird as possible, had a bad case of dysterium tremens at jail Tuesday, and made it lively for Gorman. The doctor left a bottle of medicine with orders to administer a bottle of it whenever the woman was uneasy or restless. Gorman says she was uneasy and restless all the time and he fed her the whole bottle and then went to the drug store for more. "More of that!" said the drug clerk, "why, a bottle of that is enough to kill an ordinary person."

Gorman said that the Canary Bird was not an ordinary person, however, and seemed to relish it, so he got some more. She imagined she saw serpents everywhere in the room. In her pocket was found a card announcing her as Mrs. Hall, a widow who had been burnt out. On this plea she begged her living.

An important called meeting of the Nebraska State Stenographers association was held in the office of Prof. J. J. Points last evening, when the annual election of officers for the ensuing year took place. The following officers were elected: President, J. J. Points; vice president, J. T. Bell; secretary, H. G. Stripes; treasurer, M. J. Greevy; examining committee, J. T. Bell, B. C. Wakely and Thomas T. Mellon; executive committee, James B. Hayden, J. S. Shropshire and C. A. Potter. After some little discussion the date of the annual banquet was fixed for Saturday, December 8th, and the following committee of arrangements and programme were appointed: John T. Bell, B. C. Wakely and James Wilson. The following gentlemen were admitted into the association: Messrs. Thomas, Sheppard, Case and Woodman.

A very enjoyable occasion is at hand for the northwest part of the city in the Autumn festival to be held in the North Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, November 1st. Musical, literary and social entertainment, besides refreshments served in the usual lavish manner of those interested, will be combined in the most agreeable manner. Mr. Frank Smith will lead a select quartette of singers, and this is warrant enough to insure a treat. The new basement will be open for refreshments, so as to leave the main room open for social enjoyment. All are invited. Fifty cents to the entire performance.

Captain Morris C. Foote, of the Ninth Infantry, who was in the city Tuesday, brings news of the death of Mr. Charles F. Woolson, a brother of Miss Constance Woolson, the novelist, which happened at Los Angeles, California, last August. Mr. Woolson will be remembered by a circle of friends in Omaha who he attached to himself by his genial manners, brilliant qualities of mind and rare conversational powers. Just prior to his departure in August, 1879, he was employed for some weeks in the B. & M. headquarters.

The pulp and choir roll of Trinity cathedral have arrived and are being put in position, as is also the altar rail and altar, all of which fill up the chancel considerably. The choir rolls of oak, and like the pulpit exquisitely carved. On the rail is the inscription, "This pulpit and choir rail were erected in memory of Margaret Elizabeth and little May, by their parents, Herman and Elizabeth Komtze. Them which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.—1 Thess., IV, 14." The inscription runs the whole length of the rail.

Concord and Coleridge, new stations on the Hartington branch of the St. Paul & Omaha road, are now ready for business, and trains will run regularly between Wakefield and Coleridge, commencing Thursday, Nov.

At the Children's Missionary Fair at the First Congregational church to-day evening, America will be personated by Gundy Colburn, Japan by Grace Beard, Persia by Grace Himebaugh, India by Lila Alexander, China by Fred Rustin, American Indian by Adam Bolte, Mexico by Wing Alley, Syria by Russell Wilbur, and Christianity by Nellie Busseman.

It was a carriage from a livery stable and not a hack that was turned over coming in from the cemetery Tuesday. We know this but didn't know that the lines were so closely drawn between "hacks" and "carriages." No injustice meant to the hackmen.

A new brick guard house 5x60 feet, to contain forty prisoners, is being built at Fort Omaha, and foundations are being laid for a double brick house for officers quarters. The old frame dwellings will gradually be replaced with brick.

Miss L. Furay and Mr. J. F. Fink were married Tuesday by Rev. Father Shaffel at the Church of the Holy Family, and have gone to Ogden for a trip. The bride is a sister of Capt. Furay.

J. T. Clark, present Assistant General Traffic Manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha road, has been made in addition Assistant General Freight Agent.

CITY COUNCIL.

A Special Session to Consider Sewerage. Several Ordinances Passed Under Suspension of the Rules.

An adjourned regular meeting of the city council was held last evening, at which there were present Messrs. Anderson, Behm, Dunham, Hascall, Leeder, Murphy, Redfield, Thrane, Woodworth, and President Baker.

