

THE DAILY BEE
Tuesday Morning, Feb. 17

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The C. K. of A., will meet in their hall this evening at 7:30. T. F. Brennan.
Revival meeting to-night at 7:30 in the South Tenth street M. E. church, Rev. W. J. Pyle will preach.
The B. & M. depot is to be provided with a waiting room and general accommodation for emigrant traffic.
Max J. Esch and Miss Maria A. Zeminick were married yesterday by Judge Wales.
A young woman in the "New York cigar store," a Twelfth street dive, burned her hand last night in extinguishing a fire caused by an accident.
Assistant General Manager Holdrege and Assistant Freight Agent Smith, of the B. & M., are in Lincoln, on what mission no man knoweth.
An important meeting of the carpenters will be held in their hall Tuesday evening, at 7:30. Every member is expected to be in his place.
The adjourned meeting of the plumbers, gas and steam fitters will be held in the court room under the city hall on Thursday evening instead of Tuesday evening.
James McKay, who died last Thursday at St. Joseph's hospital, will be buried this (Tuesday) morning from Burket's undertaking rooms at 10 o'clock to Laurel Hill cemetery.
Marshal Ellis Bierbore, recently reappointed at Washington for this district, returned last night, via the C. & N. W. He is looking hale and hearty, and says that he has enjoyed himself hugely.
Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Herman A. Veight and Mrs. Carry A. Larson, Max J. Esch and Maria A. Zeminick, William S. Canon and Mrs. Elizabeth Reeves, Richard McDonald and Eliza Carter.
The owner of the building who was snatched for "willfully and feloniously assaulting" Capt. Sullivan Sunday night is determined to prosecute the police authorities for the value of the animal.
Sunday was a day of great interest at the South Tenth Street Methodist church. The revival work will continue every night this week at 7:30. The young revivalist, Rev. Mr. Pyle, is a man of peculiar power and tact.
Constable Nelson, of South Omaha, arrested a partially intoxicated Swede named Hansen, who was engaged in raising a disturbance near the Commercial hotel. After a severe struggle, in which Constable Nelson was seriously bruised, Hansen was landed in jail.
For Sale--A general merchandise business in a thriving town within twenty-five miles of Lincoln, established seven years, best trade in town, stock will invoice about $5,000. Will sell or rent building; terms easy. For further particulars, address McCord, Brady & Co., of Omaha.
B. and M. surveyors are running a line from Holdrege, Kearney county, to Ogallala, Keith county. The rapid settlement of Keith county and Western Nebraska has caught the eye of the Burlington and she is looking up a route for a railway to that county. Ogallala is a naturally the point of attack, by reason of its fortunate location and growing business importance.
The B. and M. is repairing and enlarging its local passenger depot. A new waiting-room for emigrant accommodations has been added to the building, and the grain and other have embellished the whole interior. New seats have been placed in every room. An improved carriage approach has been placed on the front paving and the depot thoroughly equipped.
Snow-storms prevailing in eastern Iowa have delayed all west-bound trains from Chicago. All eastern trains last night were reported from 5 to 10 hours late. The C. & N. W. due yesterday morning arrived 12 hours late at 9:30 last night, while the Fast Mail was 4 hours behind time. The U. P. west-bound evening train left the depot at midnight delayed in waiting for eastern connections.
At the corner of Ninth and Leavenworth streets the Schlitz brewery dist is fast approaching completion, and will be ready for occupancy about March 1. It is the intention of the Milwaukee firm to make this point a center of distribution for this section of the west. In addition to large storage and warehouse rooms, offices and stables, a bottling department has been provided for, and the process of putting up the beer in bottles will be conducted.
About two o'clock yesterday morning, Officer Peter Matza discovered on Tenth street a young girl wandering about, crying and well lighted. Upon being interrogated in Bohemian, her native tongue, the girl said that she had been asked to go to a dance by two girl friends, but on the way had become separated and lost. The kind-hearted officer took her under his protecting wing, and escorted her to her home in Bohemian town and turned her over to her anxious folks.
The last party of the series of 845 of the "Home Circle Club" takes place to-morrow, Tuesday evening, February 17, at Masonic hall. This independent orchestra will furnish a new programme of music for the occasion.
The following schedule of time for the stock yard dummy trains has been posted in the U. P. depot:

Fort Notes
At a meeting of the Soldiers' Literary, held at Becker's hall on Saturday evening, in the absence of Mr. R. F. Bowser, H. Biechtel was chosen as chairman. Owing to the decrease of one of the members since their last meeting, the programme which was announced for the evening was postponed, and a few general remarks in regard to the disputed member was made by Mr. Hays, and each member was requested to wear crapes on the left arm for sixty days. The lot of the left arm origin, but contains excellent talent in the way of authors of all classes. The meeting is to be held on the 14th day of each month, and is of great benefit to the readers, both mentally and physically.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.
An Adjourned Session Last Night--
New Schools to be Built.

