THIS MOVEMENT MAY BE CONTINUED

Business Generally is Good and the Outlook for Crops Promises an Abundant Harvest, But with Lower Prices.

NEW YORK, June 19 .- Henry Clews, head of the banking bouse of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall street: In our letter of last week we called attention to a reactionary tendency in the stock market and intimated that it might be continued. The business of the last week has confirmed those forecastings. Leading operators who had realized on their holdings of the higher grade stocks were anxious to depress prices in order to buy in again for a fresh rise. At this juncture, another set undertook to advance the lower grade stocks, which had not risen proportionately with the higher priced securities. This embarrassed the scheme of the influential operators who were trying the influential operators who were trying to reload at lower figures; and, in self-defense, they have this week directed their attack upon the market indiscriminately, the result of which has been an unsettled market, causing considerable realizing on all classes of stocks and a general fall in prices. This movement is purely a speculative maneuver, directed towards a readjustment of the range of prices, so as to admit of a fresh campaign, starting with lower prices and therefore affording better opportunities for profit and an inducement to fresh activity. At present, this move-ment is too successful to be abandoned and seems not unlikely to be continued until a still lower range of values has been

General conditions are not wholly favorable to a movement of this character. There is no abatement of the revived prosperity of the railroads. On the contrary, the crop prospects promise another barvest of unusual abundance, and though the prices of the new crops may not rule so high as those of the past season, yet the results to the railroads should equal those of the crops of 1897. The war goes steadily on towards the final success of our arms, with a reasonable prospect that next fall the Spanish possessions in the West Indies and ally transferred to the United States. The feeling is taking strong hold of the public mind that, costly as this brief war may prove to be, it will yet result in a great awakening of the American people to a consciousness of a destiny broader and higher than they have dreamed of, and that it will result in new policies which must largely develop the commerce of the counnations. This is a "bull" factor which must add continuously to confidence in American investments and enterprise. The growing strength of the financial situation which makes the providing of $600,000,000 for immediate war expenses a matter of secondary concern and productive of no de gree of monetary disturbance, carries with it a most material contribution to public confidence and makes any really important reaction in the securities market almost impossible. The statement of our foreign our favor due from nations which have al-ways been large lenders to us upon open Conditions like the foregoing do not af-ford much help to operations undertaken to depress values, and they may soon prove a bar to the systematic marking down of prices now in process. Experienced opera-tors of large means, however, are able, within certain limitations, to force the market in a direction contrary to its nat-ural drift; and when there is a comparative absence of sanguine outside support, their success is all the easier. My own view, however, is that the present artificial pres-sure on prices is not likely to proceed much further without developing buying which may obstruct the tactics of those who, for the moment, are playing a "bear"

The breaking up of the great Leiter speculation in wheat is not unlikely to lead to some revival of operations in stocks. immense transactions in grain have drawn off speculation from the stock ex-change for several months past, and both at Chicago and here the uncertainties about the wheat situation may be expected to divert attention back to stocks under the en couragement of the current downward drift

It has not suited the purposes of the sellers of stocks to take much note of another remarkable foreign commerce state-ment, and the figures, published on Wednesday, consequently gave no stimulus to the market. The facts of the official exhibit are not, however, to be deprived of their effect by conveniently Ignoring them. The May exports of merchandise exceed those of 1897 by $32,400,000, and are $56,980,000 in excess of the value of the month's imin excess of the value of the month's im-ports. For the first eleven months of the fiscal year the merchandise experts exceed the imports of goods by $571,889,000, which confirms the expectation heretofore ex-pressed in these advices that the surplus of exports over imports will reach fully $600,000,000. If we add to the shipments of merchandise those of silver (amounting to $40.967,000) the total excess of exports for the eleven months will amount to $612,-$65,000. In liquidation of this creditor bal-ance, we have imported $97,040,000 of gold, making the net creditor balance for the eleven months $515,825,000. Making the most liberal allowance admissible for the items, debtor and creditor, not included in these purely trade returns, and also for the net debtor balance on account of the foreign movement in our securities, it hardly seems allowable to estimate the balance now due to this country by Europe at less than $150,000,000 to $200,000,000. As the present relative rate of interest at New York and London affords no sufficient inducement for buying bills of exchange on Europe for investment here, it seems not unlikely that we may soon witness a resumption of imwe may soon witness a resumption of im-ports of gold. The only thing that can prevent this must be a greater disparity between the local and the European money rates than now exists. The rapid increase of gold in the Bank of England would enable that institution to part with a liberal amount of gold without much inconven-

