Patriotic Spirit Seems to Imbue All Classes in Conneil Bluffs. Not for several years has Decoration day been so generally observed in Council Bluffs as it was yesterday. Everyone seemed imwith the result that the exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic at Fairview cemetery were attended by an immense assemblage. All the retail stores in the city closed during the afternoon and the streets the railroads have all granted special rates and sidewalks were thronged with people to greet the veterans as they marched to the cemetery to pay their annual tribute to their fallen comrades. Many of the business houses and private houses along the line of march were decorated in honor of the day. especially on Oakland avenue, along which the largest crowd gathered.

Behind them followed days in advance of the grand lodge session, corps pinned upon the coat of each veteran a handsome bouquet and handed him a wreath of flowers and evergreens to place upon the grave of some departed comrade at the cemetery.

The exercises were held at the soldiers' by Rev. Henry DeLong, followed by singing by the Harmonica Male quartet of the Central Christian church, under the leadership of Prof. Wilson. Mr. Shugart then introcers and to receive cards of admission to duced John M. Galvin, the orator of the day.

repose the dust of kings, their ancient castles where once dwelt the princes and the barons of long ago, their venerable ruins speaking of a glory that once was but has departed. Of these we cannot boast; and yet, although our nation's life is all encompassed within the limit of a little memories of which a race of freemen may well be proud. And of all those memories civil war. For it was a great war, great in the number of men that were engaged in its battles, great in the numbers of tho that perished on its battle fields, but greater still in the valor and the sacrifice of those that in the fierceness of the conflict faced death and danger in the defense of the nawhen the last cannon ceased to roar and peace was again restored the integrity of the union was made certain for all the fu ture and the freedom of the slave was an accomplished fact.

Is it any wonder that these old soldiers cherish the wartime memories? Is it any wonder that every year in the beautiful springtime they seek out the resting places of their departed comrades to strew thereon the flowers which rest upon those graves as the dumb token of the affection of the living for the dead? Would not the greater these veterans, now weary with the weight of years, wend their way to the hilltops whereon their dead companions sleep it is becoming that we of a later generation should swell the scanty column to a multitude and join the veterans in their work love. Well may we be proud of our fallen heroes. We know they were brave and true and that they scaled their faith with their lives. God prospered their righteous cause The nation they saved is grateful and 4,000,-600 freedmen bless them. Theirs was the and tenderly cherish their memories. God only knows what they suffered, suffered that we might be happy. Whether they sleep in these graveyards, close by the homes of their childhood, or in the far away south with nothing to mark where their graves are, watched by the stars and God till the trumpet shall call them together, all should be dear to the hearts of every lover of freedom.

MEMORIAL DAY IS CELEBRATED. Hawkere Citizens Do Honor to the Soldier Dend.

DES MOINES, May 30 .- (Special Telegram.) - Memorial day was observed here today as never before. Business was absolutely suspended and the entire city turned out to do honor to the soldiers of the nation, those who died in the 60's and those now bued with the patriotic spirit prevailing, at the front. The parade, which was three miles long, was headed by the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Iowa, now in Camp Mc-Kinley here waiting for the equipment which must come from Washington before they can go to the front. Over 500 veterans of the civil war were in line. At the cemetery some 15,000 gathered to listen to the exercises. Hon. John N. Baldwin of Council Bluffs delivered the address. It was the most profound, impressive and eloquent effort which has ever been heard in this state He said:

"We prefer to fly with the American eagle on Pearl street, with a squad of police in to war than to crawl along with the smootn reptile of Spanish diplomacy. Not since the war of the rebellion have the principles of vided by the hotels many of the delegates master of ceremonies, and the speakers in that war, the issues decided and the results carriages, followed by McFadden's drum attained been more strikingly and effectively brought to the attention of the world than at the present time. The same people are now engaged in another war for the establishment of practically the same principles, but in foreign lands and among a foreign people. But the union and confederate soldier are now standing together shoulder to shoulder, fighti . for the establishment of liberty, nation: I y and the rights of man in every Spanish possession., This is a war for humanity, freedom and liberty."