It was moved by Mr. Dunham that the rules be suspended and the council take up the regular order of business. Carried.

From F. J. McShane: asking permission to lay a water pipe from the corner of Colfax street and Park avenue north about 400 feet on Park avenue, without expense to the city. Granted.

By Redfield: That the gas company be directed to place a lamp post at the northwest corner of Dodge and Eleventh streets, instead of Capital avenue and Twelfth street. Adopted.

It was moved by Mr. Hascall that the council resolve itself into a committee of the whole to consider the question of sewerage. Carried.

Mr. Hascall offered a resolution that the amount of money used for the construction of the Waring sewerage that was taken from the storm water sewerage fund be repaid from the Waring sewerage fund.

After a long and tedious discussion of the subject, the committee rose and reported that, having had under consideration the question above stated, they submitted the above resolution for adoption. The report of the committee was adopted.

An ordinance levying a special tax and assessment on lots and parts of lots abutting on Tenth street, from Hickory to Cassell streets, to cover the cost of grading said Tenth street, under contract of Morris Morrison, was passed.

An ordinance authorizing the issue of the bonds of the city of Omaha, to be called district paving bonds of alley paving districts. Nos. 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 20 and 27, respectively, and aggregating $18,000, was passed.

An ordinance appropriating $2,025.59 for the paving of Tenth street, between Hickory and Cassell, was passed. Adjourned.

A Blessing to all Mankind. In these times when our Newspapers are flooded with patent medicine advertisements, it is gratifying to know what is going to be said by the city fathers.

As the court opened a gray-haired man, with a fine forehead covered with curling locks, sipped up the Judge's desk and whispered: "Shudge—shudge—wenn you vos goin' to fine I—I haf a loedle monnies in der bank."

"That's all right," said his honor; "wait your turn."

"In der Nahn-tional bank," pleaded the old toper, his head unsteady with the drama he had guzzled.

"Take your seat," said the bailiff. "John McClellan, come forward."

John McClellan was charged in the usual form with intoxication.

"Well, you see, Judge, I have been pretty sick, and I just took two drinks of brandy."

"Five dollars and costs," said the Judge, and aside to the reporter, "Seven dollars and fifty cents to the public schools of Omaha every whack."

The old chap who had money in the bank was then sent out in charge of an officer to find it. George Snowden, a boy with a good face who looked as if he had just drifted in from the country stood up.

"You are charged with being drunk and disorderly. What have you to say?" "I have nothing to say."

"I mean, are you guilty or not guilty?" "I guess its guilty, Judge."

"There is a good deal of complaint against you, said the Judge, "and I want you to leave the city. I will dismiss you, but if you are found in this city after six o'clock to-night, remember I'll have you up on both complaints."

The boy disappeared rapidly and is probably across the river by this time. John May was up for beating his wife, a variety of exercise which seems to afford him constant and satisfactory amusement.

His wife, a very good-looking woman, was sent for and she came in with her little boy who cried when he found himself in the court room, but soon hushed and looked about him interestingly. The little fellow bore a great red mark from his eye down his cheek where his inhuman father had beaten him the night before. The Judge asked her if she would sustain the complaint.

"Yes, sir," she said, "I cannot stand this any longer, this getting drunk all the time, sir, and beating us." So the man is to be put under $300 bonds to behave himself.

The last case was that of the notorious character, Shio McBride, who held up a man late Monday, and gobbled $45 of his money before he knew it. She is a bold one and had one. As the case is one of grand larceny, and a penitentiary offense, it was postponed for trial.

Then the marshal turned to the reporter and said, "See what whiskey does. Draw a moral. Count up how many of these cases this morning, every morning here, every morning everywhere, are the direct or the indirect result of liquor and nothing else." And the reporter betook himself down town in a reflective mood.

Postoffice Changes. In Iowa during the week ending October 27, 1883.

Established—Froelich Station, Clayton county, John Froelich, postmaster.

Discontinued—Furry, Plymouth county; Linn, Dallas county; Tibbitt, Polk county.

DEPRAVITY'S DEEDS.

Morning Scenes in the Police Court Before Judge Bencke.

Women Who Rob and Men Who Beat Their Wives.

