TURNERS YET HARD AT WORK

German Athletes Push Their Competition Despite Wind and Rain.

ROPE CLIMBING RECORD IS BROKEN

Eyser of Denver Does Fifty-Four Feet Amid the Cheers of the Spectators—Other Good Work Exhibited.

The rain and wind interfered considerably with the competition in class exercises of the Turners at the Vinton street grounds during the morning contests of the Saturday program and it was necessary to run for shelter to the canvas covered sheds rather often. One enthusiastic rope climber was caught about thirty feet from the ground in a hard shower and drenched to the skin.

Beginning promptly at 7 a. m. the class competition continued until some time after the noon hour. Twelve classes were entered as follows: Hanover, eight men, H. Roth, instructor; Herman, eight, E. F. Ripstein, instructor; Fremont, eleven, Prof. Kostlan, instructor; La Salle, eight, William Wolf, instructor; Holstein, eight, Emil Rohm, instructor; Leavenworth, ten, William Waechter, instructor; Kansas City, eight, Fred Burger, instructor; West Denver, eight, Max Strauss, instructor; Omaha, twelve, W. G. Retzer, instructor; Marysville, twelve, Karl Haenni, instructor; Topeka, twenty-four, Otto Wendelburg, instructor; Davenport, twelve, Herman Stender, instructor. The competition was in exercises on parallel bars, wand exercises, high jumping and rope climbing.

Omaha and West Denver made the best showing in wand and parallel bar exercises. Next to them came Marysville and Topeka. Kansas City followed. The high jumping and rope climbing were not finished at 12 o'clock, but up to that hour Marysville seemed to have the best of it in the high jump and West Denver in the rope climbing. The best individual jumps were made by Charles Seitz of Denver and Michael Herbolsheimer of Marysville, Kan., both clearing at five feet two inches. In the rope climbing the Rocky Mountain boys from Denver were a surprise, one of them, George Eyser, breaking the record, and going up fifty-four feet. This is two feet better than what had previously stood as the record, namely, fifty-two feet, climbed by George Kountz of St. Louis at the national turnfest at Milwaukee in 1893.

Eyser has his left foot off at the ankle, but this does not hamper him in the least, seemingly. As he climbed to the top of the fifty-foot rope, with the wind swaying his body, cheers went up from all over the grounds. Allowing for his body the measure from his legs to the ground was then forty-five feet six inches. It was therefore necessary for him to come down and climb again as far as his strength would let him. Then he got up eight feet six inches more. Adding the two together gives him his total of fifty-four feet. The other members of the West Denver team, which is a cracker-jack, made the following: George Kauffmann, 37.4; Frank Fials, 33.2; William Rett, 33; Ferd Helms, 31; John Schoenweis, 29.8; William J. Meuser, 29, and Adolph Ott, jr., 25.

For these class contests the judges were Profs. Curt Toll of Indianapolis, Herman Hein of Chicago, Otto Boettger of St. Louis and Jacob Schmitt of Denver.

The twelve teams were rather oddly divided into four groups, Herman, Hanover, Fremont and LaSalle constituting one group, Holstein, Leavenworth, Kansas City, West Denver and Omaha the second, Marysville and Topeka the third and Davenport a group all by itself. The prizes will be as follows: LaSalle, first; Fremont, second; Hanover, third. West Denver, first; Kansas City, second; Omaha, third. Topeka, first; Marysville, second. Davenport, first. In the group of five, Leavenworth came next to Omaha in the general summing up of points.

Points for the Teams.

A peculigrity about the distribution of prizes at a turnfest is that the "race is not always to the swift nor the battle to the strong," but a great many things are taken into consideration besides intrinsic athletic merit. Points are awarded for mileage and attendance. For the reason, therefore, that Topeka had a team twenty-four strong, while Marysville had twelve, Topeka was given the first prize, though Marysville beat it in high jumping by 11.60 to 9.50, tied it in the wand and parallel bar exercises at 9.50 and fell very slightly behind it in the rope climbing, 8.42 to 8.78. Marysville's total of averages was 37.62, while Topeka's was 37.25. Counting the incidental points outside the contest itself, Topeka had 44.77 and Marysville 43.51. A table of averages for all the teams, strictly for the contest, might be of interest under the circumstances:

