

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS. Saturday Morning, Nov. 10.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier... OFFICE: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENTION.

See Joseph Reiter's fall goods. Additional locals on seventh page. Cheap Railroad Tickets at Bushnell's. Sport at the driving park this afternoon.

The new Masonic temple is looming up grandly. Spiritual social to-night. Music and dancing.

Not even a solitary drunk in the police court yesterday.

The slaughter of hogs will commence at Stewart's packing house on the 10th inst.

Victor Jennings was made doubly happy yesterday. Twins. A boy and a girl.

The new steam fire engine at Avoca was tried Wednesday morning and threw water 350 feet with 80 pounds of steam.

John W. Clark and Mary Ann Jones, both residents of this city, are now Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Justice Abbott having made them so.

The Second Spiritualist society meets every Sunday at 310 Middle Broadway, Hood's block, up stairs, room 4. Hour of meeting, 2:30 and 7:30 p. m.

Little Sioux and Lorene are to see which is the swiftest at the driving park this afternoon. There is also to be a $100 contest for single roadsters.

The prospect is that in the course of another year the saloon licenses in this city will be fixed at $1,000. Some of the saloon men themselves are in favor of having it put there.

"If a Man Die, Shall He Live Again?"—Spiritual Circle to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon and evening, at 2 and 7:30 o'clock, in Spiritual hall, Shugart and Bennett block, entrance on Main and Pearl streets.

Jack Shields, on his last arrest for assault and battery, has been fined one dollar and costs. He has, however, the old term of six months to serve for assaulting the old man Jennings, and is here in jail on that.

In the Superior court yesterday the case of Scherwinger vs. Culver was tried by jury. The claim was for unpaid wages, for services as clerk for the defendant. The jury returned a verdict giving the plaintiff $248.

Some thief or thieves broke into a car on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy track, and stole therefrom a quantity of apples consigned to Bell & Hall. One barrel is missing, and there is no way of how many other apples were taken, as quite a quantity were looted in the car.

The social given by the Royal Arcanum last evening, the third of the series, proved like the others, a happy affair. The company being select and made up of the best citizens and their ladies, the occasion was really a social event of more than passing moment. The Arcanum is as strong socially as it is financially, and whatever it takes hold of it seems to make successful.

There are several patent right suits pending in the eastern courts concerning the electric light. Some of these suits may affect one or the other of the two companies who are now trying to establish the light in Council Bluffs. It is to be hoped that there will be no delay, however, in the one result, of getting some sort of an electric light for the city, and a good one too.

In Justice Abbott's court yesterday the carpenter's tools found in the Gem theatre were identified as being some of those stolen lately from L. McGroer's shop in Omaha, and for which two men, Hewitt and Gallagher have been arrested. The tools found here are valued at $15, and form only a small part of the total loss. Other tools have been found in pawnshops in Omaha.

Hanlan is trying to break up the gambling business. Four poker and one hazard table, about ten quarts of chips and other property has been captured, and James L. Forkner, as the keeper of the house, has been held in $250 bonds for the action of the grand jury. J. F. Huntzinger was the one who complained of Forkner, and he and Forkner has turned out and had Huntzinger arrested for selling liquor contrary to law.

A party of school teachers from Sheboygan visited the city yesterday, visiting the public schools and getting such ideas as they could by seeing Council Bluffs' system in active operation. They expressed themselves as satisfied with the experiment. Among them were R. B. Cross, C. H. Guernsey, Lou Tucker, Kitty J. Lewis, Lottie E. Granger, Emily Alden, Ida Parker, Carrie Lambertson, Flora Collins, and Fannie Scott.

A poor fellow, evidently a little off his balance mentally, appealed to the authorities yesterday to protect him from a mob which he fancied were following him, with the intention of hanging him. He claimed that last night, while stopping at a hotel here, some one broke into his room and crawling under the bed stayed there all night with a razor ready to murder him. He was taken into Jailor Schontz's care last night, Schontz assuring him he was safe there, for while men often tried to break out his white no one had ever tried to break in.

The examination of Mrs. Ed. Burke, charged by her husband with having wandered from the straight path by sleeping at the Bryant house with a Avoca barber named Reese, was concluded before Justice Abbott yesterday. She was held for the action of the grand jury, the bonds being $50. Her attorneys, F. M. Hunter and John Lindt, at once filed papers before Judge Aylesworth, and she will be brought before him this morning on a writ of habeas corpus. They claim that the evidence showed a complete alibi and she ought to have been discharged, and will try to convince Judge Aylesworth of that fact.