For a study of faces, full of hard lines drawn by sin or reddened by liquor and boated by dissipation for an examination of character, had character as displayed in the criminal classes; for instances of all that is vile and wicked in this world, that will make the comforts of one's own home surroundings and the bright, pure faces of his own family stand out in contrast like white on black—one has but to visit the city police court any morning and gaze at the prisoner's bench. It is not always filled with what is disagreeable in person, for sometimes there drifts in among the others a better character, one not yet so sunken in the filthy ways of iniquity as to have lost the fresh color that nature gave him, or one who appears for the first time in life in a court room, some boy away from home, some man who took his first "drop too much."

Yesterday there were half a dozen men and one woman at the bar, and the usual crowd of loungers outside the rail. What a fascinating police matters have for some people! How they devote themselves to the court when it is in session, and to the gazettes when it is not in session, or discuss with each other the last sensation of the slums, and roll the dirty details under their tongues like tender morsels! A sermon can be made made of this, no doubt has been, many a time, but we have not the time.

As the court opened a gray-haired man, with a fine forehead covered with curling locks, sipped up the Judge's desk and whispered: "Shudge—shudge—wenn you vos goin' to fine I—I haf a loedle monnies in der bank."

"That's all right," said his honor; "wait your turn."

"In der Nahn-tional bank," pleaded the old toper, his head unsteady with the drama he had guzzled.

"Take your seat," said the bailiff. "John McClellan, come forward."

John McClellan was charged in the usual form with intoxication.

"Well, you see, Judge, I have been pretty sick, and I just took two drinks of brandy."

"Five dollars and costs," said the Judge, and aside to the reporter, "Seven dollars and fifty cents to the public schools of Omaha every whack."

The old chap who had money in the bank was then sent out in charge of an officer to find it. George Snowden, a boy with a good face who looked as if he had just drifted in from the country stood up.

"You are charged with being drunk and disorderly. What have you to say?" "I have nothing to say."

"I mean, are you guilty or not guilty?" "I guess its guilty, Judge."

"There is a good deal of complaint against you, said the Judge, "and I want you to leave the city. I will dismiss you, but if you are found in this city after six o'clock to-night, remember I'll have you up on both complaints."

The boy disappeared rapidly and is probably across the river by this time. John May was up for beating his wife, a variety of exercise which seems to afford him constant and satisfactory amusement.

His wife, a very good-looking woman, was sent for and she came in with her little boy who cried when he found himself in the court room, but soon hushed and looked about him interestingly. The little fellow bore a great red mark from his eye down his cheek where his inhuman father had beaten him the night before. The Judge asked her if she would sustain the complaint.

"Yes, sir," she said, "I cannot stand this any longer, this getting drunk all the time, sir, and beating us." So the man is to be put under $300 bonds to behave himself.

The last case was that of the notorious character, Shio McBride, who held up a man late Monday, and gobbled $45 of his money before he knew it. She is a bold one and had one. As the case is one of grand larceny, and a penitentiary offense, it was postponed for trial.

Then the marshal turned to the reporter and said, "See what whiskey does. Draw a moral. Count up how many of these cases this morning, every morning here, every morning everywhere, are the direct or the indirect result of liquor and nothing else." And the reporter betook himself down town in a reflective mood.

Postoffice Changes. In Iowa during the week ending October 27, 1883.

Established—Froelich Station, Clayton county, John Froelich, postmaster.

Discontinued—Furry, Plymouth county; Linn, Dallas county; Tibbitt, Polk county.

Postmasters appointed—Almont, Clinton county, L. Leroy Viener; Avery, Monroe county, Thos. Scavenger; Pelletier, Wapello county, Edward Eller; Dow City, Crawford county, Elmer Stone; East Nodaway, Adams county, F. D. Orme; Gray, Audubon county, W. R. Johnson; Hatton, Polk county, Josiah Francis Maynard; Franklin county, John Dunn; Page, Payne county, Wm. Stevens; Selection, Monroe county, W. P. Dinwiddie; Silver City, Mills county, W. B. Evans; Unionburgh, Harrison county, W. W. Brown; Valley View, Harrison county, Zach. M. Johnson; Zero, Lucas county, Aquilla Stern.

EDITH BLANDE.

Reminiscences of the Pretty Actress Once Well Known in Omaha.