The school board held an extra adjourned session last night, at which all members were present. President Long was in the chair, Mr. Conroy acting as secretary.
The object of the meeting was to discuss the subject of the immediate erection of a new school house on the corner of Twenty eighth and Farnam, and also the building of a similar structure on the corner of Eighteenth and Cassell.
The plans for the new Farnam street school house, both as originally designed and as subsequently modified, were laid before the board and discussed, as also were the newly draughted designs of the Cassell school.
The Farnam school, on the basis discussed by the board will be a ten-room building, with basement above ground. This latter feature was decided upon for the reason that the school board has had much trouble with basements below ground, which at certain seasons of the year were sure to be more or less damp.
The subject of adopting the plans was earnestly canvassed. Councilman Hara was present, and expressed himself as being in favor of the Cassell school being erected at the same time, on the same general plan and at the same cost.
Mr. Specht, in a lengthy speech, declared himself as siding with the honorable member of the city council, the people of South Omaha need it and must have it once a new school house. Present accommodations were far too small to accommodate the scholars, who were constantly pressing in. The necessity of a new school in South Omaha was greater than the need of one in the west end; and if anything, the Cassell school ought to be erected first. However, he was in favor of advertising for bids for both buildings at the same time and having them constructed on one contract at the same time at a uniform cost of $18,000.
Mr. Gibson suggested, with considerable warmth, that the school board had enough of these double contracts, and could not afford to run the risk of calling for another one, as they always proved disastrous in the long run. After considerable further debate, it was decided to adopt the $20,000 plan for the Farnam school as already drawn up by Dufrene & Mendelsohn, the architects. As for the Cassell street school, a motion was made and carried that the same firm prepare plans for an $18,000 building, to be submitted at an extra meeting next Monday night. Board adjourned.
Public speakers and singers find B. H. Douglass & Sons' Capicum Cough Drops a sure remedy for hoarseness.
PERSONAL
Gen. Thayer went to Washington last night.
E. M. Bartlett went to Lincoln last night.
Mr. W. H. Bullins, formerly of this city, now of Chillicothe, Missouri, came up to Omaha yesterday morning.
Mr. J. Goldberg returned from the east yesterday and as a result of his visit will, in a few days, open the Fair on Farnam street with a large stock of dry goods.
J. R. Buffington, Liberty; D. D. Newcomer, Blue Hill, Neb.; William Brandt, Jr., Malcom; B. R. B. Wilber, Wahoo; J. D. Hurd, Niangua, are at the Millard.
A. H. Needig, Norfolk; Thomas Jensen and W. A. Thurman, Ulysses; John Fleinich, Hooper, A. J. Cornish, Lincoln; S. F. Maltby, L. Advile, Col.; A. W. Lowrey, Dayton, Ohio, are at the Paxton.
P. Danphy, Grand Island; J. A. Graham, North Bend; C. A. Randall, Springfield; W. L. M. Graham, West Point; Judge J. S. Smith, Fremont, are at the Casfield.

Vitch, Milwaukee; R. M. Jeffrey, Minneapolis; and V. T. Cole, of St. Louis, are stopping at the Metropolitan.
COURT CALENDAR.
Matters in the District Court--County Court--Minor Items.
In the district court yesterday no business of great importance was transacted. Before Judge Wakely the case of Hammond vs. Woodworth was on trial. The case was tried last term, but the jury failed to agree in making up the verdict. The suit is one brought against L. Woodworth by Hammond to recover money due on a well digging contract executed by plaintiff. Hammond, as a well digger, is quite a celebrity, being known as "Witchazel" Hammond, by reason of his using the "witchazel fork" to determine the location of a spring of water.
Before Judge Neville the case of Mercer vs. Culver, suit brought for purposes of attachment, was on trial.
Prosecuting Attorney Le Estelle will take up the criminal docket next Monday morning.
COUNTY COURT.
In this tribunal yesterday Judge McCulloch was engaged in hearing the case of J. A. Fuller vs. Hugh McManus, a suit brought to recover $277.18 amount due on a bill of goods purchased by defendant. McManus acknowledges that there were certain notes due on prior sale, but claims that those amounts footed up to only $88. Plaintiff, in his claims in petition, had misrepresented quality and price of goods delivered, and further, had not given the amount paid for per contract. The trial was finished and judgment rendered.
Nile Nelson vs. A. Koegerer, real name unknown, for $367 for a drove of steers sold by plaintiff and not paid for.
NOTES.
In Judge Anderson's court four property owners in sewer district No. 13, entered suit against the city to recover taxes paid under protest, in satisfaction of the tax on alleged illegal tax levy. F. C. Fetter & Co. were granted a judgment in the same case of $157.85 against Messrs. Garra & Gawn of the Time-Dep't.
Steele, Johnson & Co. in the same tribunal instituted review proceedings against Hobson & Co., a dry goods firm of Western Nebraska. Hobson & Co. had purchased a large bill of goods from them in setting up in business some time ago. Becoming bankrupt, Hobson attempted to evade a march on his creditors by shipping off his goods to a town in KANSAS, exact vicinity not known. As chance would have it, the shipments were transferred at the C. M. and St. Paul depot in this city, where they were seized by Messrs. Strole, Johnson & Co. in satisfaction of their claims.

