The first As showing the political sentiments expressed a few excerpts may be of interest:

Congressman David H. Mercer of Nebraska: "At this time of writing there is great uncertainty whether or not congress will be adjourned by that time (the 13th), hence I am not in a position to promise my presence, as I feel that as long as my public duties require me here I will be obliged to The republican party and the republican administration have much at stake this year, especially in the great interna- officers of the club-Cadet Taylor, president; tional events at hand, and it is incumbent A. Deserves Highest Commendation.

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana; "The National Republican league is deserving of the very highest commendation for its splendid services in the past and I trust and Sherman avenue car Monday in company helieve that it will continue to be a forceful with Prof. McCarthy of the Boys' Academy influence in the promotion of republican policies and republican success in the future. All the signs point toward republican victory and to the approval of the wise and patriotic administration of William McKinley."

Webster Davis, assistant secretary of the interior: "I hope there will be a large attendance, as that will indicate renewed activity on the part of the young republicans of the country. We are soon to enter upon a campaign which will be of great importance to the country for the reason that it will be necessary for the American people to return a republican congress in order that our distinguished president shall be supported in his efforts to uphold the dignity of our country and the honor of our flag in the present war with a foreign nation. It is the duty of every republican and every patriot, regardless of politics, to stand by the administration at this time in its efforts to bring about a satisfactory set tlement of the great questions now confront ing the American people. The republican league can do much toward bringing about success in the coming campaign and I am sure its members will do their utmost."

Senator George W. McBride of Oregon "It would give me great pleasure to attend the convention and to testify by my presence my high appreciation of the powerful aid which has been rendered the republican party by the hosts of energetic and intelligent young republicans composing your or ganization. I regret, however, that official duties preclude my acceptance of your kind invitation. In the campaigns of 1896 and 1898 In the state of Oregon the work of the League of Republican clubs was an important factor in the victory gained by the republican party for the republican policles of protection to American industry and sound finance, and I trust that the interes and energy with which the National Republican league is entering upon the campaign of 1898 will result in a victory that will enable the republican party to embody in appropriate legislation the sound mone tary policy enunciated in the national repub lican platform of 1896 and endorsed by great popular majority in the presidentia election of that year.

"What's the difference" between our cabinet and others?-Caution-don't purchase any cabinet till you know how it is constructed. Be sure and ask if the cabluet has a door-Every day we receive letiers from disgusted people who have been deceived by cuts and misrepresentations stating that they sent their $5.00 and expected to get a real cabinet, but instead they got about three yards of goods with a loop at the top and bottom-our cabinets have a door.