A New York correspondent, who has lately written a letter describing the opening night of the Metropolitan new opera house there, the "Impopolite," speaks of the "full six feet of beauty" of Edith Blande, who was one of the most conspicuous of the many pretty women there. He says, "She was exquisitely dressed, and she sat where she was well displayed. I don't believe that the question 'Who is she?' was asked so many times about anybody else. As I gazed at her royal magnificence and noted the lofty grace of her bearing, the distinctly English and aristocratic quality of her air, I couldn't help recalling my first view of her."

This correspondent, who writes well by the way, then goes on to tell how he first saw her acting on a variety stage in Buffalo. This will remind many in Omaha of the time that this somewhat celebrated woman first appeared in Omaha. It was at the time that Corri was manager of the old Academy of Music, then a place which could be kept open every night in the week and always filled, for Omaha was flush. Edith Blande came here with the Lydia Thompson troupe; she was one of the original English "blondes," and one of the most beautiful, too.

If our memory serves us right she left the troupe here and engaged her services as a soubrette to Corri to play in the stock company which he then had here. Her mother was with her, a little, gray-haired woman, beside whom the daughter looked grander and more beautiful than ever, and without whom she seldom appeared on the streets. These two lived together in rooms in the third story of Caldwell block, the same in which the Academy is situated. They always appeared well dressed, and the taste which Edith used in her toilettes was always particularly spoken of.

Edith Blande was a very ambitious girl. During her residence of about five years in Omaha she worked hard and used all the money she could earn to improve her acting and her wardrobe, for she was aiming to be a star. She had Currier make a large number of photographs of her in costume and otherwise, all of which were very handsome, of course, and she sent them East as advertisements and to managers. Many of them were hung in public places in London, and attracted much attention, for Edith was an Englishwoman born and bred.

It is said here by those who knew her that she was always dignified in her behavior and permitted no familiarity from those around her at the theatre and the employes there always looked up to her with great respect. This was just about the time or soon after the time that Annie Ward was here, the pretty young actress who afterwards succeeded in Saint Louis, and many a time has the writer of this article seen Henry M. Stanley, the now celebrated African explorer, chatting with her at the stage door or on the narrow walk that led to it along the side of the building. Edith Blande went from here to England and has since acted there and at the Fifth avenue in New York. Some young gentlemen from Omaha saw her at the Globe theatre in London a year or so ago and reported her as pretty as ever and a very good actress. The rumor that she married the son of the duke of Newcastle is not true.

The dust is blowing where a day or so ago was a sea of mud.

WANTED—Immediately, a good girl at S. W. corner 11th and Davenport. 556-4f.

WANTED—A good German girl to do cooking in a restaurant. Also German boy to wait on table. Apply at Henry Coops, No. 215 south 19th street, between Farnham and Douglas. 563-31f.

WANTED—Good coat makers immediately at Mortenson's tailor shop next to Faxon's Hotel. 521-4f.

WANTED—Two first class Jewelers, none but consistent hands need apply. Inquire at ED. HOLME & ERICKSON. 507-1f.

WANTED—Lady agents to sell the best selling line of Ladies' and Children's goods ever offered. Sales made in every house as fast as agents can show the goods. Agents are making $100 a month. Address, with stamp, L. U. M. Co., 9 South May St., Chicago, Ill. 506-10f.

WANTED—Lady agents for the "Queen Protection." A new under garment for ladies, made of soft, flexible rubber. Sure protection to the underwear, when necessary to be worn. Retail for $2.00 as fast as agents can show it. Large profits. Address with stamp, "Ladies' Undergarment Manufacturing Co., No. 8 May street, Chicago, Ill. 708-30f.

WANTED—Immediately, six good tailors by H. Meyers, Tokamah, Neb. Steady work the entire year. 521-1f.

WANTED—Situation by a competent Scandinavian, who has had 9 years experience, speaks Scandinavian and also some German can furnish best references. Address "A. B. C." this office. 540-31f.

WANTED—Situation as bookkeeper by young man who also has a knowledge of Phonography. Address "A. Z." this office. 538-31f.

WANTED—Girl in a family of two. Inquire at C. J. CANAN & CO. 810-4f.

WANTED—Good girls for good salaries. Best wages. Apply immediately at employment bureau 217 N. 16th St. No. office fee. 624-4f.

