

THE DAILY BEE.

COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Saturday Morning, May 9.

Subscription Rates: 10 cents per week by mail, $5.00 per year.

MINOR MENTION.

The city council is to meet again Monday evening.

Matinee to-day at 2 o'clock at the dime museum and theater.

Miss Jessie Couthou is the guest of Judge Aylesworth and family.

Brick for sale in large and small lots, by J. A. Weaver, No. 815 Seventh avenue.

Carpenters were at work yesterday in Masonic hall erecting the booths for the carnival.

Topic Sunday evening at the Broadway M. E. church: "The best things in life are free to all." Services at 8 p. m.

There are only two tramps now left of the street gang, and they have been put onto the stone pile to break rock for the bad holes in the streets.

The Rev. Dr. Cooley, the new pastor of the Baptist church, will preach tomorrow morning and evening. The evening subject will be "The Books Opened."

Eisenman, Rhoad & Co., have presented to the ladies for the benefit of the carnival of nations, an elegant baby's cloak, valued at $50--that is, the cloak it valued at that--the baby still more.

The ladies having the art exhibition in charge have decided to hold the exhibition open still another day, and so this afternoon and evening the public will be given a further chance to inspect the many beautiful articles there displayed.

There will be no services at the Congregational church to-morrow. The Rev. Mr. Crofts has been called to Sandwich, Ill., to attend the funeral of one of its old citizens. Sunday-school as usual. Mr. Crofts will return on Wednesday of next week, in time for prayer meeting.

"The dead live never to die, and often when we mourn them dead, they were so nigh." Spiritual circle to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon and evening at 2 and 7:30 o'clock in Spiritual hall. Entrance via stairs on Main and Pearl streets, two doors south of postoffice.

The Rev. J. F. McDowell will preach at the Salina church, Piercestreet, to-morrow at 10:30 a. m. and 7:50 p. m. Sunday school at 12 m. Evening topic, "Reply to Moral Aspects of Prohibition," with address to our city fathers. Everybody is respectfully invited.

Two more new safes arrived for the county building yesterday, one being for the clerk's office, the other for the recorder's. They are the same size and make as the two others received some time ago, the internal arrangements alone being different to accommodate the varied needs of the several offices.

The president of the school board is inviting bids to furnish all the school buildings with fire escapes. There should be in connection with fire escapes, a regular system of drill, so as to familiarize the pupils and teachers with the actions and movements necessary in case of a fire or other emergency.

The Broadway Methodist Episcopal church has undertaken to establish a mission in rooms on the corner of Sixth avenue and Fifteenth street, in which services on Sunday as follows: Preaching at 10:30 a. m., Sunday school at 3 p. m. A gospel service conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association at 8 p. m. Persons resident in that portion of the city are invited to attend.

T. V. Taylor, the master mechanic of the Wabash, filed an information in Justice Shurtz' court, charging one John Barkley with making threats to do him great bodily harm. When Barkley was arrested he was found to be too drunk to try, and so time was given him to sober up. He had a hearing yesterday, and was put under bonds of $150 to keep the peace until the next term of the district court.

There was a narrow escape from a serious runaway yesterday. L. Kirsh's team was standing near Eisenman, Rodda & Co.'s when a ladder blown down by the wind fell across one of the horses, frightening the team into a run, but fortunately Mr. Kirsh's son was in the carriage at the time, and, having the reins in his hands, managed to bring them under control.

The case of Scott against Richardson took up all of yesterday in the superior court, but finally reached the arguments. There has been much interest manifested, and there has been a crowd to listen to all the details of the trial. Mr. Scott gave an interesting address yesterday, and as usual made much fun for the outsiders, indulging in some of his sharpest retorts to the remarks of the attorneys for the defense.

A girl employed as a domestic at the residence of G. S. Lawson, No. 810 Sixth street, had a fall yesterday which at first was thought to have injured her severely, but which proved afterwards to have resulted not very seriously. In coming out of the house, which is being raised, some temporary steps gave way, letting her down to the ground, quite a distance, in so sudden and unceremonious a manner as to frighten her badly and cause her to ran Shogart has commenced era of municipal reform in finance, and among the extravagance is the keeping of a separate police headquarters in the city building, while there are quarters in the jail building. He thinks that the police and marshal's forces ought to be able to occupy one office without quarrelling, an experiment which has not been very successful heretofore. Chief Skinner threatens to resign rather than submit to being put in with the marshal's force, unless the control of the building is put in the hands of the chief of police.

The young man, who is "trying" to learn the newspaper business, was yesterday the victim of a practical joke, such as is often played upon his veridancy. In Metcalf Bros.' store was a curious turnip, which had sprouted in a peculiar manner, and the clerks had arranged this so that it appeared somewhat like a little scrub, and had put two or three lemons in such position as to give the impression to a careless observer that they were the product of this strange looking plant. The young man was led to believe that this was an orange tree, which had been sent here by some Florida friends, and he wrote up quite a full description of the curiosity, and was preparing to publish it, when some of his friends saved him, and explained to him the difference between a sprouting turnip and an orange tree. The item was killed.

