MINOR MENTION.

Fine job printing at Pryor's BEE job office.

Concordia Lodge K. of P., will give a ball in Beno's hall, February 3.

Job printing in the latest style of the art, at Pryor's BEE job office.

Public installation of the officers of the Odd Fellows Lodges, in Beno's hall this evening.

Leave your orders for job printing a day or two ahead at Pryor's Bee job office.

Leave to wed was yesterday granted Claus Martens and Dora Hansen, both of this county.

Complaint is now made of the heating apparatus in the new Pierce street school building.

"Only a Farmer's Daughter" to be given as a matinee this afternoon, and will be given to-night also.

The present court house being condemned the county board has done with the office and the expense of a janitor.

L. C. Taylor, who was lately taken to Fort Madison for stealing a trunk from Kiel's hotel, has been there twice before for larceny.

Keeline & Felt had a telephone put into their store yesterday, its number being 135. J. C. Johnson has also had one put into his residence, to be known as 134.

Judge N. J. Bond, at the Y. M. C. A. entertainment Tuesday night, gave an interesting account of his experiences of mountain and camp life in Colorado during the war.

Sheriff Guittar left last night for Fort Madison with two other prisoners, James Doyle, pickpocket, sentenced to a year and a half, and R. C. Johnson, confidence man, sentenced to two years.

One of Hagg's delivery wagons was pulled along lively on Main street yesterday forenoon, by the team taking a run. Beer bottles were given a lively scattering about, and a collision had with a dirt wagon.

A ten-year-old son of Herman Martin, living six miles south of the city, died Tuesday night of diphtheria, having been ill only since the Saturday before. The the funeral is to be held to-morrow afternoon.

The colored man, Green Meyer, who attended the small-pox case in Streetsville claimed of the county board $75 for his nine days services. The board allowed him $27, and now he has commenced suit before Jtstice Frainey for $28 more.

"Gus," the tinted favorite at Harry Wagners, has opened up a new branch of business—breaking in new shoes for "tenderfoots." Tommy Mahoney is the first patron, and "Gus" says that if the business pays as well as it seems to now, he will enlarge soon.

The firemen want a portion of the cemetery set apart for the burial of deceased firemen, and have petitioned the county board. It appears that the portion of ground desired by them belongs to the city, and the county board has referred the matter to the city council.

Just before the meeting of the district court the prisoners in the county jail generally get pretty uneasy and anxious, and attempt a break. The only one made this time was an attempt to get entrance into a cell, which has been kept locked and unused which led the prisoner to think that it must be so weak that if once inside of it they could work out from there. The attempt was fustrated.

The young man who forged J. R. Davidson's name to a check and tried to get it cashed at the Citizen's bank, is still in the penitentiary at Fort Madison. He has grown very portly, apparently dropsical. His folks, it appears, now live in California, and are well-to-do. The father, who seems a very respectable man, writes him often, and expresses the opinion that the boy ought to serve the full term, so as to learn a lesson.

It now appears that Thomas Morgan, who has been sent to Fort Madison for playing a confidence trick on young Seligman, of Maryville, Mo., is an old bird. He has served two terms before for the same sort of a game, and on reaching the prison this time was recognized as having been sent, under the name of Clinton, from Marshall county. It was thought strange at the time of his trial here, that he did not go on the stand to testify in his own behalf, but it now appears that he thought the sheriff knew about his former convictions and this would be brought out against him, so he kept still. It seems that he was frightened needlessly as the sheriff knew nothing of it until he took him to Fort Madison.

An Omaha man named Marshall was here yesterday and created quite a stir at the county clerk's office, demanding that his mother-in-law, Mrs. Davis, who is in the insane asylum at Mt. Pleasant should be released at once. He claims that the woman never was insane and that she ought not to have been sent there at all, but that she had some property, and his wife in her anxiety to get it, caused her to be adjudged insane. He and his wife, it seems, have had some trouble, and now he proposes to befriend the old lady and get her out of the asylum. The novelty of a man trying to get his mother-in-law set free struck the officials as odd, indeed and an exception to common experience. He was informed that the authorities here could do nothing about it, but that he must get the board at the asylum to discharge her.

THE ASSESSORS' WORK.

There Will Be Plenty of It this Year.

