Mrs. Ada Williams, a colored lady, reported at the police headquarters yesterday that her fourteen year-old daughter, named Mamie Williams, wearing a grey cloak reaching nearly to her shoe tops, and hood, had mysteriously disappeared. The family of the missing girl is nearly distracted and wholly unable to account for her strange disappearance.

It is said that the Central and Union Pacific roads have co-operated to establish a fast through freight between Chicago and San Francisco. CHECKED OFF.

B. & M. Baggage-men Threatened with the Bounce.

Killed Sample Trunks and Kicking Drummers--Detectives on a Still Hunt.

For some time past a number of detectives have been shadowing the baggage-men on the B. & M., and watching the baggage cars and baggage rooms of the company. The cause of this unusual vigilance has just leaked out. During the year just past it is said by men posted in the business, that the sample trunks of commercial drummers have been robbed of various kinds of goods in value estimated at $50,000, between Pacific Junction and San Francisco. The complaints of the "road agents" were loud and long, and finally the company determined to investigate. The search culminated last week in a fizzle. One of the detectives, who imagined he had cornered a victim, ordered the arrest of H. A. O'oad, a baggage man on the Plattsmouth-Red Cloud division. A search warrant was issued and O'oad's residence overhauled, but nothing was found to connect him in the remotest way with the alleged thefts. However, an example had to be made and O'oad received his walking papers. Dudley Thompson, another baggage man on the same division, was discharged without any known cause, and also an express messenger whose name could not be learned.

Other members of the trunk jacking fraternity on the road are said to be shivering clean down to their boots, not knowing what moment the edict of the detectives will cause their removal. So far nothing has been found to implicate the men in the alleged thefts, and it is more than possible that the drummers are trying to fasten on the railroad losses occasioned by the open carelessness or town painting expeditions.

THE COMING BALL.

The Mardi Gras Ball Laid Away Back on the Shelf and All Former Attempts Out-Done.

The masquerade ball to be given in Masonic hall by the "Press Club," on Thursday evening, February 12th, promises to be the greatest event of the kind ever given in Omaha. All former events will be totally eclipsed and this ball will stand out untrammelled and alone. It cannot be other than a success, for the reporters are running it. During winter's cold and summer's heat the weary reporter goes his way up and down the streets, now dodging in here and out there to give to the readers of his sheet the very latest news. To church fairs and societies, funerals and weddings, prize fights, horse races, balls and parties, in fact, wherever one may go in the city of Omaha, he will find present some one of the reporters of Omaha daily papers.

The coming ball is their maiden effort in this line and in making their debut they are determined that it shall be "one of the best."

On that occasion the dramatic reporter, religious reporter, sensational reporter, court reporter, society reporter, and, in fact, all reporters will be in attendance. One of the crowning features will be the appearance of the only living fighting reporter, with a neck like a lashed bull and arms five feet long; he has many revolvers for fingers and writes with a live oak club; he spells a man's name wrong and kills him if he wants it corrected; loves poets and poetry and takes them both raw; carries his dead in his pocket; and trims his gory ulster with the scalps of complaining subscribers.

This will positively be his first, last and only appearance in this city, as there is pressing need of his services in Lincoln, where he goes to paralyze the legislature immediately after their turning the state over to the railroads.

Tickets for this grand ball will be placed on sale to-morrow, and you are cordially invited to indulge to the amount of one dollar, or more, as the case may be. If there is any of the milk of human kindness in your system, or if the blood in your veins warms at the mention of the name of a reporter, get your money early, for the boys will surely be around.

THE BENEVOLENT FAIR.

The Progress of the Fair of the Omaha Benevolent Society.

The fair of the Omaha Benevolent society, now being held in Falconer's hall, is proving a most successful venture and will be the means of realizing a neat little sum with which to aid suffering humanity. These nightly gatherings are pleasant in the extreme. A fine musical programme is presented each evening, interspersed with dancing and social intercourse.

