

THE DAILY BEE

Tuesday Morning, April 21.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Bee publishes to-day a spirited letter from a lady, correspondent who lives in a central Nebraska county.
A marriage license was issued in the county court yesterday to John Sullivan and Kate J. Timony.
Letters of administration were issued in the county court yesterday to Mary McAnland, in the matter of the estate of Robert McAnland.
The 25th anniversary of the Pioneer Hook and Ladder company will be celebrated on May 5th by a social and ball at the Little Casino rink.
The Creighton College base ball club, numbering twelve members, was organized Saturday evening. Charles Creighton will captain the nine, which opens the season on the 25th inst, with the high school club.
Judge Stenberg is pursuing a "sweeping" policy of reform. He has had the police court room carefully swept and scrubbed and a new floor rug has been laid from the front door to the railing. The room presents a greatly improved appearance.
Marshal Bierbower forwarded yesterday to Attorney General Garland his requisition for money for the May term of court, together with a statement of past expenses, etc. Upon his reply will depend largely the question of calling the juries for the May term.
Little's Girlie Eitel, daughter of the proprietor of the Eureka Laundry on St. Mary's avenue, fell down a flight of stairs Saturday afternoon, suffering a severe concussion of the brain. Under the skillful care of Dr. Sweetman, she is progressing favorably toward recovery.
The friends of Mrs. Sorenson, wife of N. Sorenson, sexton of Trinity Cathedral, gave her a pleasant surprise at her residence 613 N. Fourteenth street on Saturday night last, the anniversary of her birth, and presented her with a beautiful hanging lamp as a testimonial of their friendly wishes.
Alvin W. Parker, the teacher about whom so much trouble was made in the Oklahoma district, has been reinstated. The formal contract was signed by the great O'Keefe, whose son was the prime cause of the disturbance, and who was so bitterly opposed at first to the unfortunate Alvin.
Mr. Brunner, superintendent of county schools, is preparing a census of school attendance in all the districts of Douglas county. All returns are not yet in, but enough is known to warrant the statement that next to the Omaha district in point of attendance comes Florence with 218 school children, a loss of one since last year.
If the Omaha base ball club could secure the services of two fair players, who were joyfully exhibiting their skill in the great American game on Farnam, near Ninth street yesterday, there would be no more defeats with them. The young man who says a lady cannot throw or toss a brickbat should have seen these ladies throw a ball.
Among the arrests last night was Mrs. Anna Comofort, wife of P. Comofort, charged with adultery on complaint of her husband. The woman denies it and declares he is a worthless man and jealous. She expressed much anger and contempt at his conduct. She will probably have a hearing this morning.
The board of trade will, on Thursday next, receive and open the plans and specifications for the new chamber of commerce building, and as soon as the directors determine upon those to be adopted, proposals for bids will be advertised. Secretary Gibson informed the boys of the No. 3 engine house today that they could remain in their present quarters until about the first of May, when the process of excavation will be commenced.
A woman, name unknown, living near the corner of Seventh and Pierce streets, allowed Sunday night a heavy dose of "1776 Washing Crystal," mistaking it for medicine. The poisonous properties of the liquid re-acted immediately, and the unfortunate woman was taken violently ill. Judicious medical aid, however, saved her life.
Last Saturday night two small children, a boy and girl, of the family of a prominent West Omaha business man, were walking home from the skating rink, when the little girl was insulted by an old man, probably over 50 years of age, who had followed them from the rink. The screams of the two children brought assistance, and the old villain was driven off. This case should be a warning to parents who are accustomed to allow their children to go out at night without suitable escort or protection. Omaha is not yet clear of rascals.
Persons living on Tenth street and those whose business makes it necessary to pass along that thoroughfare complain greatly of the condition of the sidewalk near Mr. Drexel's residence. It appears that some one has a contract for grading and cutting down the soil, and handle clay and dirt over the sidewalk. The result is that clay and dirt are dropped about in little heaps by the jolting wagons, and when wetted, as the recent rains have caused them to become, the walk is not only so slippery as to occasion great difficulty to pedestrians, but absolutely endangers the limbs. Ladies who pass along are seriously troubled by the slippery incline of the sidewalk that has been brought about by this means.
W. P. Peck & Co., brokers, received the following special telegram yesterday afternoon from Avery, Hillabrant & Co. concerning the Chicago markets: "Lower consoils and reports that war excitement was increasing in England caused a sharp advance in wheat. Shorter active buyers, while longer have realized freely. Later reports stated Gladstone had resigned, but since denied. Parliament now in session. Will have positive news early to-morrow. Corn and provisions sympathized with the advance in wheat. War question is certainly undecided, but believe wheat fair. Purchase on its merits, independent of war, especially so on breaks."
It will be news to Omaha people to know that we have had a mixed marriage here. A Missouri City dispatch states that last week a colored man arrived in that town from Omaha who was accompanied by a German white woman, or a white woman of German descent who he stated was his wife. The citizens of the town do not approve of such marriages and proceeded at once to inform the woman and warned her that unless she and her noble lord and master quit the town immediately he would not fare very well. Believing discretion to be the better part of valor, the woman and the dark-skinned individual left the town on Saturday last via a Wabash train for Kansas City. And now the question arises who was this Omaha white woman of German descent, who is thus experimenting in miscegenation?
Yesterday witnessed a real summer-like rain and hail storm. The wind and rain fell upon the city with a violence seldom equaled, and they were accompanied by considerable hail, some of the stones being of unusual size. The thunders pealed and roared at times like the rumblings of artillery, and the streets and alleys were flooded in an incredibly short time. In this connection it may be noted and the fact that for lack of sewers or gutters of sufficient capacity, the main streets, such as Farnam and Douglas, as well as a number of other streets, were not only flooded with water, but covered with dirt and clay washed from the hills in the western part of the city. This mud accumulated rapidly, and gathered in quantities to such extent as to almost impede the passage of persons on foot as far down as Thirteenth street. The reporter counted forty-seven ladies at one time toiling and laboriously wading in the vicinity of Fifteenth and Farnam streets, while be-mudded gaiters and bedraggled skirts were to be seen everywhere around.