This evening a magnificent fireworks spectacle was given at the Young Men's Christian association athletic field before an audience of 20,000. When a picture of Dewey and burying ground at the extreme north end of his fleet in action in Manila was presented the cemetery. They were opened by prayer in blazing fire the audience came near tearing down the grand stand and everything else on the grounds.

Regiment Mustered In. DES MOINES, May 30,-(Special Telegram.)-The Firty-first Iowa was mustered into service today and will leave for the front about Wednesday. The needed equipment will not reach here until that date The governor today received a message from the War department notifying him that Iowa's quota on the second call will be used in filling up the regiments which went on the first call. Iowa's quota on the first call was three regiments, but so as not to break up organizations of the forces as they were the government permitted the state to send four fristead of three regiments. The regiments could not be filled as the quota would only allow 800 men to the regiment. Four hundred more men and the necessary officers will be enlisted now to fill up those regiments to a fighting strength of 1,200. The War department notified the governor that four officers will be sent home from the regiments now in the field for the purpose of enlisting men to fill up their respective regiments.

Gettysburg this year, attendance upon which, under other circumstances, would have afforded me an especial gratification. Time only enhances the lasting value and demonstrates anew the true significance of these inspiring patriotic observances. Whatever may be the character of its temporary problems, this liberty-loving nation is not and never can be forgetful of the immortal heroes of the civil war. For those who served as well as for those who fell fully adorned with the highest creations of the sculptor's art-our reunited fellow-countrymen, without regard to locality, creed or political faith, have an abiding respect and the most cordial esteem. Today those who contended on this historic field nearly thirty-five years ago and their descendants are mustering under the same flag, enthusi astic in their devotion to the nation, and willing to make any sacrifice for its honor The debt of gratitude which we owe to the nation's defenders can never be completely repaid either by this or future generations yet the acknowledgment of this obligation each year, in various forms and in a multitude of places throughout this broad land, purifies our ideas and brings us all nearer together in sympathy of sentiment and unity of purpose. No time could be more appropriate than the present to approach in a fitting spirit these sacred themes of the love of country and the rights of man Generations come and go and the issues for which they fought and died soon pass into history. But the living principles of undertakings worthily accomplished for an un-selfish purpose abide forever and guide us to

MERRITT ISSUES AN ORDER

He Formally Assumes Command of the Philippine Expedition and Establishes Hendquarters.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30 -- Major General Merritt today established his head quarters in the Phelan building, in the rooms vacated by General Otis, who is now permanently located at Camp Merritt.

This morning General Merritt issued an order assuming command of the Philippine expedition, and is now busily engaged completing arrangements for the forwarding of the second detachment of troops to Admiral Dewey's assistance.

The work of preparing the steamers Zealandia, China and Colon for the reception of troops is progressing, though rather slowly. The Zealandia needs little alteration to fit it for service, and can be pre pared for sea in forty-eight hours, providing its cargo has been stowed and trimmed The China is still unloading at its dock, but a force of carpenters is at work fitting bunks and making other necessary repairs, and the same may be said of the Colon. The steamers Centennial and Ohio, which with the three vessels named, make up the five 'vessels to comprise the second fleet, have not yet arrived from Puget Sound. the earliest moment.

It is understood that the Monterey, which is being coaled at Mare island, will get The question of what regiments will make up the second expedition to the Philippines ready over 12,000 men, and more coming, and the second expedition is to be made up of only 5,000 men, there will be many disappointments.

There are now five volunteer regiments ready-the Colorado, the Seventh Califor nia, the Minnesota, Nebraska and Pennsylvania. Every possible effort to get them into shape for service has been made, and in view of this activity to get these regiments fully equipped it looks as if they, with the regulars now here, will constitute the major portion of the second expedition.

The Kansas boys are happy tonight. Every man in the regiment is wearing a new uniform, new shoes, new underclothing and looking as good and as soldierly as any volunteer in camp, and that is saving a good deal. The Kansans have also organized a band of twenty-six pieces.

Memorial servies were held in the Kansas camp this afternoon, and the men, all attired in their new uniforms, presented a remarkable contrast to their appearance two or three days ago. The first battalion of troops from North