| Team. | Wand. | Par. Bars. | High Climbing. | Jump. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hanover | 8.00 | 7.50 | 7.65 | 8.07 | 31.22 |
| Herman | 7.50 | 7.00 | 8.25 | 5.95 | 28.80 |
| Fremont | 7.17 | 8.75 | 8.50 | 7.27 | 31.69 |
| La Salle | 8.50 | 9.00 | 8.15 | 7.87 | 33.52 |
| Holstein | 8.00 | 8.08 | 8.50 | 7.11 | 29.69 |
| Leavenworth | 9.00 | 8.75 | 9.00 | 8.52 | 35.27 |
| Kansas City | 9.25 | 9.50 | 10.50 | 9.14 | 37.87 |
| West Denver | 9.75 | 9.25 | 10.65 | 11.50 | 39.59 |
| Omaha | 9.75 | 9.75 | 8.75 | 8.22 | 36.47 |
| Marysville | 9.50 | 9.50 | 11.60 | 8.62 | 37.62 |
| Topeka | 8.50 | 8.50 | 9.50 | 8.78 | 35.25 |
| Davenport | 7.58 | 7.50 | 10.00 | 8.69 | 33.77 |

But when everything is counted the total for each team, according to the order in which they stand, was: La Salle, 40; Fremont, 37.29; Hanover, 36.61; Herman, 37.20; West Denver, 46.09; Kansas City, 43.56; Omaha, 41.97; Leavenworth, 41.05; Holstein, 35.01; Topeka, 44.77; Marysville, 43.51; Davenport, 37.86.

Individual Contests.

In the afternoon the individual contests took place. These were in side and horse vaulting, exercises on the parallel bars and turning on the horizontal bar. All except the horizontal bar turning occurred on the grounds, but the rain had made the ground too slippery for the horizontal bar and the exercises on it had to be gone through in the South Side hall. Nine entered in this. They were George Eyser, Carl Seitz, Frank B. Fiala and William Meuser of West Denver, Otto Wurl of Plattsmouth, Otto Peuschel and George Storz of Kansas City, William Chevalier of Leavenworth and Barnhart Berg of Davenport.

George Eyser was far ahead of any of his competitors. He is the little man with the wooden foot. In the vaulting over the big horse he was the admiration of all beholders and got cheer after cheer. Next to him was Frank B. Fiala of the same club of boys from the Rockies. Eyser should get first prize and Fiala second, unless in the total figuring they do not lose on other points, which is hardly likely, as Denver has the best of it on mileage as well as merit. At a late hour the individual contests had not been figured up. Otto Wurl, as representing Omaha, seemed to be a good third. Messrs. Hein, Waechter and Schmitt were the judges. This contest will be determined by the finals today.

There was also a club swinging contest between Wurl and F. C. Kettler of Kansas City, with the chances all in favor of the latter, Kettler is as graceful with a pair of Indian clubs as he is with a fencing foil. Three of the Marysville turn women also enjoyed a contest with the clubs, Misses Mary Kouni, Kate Hertolsheimer and Bertha Miller. It is hard to say which was the most graceful and the judges had to do some pretty fine figuring. The official record had not been summed up yesterday evening.

Woman's Class Competition.

Finally the class competition of the turnwomen was enjoyed in the dancing pavilion. This was one of the very best features of the whole turnfest, and a prettier exhibition of all around gracefulness has seldom ever been witnessed. It is the first time women have been permitted to compete on the same footing as the men. They were almost overwhelmed with applause and, though they went through all the exercises bravely enough, they left the pavillion covered with blushes under the weight of so much approbation.

