

CITY COUNCIL.

The Mayor's Nominations Again Pushed Aside With Rejections.

New Names Sent in for Marshal and Street Commissioner--A Large Amount of Business Transacted.

The city council held its regular weekly meeting last night, President Beeble in the chair. Alderman Leader moved that the reading of the minutes be dispensed with, examined by the president and reported on at the next meeting.

Alderman Schroeder objected to this proceeding. Alderman Faray suggested that unless the author of this motion felt ashamed of something recorded in the proceedings and wanted to cover them up, the journal ought to be read.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The various committees, to whom matters were referred at the last meeting, reported as follows: A large number of bills for supplies were ordered paid: The committee on police reported that E. G. Floyd, nominated for city marshal, has not been confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

George C. Whitlock and Jerry A. L'nash called attention to the condition of Twenty-eighth and Farnam streets. Referred to streets and grades. A protest was filed by Sarah Knight and others against grading, guttering, etc., on Farnam street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets.

NEW ORDINANCES.

The following new ordinances were introduced and read: An ordinance ordering the curbing and guttering of that certain part of Tenth street in paving district No. 44. Passed.

THE SPARRING BEGUN.

The first move for enforcing Prohibition in Council Bluffs. Correspondence of The Bee. GLENWOOD, May 19.--To-day was the time set for hearing the cases in which A. Overton asks for injunctions against six of Council Bluffs' saloons, the cases coming up in the circuit court in session here, Judge Connors presiding.

CRUSHED BY A CAVE-IN.

Buried Alive Beneath Six Feet of Earth and Taken Out Dead.

A horrible accident, in which Gus Spencer was instantly killed, occurred about 4 o'clock yesterday in the alley on Nineteenth, between California and Cass streets. Gus Spencer and Charles Nuehrst had commenced the work of digging a sewer, and were about fifteen feet below ground when it, Nuehrst climbed out and went down on Douglas street; to get tools of some kind. He was not gone more than twenty minutes, but when he returned, his partner, Spencer, could be found no place. Nuehrst supposed at first that he too had climbed out of the hole, but on going up to the hole and looking down, he discovered that it had been filled half full of earth and dirt. The cold and horrible thought came to him that that Spencer must be underneath that dirt.

G. W. Smith and several other men who were at work in a carpenter shop close by were alarmed, and all who could get into the hole to work commenced moving the dirt. About an hour after, he is supposed to have been buried, the unfortunate man's body was taken out and carried into a stable just across the alley, where it laid until moved by Coroner Drexel to his undertaking establishment down town.

The man's head and body were badly crushed, showing that he must have been killed almost instantly. Gus Spencer was a Swede, about 28 years old, and unmarried. He lived at 804 Douglas street, and was an industrious young man. The sewer is one which he had the contract to build. A brother lives at Angelo, Ia. He was notified by telegraph last night of the sad accident.

Medical Men.

The Nebraska State Eclectic Medical association met last night in tenth annual session in the parlors of the Millard. A fair attendance of members was present. President Isaac Van Camp was in the chair, and Dr. J. M. Keys, of Pawnee City officiated as secretary. The main question under consideration was the establishment of a medical journal in connection with the university at Lincoln. Other matters of minor importance were also taken up and discussed. A conclusion of business was not reached last night, and a session will be held this morning. Most of the members will leave the city before to night.

CAPTURED BY CUPID.

Mr. P. J. Carroll and Miss Katie Casey United in Marriage. Quite a brilliant wedding occurred yesterday afternoon at St. Philomena cathedral, the contracting parties being Mr. P. J. Carroll and Miss Katie Casey, second daughter of Mr. Thomas Casey, an old and well-known citizen. After observing high mass and the wedding mass, the wedding ceremony was pronounced by Father O'Connor, in the presence of a large number of invited friends. Four bridesmaids and bridesmaids attended the young couple. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father, and an elegant wedding dinner served.

