

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Monday Morning, May 25, 1885.

Subscription Rates: 10 cents per week, $5.00 per year.

MINOR MENTION.

Strawberries are now causing a regular crush of church festivals.

Pool selling, and headquarters during the races, at the Pacific house.

Bricks for sale in large or small lots by J. A. Weaver, 815 Seventh avenue.

There was a slight change in the time of the dummy tains, which went into effect yesterday.

The X. Y. Z. club is arranging to give a festival and entertainment next Friday evening.

Chief Skinner has just got a fine young imported dog to keep the wolves off his strawberry beds.

Prepare to pay your poll-tax, as the new collector, C. J. Beckman, will start on his rounds to-day.

Bill Shields was arrested yesterday for being ugly drunk. He will be given a chance to explain this morning.

No more fast driving across the bridges. So says the mayor, who has ordered the marshal to prosecute any offenders.

There seems to be no lack of aspirants for the position of deputy revenue collector at this point. The salary is $1,350.

Chief Skinner has found the travelling card of an engineer, the owner of which can have it on application at police headquarters.

W. T. Smith, arrested on complaint of Joseph Wright for drawing a revolver and threatening to use it, has been discharged.

Reiter, in order to close out his present stock of tailoring goods, is putting prices at 25 to 35 per cent below cost. No. 310 Broadway.

The district court met Saturday, but the time was taken up in the assignment of cases, and there will not be a real getting down to business until to-day.

James Brooks, the ex-policeman, who has been confined to his home for a year past, is able to be out on the streets by aid of crutches, but is far from recovered.

The injunction cases come up this morning before Judge Connor, and will be watched with interest, although it is hardly probable that a decision will be reached to-day.

A strawberry festival and dance is to be given June 3 and 4 in the masonic hall, under the management of Mrs. J. W. Cusick, and for the benefit of the catholic church.

Mrs. Mary Hyde was on Saturday granted a divorce from her husband, O. J. Hyde, on the ground of desertion. She has ten children to support, and was granted an alimony of $500.

The large brick residence of Mrs. McMahon, corner Ninth street and Sixth avenue, is to be raised and an addition built on. W. P. Aylesworth begins work on the building this morning.

A colored man named Charles Howard, was caught Saturday afternoon stealing a pair of pantaloons from Beno's store, and being taken before Justice Shurz was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

The old man Hoover, of whom mention was made in the Bee the other day, as being complained of for abusing his grandson, is said to have turned the boy out the other night. The little fellow has now gone to his mother.

Last evening the members of Abe Lincoln post, grand army of the republic, attended services in the Methodist church the pastor of which preached an appropriate sermon. The church was decorated in a patriotic manner, with flags, etc.

The Barbour dramatic company will continue to amuse and interest the crowds at the dime museum this week. The museum part of the show will continue to contain attractions which are of themselves well worth the price of admission.

The little daughter of John Schlocketans has been suffering for some time with some trouble of the nose, and at last the cause of difficulty has been discovered and removed, it being a shoe button, which the little one had in some playful moment placed there.

The new city clerk is now taking hold in good earnest, and there will nothing more be done in the controversy, as the old clerk says he has no inclination or money to fight it out in the courts, and no very good show to win if he did. Now the chief of the fire department is to be settled.

There were sixty-four cases of strawberries sold in this city Saturday, for home consumption only, and there being 24 boxes to a case, the total number of boxes reached 1,536, and as each box was probably made to do for more than one person, there must have been several thousand persons who yesterday tested the fruit.

Judge Connor will hold his court in the clerk's office this morning, the court room being taken by the regular session of the district court. Although there is to be only preliminary sparring in the injunction cases, still the interest in every step of the prohibitory prosecutions is so great that it is doubtful whether the clerk's office will be roomy enough to accommodate all the listeners.

The Omaha Herald is now to drop its attempt to have a Council Bluffs correspondent, Charlie Peat, who has been doing that work, and doing it well, having decided to join with his brother, who is also a thorough newspaper man, in starting a new democratic paper in Neligh,

Nebraska. They will make a strong team, and these many friends here will wish them success from the very start.

Yesterday afternoon two young men in driving along Broadway near the dummy depot, were unceremoniously dumped out, the tongue dropping down as the horses were trotting along, and striking the ground, lifting the front part of the vehicle so that the front wheels were pulled from under, letting the box fall, while the team went jogging off at their pleasure.

It is reported that Sander, the museum man, about whom there have been so many surmises and inquiries, has not been out of the city, but has been lying quiet at one of the leading hotels, having been on a little spree and not getting over it sufficiently to appear in public. The hotel man with whom it is reported that he has been stopping are very reticent about the matter, and claim to know nothing about his whereabouts.

