Volume of Business Doing in a Jobbing Way Very Satisfactory.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW LARGE GAINS

Yellow Fever Scare May Cost Nebraska Many Thousands of Dollars - Too Much Rain to Please Jobbing Trade.

The most important event of last week as regards local business interests was the sensational report of the breaking out of yellow fever in the south. Last year the yellow fever scare, as it stopped the southern demand for hog products, caused a heavy break in the provision market and when the report was given out on Friday that the fever had broken out among soldiers of provisions in Chicago made haste to get out from under the load. As a result there was a considerable decline in values which was followed by a still further slump on Saturday. The market on live hogs naturally followed the provision market downward and the yellow fever scare, even if it comes to a speedy end, will have cost the farmers and stock growers of Nebraska no money whatever. If it continues long, or is magnified in importance, hundreds of thousands of dollars will be lost to Nebraska. The market for hogs went into general circulation. Bank clearings for the week made a most excellent showing, running considerably above the $1,000,000 a day mark.

NEW YORK GENERAL MARKETS

Wholesale grocers report a slight falling off in the volume of business for the week as compared with that of a week ago, but still they say business is very good. The market for hogs is very strong in most lines, but a few classes of goods are still fluctuating. The sugar market is reported as being very quiet, but changes have as yet taken place on regular grades at auction. The foreign market is for higher prices in the future, and the period of heavy consumption is now at hand.

In farinaceous goods flour, oatmeal and beans are all quoted a little lower. The market for hogs is very quiet, but changes have as yet taken place on regular grades at auction. The foreign market is for higher prices in the future, and the period of heavy consumption is now at hand.

Little Change in Dry Goods

In dry goods there is very little change. The condition of the market is very quiet, but changes have as yet taken place on regular grades at auction. The foreign market is for higher prices in the future, and the period of heavy consumption is now at hand.