The presents received were numerous and costly, among them a cottage and lot from the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Carroll; Mr. T. Casey, bride's father, basinet and rocking chair, two very useful articles; Mrs. T. Casey, two oil paintings; Mr. Niebole, very beautiful inlaid folding card table; Mr. J. McCoy, silver pickle dish; W. Gentleman, silver card tray; M. C. Clifton, old china tea service; Mr. Will Flood and his fiancé, very elegant oyster bowls; Reuber Bros., an elegant hand-painted fan; Miss Fitzsimmons, steel engravings; a very beautiful silver tea service with name engraved, by J. Price, A. Fahy, H. O'Halloran and B. Maher; Maggie Carroll, a hanging lamp; Councilman Ford, an elaborate rocking chair; a very pretty toilet set by Mr. Pat McCarthy; a dinner service by Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy; Mr. McCoy, pair diamond ear rings; and Miss Maggie Casey, turquoise breast pin, and County Commissioner O'Keefe and Mrs. O'Keefe, marble clock and several other valuable articles.

The celebration terminated with a ball at Cunningham hall, at which friends to the number of 200 attended until long after midnight.

SEALED LETTERS WITH WAX.

A Furore That is Rapidly Spreading to All Parts of the Country.

The furore for closing letters with sealing wax and stamps is at its height in New York city, and must, in the nature of things, soon find its way to lesser cities and towns, for these fancies sweep over the country like great waves, touching, before they have expended all their force, remote regions in all directions. Of course, our wide awake manufacturers have taken advantage of this fancy to introduce any number of pretty concocts on which the required seal appears. There are some very beautiful wax charms of gold which disclose a stone seal ready to be cut with the writer's monogram, inlaid, great or fanciful device, as may be required. There are also dark seals of gold in attractive form, as well as seals in other and less expensive materials. Paper knives of brass, copper, nickel and silver are finished with a seal at the handle. A popular form of paper knife, by the by, is one representing a feather rising out of a chicken's foot, which latter forms the handle. When placed on the impressionable wax this foot leaves a sentimental forget-me-not.

Seal rings are naturally revived at this time, both for ladies and gentlemen's wear. It is quite the correct thing for a lady to dash off her initials in her own peculiar cryptography and leave with a jeweler to ensure a fac-simile of her autograph on her ring. This is a newer style than the monogram, and at the present time is taking very well. As seal rings are becoming to the hard, especially a large, well-formed one--It is believed that they will have quite a run.

There is quite an art in sealing a letter, so the following directions, furnished by a leading manufacturer, may be found convenient: When the letter is ready to be closed light the lamp or candle, lay the seal on the desk at the right hand in such position that when used the impression may be square and right side up. Then hold the wax above the flame of the candle, but not near enough to burn. A burnt wax makes a brittle, streaky seal, and is hard to manage. When the wax has gradually softened, apply it with a circular movement upon the place to be sealed; rub it well around and down until you have a circle of proper size and thickness. The wax has now cooled so that it will not take a clear impression. Hold, therefore, the envelope some little distance from the flame until the wax has again become soft, then moisten and apply the seal, the result will be a clear cut impression.

Warranted to Kill or Cure. The democrats nearly everywhere, from the cross roads to the metropolis, have divided into factions. If the president appoints a member of one crowd to an office the other immediately telegraph him to withhold the commission, as the man is "manifestly unfit for public office." If he withdraws the appointment and makes another from the other faction the disappointed ones then deluge him with complaints that he has nominated a man whose past record will excite the party in disapprobation, and so it goes. The cities or states where the party is harmonious are the exception. There were factions enough in the long years of defeat. They have multiplied and flourished like Johah's ground in the day of victory.

Mr. Cleveland and his cabinet officers have it in their power to reduce this national party feud to a minimum. Let them take the brokers at their word, and, being thus satisfied of the inability of their own party to produce men fit for the offices to be filled, select light-toned republicans instead. This policy is warranted to kill or cure in short order.

Her Mother Would, Anyway. Chicago Tribune. If the young lady who bangs the piano and sings "Nobody Loves Me" would go down to the kitchen and help her mother-perhaps somebody would.

day, and as he can spend all of Monday in Council Bluffs, and as much of these concerned live there, it will be more convenient for them.

The plaintiff will have to prepare some counter affidavits to offset those filed to-day. The law in regard to judges granting changes of venue was changed at the last session, and now instead of its being peremptory, the judge is given discretionary powers and may decide as to the sufficiency of the affidavits, and the nature of the facts set out. Judge Connor will, therefore, receive counter-affidavits, and has granted the plaintiff's request for an order compelling the above named signers of the affidavits to appear in court Monday morning at Council Bluffs, and be examined in regard to the facts set forth in the affidavits, the defendants having a like privilege to examine any who sign counter-affidavits.

This will give additional local interest to next Monday's proceedings.