GET YOUR WINTER APPLES. L. H. Wray has a car load of barreled apples on the track at the K. C. depot, and proposes to sell them at once cheap for cash. The consist of Jonathans, Ben Davis, Wine Spies, Bell Flowers, and Northern Spies. These wishing good apples cheap for winter will not get a bet-

ANOTHER KICK.

Judge Aylesworth Wants to Change the City's Financial Policy.

He Asks for an Injunction at Judge Reed's Hands.

Council Bluffs would hardly know itself if it did not have one or more injunction suits on its hands. When there is nothing else to do the citizens always try and get an injunction to stop something or another. This time it is Judge Aylesworth who comes to the front and wants to stop the city council from paying some of its warrants in cash and others in promises.

The city has a large number of general warrants outstanding, and every month the council transfers $500 or so from the police fund to a sinking fund to take up these old warrants in the order of their issue.

At the same time the council makes more or less cash contracts. It pays its street laborers, police, etc., in warrants, but these warrants are marked on the back, "to be paid in cash," and the city treasurer takes the money and pays them. At the next meeting of the council there is a sufficient amount transferred from the police fund to the general fund to make up for this overdraft. The policy of the council seems to be to pay more or less of its current expenses in cash, as labor can be thus got for less, and the city saves by it, at the same time the policy has been to take up the old outstanding warrants as fast as possible.

Judge Aylesworth draws his salary in general fund warrants, and he has wanted the council to make him payable at once in cash, but they have refused, as they deem his salary a liberal one, and that he can either afford to wait, or else stand the shave of some broker.

He doesn't feel this way about it, and claims that they ought not to make an exception in favor of a few by paying their warrants in cash, and let him and others wait. He moved to have an injunction to stop such favoritism.

He claims that the law recognizes no such fund as the police fund, and that all monies from licenses, fines, etc., shall go into the general fund, and all warrants for city expenses drawn upon the general fund. These warrants shall then be paid in the order of their issue.

It is claimed on the other hand that the present policy is the only one which will bring the city's finances into a healthy condition, and that if allowed to follow it out, that by next March warrants will be at par, and in the meantime the city will be saving money by paying cash for labor and other expenses, instead of paying large wages in general fund warrants, which they will have to pay in full some day.

It is claimed that the most of the outstanding warrants are held by men who bought them at 7 to 12 per cent discount, and as they are drawing 6 per cent interest, these brokers would be the ones who would gain largely by a change of financial policy, while the city, by not being able to pay cash for present services, would have to pay more for everything, thus increasing its expenses, for the sake of benefitting speculators, and men abundantly able to carry the warrants.

The petition for an injunction was to be argued before Judge Reed, at Denison, to-day, but as Judge Aylesworth has a habeas corpus case coming before him to-day an arrangement has been made between him and City Attorney Mayne by which the matter will be presented to Judge Reed this evening, if his honor arrives home in time.

The mayor and city council propose to fight the case to the bitter end, but it is threatened that if an injunction is granted the city will at once discharge its police, cut down its fire department, stop all city work on the streets, reduce all possible running expenses and let the city stand still and turn all the receipts over to paying up old warrants. Such are the threats made by some of the officials, but it is doubtful whether any such desperate move would be made, even if the injunction restraining the issuing of the cash warrants be granted.

THE NEW DYEWORKS. F. R. Hurlburt has opened, at No. 34 Pearl street, a steam dyeing and French dry cleaning works. Plumes and tips, velvets, silks, satins, gent's clothing, merchant's shelf worn goods, all made as good as new.

THE NEWS NET. It Gathers in a Number of Interesting Items From Coon Rapids—A Shooting Scrape.

COON RAPIDS, November 8.—A. O. Van Aiken and James Cornell were examined before Justice Foxworthy on the charge of keeping a gambling house. The examination took place on the 7th inst., Reid & Morgan appearing for the state and S. J. L. Sheaffer for the defense. The case was dismissed.

An incident occurred on the 5th between here and Bayard which came very near being fatal to one party. A man called Caolder had been drinking heavily in Bayard and was on his way home when he met a hunting party of four returning to town. They stopped and exchanged a few words, when without any notice the man Caolder seized his gun. The hunting party whipped up their team. Caolder fired two charges from his shot gun after them, the second shot striking a man by the name of Cottrell in the back, but doing him no serious injury. Caolder is held under bail to appear before the grand jury.