The Marysville women came first, fourteen of them, under the drilling of Instructor Karl Haenni. They drilled with dumb bells and also in club swinging. Next Omaha was represented by sixteen, instructed by W. G. Retzer. They went through several very pretty movements with wands and hoops. After them seventeen turn women from Kansas City, drilled by Instructor Fred Burger with bar bells and last, but by no means least, fourteen from Topeka, Otto Wendelburg, instructor. It was a close first between Marysville and Kansas City, though the Omaha women had a point or two in their favor because of their combining difficult apparatus in one drill. The Topeka women were put through calisthenics. All the classes deserved all the praise they get and it should seem as though nothing short of first prize is due each, but this, of course, cannot be. Mileage is against the Omaha class for one thing. On the other hand in the awarding of first prize the judges have to take into consideration the difficulties of the bar bell exercises which distinguished the Kansas City class and the fact, too, that the Marysville women practically did double work with the dumb bells and clubs. It was conceded, however, that the probabilities were in favor of Marysville. The record will be made public today. Messrs. Hein, Tell and Boetgger were the prize judges.

Some Prize Winners.

For that matter, all the prizes will be announced today, or rather this evening. It can be announced beforehand that the prize winners of the individual contest of Friday are: Philip Mueller of Omaha, first, with twenty-eight points; Michael Herbolsheimer of Marysville, second, with 26.40, and Gus Bueck of Davenport, third, with 25.60. The other winners are:

Fencing: George Storz first, F. C. Kettler second, both of Kansas City.

Wrestling (light weight): August Westphal first, Harro Pluth second, both of Davenport; heavy weight, William Siemsen first, Franz Strohkarek second, also both of Davenport; middle weight, William Moss of Davenport first, Otto Neiderweiser, Omaha, second, and Otto Riecha, Davenport, third.

Weight lifting: Carl Hettwer, Kansas City, first; F. Kohten, Marysville, second; H. Nottberg, Kansas City, third.

The senior contest between Kansas City and Omaha went in the former's favor. This consisted of exercises with the dumb bells and other apparatus. Kansas City had chosen parallel bars and Omaha, bell bars, besides the dumbbells. Following was the record:

| | Dumb Bells. | Apparatus. | Total Points. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Kansas City | 7.43 | 8.87 | 16.63 |
| Omaha | 7.17 | 7.53 | 16.80 |

Illumination This Evening.

Accompanying the distribution of the prizes this evening will be a grand illumination of the Vinton street grounds and a summer night's festival, concert and ball. The contests will be finished this forenoon, beginning probably at 9 o'clock. These will consist of putting the shot, far high jump and hop, step and jump. In the afternoon there is to be a grand gymnastic exhibition of field sports of all kinds by the different societies and mass exercises by the turn women, the seniors (the bears) and the actives (the young members). A number of excursions are expected from Des Moines, Kansas City, Davenport and Avoca, Ia., St. Joseph, Mo., Fremont, Neb., and other places.

For the Fourth the program is a special run under the auspices of the Omaha Turner Wheel club and in the afternoon and evening, if the turners are not too tired, bowling (ten pins) at Krug's park. The bowling committee is Henry Hofmeister and H. Beselin.

Several bands will be at the grounds today and it is the intention to make the occasion of the wind-up of the Transmississippi Turnfest a gala one. It is expected that the associated wheel clubs of the city will take a run out to the grounds in the morning.

Davenport, Ia., Kansas City and Denver are doing very well in the matter of prize winning.

Informality marked the entertainment of the visitors last night. The younger contingent gathered at Turner hall and spent a social evening in the club rooms. The big gymnasium was turned into a dance hall and here the young men and women who are competing in the events during the tournament enjoyed themselves in an impromptu hop for several hours.

It was a great night for the seniors, the "bears." They had a sort of reunion in the rooms of the South Side turners at Twentieth and Vinton streets and had a merry time for hours. There was plenty to eat and drink and no end of social good time. Officers of the feast were elected as the evening advanced and these called upon those present for songs, speeches and declamations. In this way the time was spent until the morning was advancing. Over 100 of these old-timers in the turners' ranks were in attendance.

Yale Again Defeats Harvard.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Yale defeated Harvard at the polo grounds today in the deciding game of the college championship. Most of the work of both sides was done by the batteries, the execution of both pitchers being brilliant. In close places Captain Greenway was more steady than his vis-a-vis, and but few evidences of his "glass arm" remain. Yale's three tallies and Harvard's only score were the direct result of errors. Score:

| | | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Harvard | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 |

Batteries: Yale, Greenway and Sullivan; Harvard, Fitz and Reid.