The new government loan attracts com-paratively little interest as an element in Wall street movements. It was wise to meet the popular demand for giving small investors an opportunity to put their sav-ings into these investments. We shall now see how far this class are. ings into these investments. We shall now see how far this class are disposed to prefer holding bonds to placing their means in the custody of the savings banks. The class who hitherto have been accustomed to take these investments will be found willing to take an amount largely in excess of the remnant not taken by the smaller class of investors. Wall street opinion does not attach much importance to this new supply of investments as an element affecting the value of existing securities. For a long time past there has been a comparative scarcity of new issues of securities of the highest grade, adapted for trust funds and the reserve funds of financial institutions, and a large amount of money has been placed on deposit or otherwise temporarity employed until bends of long date and absolutely security are forthcoming. These wants will take up all the new treasury issues without displacing any other existing securities.

The brilliant success of our navy has established such universal confidence the world over that nobody outside of Spain can possibly believe otherwise than that our antagonist is already signally defeated, and that any further action on Spain's part is simply to court additional terrible disas-

WHILE THE WAR LASTS.

All who march, walk or stand should shake into their shoes Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder. It cures aching, tired, sore, swollen feet and makes tight or new shoes easy. It absorbs moisture and prevents chafing, hot, smarting, blistered, sweating feet. All the regular army troops and navy men use it. Volunteers in hot climates can't exist in comfort without it. Allen's Foot-Ease is sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Sample sent FREE. Address, Allen S., Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

It is for that reason that the war is people. When the war started it was sup-posed it would be principally a naval conflict. This was based on the number of modern guns and battleships of the two navies, which were considered to be about equal; but the qualities of the men in com-mand and of the gunners and sailors were not taken into consideration, for neither had been tested in pattle. It was soon found, however, that scientific skill and generalship were vastly superior on our side. No stronger evidence of this is on record than Admiral Dewey's victory, which has no parallel in the world's history. It is now recognized that Spain is no longer a for on the water. What more there is to be done to bring the war to a close will telong mainly to the army, which will also have the valuable aid of the navy. Decis-ive victories, therefore, may be expected at Santiago, Porto Rico and Manila. The end of the war should then be near at hand. It is this showing, together with this country's great wealth and unlimited resources, that makes a government bond bearing 3 per cent interest look desirable as an investment, and why the subscriptions to the $200,000,000 war loan are likely to reach at least $1,000,000,000

CONDITION OF NEW YORK BANKS.

Weekly Statement Shows a Shortage in Loans.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Financier says: After seven weeks continuous expansion in loans, during which the total increased something like $33,000,000, the statement of the New York banks shows a decrease of $425,000 for the week ending June 18. It cannot be said, however, that the shrinkage was due to general causes. On the contrary, a detailed comparison of the lindividual items reveals the fact that one bank decreased its loans nearly $3,000,000. The other sixty-four institutions, therefore, must have gained in the neighborhood of $2,500,000 in loans. The bank reporting the heavy decrease in loans increased its cash almost in proportion, but the total expansion of $5,750,000 in the deposits runs generally through the list and the average reserves are higher than one week ago. The total gain in cash was $7,123,100 and the reserve stands at $32,72,800, the highest recorded for over a year. The banks are gaining largely from the interior. One result of this is that legal tender holdings are increasing rapidly, the gain for the week having been $3,588,900, undoubtedly a large part of this money coming out of the New York banks during March and April, when withdrawals were larger. The cash reserves of the banks were never larger than at present, though the loan reserve has often been higher. Conservative opinion in fact favors the belief that rates are going higher and that the low point has been reached. The statement may not be favorable from a strictly banking viewpoint, but in a larger sense it is a source of satisfaction to know that the banks were never better prepared than at present to aid in the floating of the new bonds, and that a financial operation which heretofore has required international assistance will be completed without any disturbance other than a possible temporary fluctuation and certainly without aid from abroad, The next few weeks will bring about some heavy changes in the showing of the banks, but the fact disclosed by the current statement fore Weekly Statement Shows a Shortage

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. Centures of the Trading and Closing

Prices on Saturday. CHICAGO, June 18.—Demoralization of he foreign markets and the all-pervading celing of a gigantic crop here weakened wheat today. July left off with a loss of Pac and September 11-8c. Corn closed 3-Sc higher and oats unchanged. Pork closed lower, lard 21/2c down and ribs unchanged.