WANTED—Six good coat makers. Best of prices paid. FRANK J. RAMBE, 728-4f.

SITUATIONS WANTED. WANTED—Situation by a first class man cook in either city or country. Address N. W. 10th St., Hotel, Clinton Bldg. 570-21f.

WANTED, SITUATION—By drug clerk, single, 15 years experience. German. At present employed in Des Moines, Iowa. Address M. Durston, P. O. Box 24, E. Des Moines, Iowa. 135-21f.

MISCELLANEOUS WANTS. WANTED—To rent barn room for one horse and wagon near corner 15th and Farnham, Grand Union Tr. Co. 576-1f.

WANTED—For a customer, a cottage with 1 1/2, 2 or 3 business centers. SHRYVER & BELL, 529-1f.

WANTED—A partner with small capital in first-class business. Address "Sampson" this office. 533-31f.

FOR RENT—House and Lots. FOR RENT—Two nicely furnished rooms—single or with or without board. Inquire at 1919 Broadway street. 574-1f.

FOR RENT—Furnished front room, 174 1/2 Broadway street. 579-4f.

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms 105 north 19th St. 574-6f.

FOR RENT—Furnished room and board modern improvements, 1812 Dodge St. 576-6f.

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms at 1010 Davenport St. 572-21f.

FOR RENT—A house of 8 rooms between 25th and 26th on California St. $1.00 per month. Inquire 25 N. 21st St. P. J. GREENSON. 574-1f.

FOR RENT—To one or two young men, large furnished front room, 3d floor, with privilege of bath room, new house, first-class neighborhood. References exchanged. "J. L. W." Box office, 572-31f.

DEPRAVITY'S DEEDS.

Morning Scenes in the Police Court Before Judge Bencke.

Women Who Rob and Men Who Beat Their Wives.

For a study of faces, full of hard lines drawn by sin or reddened by liquor and boated by dissipation for an examination of character, had character as displayed in the criminal classes; for instances of all that is vile and wicked in this world, that will make the comforts of one's own home surroundings and the bright, pure faces of his own family stand out in contrast like white on black—one has but to visit the city police court any morning and gaze at the prisoner's bench. It is not always filled with what is disagreeable in person, for sometimes there drifts in among the others a better character, one not yet so sunken in the filthy ways of iniquity as to have lost the fresh color that nature gave him, or one who appears for the first time in life in a court room, some boy away from home, some man who took his first "drop too much."

Yesterday there were half a dozen men and one woman at the bar, and the usual crowd of loungers outside the rail. What a fascinating police matters have for some people! How they devote themselves to the court when it is in session, and to the gazettes when it is not in session, or discuss with each other the last sensation of the slums, and roll the dirty details under their tongues like tender morsels! A sermon can be made made of this, no doubt has been, many a time, but we have not the time.

As the court opened a gray-haired man, with a fine forehead covered with curling locks, sipped up the Judge's desk and whispered: "Shudge—shudge—wenn you vos goin' to fine I—I haf a loedle monnies in der bank."

"That's all right," said his honor; "wait your turn."

"In der Nahn-tional bank," pleaded the old toper, his head unsteady with the drama he had guzzled.

"Take your seat," said the bailiff. "John McClellan, come forward."

John McClellan was charged in the usual form with intoxication.

"Well, you see, Judge, I have been pretty sick, and I just took two drinks of brandy."

"Five dollars and costs," said the Judge, and aside to the reporter, "Seven dollars and fifty cents to the public schools of Omaha every whack."

The old chap who had money in the bank was then sent out in charge of an officer to find it. George Snowden, a boy with a good face who looked as if he had just drifted in from the country stood up.

"You are charged with being drunk and disorderly. What have you to say?" "I have nothing to say."

"I mean, are you guilty or not guilty?" "I guess its guilty, Judge."

"There is a good deal of complaint against you, said the Judge, "and I want you to leave the city. I will dismiss you, but if you are found in this city after six o'clock to-night, remember I'll have you up on both complaints."

The boy disappeared rapidly and is probably across the river by this time. John May was up for beating his wife, a variety of exercise which seems to afford him constant and satisfactory amusement.

