THOMAS BRENNAN.

The Lecture Delivered by the Irish Agitator.

He Gives a Clear Presentation of the Questions Vitally Concerning His Country.

A large crowd, densely filling Masonic hall, was present Saturday evening to Special Meeting of the State Alliance. listen to "The Defense of Ireland," a lec-A special meeting of the Farmers' State ture, by Mr. Thomas Brennan, the young Alliance will be held at Kearney, Neb., ex-secretary of the Irish national land

Mr. Brennan is a young man, not yet at any time been organized in this state thirty years of age, but in his patriotism are earnostly requested to send delegates he has the energy of a veteran. His vigto this meeting, and all anti-monopolists orous manner will impress any audience. Altogether his address was a very ab sorbing one.

> On the stage were noticed around the orator of the evening, President J. E. Riley, of the Irish national league; Col. Richard O'S. Burke, C. E , a veteran Irish patrict; F. M. MacDonagh, of the Omaha Watchman; Hon, M. A. Hartigan, state deputy of the national league; Hon. P. F. Murphy, member of the Nebraska legislature, and chairman of the meeting.

> Mr Brennan was introduced by Alderman Murphy, and received with rounds of applause. He spoke for about an hour and a half.

Mr. Brennan said that the struggle in live in the land of their birth and enjoy the fruits of their labor, and for the Godgiven right of liberty. There was one thing which he could confidently affirm, that the Irish At home would never enter into any compromise with the English government or Irish landlordism. They ter, passenger trains might be abandoned for would never sell their birthright for a meas of pottage in the form of a land bill. They had made up their minds that landlordism is the curse of the country and that landlerdism must go. Further also that disunion was a ourse and that no apostle of disunion would find footing on Irish shores. He deprecated that Ireland, which was easily capable of producing, and did produce twice enough to supply the wants of her population should appear before the world as result of her slavery, which is about over. The days of meek submission to tyrants, the speaker said, have gone forever.

Ireland, said the speaker, is in active rebellion against landlordism, and in passive rebellion against English rule. It is safe to say that it would be in active rebellion against English rule if it had the means. He referred to the spirit of to performed a duty equal to raising 80,-Ireland, illustrating by saying that where | 000,000 pounds of water one foot high an Irish traitor was to be punished an with each 100 pounds of coal consumed. Irishman was to be found even on the burning sands of Africa to do it.

The condition of affairs in Ireland was illustrated by reference to the fact that an Irishman could be imprisoned for twelve months without even a trial, and hotel vs. the Union Pacific railway company, for $30,000 damages, received in a collision way, who was arrested by a common policeman in the midst of an address and taken away to prison although it used in case of accident to the Gaskell way. Some of them have visited Omaha before. General surprise is expressed at to the case of Matthew Harrison, Galalso of the proprietor of the Kerry Sencause it was "suspected" that documents of a seditious character might be found there. He spoke of Lord Spencer, who gets $100,000 a year from the poverty-stricken Iriah, for presiding over a week gets $100,000 a year from the povertystricken Irish, for presiding over a mock court at Dublin, and who has the power to levy money fines upon the people. The speaker then passed to the subject of the work to be done in Ireland. He ing the green, of St. Patrick's day parades, and "the foinest people in the world" oratory, and more deep thought, earnest conviction and education. Education must be the groundwork of the land league reform, and organization, not agitation, the battle-cry.

The plan of the league, he said, was to give the people a literary, political and technical education. The political education they would give by political meetings, the literary education by reading rooms and libraries in connection with the leagues, and the technical education by technical education. The idea was to prevent any more travesties upon revolution. The contest must be kept up, however, and there would never be per in Ireland with lahdlordism until the Irish could say "peace to its ashes."

SIXTEENTH STREET

Seems to be Doomed to Disaster-Two Extensive Fires Within One Week.

It really seems as if the fates had decided that Sixteenth street must go by fire. Only last Monday night Wm. Genfire, and Friday night the demon again made a visit and almost swept the Balcombe block away. The acenes of the Sixteenth street goes next ?

A BEE reporter visited the scene of Friday's conflagration Saturday, and suc-ceeded in finding a number of the parties who were damaged by the same, and ob-tained from them the amount of their damages and insurance.

Mr. Balcombe stated that he consid ered his building damaged to the extent of $2,500, and that he had $2,000 inau rance on the same.

Mr. Riley, the upholsterer, estimated his loss at $600, insurance $500. Mr. Tarpy, the plumber, estimates his loss at lan; 8400, with no insurance.

COLORADO VISITORS.

City Officials and Prominent Citizens of Denver Visit Omaha.

A Jolly Party Enjoying Themselves on a Trip of Pleasure and

A party of over fifty people, including the city officials and some prominent citizens of Denver, arrived in Omaha, over the B. & M., from the mountain metropolis, about 7 o'clock last evening. They came through from Denver in two special cars. They arrived here some what late on account of an accident at Riverton, one of the sleeping-cars jumping the track at that place. Fortunately the accident was a slight one, no one being injured. The car was somewhat damaged and was left at Riverton.

It is to be regretted that the visitors arrived at the depot here without a show of a reception. Neither the city officials nor the B. & M. officials were started for home. He has all the figures there to receive them. It is understood that a member of our city council was present at the time of their arrival, but being officially alone and of a modest disposition, he said and did nothing However, the party made themselves comfortable. Many of them came up town and saw the city as well as they could without the aid of the electric light. Some of them attended church services.

The party consists of J. E. Brown president of the Denver city council, and the purchase of a new low-pressure pump, mayor pro tem; Wm. A. Smith, chief of polic; Wm. R. Beatty, city auditor; Chas. of the engineering department; Wm. terested in the duty test, have started Toovey, street commissioner, with two assistants; Frank W. Zean, of the Denver Times.
