LIEUTENANT PISEN'S CRIME.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE BEE.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 27.—The Herald this morning publishes some details of the tragic career of Adele, the daughter of Victor Hugo. The facts are furnished by Robert Mattoon, Z. C. a well known criminal lawyer, who acted for her professionally on several occasions. Adele's story, as told by herself, is as follows: "When a mere girl, living with her parents in Brussels, she became acquainted with a young man, one Pisen, belonging to a wealthy family then staying in Brussels, and fell madly in love with him. He appeared to be equally infatuated with her. They were formally engaged and were secretly married, as she believed. Owing to the opposition of Pisen's parents the affair was kept private, and he promised to make his wife publicly in due time. Meanwhile he was gassed lieutenant in the British army and ordered to Halifax, where they were to be formally married, but before she reached there Pisen had started with his regiment for India. She returned to Brussels and shortly afterwards clandestinely left home, resolved to follow the man she loved so madly. Arriving in New York, she made her way to Halifax, and lived there nearly three years. Pisen proved recalcitrant, but she soon had to follow him day and night and frequently declared to the family with whom she boarded in Halifax, never marry another woman while she lived. She was recently and never went out unless deeply veiled. At night she went out in disguise, wearing black and white, and carrying a stick. "Pisen promised all knowledge of her connection with Adele Hugo, and had not been there long before he became engaged to a young girl, the daughter of a rich man. Adele's ears she confided her history in professional confidence to Mr. Mattoon, and that gentleman sent a letter to the Halifax family and they immediately broke off all social intercourse with Pisen. "Lieutenant Pisen left Halifax with his regiment for India, and Adele followed him. Some years ago she became insane and was placed in a private asylum either in New York or Boston. The fate of the man who betrayed her is unknown.

She Did Not Have a Hill Leg.

SAN FRANCISCO Chronicle.

The other day a husband and wife were walking along Kearney street, when the husband exclaimed: "There is Mrs. Jones getting into her carriage." Just as the wife looked an incident occurred which sometimes does happen to the most cautious women when getting into a carriage. Her foot slipped on the carriage step and her skirts were caught up.

That's not Mrs. Jones, the wife replied, noticing the incident, and its revelation. "It is some one who does not live on a hill."

"I would like to know how you know," exclaimed the husband in amazement. "Because she did not have a hill leg, and Mrs. Jones, as you know, lives on Pine street."

This conversation hints at an important fact. Hill climbing develops the muscles on the sides and upper portion of the calves, which level walking never exercises, and which consequently never develops.

WRECKED BY A CYCLONE.

KANSAS TOWNS VISITED BY A DISASTROUS WINDSTORM.

ATOKA, Kan., May 27.—A cyclone visited Nortonville, Goff and Frankfort, in northeastern Kansas, between 10 and 12 o'clock this forenoon, doing a great deal of damage to property. At Nortonville the Atokian, Topoka & Santa Fe railroad depot was lifted from the foundation and set squarely across the track. One dwelling house was completely demolished and another damaged. One woman was seriously hurt at Nortonville. The Pacific depot was badly wrecked. A car was lifted up and turned over twenty-five feet high. William Hart's dwelling was wrecked. J. L. Richardson's car was overturned and carried several miles. Gard Peck's and Frank Mayer's residences were leveled to the ground and the household effects scattered over the prairie. A cyclone of the same kind struck the south and struck at 10:40. J. T. McKee's barn and the barns of Mr. Phillips and Mr. Williams were demolished. No serious injuries are reported at Frankfort.

Failure of a Dakota Bank.

MITCHELL, D. T., May 27.—The bank of Mitchell suspended this morning. Eljah Butterfield, of Milwaukee, president of the bank, stated at a meeting of the depositors to-day, that payment in full would be made as soon as accommodation papers could be realized upon. Since the meeting Louis C. Metzger, of Mitchell, has advised that the bank is not a going concern and that the depositors will have to wait for some time before they can get their money. After the West Shore Road.

NEW YORK, May 27.—It is stated in railroad circles that Sir Henry Tyler, of the Grand Trunk railroad, is over here for the purpose of negotiating a lease of the West Shore railroad, and that the Pennsylvania railroad has under consideration a proposition to join the Grand Trunk in such a lease. This, it is said, is the most feasible plan to the West Shore and a combination which will be mutually beneficial to both the Grand Trunk and the Pennsylvania companies.

Macdonald Proposes Punishment.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 27.—In the house of commons to-night Sir John Macdonald moved as an amendment to the franchise bill, in effect that the Indians of Manitoba, Kewatin and the Northwest Territories should not be allowed to vote. Later on the first minister added to his amendment that the Indians of British Columbia should be excluded. These amendments were still being discussed at midnight.

The Appointing Policy.

Severe censure is dealt out to the administration for the number of ex-convicts appointed to prominent positions, particularly in the diplomatic service, when there are unfortunates in the demoralized party who might have been selected. McClelland, Rascerana, Slocum and others are named who have been passed by, while confederates have been freely selected. Yet all this is logical, and should not excite surprise. It may not be, in a broad sense, politic; but it is logical, considered from a purely domestic standpoint. The south of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, no doubt, were for him, but the north as such, was more republican than democratic. And there is uncertainty as to the future policy of the north. The south is not likely to change.

He Got to Live Somehow.

NEW YORK, May 27.—A New Yorker was coming home from California last week but his pocket plucked by a fellow passenger on a train as they came through Arizona. The victim discovered his loss too late to capture the sharper, and when he appealed to the conductor for consolation that official replied: "Ah! it was the fellow with the hawk eyes."

"Yes."

"Very smooth talker."

"He was."

"Well, he used to sell silver mines to Boston parties, and as that business is now played out, and he's got to live somehow, he has turned to pocket-picking. He is an honorable man, though, but will sell you any receipts or gas bills he may find in the wallet."

Killed by a Base Ball.

NEW YORK Times, 25.

George Lassette, a lad seven years of age, who lived with his parents at No. 370 West Thirtieth street, was killed yesterday while playing in an open lot opposite Hudson river, near his home, by being struck in the chest by a base ball. Charles McCormick, Jacob Lassette, a brother of the lad who was killed, and several other boys of about the age were playing ball in the lot. George Lassette and a number of lads of about his age were playing "tag" about two hundred feet distant. McCormick threw the ball in the air, and struck it in a scolding blow. The ball struck George Lassette squarely in the chest, knocking him down. When his playmates gathered about him the little fellow was unconscious and he died soon after.
