CLEVELAND will march on to Washington on March 24. The grand march, however, will take place on March 4th.

The Great state of Iowa has walked off with the principal prizes at the New Orleans World's exhibition, and not citizens have reason to feel proud of her success.

The first limit ordinance is being continually violated in whole or in part. It seems to us that Chief Engineer Butler is rather droll in his duty in not strictly enforcing the ordinance.

The latest advices from London are to the effect that the headquarters of the dynamiters are in Paris. This robs the brag of O'Donovan Rossa of considerable glory, as it shows that he does not know nearly as much about the dynamite outrages as he has attempted to make the American public believe.

According to groundhog tradition if the groundhog sees his shadow on February 24 we shall have six weeks of winter weather following. The groundhog yesterday saw his shadow, and at once crawled into his hole again. This is a groundhog case, and we might as well prepare for another siege of winter.

The governor of Iowa has commissioned twenty-five prominent agriculturists and business men to represent that state at the cotton planters convention. We would like to know what interest Iowa has in cotton-planting.

The New York Medical Record calls upon congress to take immediate steps towards preventing the invasion of cholera into this country. The article is a timely warning and it is hoped that congress will not overlook this important matter.

When Grover Cleveland is elected president of the United States he will lack fourteen days of being 48 years old. Only one younger man has been inaugurated president, and that is Grant, who lacked some six weeks of being 47 years old when he entered the white house.

It was only a few days ago that we had the pleasure of chronicling the statement that Duncan C. Ross, the athlete, had sold out his saloon in Cleveland with the determination of abandoning the liquor business and athletics, and entering the ministry.

Col. W. F. Vilas, of Madison, Wisconsin, is closing up and transferring to other firms his entire law business, and it is said that he will on the 20th of this month resign his seat in the legislature.

General Crook's great acquaintance with the disposition and condition of the Indian, his long experience with the different tribes and his marked success in the treatment of the race, give his opinion a peculiar weight and entitle it to the greatest respect.

The prospects of Lieutenant Greeley being given a soft berth in acknowledgment of his Arctic services have been blighted by the withdrawal of the recommendation of General's Rosecrans and Slocum, of the house military committee.

We consider Omaha one of the most generous and fortunate cities in this country. There is not a city of the same size in the United States where the "hard times" are felt less, and we believe it to be a fact that Omaha has fewer unemployed persons than any other city of 60,000 population.

THE FUTURE OF THE RED MAN.

Mr. William M. Springer appears in print with an article on the "Red Man," which, in addition to some interesting statistics, contains several suggestions as to how the Indian problem can be solved.

His suggestions, however, are not by any means original with him. They are substantially the same as have been made from time to time by Gen. Crook and other friends of the red man, and most of these suggestions will be found embodied in Senator Coke's bill, which is now before congress.

Mr. Springer urges that measures should be adopted at once looking to the allotment of the lands of the semi-civilized tribes in severalty, and the sale of lands not required for allotment, the proceeds to constitute trust funds for their education and civilization.

Mr. Springer also holds that the greatest boon that can be conferred upon the Indian is to make him a citizen, give him a homestead, and teach him how to earn an honest living for himself and family.

In other words, make a white man of him in every sense of the word except color. Now all this is provided for in the Coke bill, with the exception of bestowing citizenship upon the Indian, and it is hoped that the bill be amended so to give to the Indian the right to vote and hold office, and exercise all the rights and privileges of a full-fledged American citizen.

STARTLING FACTS.

It is a startling fact, leaked out from time to time, and although at first regarded as a sensational story, it was soon corroborated by indisputable evidence. The charges against Greeley may result in the same way, but we hope not.

The terrible explosion from natural gas in Pittsburg has greatly alarmed the people of that place. It has demonstrated that the use of natural gas for illuminating and fuel purposes will have to be abandoned, as it is almost as dangerous as dynamite.

It is not only very explosive, but it is so corrosive, that its escape from the pipes cannot be detected, and it is so penetrating that in a number of instances when the pressure has been high it has forced its way between the pores of cast-iron pipes an inch thick. It will be seen that so long as the leaks cannot be detected in the same manner that coal gas leaks are discovered the new fuel cannot be used with any degree of safety.

REPTILES ON A BENDER.

The Horned Toads of Wilson Creek Canyon Go on a Spree. Bodie (Cal.) Free Press. A man living up Wilson creek canyon was in town last Thursday for grub, and told the reporter a queer yarn. He prefaced his story by saying that he always keeps a supply of whisky on hand as a remedy in case of rattlesnake, scorpion, centipede or tarantula bites.

He has several times of late been annoyed by coming home from his work at night and finding the demijohn lying broken on the floor and whisky wasted. Thinking it the result of accident, he kept sending to town for more demijohns so often that his merchant began to suspect him of taking to hard drinking.

Having a curiosity to see what he had always been known as a very steady, temperate, hard-working man, he took a lay off, and was lying in bed reading, when, hearing a noise, he looked around, and was astonished to see a regular army of horned toads, of all ages and sizes, coming through a crack under his door.

They were after him, and he was not disturbed until he had crawled into the demijohn, and was ejected by the toads. He then crawled out, and was again attacked, and he was obliged to crawl into the demijohn again, and was again ejected.

He then crawled out, and was again attacked, and he was obliged to crawl into the demijohn again, and was again ejected. He then crawled out, and was again attacked, and he was obliged to crawl into the demijohn again, and was again ejected.
