LOCAL BREVITIES.

An exciting runaway occurred about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A team attached to Mike Lee's grocery wagon started from Fifteenth and Howard streets, running to the corner of Thirtieth and down that street nearly to Capitol avenue. Then they turned into a ditch and came to a precipitous halt. The driver remained on the wagon until the horses stopped. He says he could not stop them, but the foot-board gave way and he could do nothing. The driver was unhurt. The vehicle was badly broken up, and one of the horses is severely injured. It was the second time yesterday that this team ran away.

This evening he desires to meet as many Christians and those who desire to be Christians as can possibly attend. Both services Sunday were well attended, the latter meeting Sunday being very gratifying, some 50 or 60 persons having come forward and expressed their determination to take their stand on the Lord's side this afternoon at 3 o'clock which is the last Bible reading. All are cordially invited. Rev. Brown will to-night address the Academy of Music, and he hopes to meet all those in doubt. All are cordially invited.

SEEING THE CITY.

The Denver Party Take a Look Over Omaha.

They Left Last Night for Kansas City. Well Pleased with Their Visit.

A BEE reporter strolled down to the car occupied by the Denver excursionists, this morning, and with the exception of several ladies, the party had gone to the river to inspect the Union Pacific bridge. The reporter followed and found them all clustered around the west end of the bridge, the party refusing to let them upon the structure.

While standing there the dummy train came over, and they had the pleasure of seeing a train cross it, which was quite a sight for some of them. We singled out Mr. Zorn, of the Denver Times, and found him a pleasant gentleman. He says that Omaha is much more compactly built than Denver. The street cars here are much finer than those in his city. He said that in Denver no pavement was needed, the streets being so hard that a pick ax would hardly make an impression. In speaking of dust he remarked that it was simply horrible in his city, (what a blessed thing to have company in misery.)

The party amused themselves by driving around the city in hacks, and one said they were very highly pleased with Omaha. It is a burning shame that not a single alderman, with the exception of Mr. Baker, visited the party at their car. The mayor received a telegram yesterday afternoon that they would be here in the evening but no effort was made to entertain them.

We have procured a complete list of the names of the party, which reads as follows: E. J. Brooks, president of the council, wife and two daughters; Charles F. Leimer, city clerk, wife and two children; William A. Smith, chief of police, and wife; W. R. Beatty, city auditor, and wife; Richard Sopris, park commissioner, and wife; L. A. Watkins, alderman, wife and two daughters; P. W. Zorn, Denver Times and Miss Smallwood; Wm. Zorn, wife and daughter; Ben F. Barran, wife and child; J. M. Hamwick and wife; Thomas Linton, wife and child; Charles Brooks and wife; J. S. Littell and wife; Miss Fannie Evans; Wm. Dingle, wife and child; Mrs. Appell; F. N. Davis and daughter; Mrs. Keith and child; J. M. Landon and wife; W. D. Anthony and wife; and I. J. Stevenson and wife.

The party crossed the river to Council Bluffs at 12 o'clock to-day, and will return this evening in time to take the K. C. & St. Joe to Kansas City.

At noon yesterday the party crossed the river and viewed Council Bluffs for two or three hours. They returned and spent the remainder of the day looking about Omaha.

In the evening, many of the party attended the theatre at Boyd's opera house. These people expressed themselves as more than pleased with what they saw in Omaha. The official portion of the party kept themselves very busy and were keen in their observation of the improvements now a under way.

Alderman Watkins told a BEE reporter last night that he had watched with special interest the work of paving. He thinks a pavement like the one being made here is just what is needed in Denver. He was much interested in the paving process and took pains to learn the particulars of construction of asphalt pavement. Mr. R. Sopris, mayor of Denver and commissioner of public parks, was of the party. This was his first visit to Omaha since twenty-five years ago. Of course there is no comparison to make between the time and this, but he says he did not dream of seeing Omaha the city that it now is.

The party left at 11 o'clock last evening, via the Missouri Pacific, for Leavenworth. They will arrive there at 5 o'clock this morning, and remain till evening. From Leavenworth they go to Kansas City. Their stay in Kansas City is necessarily short. At 9:30 this evening they leave Kansas City, via the Kansas Pacific, for Denver. They will arrive here at 8:50 Wednesday evening.

THE A. O. H. MILITARY COMPANY. A Flourishing Organization--Uniforms Ordered.

The members of the military company of the A. O. H. hold their regular meetings on Sunday afternoons in Crouse's hall. They are making arrangements for a ball on the evening of December 31.