District Attorney Estelle, on yesterday speaking to a Bee reporter about the statute abolishing the office of district attorney and creating that of county attorney in its stead, declared that in his judgment it is likely to entail an amount of expense upon the state that few people will understand. This gentleman reasons in this wise: In every county there are more or less feuds; also men who will fight their dislikes and grudges against others by going before a grand jury and securing indictments because they can do so with safety. Under the new law there will be as many prosecuting officers as there are counties, and consequently a proportional increase of opportunities for these people to secure indictments for spite. A prosecutor should be wide awake to these things, and some of a great number of new men and strangers, as many of the new officers will necessarily be, can be far more easily imposed upon, relatively speaking, than a less number of men who, generally speaking, are pretty well acquainted. Mr. Estelle does not question the ability and fitness of the new officers, but the multiplicity of them will open a door to very many prosecutions that would not otherwise be brought, and thus entail a great expense.
C. L. S. C. will hold their regular meeting this evening, April 21st, at the residence of Mr. Henry Brown, 1421 Jones street. The members are requested to bring their C. L. S. C. badges and Chautauqua song books. The programme is entirely Shakespearean in honor of the three hundred and twenty-first anniversary of the poet's birthday.

Hanging from the Bridge.
Two gentlemen who came to this city Saturday night on the evening Union Pacific train brought information of a suicide which took place in one of the interior counties. A man, named Jacobs was found suspended to a bridge between Albion and St. Edwards, and when his body was cut down, it was found cold, and life entirely extinct. The man is reported to have been working for a farmer by the name of Martin Stevens. It is said that he had become enamored of a servant girl who had so far trifled with his affections as to induce in his mind the belief that she loved him. When the girl jilted him, he became despondent, and it is believed, mentally deranged. To this circumstance is traced the suicidal motive.
The Courts.
The district court has adjourned for a week. Judge Neville left yesterday morning for Papillion, where he holds the Sarpy county district court. District Attorney Estelle returned yesterday to Omaha, and will leave to-day to join Judge Neville.
COUNTY COURT.
Judge McCulloch had very little court business before him yesterday. Outside of some formal entries nothing was done in court. The judge issued marriage licenses to Andrew Brown and Mary A. May and John H. Sullivan and Kate J. Timony.
Marriage licenses was also issued and the tie tied by the judge for Gustav Wessel and Louise Edinger.

AN INVALID'S DEED.
Thomas Murphy, a Patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Commits Suicide Yesterday Morning.
His Rise to Divert Suspicion--Details of the Act and the Inquest.
About 6 o'clock yesterday morning, Thomas Murphy, a patient in the St. Joseph's hospital, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. He lived but a few moments, dying before medical aid was obtainable.
Murphy, about a week or ten days ago, was sent to the St. Joseph's hospital from Hastings, Neb., where he was a scissor grinder by trade, and a confirmed invalid. A contribution was raised by the authorities and some of the charitably disposed citizens to defray the expense of his trip, in the hope that he might recover under the skillful treatment of the local hospital physicians. He was found to be suffering, however, from asthma, dropsy and heart disease, a complication of maladies which would have inevitably resulted, in a few days, in the death of the unfortunate man. He was placed, however, in the charity ward of the hospital, and given every attention possible.
For several days prior to the act of self-destruction, Murphy had been feeling very despondent, openly confessing that he wanted to die. The sisters in charge of the ward, had been watching him closely, suspecting his intentions and fearing lest he might attempt to carry them out. The patient was placed under the closest surveillance and guarded with unremitting care, night and day. Yesterday morning, before dawn, he appeared to be in a mood of unusual gloom, and seemed to be suffering great pain, saying that he wanted to die, etc. Sister Fidelis who was watching him at the time, guarded him the more closely as his resolves of suicide seemed to become more and more desperate. Finally Murphy asked her to go out and telephone Dr. Brown, who was the physician attendant upon him. Sister Fidelis consented and going to the hallway door called another of the sisters to guard the sick man. Hardly had her back been turned a moment when Murphy reached under the bed clothes, where he had concealed a razor, and drew the instrument quickly across his throat, severing the jugular vein instantly, expiring within a few moments. Life was totally extinct before Dr. Gibbs, the physician summoned, could reach his bedside.
Coroner Drexel, after removing the body to the undertaking rooms impaneled a jury and held an inquest. The verdict rendered is subjoined:
At an inquisition held at Omaha, Douglas county, on the 20th day of April, 1885, before me, John C. Drexel, coroner of Douglas county, upon the body of Thomas Murphy, lying dead, by the juror whose names are hereto subscribed, upon their oaths to say that the said jurors, do find from the evidence given that the said Thomas Murphy came to his death by inflicting a mortal wound by his own hand, cutting his throat, the act being caused by despondency from a complication of diseases.
In testimony whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands the day and year above written.
Geo. L. Dennis, R. E. Livezey, J. A. Griffin, B. E. Boshme, Ed. Walsh.
Murphy was a man of about thirty-five years of age. Nothing is known of his family or of his antecedents, except that already stated. There are no letters or papers about him which will serve to throw any light upon these subjects.
The body will probably be buried in the potter's field of Douglas county, unless orders are received from Hastings, directing otherwise.