The hall is beautifully decorated and is itself a sight well worth the price of admission to see. A new feature just added to the fair by Mrs. A. Goldsmith, is an art gallery. It is well worth a visit and the lady who has the thing in charge will be able to make a considerable amount of money for the society treasury.

To-night a fine programme will be offered and the citizens of Omaha are most cordially invited to be present and enjoy it. Each evening from 5 till 7 o'clock, a merchants' supper is served and at this time no admission is charged.

These suppers are excellent, as the writer can say, for he has been there and knows how it is himself. If you desire to aid a worthy cause, and, at the same time get a good supper, do not fail to go to Falconer's hall every evening during this week for tea. It is an old story that "the way to a man's pocketbook is through his stomach," and the ladies hope to find the way many times during the week.

Fine Pictures.

A reporter of THE BEE was last evening shown a very fine portrait of Mr. Elam Clark, now deceased, who was very well known in this city. The portrait is an off-hand crayon sketch, by Mr. Marxsen, of Chicago, and is a perfect likeness of the deceased gentleman. Mr. Clark proposes as soon as the weather is a little more propitious, to place the picture in one of the windows down town in order that the many friends of Mr. Clark may see it. A second portrait of a young lady was also shown. It is also an off-hand crayon sketch, by Mrs. McNaughton, of Council Bluffs, and is equally as fine as the portrait by the great artist, Marxsen. Mrs. McNaughton is an invalid lady, and she is obliged to lie in bed while doing her work, and it is truly wonderful how she can do such work under such unfavorable circumstances.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

A Brilliant Musical Event at Boyd's Opera House Tuesday Night.

One of the finest audiences which has gathered together in Boyd's opera house this season assembled Tuesday night to listen to the first concert of the season by the Omaha Glee Club, assisted by Chicago Madrigal club and the Fourth Infantry band. The night was a stormy one and without all was dark and dreary, but within the walls of the opera house, how changed the scene. Everybody was happy and the singers were in the most pleasant of moods.

The programme opened with the "Chorus of Men, (St. Cecilia's Day)" by the Omaha Glee club and the Fourth Infantry band. It was a fit opening for such an entertainment and at the closing of the selection the large audience applauded loudly. Then, S. Menderson, of the Madrigal club, followed with a pleasing solo, "Dreaming," by Wallings. Mr. Menderson has a fine tenor voice and his singing last evening was highly creditable, and greatly enjoyed.

The cornet solo by Frederick Austin, of the Madrigal club, was well received and although the selection was very well ordered, yet it is not necessary to leave the bounds of Omaha to find cornet players who can execute equally as well as did Mr. Austin.

"Parting" was very cleverly sung by the Glee club, and they responded to an encore with that grand old selection, "Annie Laurie." Miss Alice Atwood, of the soprano of the Madrigal club, made a very fine impression upon the audience, and rendered with telling effect "Qui la Vece." In response to an encore, she sang very sweetly, "Coming Through the Rye." The Madrigal club followed with "Foraken" and "Swedish Wedding March." Both selections were exceptionally well sung and the Madrigal club made themselves prime favorites with the audience.

About as fine a selection as was on the "Boquet of Melodies from Lucia," by the Fourth Infantry band. This organization is too well and favorably known to call for extended comment at this time. Suffice it is to say that they were obliged to respond to an encore and did so very gracefully.

The solos by Miss Emma, Mabella Baker, the contralto of the Madrigal club, were applauded to the echo, and she was very recalled. She is a very pleasant singer and is a great favorite with her audience, because of her pleasing ways, as well as her excellent voice.

The bass solo by Mr. George H. Broderick was rendered in that gentleman's usual happy style, and of course he had to sing a second selection. George never sings once but he is immediately called upon to sing again.

The balance of the programme was carried out in a highly artistic style, and thought but words of praise can be said of it. The Glee club is in excellent shape under the efficient leadership of Mr. Franklin Smith, one of the best musical directors in the western country. Omaha can justly feel proud of such a grand organization, and the beautiful audience which greeted the boys Tuesday is the best evidence that their efforts are thoroughly appreciated.

SPECIAL CORSET SALE.