Reiter, in order to close out his present stock of tailoring goods, is putting prices at 24 to 35 per cent below cost. No. 810 Broadway.

Facts worth remembering when you buy wall paper, etc.--That board next door to post-office has the largest stock to select from. 2d.--That his prices are as low as the lowest. 3d.--That he is a practical interior decorator and employs none but skillful workmen.

THE CARNIVAL OF NATIONS.

The Ladies Making Great Preparations for Next Week's Festivities -- Personnel of Booths.

Among other attractions at the carnival of nations, beginning Tuesday evening next in Masonic hall, will be the Japanese bazaar in charge of O-Hanna-San, O-Che-San, and O-Momo-San, and two little "all rights." Rare and choice articles of Japanese ware have been secured for this bazaar, including fans, parasols, tea pots, cream pitchers, and many other useful articles which have never been displayed here before.

The ladies have full description of the French booths at the great "kirmess" recently held in New York City, sent here by the lady who presided over that booth. The kirmess was held in the largest opera house in that city for the benefit of a hospital, and was a grand success. The booth here will be patterned after that one, and will be very fine.

Iceland is to be well represented in the carnival, and the scenery for this bazaar is being painted by one of the lady artists of the city.

The carnival will be continued through several evenings, if the ladies feel warranted in keeping it open. At the opening of each evening there will be a grand march of the representatives of the different nations, in costume. On Wednesday evening there will be a New England supper of brown bread, baked beans, pumpkin pie, much and milk, and other good things, too numerous to mention.

In the Turkish booth will be found the following ladies: Kirsha--(Mrs. Champ); Hardee--(Mrs. Hancock); Eulke--(Mrs. Thompson); Wormmahl--(Mrs. Tyler); Yega--(Nellie Chapman); Mirogala--(Nellie Sacke); Falina--(Mollie Rice). A large number of curious articles will be found in this bazaar.

Substantial abstracts of titles and real estate loans, J. W. & E. L. Squire, 101 Pearl street.

Artists' Materials at G. R. Beard's Wall Paper Store. Send for price list.

WELL ENTERTAINED.

The Gathering at the Opera House Last Evening.

The entertainment given at the opera house last evening proved, as was expected, a very pleasing one. Miss Couthou maintained her reputation as an elocutionist, and the programme was carried out in a manner which gave evident delight to the audience. She is a pleasant rather than a strong reader, and the charms of her rendering of the various selections called forth much enthusiastic applause. The music for the evening was excellent, and the programme was throughout well arranged and well carried out. This evening Miss Couthou appears in Omaha, and will return to spend the Sabbath with friends here.

The programme was as follows last evening:

- Overture... Bivarian Band... "Asleep at the Switch" Hoey... Duet--"Home to Our Mountains" Verdi... "Only a Song" De Lara... Money Munk... Medley (new) Miss Couthou.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. L. S. Bullard and her daughter, Miss Kittie, returned yesterday from Pierre, Dakota.

Miss Pauline Guanella, niece of City Marshal Guanella, arrived here yesterday from Georgetown, Colorado.

James Wild, of Austin township, was in the city yesterday, buying a windmill to use the plant-ous breezes which of late have been stirring up things so lively.

Dr. Houghton was in the city yesterday, preparing to change his location to Herman, where it is hoped he will meet with the success which his ability and skill merit.

Al Noack has returned from an extended stay in Minnesota, looking hale and hearty, and he denies emphatically the report that reached this city some time ago that he was dead. He says he is not dead, and he ought to know, if anybody does. He certainly does not look like a dead man, but rather like one who was good for a hundred years yet.

A WAYWARD WIFE.

Two Partnerships Suddenly and Roughly Broken Up.

An excited and anxious man named P. A. Wilson, was in the city yesterday hunting for a wife, who, he claimed, has gone astray. Wilson is a resident of Tecumseh, Neb., and is there engaged in the sale of musical instruments and sewing machines, and has had a partner named Henshaw, who is the one, he says, who has alienated the affections of his wife. The wife, named Mattie E. Wilson, a short time ago went on a visit to friends in Peoria, Ill., where Wilson's brother lives. A short time after that Henshaw disappeared, and is said to have left a large number of bills for his partner to pay. It appears that Henshaw made arrangements to meet Mrs. Wilson at Bedford, Iowa, and wrote her to this effect at Peoria. This letter fell into the hands of Wilson's friends, and was forwarded to him, which was the first intimation that he had received that there was any such doings on foot, and the woman having already left Peoria, he commenced a search for her. He learned that his wife had made a mistake, and instead of getting off of the train at Bedford, she had gone to Redfield, and finding her error had gone from there to Herndon. The only trace the husband could find there was that she had started for Council Bluffs, and so he came on here. Here he found that her trunk had been at the transfer, but had been taken away. Where it had been taken he could not learn and he could get no information leading either to the discovery of his wife or Henshaw, both his matrimonial and commercial partners having evidently been too cunning for him. The man was in a very excited state of mind and it now seems that it will be some time before he gets any satisfaction for the two partnerships so rudely broken up.