The Rev. Mr. Crofts, pastor of the congregational church, gave an excellent sermon yesterday morning on the "Working Church." He has been quite ill for a day or two and was hardly able to get through the morning service, and in consequence of his condition no evening service was held. It is not thought to be any serious ailment, and his many friends hope to see him in accustomed health in a few days. The interruption to the evening services was a disappointment to many and to the pastor himself, as the evening services have been increasing in interest and in attendance.

The Aylesworth-Looftbourov contest has been argued and submitted, and the 6th of June has been set as the day for a decision to be rendered. Judge Aylesworth and his friends are very confident that the result will be in his favor. In such an event Alderman Mynter has an eye on the position of judge of the superior court, and as the mayor has the appointing of some one to fill the vacancy until the next city election, he will doubtless give the place to his admirer. When it comes to a vote of the people, however, the result may change this order of exercises greatly.

Frederick C. Gertenberg was arrested Saturday, his wife claiming that while drunk he had been abusive to her. He begged so that he was allowed to go, on promising to keep away from the house, but soon his wife sent word that he was raising another row and he was re-arrested. He in turn complained that James Harvey had assaulted him, and Harvey was also arrested. The wife, a little later, went security for Harvey's appearance Monday morning, and Gertenberg was allowed to go on his own recognizance, to appear in court at the same time. The family troubles will, therefore, be adjusted this morning.

There seems to be nothing definitely known as to what is to be done in the matter of chieftainship of the fire department. It remains that the council has wisely concluded to get the question of city clerkship settled firmly first, and then proceed with the other at their leisure. As the new chief has duly qualified, and as the mayor's veto does not appear to be of any account, there seems to be little for anybody to do, except for the old chief to gracefully retire and the new chief to go on with his duties. The old chief should take warning from the case of the city clerk, and not hurt his reputation by trying to hold on. His friends will think more of him if he retires gracefully, and his enemies can think no worse of him.

The crowd of new advertisements in the Bee shows that the business men of the city are alive to their interests, and propose to use the best means of letting the public know what they have for sale. The Bee is the only paper that gives its patrons the benefit of sworn statements as to its circulation, and inspection of its actual number of papers published. The need of this is passing away, however, as it is generally conceded now that the Bee has the largest circulation of any, and in fact, of all other papers in the city. The Council Bluffs advertisements appear in the entire morning edition, and thus advertise the business of Council Bluffs over a large extent of country in which no other Council Bluffs paper puts in even an appearance. This fact, and the wonderful growth of the circulation, here as well as elsewhere, has caused some of the sleepy competitors to fill their columns with howls, but it is of no avail. Business men, who have tested the facts by actual trial, know that it pays to advertise in the Bee, and that is enough.

Substantial abstracts of titles and real estate loans, J. W. & E. L. Squire, 10 Pearl street.

Real Estate Transfers. The following are the transfers of real estate as recorded in the office of the registrar, and reported to the Bee by A. J. Stephenson, for Saturday, May 23, 1885.

For low prices in boots and shoes call at R. I. Skiles, 102 Main street.

Death of J. J. White. The funeral of J. J. White took place yesterday afternoon, and was attended by many friends. The death of this old resident was not altogether unexpected, but it is none the less sad, and the tenderest expressions of sorrow and sympathy are heard on all sides. Mr. White was 67 years of age, and had been a resident of this place for over twenty years. He was a native of Kentucky, and moved from there to Missouri at an early age, and a number of his relatives still reside there, among whom is his brother, Judge White, of Moberly. Since residing here he has served in several positions of trust and responsibility. He was deputy sheriff under Perry Kisel, and later was deputy city marshal. Twice he has been elected constable, and was holding this office when death came. He leaves four daughters and two sons, and in their bereavement they are assured of the sympathy of the entire community.

ROBINSON IS COMING.

The Great Show to be Here Saturday, May 30.

As will be seen by the announcement in another column, Old John Robinson's great show is to be here next Saturday, May 30th, and the public is promised a great entertainment. Robinson does not put in as much time and money in making a big blow as to what he is going to do, as some of his competitors, but he puts this time and money into the show itself, thus giving the people more to see, if they no have less to read about. He prizes himself in keeping the promise he makes the public, so when he offers to donate the school fund $1,000, if his show is not far superior to any other here this season, another $1,000, if this street parade is not larger and better, he evidently means business, and the public may expect to see a show which will pay for the time and money necessary to come miles to attend. He will appear here on Saturday, which is decoration day, and on Monday next will appear in Omaha.

Strawberry Festival. The ladies of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church will give a supper and strawberry festival at the room adjoining Officers & Possey's bank, on Broadway, next Thursday night. A pleasant time is promised and all are invited.