Chicago & Northwestern Railroad. Marvin Hught, president of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroads, also general manager of the Northwestern, arrived in Omaha yesterday morning, spent the day here in conversation with Union Pacific officials, and returned home last evening. Mr. Hught is a frequent visitor to Omaha. He is a member of the Northwestern, General Manager Lindsay, of the Sioux City & Pacific, and K. C. Moorehouse, general freight agent of the same road.

The visit of Chicago & Northwestern and Sioux City & Pacific officials to Omaha yesterday was made for the purpose of determining some permanent arrangements between these roads and the Union Pacific. Meetings were held at the Union Pacific general office and the Paxton hotel. In addition to the gentlemen named in another paragraph, William Lindley, general superintendent, and J. H. Howe, legal adviser of the Sioux City & Pacific, and J. H. Burt, a division superintendent of the Northwestern, were in attendance.

As the meeting held at Chicago recently to freight matters failed to adjust differences between roads west of the Missouri river, it was believed that such lines might themselves effect satisfactory pool arrangements. But yesterday's efforts failed to consummate any meeting, and it is understood that another meeting will be held shortly.

George B. Harris, assistant general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, Topeka, was in the city yesterday.

Held for the Murder.

The tramp who killed Frank Williams at Hubbard, Monday, had his preliminary trial yesterday morning and was bound over to the district court. He says that his name is Noah Robinson. His accomplices in the crime, Charles Davis, was also held and given safe quarters in the jail at Dakota City. Mr. C. J. Smallwood, superintendent of telegraph at this point for the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha road, reported a telegram yesterday, ordering him to have Williams' body sent to Chicago.

BAYONETS AND BEAUTY.

Opening of the Omaha Light Guards New Armory Last Night. Several days ago the Omaha light guards sent out a large number of invitations, announcing the formal opening of their new armory in Williams block. Last night the event came and with it the assembling of as gay and merry a party as the city has ever had. A social occasion in this city during the season. The boys in their bright new uniforms, and ladies, wearing costumes that flashed their many brilliant hues, in the dancing gas light, presented quite an enchanting scene. After an exhibition of drilling, which showed proficiency and skill, delightful strains of orchestral music burst upon the air, and from that time to the end of twelve numbers enjoyment serene filled the hours.

The hall was tastefully and appropriately decorated.

John Payn, the chap who knited John Holmes some time ago, was bound over to the district court yesterday.

Dr. R. S. Grimes of Lincoln, is registered at the Millard. He is a delegate to the election medical association, now being held in the city.

Of the three men arrested for robbing the Zimmerman saloon on St. Mary's avenue last week, the district attorney yesterday held Low Brown and discharged the other two--Gorman and Smith.

George H. Peterson commenced proceedings yesterday in the district court against P. S. Shugart, for $10,000 damages. The facts set up are that on February 10, Peterson traded his store, lot, and stock of goods at 804 South Tenth street, to Shugart for 1,920 acres of land in Boone county, but the latter has since refused to make the transfer.

Digging Up Buried Treasure. Atlanta Constitution. In 1863, J. B. Torbett, of Upon county, living near the Rock, had $1,500 in gold and silver buried in a hole in a meadow, and buried deep. The war was over, he resumed his plough, and for twenty-two years he passed and repassed the spot where the hidden treasure lay. The locality was marked and he could have secured it at any time. A day or so ago, having use for that amount of money, Mr. Torbett took a friend along with him and repaired to the spot. While they knew the exact location, it required nearly half a day to dig it up. When the treasure was reached there was not a thread left of the meadow. It had vanished. The money, however, was there, though some of the coins had sunk to the depth of four feet from the main pile. It is possible that there was quicksand in some of the locality, and the weight of the coils carried them down. Judge Burly, another citizen of the county, buried or hid a large quantity of money about the same time. After the judge's death the property passed into the hands of Tom Rose, who has used every effort to find the treasure. A portion of the wealth of the house was torn down, and the wells of the money found, but there is still a great amount yet to be found.

Strictly According to Law.

"People down cast, hay," remarked a passenger from the west, "think there's a good deal of lawlessness out in our country; but that's all a mistake. We haven't no more lawless than anybody else. Of course we have our little differences of opinion. Men will be men, and they will quarrel sometimes. There may be some lawlessness in the shape of a weather, but that's not the kind of lawlessness we're talking about. In the end everything is settled by the usual process of the law, peaceably and quietly."