"DROP THOSE PANTS!"
The Queer Story of a Swindler Who Professes Innocence.
Beni Van Orman, a man of some thirty-five years, and claiming to hail from Council Bluffs, was arrested last night by Officer John Tarabull and jailed on a charge of fraud.
It appears that about ten days ago Van Orman, who is a smooth-talking, affable gentleman, went to Paulsen, the real estate man, and endeavored to sell him property of his in Nebraska, which he offered for sale at extraordinarily low rates.
Mr. Paulsen asked for reference and was promptly referred to certain parties in the east, to whom he wrote. After waiting a reasonable length of time for an answer and receiving none, Mr. P. notified Van Orman that he did not care to purchase the land. The latter then endeavored to procure a loan, but in this was unsuccessful. He at length dropped as low in his borrowing requests as to ask for twenty-five cents, but Mr. Paulsen, firmly convinced that Van Orman was a swindler, refused to listen to him.
About this time the attention of the police was directed to this individual by another and unconnected circumstance. Van Orman, a few days previous, had gone to Meldrum, the Fifteenth street tailor, and had given him a pair of pants to mend, taking in temporary exchange a pair belonging to a well known society man of this city. He promised to promptly return, pay for the repairing of his own pants, and give up the borrowed pair. This he failed to do, and a week passed by and still he returned not. Finally, the young society man became anxious and angry, as he supposed, for the reason that the pair of pants were forever gone. The police were notified but failed to find either the precious pantaloons, or the man who was wearing them. Last night, however, Mr. Meldrum encountered Van Orman, and proceeded to handle him without gloves. He escorted him with no great gentleness to his shop, where he was ordered to shed the stolen pantaloons, and take back his own. This done, he was handed over to Officer Tarabull.
Van Orman claims to be innocent of any intent to defraud. He says that he is a brother of Judge James, of Council Bluffs.

A MOTHER'S STRUGGLE.
Mrs. Fannie Lathrop Appeals to the Law for the Possession of Her Child.
Last evening a lady giving her name as Mrs. Fannie Lathrop called upon Judge McCulloch in the county court, and in applying for a writ of habeas corpus to recover a child told a story possessing some points of interest.
It seems that several months ago Mrs. Lathrop, who is a woman of about 26 years of age, met with a terrible affliction in the insanity of her husband. Mr. Lathrop, after being passed upon by the examining board, was adjudged a worthy subject for the state asylum, and accordingly thither he was sent. His wife was left destitute and without any means of support except such a pittance as would accrue from her and unremitting manual labor of the most mental character. She was furthermore burdened with the care of three small children, aged respectively 7, 5 and 2 years.
For some time determined to toil, and her work was performed uncomplainingly in the hope that the wife might be kept from the door. The first struggle was hard and bitter, and she was compelled in a measure to give it up. One day during the latter part of last October Mr. J. W. Anderson, whose wife is a sister of Mrs. Lathrop and resides on Davenport between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, proposed to Mrs. L. that his family be allowed temporary charge of the two elder children. He promised that he would take good care of them. Mrs. Lathrop, thinking that this measure of temporary separation was the best for them, and that Mr. Anderson, who sent one of them to Lincoln and gave the other to a Mrs. Whitlock, also a relative of the Lathrop family. A few days later, Mrs. Lathrop being compelled to work out, gave the smallest child to a Mrs. William Meyer, Eleventh and Jones streets, and prepaid the board for a certain number of weeks in advance. The prepaid period of lodging has passed by more than a month and the child was, until yesterday, still forcibly retained by Mrs. Meyer, to exact the payment of its board.
After hearing the story, Judge McCulloch issued an order instructing Mrs. Meyer to surrender the child, and waive all claims of its care. The mother, accompanied by Officer Tom Pierret, visited Eleventh and Jones streets last night and recovered her child.
Mrs. Lathrop will probably take steps to recover her other children.