The holders of July wheat were thrown into something of a panic at the start by the news from Liverpool, where speculators were said to be demoralized. At one time the price of July there was quoted 8½c per bu, below the price last night. For some days the feeling in July here has been steadily growing weaker, and when the adverse news from Liverpool was received the price of July fell off to 72½c—a drop of 3c from the close last night. A considerable portion of this decline was recovered on general buying. September and December showed a fair degree of strength and sold somewhat higher at the start, but finally breke on the demoralized feeling in July. September sold down to 675-8c, or ½c below the close yesterday, while December declined to 655-8c. The raily in July caused some improvement in these longer futures, and they got additional help from the liberal buying by shorts who took advantage to buy in and secure profits, and under these improving conditions there was a good raily. The continental markets were weak, and when the declines for the day were announced from Paris and Antwerp the prices here had another severe setback. While more rain was reported in the northwest the weather south and southwest, where wheat is in its ripening stage, is all that could be desired. The The holders of July wheat were thrown While more rain was reported in the northwest the weather south and southwest, where wheat is in its ripening stage, is all that could be desired. The declines at Parls were 5½c a bu. for June and 3½c a bu. for September and December. Antwerp was down the equivalent of 5½c for American red and 25-5c a bu. for Californian. The reported prolongation of the period for free importations of wheat into Italy was contradicted. The time will expire July 1, as originally intended. Domestic receipts were light—15 cars at Chlcago and 33 at Minneapolis and Duluth. The week's receipts at the two latter places were 578 cars, against 1,522 the corresponding week of the year before. The Atlantic port clearances were small, amounting in wheat and flour to 145,000 bu. July opened 162½c lower at 73673½c, sold down to 72½c, advanced to 74½c, declined to 72c, then firmed up to 72½c bid at the close. September started 1-863-8c higher at 684668½c, sold down to 675-8c, rose to 687-8c, then weakened to 67c bid, the closing figure.

The strength in corn was due to the impression largely prevailing among influential corn traders that the crop cannot turn out well without most exceptionally favorable weather from now till its maturity.

tial corn traders that the crop cannot turn out well without most exceptionally favorable weather from now till its maturity. Heavy rains in the western states during the last twenty-four hours tended to maintain the courage of the bulls. July opened 14c higher at 32 1-863214c, sold up to 32146 32 5-8c, then declined to 3214633 3-8c, the closing figure.

Outs derived a firmer feeling in sympathy with corn. July opened 1-8614c higher at 24 1-863414c, declined to 231623 7-8c and closed at 23 7-8c bid.

Influenced by the strength in corn provisions showed a slight improvement. July pork started 214c higher at $9.6216, sold up to $5.6716, then declined to $9.55, the closing price. The range in lard and ribs was unimportant.

Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 13 cars; corn, 320 cars; oats, 130 cars; hogs, 35.000 head.

MANCHESTER, June 19.—The last has been another week of small things all around. The looms have been occupied mostly with the working off of back orders. The undertone is still firm in most directions, but the thinning order books produce irregularity in some quarters. Calculate remained idle, but it is expected to resume soon. The monsoon promises well for Indian crops. Bombay and Kurrachee send a considerable number of orders, but the limits are too low in many cases. There has been a moderate business for thin at figures slightly below current-rates. South America and other markets are doing little. The home trade is rather disappointing. Yarns are generally steady at 8 cents. They follow cotton down more readily than two months ago. The week's business was of the hand to mouth order. Germany and France report little new business, with prices steady.

Shippers were very much in evidence this morning and were anyelement of strength in the market, so that the trade was active and the most of the eattle changed hands early in spite of the fact of its being the last day of the week. The prices paid were fully steady on the week in the prices paid were fully steady on the week with desirable kinds on which there was more competition as little stronger. Home pretty good black cattle brought $4.89, which were out of the same lot that soldes week ago at $4.70, but were a little lighter weights.

Cows and helfers were in light supply and the market was without change. The same was true of bulls, stags, calves, etc.