His wife, a very good-looking woman, was sent for and she came in with her little boy who cried when he found himself in the court room, but soon hushed and looked about him interestingly. The little fellow bore a great red mark from his eye down his cheek where his inhuman father had beaten him the night before. The Judge asked her if she would sustain the complaint.

"Yes, sir," she said, "I cannot stand this any longer, this getting drunk all the time, sir, and beating us." So the man is to be put under $300 bonds to behave himself.

The last case was that of the notorious character, Shio McBride, who held up a man late Monday, and gobbled $45 of his money before he knew it. She is a bold one and had one. As the case is one of grand larceny, and a penitentiary offense, it was postponed for trial.

Then the marshal turned to the reporter and said, "See what whiskey does. Draw a moral. Count up how many of these cases this morning, every morning here, every morning everywhere, are the direct or the indirect result of liquor and nothing else." And the reporter betook himself down town in a reflective mood.

Postoffice Changes. In Iowa during the week ending October 27, 1883.

Established—Froelich Station, Clayton county, John Froelich, postmaster.

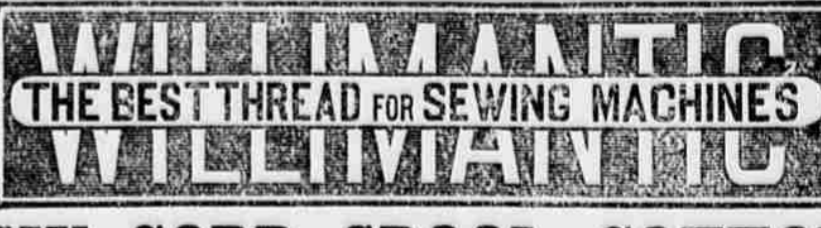

Discontinued—Furry, Plymouth county; Linn, Dallas county; Tibbitt, Polk county.

Postmasters appointed—Almont, Clinton county, L. Leroy Viener; Avery, Monroe county, Thos. Scavenger; Pelletier, Wapello county, Edward Eller; Dow City, Crawford county, Elmer Stone; East Nodaway, Adams county, F. D. Orme; Gray, Audubon county, W. R. Johnson; Hatton, Polk county, Josiah Francis Maynard; Franklin county, John Dunn; Page, Payne county, Wm. Stevens; Selection, Monroe county, W. P. Dinwiddie; Silver City, Mills county, W. B. Evans; Unionburgh, Harrison county, W. W. Brown; Valley View, Harrison county, Zach. M. Johnson; Zero, Lucas county, Aquilla Stern.

Castoria promotes Digestion and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, and Feverishness. It insures health and natural sleep, without morphine.

Centaur Liniment—an absolute cure for Rheumatism, Sprains, Burns, Galls, &c. The most Powerful and Penetrating Pain-relieving and Healing Remedy known to man.

SIX-CORD SPOOL COTTON IS ENTIRELY THE Product of American Industry! PRONOUNCED BY EXPERTS TO BE THE BEST THREAD IN THE WORLD FOR HAND AND MACHINE SEWING.

FOR RENT—A nice dry and light south front building on 14th St., half block north of Cumont St. suitable for two or three persons, rent 7.00 per month. 450-31f.

FOR RENT—A furnished dwelling corner Howard and 14th. Rent $7.00 per month. G. W. Hoffman. 412-1f.

FOR RENT—New store in Toft's block on Saunders street. Good location for grocery store, butcher shop etc. Inquire at Peoples Bank, Dodge St. 504-1f.

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms on the northwest cor. 13th and Capitol avenue. 129-4f.

FOR RENT—Residence and store building, BEDFORD & SOUTH, Real Estate Agency, Office east side 14th street, between Farnam and Douglas streets. 722-4f.

FOR LEASE—Four choice lots on 9th St., long times, 217 N. 16th St., J. L. Marlowe. 625-4f.

FOR SALE—Billiard Table—J. M. Brunwick, 1/2 Ball's Co's make, carom, standard size, with cues. Cost $275, will sell for $125 cash. Big Bargain. Address Box 59 Fairfield, Neb. 500-21f.

FOR SALE—Lease and furniture of a boarding house. Address "H." Box office. 544-31f.

FOR SALE—A cottage half lot west side of street $17.00. Inquire at No. 222 south 15th St. 545-1f.