THE OLD WAR GENERALS.

"Only eighteen years ago the rebellion osed," said an old army officer to me, closed, 'said an old army officer to me, the other day, 'but the generals of the war are fast going out of sight." Then he went on to say: "Meade, Thomas, Hooker, Garfield, Kilpatrick, Burnside and Halleck are dead. The next few years will see the list lengthened. Gen. Grant is on toward 70. He comes to Washington often, and walks quietly about the streets, with his cigar in his mouth, better dressed than when he was President, and looks as if life agreed with him. Sherman is 64, and he looks older, but the family is hardy, and he is likely to see 1900. The youngest of all the great leaders is Sheridan, now to command the army, and he is but 51. Sheri dan was a Major General at 30. Fitz Jehn Porter appears here every winter, white-haired and broken in frame—a twenty years of disgrace. His old comoffices on newspaper row. The man who commanded 100,000 men at Chickamauga seems abashed at the confusion in congress, and soldom rises to speak. iens. Hawley and Logan are the two other most distinguished generals in congress. Both are 57 years old, but neither has a gray hair. Gen. Rosecrans will be reinforced this winter by an old companion in the western armies, Gen. Slocum, of Brooklyn. He has been incon gress before. He served, I believe, four years soon after the close of the war. Gen. Sickles is practicing law in New York, and Stoneman isgovernor of California. Double day, who was in Fort Sumter when it was fired upon, lives in New York, and is writing a book: Humphreys, Hunter and Crittenden may be seen almost any day about this city, where they own fine houses and live handsomely on the retired list. Fremont is no longer rich. He and his wife, Jessie Benton Fremont, are forgotten in crowded New York. The general whom the Vermont troops worshipped, George J. Standard, with one arm gone and half a dozen wounds sits up at the Capitol during the sessions, tending the door of the members' gallery of the House.