Great Sale at Smith's Dry Goods Store To-day.

Great Bargains Booked or Every Day This Week.

To-day, Thursday, February 5th, at Smith's dry goods store, 1307 Farnam street, there will be a special sale of corsets. From the lowest grade up to the highest, they will be sold at one-half price, in order to reduce stock. This is one of the best bargains ever advertised in Omaha, and no lady can well afford to miss profiting by it.

On Friday there will be a special sale in the linen department. All goods marked down to bed rock and all must and will be sold without reserve. These goods were never before offered so cheap in Omaha or in the west as they will be at this sale and you will never be able to buy them so cheap again and by all means take advantage of this sale.

On Saturday, February 7th, there will be a grand reduction in all lines of goods and a grand special sale will be given. The doors will be thrown wide open and all may come in and take advantage of the lowest prices ever offered at any store in Omaha.

We desire to call special attention to Smith's line of underwear. He has a very large stock of very fine goods and is selling them at prices which baffles all competition.

In carpets and rugs a fortune can be made by buying them at Smith's store. You will never be able again to buy carpets at such low prices as they are now offered for at Smith's.

During this entire week you can find great bargains in all departments at Smith's and it will be to your interest to look over his stock and prices before making your purchases.

SNEAKED "$40."

The C. St. P. M. & O. Depot Robbed at Noon Yesterday.

Yesterday, while the employes in the depot office of the C. St. P. M. & O. road were at dinner, a sneak thief forced an entrance and breaking open the money drawer, carried off its contents amounting to about $40.

The clerks did not leave their desks until about half past twelve and some of the money returned at that fifteen minutes and it was during this short space of time that the theft was committed. The agent reported at police headquarters and says that he thinks the thief is a tramp, who has been hanging around the depot for a week past.

"STORM-BEATEN."

The Company With the Windy Name Piled up in a Wreck.

The "Storm Beaten" company, billed to appear here this week, were ditched by a railroad accident in Indiana yesterday morning. The associated press report yesterday afternoon says:

The Chicago News special from Vincennes, Ind., says the "Storm-Beaten" Theatre company, traveling by special train, were picked out of a bad wreck near this city this morning. The train was running fifty miles an hour going round a curve and was ditched. The baggage car, containing the scenery, was splintered, and the parlor car, in which was the company, was upset, but none were badly injured.

The Ladies' Musicales.

The seventh of the present series of the Ladies' Musicales took place yesterday afternoon, at Meyers' hall, being quite largely attended by the members and friends of the society. Ovation music, of the grand and masterly style of the old composers, furnished the theme of the afternoon. The following are the numbers rendered:

- Representation of Chaos.....Haydn (Piano arrangement from the creation) Miss Minnie Brown.
O Sing to God (Noel).....Gormod
Mrs. Spilgers, Mrs. Rhodes, Mrs. Estabrook, Mrs. Peck.
Air--If With All Your Heart, (Elijah).....Mr. Brockmidge.
Infantaria, (Shostak).....Dvorak
Miss Pennell.
Recitation and Air--I Will Extol Thee.....Costa
Recitation and Air--I Thine Shoulder Mark Iniquities, (Eli).....Costa
Mr. Warren Rogers.
March to Calvary, (Redemption).....Gormod
Miss Brown.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE BEE.

In yesterday's Republican, the editor indulged his spleen at Senator Van Wyck in his usual unfair way. The Republican states that Senator Van Wyck said that it took 150 bushels of corn to purchase a ton of soft coal in Nebraska. What the senator did say--see pages 228-9 of congressional record, January 17th is this: "In Kansas and Nebraska 50 bushels of corn will not purchase one ton of soft coal."

There is a slight difference between 50 and 150. Four months corn did not bring more than 12 cents a bushel in the interior of the state, while soft coal was sold at $6.50 to $8.50 per ton. Forty bushels of corn at 12 cents would be $6.25, much less than the average price of a ton of soft coal in country towns.

Hence we find that Senator Van Wyck's statement was literally true, while the editor of the Republican multiplied that statement by three in order to slander the senator.