ORIGINAL AND ESTABLISHED FOR THE SALE OF
Merchant Tailors
GARMENTS ONLY

It has long ago been fully explained by the Press what is meant by Misfits and Uncalled for garments, and how the Misfit Parlors came into possession of them. Also how they are purchased by them that they can sell them at less than the "Original" cost. But being more thoroughly explained when a friend who has purchased from the Parlors meets another friend. In style of cut, finish of fabric, and workmanship, it is at once realized that these garments are not surpassed by any "Rivals," and more clearly is it seen when prices are compared, that competition to the "Misfit Parlors" is impossible
TO BE COMPARED.

From Elkhorn Station.
To the editor of the BEE:
DEAR SIR: Your correspondent was invited to a church social, held at the residence of William Hopper, Esq., half a mile south of Elkhorn station on Friday evening last.
There was a large attendance of those interested in the erection of a new church there.
Communications were received from several parties offering sums varying from $25 to $200. Among the latter being one from Mr. Poppleton of $200, and one from Mr. Harper of a like sum.
The refreshments were excellent and ably presided over by Mrs. Hopper and the Misses Hopper, assisted by the Misses McCombs, of Irwinston, and the Misses Sailings, of Elkhorn.
After refreshments the guests were entertained by some very choice music on the organ by several of the young ladies.
A very nice sum was raised for church purposes by those present, in yesterday's independent predicts that in the near future a handsome $2,000 building will adorn the hills overlooking the Elkhorn station.

To the editor of the BEE:
DEAR SIR: Please allow me the space in your paper to say that my name under an article appearing in yesterday's Bee, headed "Ritter vs. Thomas," was placed there without my knowledge and consent.

RAILWAY NEWS.
A Change in Smoke Stacks--The Invention of an Omaha Man.
The locomotives on the U. P. railway are undergoing a change in the style of their smokestacks, or as the dulle reporter would say, exchange "boll crown" for straight plug hats. The smokestacks which have been in use on the road for a number of years were built after a design made at the shops in this city, with a view to guarding especially against the escape of sparks and setting fire to the prairie grass. All engines built at the shops in this city and all bought elsewhere, whether at Taunton, Philadelphia, or other shops have been equipped with these stacks, which are conical in shape, and apparently quite capacious. A railway man said yesterday that the change to the ordinary straight stacks was being made with a view to securing a bigger "exhaust" than is possible with the old stacks, and a consequent advantage in firing an engine when it is necessary to haul unusually heavy loads.
AN OMAHA INVENTION.
A "hanging" machine has been patented by Matt R. He, master mechanic of the St. Paul & Omaha road. The machine is intended for use in cleaning the rods and snow from between the wheels of the cars. It consists of a mold board armed with knives and hung on a small car. The plow and cutters are raised and lowered by a half cam and friction rollers, which are readily controlled by an air pump attachment on the engine. One of these machines is in use on the St. Paul & Omaha road, and another on the Milwaukee road, and two or three are in use on eastern roads.

DIED
McGUIRE--In this city February 15th, at 10 o'clock p. m., Thomas, son of Edward and Mary McGuire, aged two years and four months.
Funeral will take place today, February 16th, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., from the residence, corner Pier and Blondo streets.
ULLMAN--Sunday, February 15, 1885, at 7:30 p. m., Peter J. Ullman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan, younger member of the Sullivan family, at the residence of his parents, 1810 Chicago street, of affection of the lungs, aged 24 years, 6 months and 9 days.
The funeral will take place from the residence on Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. and from St. Philomena's Cathedral at 10 a. m. The friends of the family are cordially invited to attend.
The unexpected death of Mr. Sullivan comes with severe loss to his many friends and a host of business acquaintances. As a business man, the youngest of a firm of well-known tinmiths, his strict attention to business and rigid integrity gained for him and his brothers an enviable reputation among the manufacturing tradesmen of this city. His sudden death cut the thread of usefulness in a crushing blow to his aged parents, his brothers and sisters, and robs the community of an upright, active, generous business man.

POLICE COURT.
In police court yesterday morning there was an excellent attendance of spectators but the criminal portion of the show was somewhat thin.
W. M. Rhodes, better known as "Corduroy Bill," was charged with intoxication. He pleaded guilty but said that he just got out of jail having been sent up for thirty days on bread and water and had gotten awfully thirsty and hence got a little too full. He promised to leave the city at once if released. He was fined $5 and sent to the city days on bread and water but judgement was suspended provided he left the city.
John Burns was fined $5 and costs for disturbance of the peace.
Chas. Caston was charged with being a vagrant and was held to await investigation.
George Pointdexter was charged with cheating money from Richard Kitcher under false pretenses. He pleaded not guilty and stated that he was not ready for trial. His case was continued.