We are having considerable railroad talk these days. The last and most probable is the coming to this place of the new road running northeast from Atlantic. The road is surveyed to this place, and our people entertain high hopes of its coming here.

The relocation of the division of the C. M. & St. P. at this place is also quite a topic of conversation and speculation, but a railroad company's intentions are harder to read than a woman's mind.

In naming over the possible candidates for the Circuit court bench, in case of its being made vacant by the removal of the present incumbent to the District court, your paper has not mentioned the name of L. N. McDuffie, Jefferson. We do not expect to hear it mentioned by other Council Bluffs papers, but, yet, he is the most mentioned in this part of the district, and would ornament the bench, as he is a man of a truly judicial mind. We folks out east think that Council Bluffs is something like the traditional swine, "that don't know when it has enough," but we presume that the powers that he will do as they deem best. So MORE ANON.

PERSONAL.

F. Benjamin, the attorney of Avoca, has lately lost his mother, who died in Tyrone, Schuyler county, New York, aged 75 years.

Job Nelson now has a new gleam of sunshine in his house. A girl.

E. Rindskopf, of Cincinnati, was at Bechtel's hotel yesterday.

M. W. Hill, of New York, arrived at Bechtel's yesterday.

J. A. Raynor, of St. Joe, Mo., was among yesterday's arrivals at Bechtel's.

O. A. Derby, of St. Louis, reached the Pacific house yesterday.

Frank P. Root, of New York, was at the Pacific house yesterday.

J. I. Lamb, of Sioux City, was in the city yesterday.

Max L. Clayton, agent for "The Girl I Love" company, was in the city yesterday, arranging to show up here.

Will J. Trotter and J. H. Jenks, of Avoca, were here yesterday, and stopped at the Pacific house.

R. R. Pickett, of Shelby, Iowa, visited the Bluffs yesterday.

Charles A. Barrows, of Minneapolis, put his autograph on the big book at the Ogden yesterday.

At the next meeting of the council there is a sufficient amount transferred from the police fund to the general fund to make up for this overdraft. The policy of the council seems to be to pay more or less of its current expenses in cash, as labor can be thus got for less, and the city saves by it, at the same time the policy has been to take up the old outstanding warrants as fast as possible.

Will Craig, of Chicago, one of the best known and liveliest on the road, was in the city yesterday, and at the Ogden as usual.

Frank J. Range, of Omaha, was here last evening to attend the Royal Arcanum social.

George S. Kennedy, of Philadelphia, was at the Ogden yesterday.

G. L. Buchanan, of Cincinnati, reached the Ogden yesterday.

Mr. D. Hardin is suffering from an attack of rheumatism.

J. T. Hart has so far recovered that he is able to ride out.

A. B. West, the general agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy here, left yesterday for a trip to Denver.

H. R. Moorhead, of Missouri Valley, but formerly of Council Bluffs, was in the city yesterday.

Why let your children die with diphtheria? Dr. Jeffris' (Council Bluffs) remedy always prevents or cures. Send for it.

Frank Sheppard, of the Walnut Bureau, publicly denounces some of Council Bluffs' best business men, because they refuse to pay for advertisements in his paper, which they claim never to have ordered. He is so little known, and his ones he attacks so well known, that his feeble attempt to bull-doze them into paying places him in a ridiculous light. It is no bad, for Sheppard has been getting along pretty well for a few hands; but this break shows plainly that he needs to set at the feet of experience and learn a few lessons. It is well known that the man he refers to pays all honest debts, and the fact that they refuse to pay, indicates that there is something wrong about the bills, but even if there is not, the way to settle the difference is in a court, rather than try to thump the money out of them by the power of the pen. Sheppard will learn better in time.

Poor Dave Postevin is an enigma to his friends. A man of fine ability and with no superior as a civil engineer, he is at times wholly unfit for business and makes a sad show of himself. It has been thought that of late at least his strange actions were not so much due to whisky as to a mental malady, and yesterday on complaint of his wife he was brought before the commissioners of insanity. He talked so plausible and promised so well that they decided to hold him in custody for a time and if he showed any more of his eccentricities to then send him to Mt. Pleasant.