They have concluded a contract with a Chicago firm to make their uniforms and furnish them with rifles.

The company is composed of energetic young men, who will no doubt make a success of the enterprise. The drill is conducted by Captain Tarpey and Mr. O'Brien. There are already about forty members in the company, and it is expected to increase this number to one hundred at an early day.

A LIFE SAVING PRESENT.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan., saved his life by a simple trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle that completely cured him, when doctors, charged of course, had given up. He had almost died, and his wife was nearly dead, but all throat and lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial bottles free at C. F. Goodman's drug store. Large size $1.00.

SATURDAY NIGHT

In the So-called Wicked City of Omaha.

The Night Which the "Boys" Look Forward to, and Which Lasts Until Monday Morning.

Saturday night is looked forward to by that class known as the "boys," with a great deal of pleasure. Then it is that a large number of the laboring class receive compensation for their week's work and then it is, in far too many instances, that it is "blown in" for that which is worse than nothing.

Saturday night is the most lively night of all the week and the merchants of this city make an unusual effort to arrange their show windows in such a manner as to draw the attention away from the admiration of all, and to a large extent their efforts are successful. The gas seems to burn more brightly upon Saturday night than upon any other, and particularly in the gilded saloon and gambling hall, and many a young man, yes, and older ones, too, are drawn thither.

A stroll around the city with a reporter on a Saturday night would astonish a large number of our citizens who are not in the habit of frequenting such places. At every bar in the city, and they are almost numberless, are scores of men, many of them spending money which rightfully belongs to wife and children. When sufficiently filled up with the "elephant," the bartender, is shoved across the green cloth. The game of "faro" seems to have the largest number of devotees, but "hard," "high-ball" poker, and the various other games come in for their share of patronage.

Sooner or later the "suckers" are skinned and one by one they slowly file out and down to the pawnshop where a watch, ring, or overcoat, or whatever of value they chance to have is put "in pawn" for a small stake to again "duck the tiger." Once in a while they strike it, but a great deal more often they don't.

Saturday night with the "boys" generally lasts until Monday morning, and particularly was this the case Sunday for never, even at a Fourth of July celebration, were there so many drunken men to be seen. In going up Farnam street, from Tenth to Fifteenth streets, last evening, a reporter counted eleven men who were so drunk that they could not stand alone, and yet the saloon doors were wide open and the boys were still filling up.

The saloon men evidently have very little regard for Marshal Guthrie's order in regard to closing on Sunday.

PILFERING PORTER.

A Hotel Porter Nabbed in the Act of Robbing the Drawer.

Detective Work by the Clerk, Arrest of the Criminal, and Recovery of the Cash.

For some time past the clerk of the Metropolitan hotel has been short in his cash accounts, some days his shortage being as high as thirty dollars. Only yesterday he charged himself with $30.37, and as the thing was beginning to grow notorious he determined to find out who it was that was growing fat at his expense. He procured an augur and bored a hole through the east partition of the office, and cutting the wall paper in such a manner that he could see himself in a dark hallway under the stairway and watch all movements near the money-drawer.

John Williams, the porter, was sent out on an errand just before dinner yesterday and while he was absent, Mr. Jones, the clerk, secreted himself in his little den and awaited results. John returned, the office was unoccupied, John saw his chance, he stretched his neck and peered around, no one in sight. He made a dive for the money drawer, and by the help of his knife he succeeded in prying the lock and helped himself to the cash.

Just as he had pocketed the plunder the clerk stepped out, took him by the throat and demanded that he disgorge. John said he had nothing, but after the clerk had thrown him upon the floor and choked him a little, he came down with the stuff. The money had previously been marked, and as John had the marked money upon his person, the officer was called and John was taken to the city jail.

The shortage in all will amount to $200.

It is said, since the facts of the robbery have become known, that a man who was a former porter at the hotel, is missing. He had left the hotel about two weeks ago, and was working elsewhere in the city. Whether he could not be found. Whether he had any knowledge of what was going on, or why he should leave just at this time is not known.

AMUSEMENTS.

Lillian Spencer as "The Creole."

A fair sized audience last evening witnessed the performance of "Article 47," at Boyd's opera house. The play has a plot of a sensational character, ingeniously arranged, and is intensely interesting. It was well presented by Miss Lillian Spencer and her company. Miss Spencer, who appeared as "Ora, the Creole," is a fine actress, and she is well supported. The stage-setting of the play was very handsome, particularly in the second act. We question whether any more attractive setting has ever been seen on the stage of the opera house.