The assessors this year will have an unusual amount of work to do in connection with the regular work of the year. It is "census year" for Iowa, and according to the code "the executive council must prepare suitable blanks for the purpose of taking the census, which must be returned to the respective county auditors, and by them to the township assessors on or before the first Monday in January." These blanks have not arrived here yet, and the assessors cannot therefore commence on this part of their work. The following are the points of information to be gathered up by each assessor, and properly returned to the county auditor, who in turn will forward the same to the secretary of state before June:

The number of males.
The number of females.
The number of persons entitled to vote.
The number of militia.
The number of foreigners naturalized.
The total number of children between 5 and 21 years.
The number of families and the number of dwelling houses.
The number of acres of improved and unimproved lands.
At enumeration of agriculture, mining, and manufacturing statistics, including the value of the products of the farm, herd, orchard and dairy, each, and the value of manufactured articles, and of mineral sold, the year preceding the census.
The number of miles of railway finished and unfinished.
The number of colleges and universities with the number of pupils therein.

Dr. C. C. Hazen, Dentist, 100 Main st.

A NEW COURT HOUSE.

The County Board Invites a Conference of Representatives of all Townships.

At the meeting of the county board yesterday the following was adopted:

Be it resolved by the board of supervisors that an invitation be extended to the citizens of the several townships in the county to appoint a committee of one from each township to meet with the board of supervisors on the 3d day of February next, to advise with the board as to the advisability of building a court house for Pottowattamie county, the cost not to exceed the sum of $150,000, at which time plans for said court house will be submitted for inspection.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. John Dohany is still quite ill.

T. H. Knotts has returned from an eastern trip.

Thomas Bowman left yesterday for Cedar Rapids.

Leonard Everett started yesterday for San Francisco.

J. H. Burroughs expects soon to leave for the sunny south.

J. Sullivan, of Sullivan & Fitzgerald, is reported as recovering from his illness.

Mr. Nate Williams is recovering from a dangerous attack of malarial fever.

St. D. Street, ex-clerk of the courts, is now on a prospecting tour through Nebraska.

Miss Nellie Hatcher and Grace Osborne have returned to their collegiate studies at Des Mones.

Charles D. Arnold has gone to New York City on a business trip for Kimball & Champ, his employers.

L. S. Cushing, for some time past bookkeeper for H. E. Seaman, starts to-day as abstract clerk for Messrs. J. W. & E. L. Squires.

Mrs. S. H. Smith was taken suddenly and seriously ill Tuesday night but was yesterday somewhat better. It seems to be an attack of winter cholera.

Defunct Insurance Company.

J. L. Dugot, the receiver of the defunct "Mutual Iowa Live Stock Insurance Company," has filed a report showing that when he took charge he found no cash, no office, and what assets there were were scattered about the country. These assets consisted mainly of premium contracts running for five years, the contracts providing that not more than one-fifth of the amount could be collected each year. The assessments now being collected amount to $19,806 82, and the rates being collected amount to $3,138 02. During his receivership he has collected $1,023. 60 of cash. The amount of premium contracts not due is $40,193.18, and the total assets of all kinds, $64,161.62, two-thirds of which, he thinks, in time can be collected. Against this claims have been filed against the company to the amount of $18,000. The showing indicates that the receiver has done his best to gather up the scattered ducats, but show up very poorly for the management of the company.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following is a list of real estate transfers filed yesterday in the recorder's office of Pottawattomie county, Iowa, as furnished by A. J. Stephenson, abstractor, real estate and loan agent, Council Bluffs, Iowa, January 14, 1885.

Sheriff to Nancy J. Conrad, lot 6, block 8, Meredith's add. to Avoca. $90 35.

Sheriff to Seiffert & Weiss, lot 2, block 3, William's add. to Hancock. $518.88.

Total sales, 609.23.

Charges Preferred Against the Management of the Friendless Home.

A Change Demanded.

The exposure of the peculiar workings of the Home of the Friendless as made by the BEE, has been followed up by the other papers, and many new facts are coming out which those in possession of have heretofore kept to themselves.

The summing up of the statements amounts to some very serious charges, which appear in brief to be as follows:

The representations have been made to give the public the impression that there was an "association" having practical charge of the home, and having the general supervision and approval of the management, whereas no such association exists in fact, no meetings are held, or anything of that sort, but that Rev. J. G. Lemen is self-appointed manager, and that he is the one who has the whole charger that in fact it is a private institution, virtually owned and controlled by Rev. Mr. Lemen.