BASE BALL NOTES.
The Omaha team will arrive in this city about Thursday or Friday. They will open with the Milwaukee's here Saturday morning.
The Omaha Wheel club at its annual meeting last week elected its old set of officers and added two new directors. It has been decided to hold a wheel tournament for amateurs only, probably in May or June.
Sunday morning the Kansas City and Omaha teams again met in mortal combat. Five thousand people were present to witness a close and exciting game, which resulted in a score of four to five in favor of Kansas City.
The work of raising funds for the new park improvement is progressing slowly. About $250 yet remains to be subscribed. The park itself has been greatly improved and the grand stand as now equipped will seat about 1,500 people, and will be even more capacious than that of the old St.

Mary's avenue park. It is also the intention to add some cheap 25-cent seats as soon as the necessary funds are available.
Many people are inclined to believe that Omaha's team is a poor one and will stand no show of winning the pennant of the Western League. It is hardly fair to judge from what has already been done by the club, its future work. The Saturday game was played without the regular men, and even those of the club who did participate, had just arrived and had never before played together. It is not too much to believe that when the club has fairly practiced together and placed itself in the proper trim, it will stand "way up," and will have no slim show for grasping the 1885 championship.

Dangerously Injured.
Yesterday evening about 6 o'clock Frank Woodruff, driver for Wells, Fargo & Co., was thrown violently from his wagon near Harney and Twelfth streets, and very severely injured. The physicians in attendance stated last night to a Bee reporter that he was dangerously injured internally about the chest, also that his lungs were bleeding freely. At this writing (10 p. m.) they fear his injuries will prove fatal.
Army Orders.
The journey performed by Major John P. Hawkins, commissary of subsistence, chief commissary of subsistence, under verbal instruction from the department commander, from Omaha to Grand Island, Neb., and return, between the 14th and 16th instant, was upon necessary public business pertaining to the subsistence department, and is confirmed.

SOUTH OMAHA. The Advantage of Settling in the New Town.
The title "South Omaha" doesn't mean the southern part of the city of Omaha but is the name of the thriving town commencing at the Union Stock yards on the south, and extending for a mile and a half north, nearly connecting with the city limits of Omaha.
The company have again concluded to put on sale 1,000 lots, and let the purchasers of the same realize the profit which the enhanced value of these lots is sure to make. It now being an assured fact that South Omaha is destined--in the near future--to be the largest live stock market west of Chicago, there can be no doubt that this property in a few years will be worth five or even ten times the amount that it can be bought for to-day.
Some may ask: If this is so, why do not the company keep it, and realize this profit roundly then, and as in the case in all new towns, special inducements must be offered at first to get the people to take hold and build.
There are probably more such inducements offered by South Omaha than were ever put forth by any new town. The large business done by the stock yards company and the immense slaughter and packing houses together with their auxiliaries are no small feature in the aggregate of events that are destined to make South Omaha a large place. Again, the town is not an addition to Omaha, and is not liable for city taxes, although it enjoys all the benefits from the growth of Omaha that it would if it were just inside the city limits, but being just outside, only county taxes are collected, which are merely nominal. The town owns and operates its own water works, which furnish an abundant supply of pure spring water. Daily trains will run on the B. & O. and U. P. railways every hour, stopping at the north and of the town site as well as at the stock yards. The Thirteenth street horse cars will run to Haskell's place this spring, and to the stock yards at no distant day. The high altitude makes the location a healthy one.
Of course there are those who do not believe that South Omaha will amount to much. This kind of people did not believe Chicago would ever be anything better than a cranberry bog, that Omaha would ever outgrow her village clothes, that there never could be any fruit raised in Nebraska, etc., etc. Who made it win? The sceptic, or those that had an abiding faith in the energy, intelligence and resources of the great country?
For information, maps, prices and terms apply to the company's office, 216 S. Thirteenth street, Merchant's National Bank Building, first floor.