That he receives and disburses the funds, without any checking or inspection, or personal knowledge of others That he is responsible to no one but himself.

To advertise such an institution as though there was a great association of business men looking after the affairs and seeing that all is conducted aright, is not a truthful representation, and tends to mislead and deceive the public.

That the paper published at the home and pretending to give contributors the facts about the home has also been used to deceive the public. It has suppressed the fact that that the assistant manager, Rev. Mr. Bovell, and the matron, Mrs. Compton, had resigned, and that the school department had been virtually broken up. It has made the public believe that the institution was an extensive one with many departments, when the fact is that there is no such greatness.

The "industrial department" consisted chiefly of two young men working in the printing office, one of whom has already left dissatisfied, The official organ of the institution has been giving the public false impressions of the extent and character of the work.

That the public has been misled by the financial reports published. Friends who were paying the board of certain children have been credited as donating these amounts to the Home, whereas it is simply a payment of board, of those for whom they were responsible. Reports have been published as having been audited by the executive committee, when said committee know practically notning concerning the reports.

That the institution has bean so managed that it is heavily and needlessly involved in debt, property having been recklessly purchased, and debts foolishly contracted, while the receipts were not sufficient to meet expenses, the expenses were increased, and real estate bought on monthly payments, a printing office likewise purchased, and the enterprise spread rather than built up and strengthened.

That instead of being a "Christian" home, it has been a scene of bickerings, quarrellings and neglect of children.

That the management has been such that the corps of officers, instructors, matron, etc., and their families, who have to be supported directly or indirectly by the Home, outnumber the number of destitute children thus cared for. In other words, the public has been called on to support about twenty-five persons, only eight or ten of whom are really cases of charity, the others being supposed to be given support for the taking care of the little band.

That with all this expensive and complicated machinery, the few children who have been in the Home have not been properly cared for, that they have been neglected physically as well as morally, and that there have been cases of abuse reported also.

That those who have been most closely connected with the work and most intimately conversant with the details, have by their resignations, and by their words, declared that they can no longer conscientiously support or endorse it under the present management.

That no association, board of directors or other body of citizens has yet appeared before the public to refute the charges, or vouch for the wisdom and honesty of the management, although the institution has been presented to the public or backed by some aid organization somewhere.

That all the association that exists at all, outside of the active management, consists of persons who have simply donated amounts to the Home, and know nothing of the actual workings, having had no voice or say in the control of affairs.

That an insurance scheme has been worked with suspicious quietness. Some being induced to contribute on the representation that in case of sickness weekly amounts will be paid in relief, and in case of death the heirs would receive insurance, the clause being added, "provided it can be raised by assessments upon the members of the association." No fund has been reported as on hand, and there seems no stability or reliability to the insurance thus offered, and the plan as proposed would give no support, but for the fact that it takes on the garb of a charitable and christian enterprise.

That the manager personally has not the confidence of those over whom he has served as a pastor, and of those with whom he has been associated in the work of the Home.

That by the false representations held out to the public to induce contributions, and the suppression of facts by the official paper with an apparent design to mislead, that a policy has been pursued which has been far from consistent with the pretensions of a Christian manager conducting a Christian institution and appealing to a Christian public.

Such are the charges as briefly outlined, and unless they are clearly disproved, and unless the management can secure the unqualified endorsement of a goodly body of men and women in whose judgment and integrity the public can have confidence, the institution should be placed in other hands, or die for want of support.

Such an institution as was originally designed—not an insurance company, nor a printing office, nor an academy, not a boarding house—but a home for the friendless is needed here, and if men and women of all churches would unite in a simple organization, elect a board of directors, secure a place, employ a matron, and go ahead with a careful, economical Christian management, it would receive not only sufficient support, but would have the confidence and good-will of the public.

Dropped Dead.

John Mowrey, while seated in his home on Pierce street yesterday, suddenly fell backward in his chair and died instantly. Coroner Connell held an inquest, and decided that death was caused by heart disease. Mr. Mowrey's father died in a somewhat similar manner last fall, he dropping on the street and living but a short time after being removed to his home.

Orange peel is now said to be collected, dried in ovens, and sold for kindling fires. It burns readily and with great fierceness and is safer than kerosene.
